WON ALPS FLIGHT.

BERNE, Sept. 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Lieutenant Mueller of the Swiss Army, won the contest in the flight around the Alps, an event in the International aviation meet at Zurich held yesterday. He covered the distance in eight hours through heavy clouds which made the flying difficult over the high alpine heights. The majority of the other contestants withdrew

GREEKS RETIRING BEFORE ADVANCE OF TURKISH ARMY

Army of 100,000 Men Is Said to Be Fleeing in Utter Rout Before the Victorious Turks.

RAPID ADVANCE.

PARIS, Sept. 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Latest advices reaching official circles here on the Asia Minor situation declare that all remains of the Greek army is 100,000 men fleeing in utter rout before the victorious Turkish Nationalists and now less than sixty miles from the Mediterranean. The advices declare it probable that only half that number of Greeks will reach the sea, as organized fighting units of Turks are now within fifty miles of Smyrna and forty miles from the sea of Marmora.

The Turkish advance since the offensive was launched ten days ago is stated to be more than 130 miles, which experts here say is one of the fastest advances in all the history of wars.

PEACHES WILL ROT IN THE FRUIT BELT.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Sept. 7. Canadian Press. — Great quantity of peaches will rot in the Niagara fruit belt this season, while the rest of the country is calling for fruit. The intense h[illegible] of the last few days has ripened the fruit and the problem of getting it harvested and shipped is one hard to solve. Many growers are offering their peaches at very low rates to anyone who cares to pick them.

MEN MAY FIGHT THE MAJORITY AWARD

NON-RESIDENT PUPILS.

Twenty non-residents of Peterborough who made application for admission into the local Collegiate Institute have had to be refused owing to the lack of accommodation. It is unfortunate that it should have been necessary to deny to those anxious to develop themselves for life's battles the privilege of a collegiate education, but the step was inevitable. The situation simply is that there is not room enough for all the applicants, and city residents could not be turned down to make way for those from outside the city limits. It is true, perhaps, that some of those who have been rejected are children of men who are located in the country to escape the burden of city taxes, and who have been counting upon enjoying city advantages without paying for them. There will not be much sympathy with such parents, but, nevertheless, it is a pity their children should be deprived of the opportunity to advance themselves. Nothing else could be done than to refuse them admittance to the Collegiate Institute under the circumstances, and until more accommodation is provided there cannot possibly be any improvement in the situation.

THE COAL SITUATION.

The coal dealers in some Ontario cities are objecting to their municipalities as an emergency policy endeavoring to secure a supply of fuel to protect those citizens who are without fuel and who are compelled in any case to purchase in small uantities. The objection of the coal men does not seem to be logical. If they are powerless to secure enough coal to take care of the situation they have no reason to complain because the civic authorities decide to do what they can to mitigate the effects of the shortage. No municipal council would dream of embarking in the fuel business if they were satisfied that the dealers were capable of supplying the coal needed by the community. Municipal fuel operations in the past have not proven a success financially, and they are justified merely as a measure of protection against the effects of an unusual situation. The dealers have no legitimate cause to complain. They have only to convince their respective councils that they can take care of the fuel needs of the community, and any opposition on the part of the municipality will be removed. City Councils who are endeavoring to secure a reserve supply of coal are only doing so because they are convinced that the situation is out of the hands of the dealers. That being the case, it is difficult to understand the complaints of those engaged in the business.

THE EXHIBITION.

In the long run the success of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition depends upon the people. The whole thing hinges upon the attendance. The directors can work and plan as much as they like, the exhibitors can do their part by seeing that every class is well filled, the programme can be the best ever offered, but unless the people of the whole district provide the patronage the result will be failure. Napoleon used to say that an army travelled on its stomach; it is equally true that an exhibition travels upon its finances. It can only go as far as the treasury will let it, and, accordingly, the acid test is furnished by the turn-stiles at the gates. For this year the directors have taken a long chance. They have relied upon the co-operation of the whole community and have committed the Exhibition to an expenditure that a few years ago would have been regarded as ruinous. If the people fail them this Exhibition will, as a result, receive a set-back from which it will take years to recover. The Examiner is sure, however, that the citizens will do their part because they have learned that the Exhibition Board makes good on its promises. Each year has seen new features added, new accommodation provided, improvements to the grounds, in fact steady growth and development, and, knowing these things, the people have come to realize that the Exhibition is something to be proud of and to support. This confidence will be reflected in the record crowds that will pour into the grounds next week from all over the district.

IMMIGRATION FALLACIES.

Announcement that 34 per cent. fewer immigrants came to Canada in the past four months than in the corresponding period of 1921, is producing a great deal of nonsensical comment about immigration problems. Although for years an agitation has been carried on for the selection of immigrants with regard to quality instead of quantity, clamor is now being raised that the door is closed too tightly, and that what we need is a return to the "policy of Sir Clifford Sifton." This kind of demand, of course, is nonsense.

Fifteen years ago, when the West was just opening up, when there was lots of land, and thousands of men were required on works of construction, there was something to be said for indiscriminate immigration. To-day, however, the position has vastly changed. We have no longer vast tracts of land in the West; there is no longer the lure of its promise of adventure, or of fortunes easily made; we have no railways under construction to absorb thousands of men. What we need to-day, all that we can safely permit to come to Canada to-day, are settlers who are trained and prepared to go upon the land. Not men with a notion that they can become wheat miners and that after they have taken out one or two crops they can leave the country, but men who are prepared to take up farming under conditions that promise nothing beyond a fair reward for their work. In other words, what Canada needs just now, is immigration of selected farmers.

How can we secure such immigrants? There are only a few countries from which they can be secured. There is, first of all, the British Isles. There is the United States. There are France and Belgium. And there are the Scandinavian countries—Norway, Sweden and Denmark. But the great difficulty is that, with the exception of the United States, the farmers of these countries are vitally required at home. In the old days it was an easy matter to get crofters from Scotland; but where are farmers to be had in Scotland now? And the same is true of England. We hear of hundreds of thousands of men being unemployed in England and Wales, and the man on the street will ask why on earth these people do not come out here. Well, there are two reasons: (1) That the man who works in a factory in Birmingham or in a mine at Cardiff is not likely to be of much value on a Canadian farm, and (2) that, this being the case, he is just as well unemployed at home as we would be unemployed in Toronto or Montreal. England, however, has no unemployed farmers. The war taught Britain, in Mr. Lloyd George's phrase, that she was a nation of "agricultural week-enders," that is to say, that she didn't produce enough at home to keep her people going from Friday until Monday of each week; and she is out to encourage her agriculture. Her farmers, receiving more encouragement than they have ever received since the abolition of the Corn Laws, including higher prices, and working amidst the pleasant surroundings of rural life in England, are not coming out to face the often harsh problems of our Canadian West. As for Ireland, it has ceased to be a land of emigration. Her best blood having flowed away from her over a period of a century, she is keeping her sons at home; few immigrants may be expected from there. Nor can much be expected, for the present at all events, from Scandinavia, or from France and Belgium. The Scandinavian lands have very little surplus population; while France and Belgium, whose people love and mostly cling to their native soil, have been too greatly decimated by the Great War to spare many of their sons.

Remains the United States. The settler from the Dakotas, from Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas and Michigan has mostly prospered on the Canadian prairies. He usually brought with him some capital, knowledge of conditions, enterprise and intelligence, and, upon the whole, was a class of immigrant to be desired. Whether we can get more of his class within the next few years, remains to be seen.

What should be made clear is that it is folly to look forward to a rush of farmer immigrants. So long as we demand a selected immigration, so long as conditions in Europe, and here in Canada, are what they are, the number of settlers coming to our shores is bound to be inconsequential in quantity. The sooner some of our orators and newspapers realize this truth, and cease talking optimistic nonsense that is based on nothing but uninformed opinion, the better it will be for all concerned.—Ottawa Journal.

THE SCHOOL ARMY.

The return of children to school this autumn is a far more important event than most of us realize. These children form an army, preparing to reinforce us in attacking life's problems.

Those problems are more knotty, more numerous, than when present grownups were serving their apprenticeships in the army of education.

Bigger problems require better training, more intensive study.

To children, the return to school is rather a sad affair. To grownups, it has the coloring of an adventure, for schooling is the door to the future.

Somewhere among the millions of returning school children are future premiers, future millionaires, future scientists, future productive geniuses, future failures. Most of them, sadly, will go through life not far removed from failure. Just how far removed, depends to a considerable extent on what they get out of education.

Any one who comprehends the great changes now taking place in the world realizes that the future will be an age of specialization, far more so than the present. Therefore, it is important for youths, particularly boys, to decide as early as possible what careers they are best fitted to follow. With a definite goal in sight, there will be less waste of time wandering down lanes that lead off from the main road to success.

Help them find their goals.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Those United States tourists who are said to have planned to carry off the ex-Kaiser must be in the junk business.

The first announcement from the unemployment conference is that there are to be no doles this winter. Doleful tidings for those who like to get something for nothing.

Toronto is getting so heated over the radial question that the Queen City won't need coal this year.

The London Advertiser supplies a useful health hint. It is to the effect that when you go duck shooting let the other fellow carry the loaded gun. You stay home.

A contemporary says the politicians are overlooking the possibilities of the picnic developed successfuly by the Farmers. The theory is that cold logic and cold potato salad sometimes go together.

Still, it is refreshing to find a Fuel Committee that actually brings in fuel, even if the individual families without coal cannot hope to get any of the supply.

Why Blame 'Em.

Cape Vincent has got a good Fire Department, and its members are always ready to turn-out to assist in putting out fires, but if there is a delay in turning in the alarm and the fire gets a good start before they arrive, do you think it is fair to question their efficiency?—Cape Vincent Eagle.

A Democratic Review.

The Watertown Times evidently is getting its fill of Harding's pitiable effort to settle the strike. Friday's issue, its leading editorial was headed, "Let Coolidge settle the strike." Even the most biased Republicans have a feeling that Harding should be wearing skirts.—Ogdensburg Advance.

The Public Pays.

Then the public will foot the bill with higher coal costs instead of the lower prices talked about before the strike. The miners are not likely to cover their wage losses, or the operators the full expense of the strike unless there is an unmercinal gouging of the consumer. The public will lose, perhaps everybody will lose. Is it not about time this great industry cleaned house and gave better service?—Gouverneur Northern Tribune.

THE MYSTERY MIND

Arthur B. Reeve and John W. Grey

"You see," summarized the lawyer, turning to Violet at the close, "the funds held in trust by us at the bank are to be placed to your account immediately, and the matter will be given attention early in the morning. With your share of Doctor Sutton's estate and the amount you inherit under the normal clauses of your father's will, you are worth, at this moment, close to three-quarters of a million dollars. If you will permit us to advise you, Miss Bronson"—an apologetic cough—"since this fortune has been made in rubber we believe a portion of the cash at least should be reinvested in rubber interests"

"What was that provision about the portrait of Steele?" interrupted Dupont.

"I was coming to that," stated the little man, with dignity. "There is a sealed codicil in possession, and the main document at this disposes of an additional fortune of some magnitude. This codicil we are to open at any time, but only when Miss Bronson, in person, presents at our office, intact, the oil painting of Stuart Steele made by her mother and brought back to the United States by Doctor Sutton, together with the will and other papers of the deceased." He cleared his throat. "I believe that when the codicil is opened Miss Bronson will prove to be fabulously wealthy."

"Isn't it a rather strange provision?" queried Dupont.

"It is, but no more so than the fact that Stuart Steele of his children were made Bronson's heirs if Miss Violet failed to reach her eighteenth birthday, or that they are now made her heirs if she dies without children." The lawyer straightened a bit, in his importance. "I happen to know the reason for that," he added.

"Tell us," exclaimed Violet, quickly.

"Your father and Stuart Steele, when they became partners in their rubber ventures, knew that they faced great individual danger. They agreed that each should be the heir to the other, since none of their outside relatives shared in the tremendous hardships. They agreed that their children should not become heirs until coming of age, nor their grandchildren; they also agreed to prevent their descendants from disposing of any part of either fortune until the third generation."

Dupont leaned forward. "Steele is dead. Violet, then, should inherit this fortune also. He had not married."

The lawyer rose, taking his hat to leave. "That is very true," he admitted, patronizingly. "As executors of Miss Bronson's estate we would have acted, except that we have been never able to locate any property belonging to Steele. Then we have no proof he is not alive. Is his estate ever uncovered it will be necessary for a court to adjudge him dead."

When the man was out of the room, Dupont turned to Violet with a smile. "You cannot think me a fortune hunter, dear," he grinned. "Unless we have children, and they grow up, your father's partner and his descendants will inherit your money. I'll never get it."

"You'll have all the use of it," she teased. "Besides, Steele is dead."

Miss Sutton, hurrying back into the room from the door, now revealed her excitement. "Was that the picture which was stolen when my brother was killed? Is that the painting they wanted so badly that they tortured him? You see"—she only paused for breath; the questions needing no answer in her mind—"you see, it's terribly important, and I know how you can get it back from them."

"How?" Dupont, serious, was dubious.

"Why, I know of the most wonderful new medium, and all my society friends are going to her, and just the other day she located a very valuable ring which Mrs. Denner-Dudley lost at the race and—she's marvellous."

Dupont looked at Violet. She brightened.

To Holders of Five Year 5½ per cent Canada's Victory Bonds

Issued in 1917 and Maturing 1st December, 1922.

CONVERSION PROPOSALS

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE offers to holders of these bonds who desire to continue their investment in Dominion of Canada securities the privilege of exchanging the maturing bonds for new bonds bearing 5½ per cent interest, payable half yearly, of either of the following classes:—

(a) Five year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1927.

(b) Ten year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1932.

While the maturing bonds will carry interest to 1st December, 1922, the new bonds will commence to earn interest from 1st November, 1922, GIVING A BONUS OF A FULL MONTH'S INTEREST TO THOSE AVAILING THEMSELVES OF THE CONVERSION PRIVILEGE.

This offer is made to holders of the maturing bonds and is not open to other investors. The bonds to be issued under this proposal will be substantially of the same character as those which are maturing, except that the exemption from taxation does not apply to the new issue.

Holders of the maturing bonds who wish to avail themselves of this conversion privilege should take their bonds AS EARLY AS POSSIBLE, BUT NOT LATER THAN SEPTEMBER 30th, to a Branch of any Chartered Bank in Canada and receive in exchange an official receipt for the bonds surrendered, containing an undertaking to deliver the corresponding bonds of the new issue.

Holders of maturing fully registered bonds, interest payable by cheque from Ottawa, will receive their December 1 interest cheque as usual. Holders of coupon bonds will detach and retain the last unmatured coupon before surrendering the bond itself for conversion purposes.

The surrendered bonds will be forwarded by banks to the Minister of Finance at Ottawa, where they will be exchanged for bonds of the new issue, in fully registered, or coupon registered or coupon bearer form carrying interest payable 1st May and 1st November of each year of the duration of the loan, the first interest payment accruing and payable 1st May, 1923. Bonds of the new issue will be sent to the banks for delivery immediately after the receipt of the surrendered bonds.

The bonds of the maturing issue which are not converted under this proposal will be paid off in cash on the 1st December, 1922.

W. S. FIELDING,
Minister of Finance.

TWELVE-YEAR-OLD BOY ON THE PLOW

Follows in His Father's Footsteps — Millbrook News.

MILLBROOK, September 7. — Mr. Walter Leach, of Hamilton Township, recently established a unique record by starting his twelve-year-old son ploughing in the same field, and with the same plough which he himself used 7 years ago when he turned his first furrow at the same age as his oldest boy now is. Another peculiar coincidence is found in the fact that both horses of the team used by the boy of to-day are descendants of those which his father used on a similar occasion. Mr. Leach has acquaintances in this locality.

Dr. and Mrs. Dean and daughter, Miss Annie, who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Dean's brother, Mr. T. No Cause For Worry WHEN CHILDREN HAVE Summer Complaints

There is not a summer passes but that thousands of men, women and children are attacked by summer complaints such as diarrhoea, dysentry, colic, cramps and pains in the stomach, cholera, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, etc.

In looking for relief you should not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, a remedy that has been on the market for the past 77 years, and has stood the test of time.

Mrs. Geo. Chapman, Sudbury, Ont., writes:—"I am the mother of five children and I must say they are seldom sick or in need of medicine. They are, however, sometimes troubled with summer complaint, diarrhoea, and such like. I always find there is no cause for worry as I just give the two or three doses, no more, of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and the trouble soon disappears .It is a remedy that all mothers should keep in the home for the children."

DRURY OPTIMISTIC OVER THE SITUATION

OTTAWA, Sept. 7. — (Canadian Press.)—That he was satisfied and optimistic regarding the outcome of the Morrison-Drury fight over the broadening out policy, was the gist of a statement made yesterday by Premier E. C. Drury on his arrival in Ottawa to attend the National Unemployment Conference. With respect to the success achieved by opponents of the broadening out policy in securing control of the United Farmers' publication, "The Farmers' Sun," Premier Drury said that he was not all flustered by the whim of the Morrison faction. He thought that events would shape themselves satisfactorily in the long run.

KILLED BY SWING IN PUBLIC SCHOOL

GANANOQUE, Sept. 7.—(Canadian Press.)— At the Stone street school yesterday afternoon, Jean, aged ten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nevin, was struck behind the ear and her neck broken my a swing in the school grounds.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You realize that practically every person responds to kindness, and that you get many more favors, have more friends and get much more willing service from people if you treat them with consideration.

So you are courteous to clerks who serve you in stores, patient with telephone operators, give your orders promptly to waiters, and remember to thank kindly men who give you their seats in the street car. And it all makes your life much pleasanter.

Let this "COW IN YOUR KITCHEN" tell her story of milk and cream

"Anyone can buy milk," says this Cow in your Kitchen—it may be good milk or it may not! It may be pure or it may not! It may be rich in nourishing qualities, or it may not! It may keep—or it may not.

But the housewife who takes a pride in her skilful buying—who makes every cent do a cent's worth of work or more—who protects her family from the dangers of ordinary milk—who insists on supreme quality milk—

That woman insists on having in her kitchen always, a liberal supply of St. Charles Milk "with the cream left in".

It is good! It is pure! It is rich! It does keep fresh! Wholesome! Convenient! Economical! For every milk use!

Order a few tins from your grocer to-day. "A size for every need."

EGGLESS MAYONNAISE—3 tablespoonfuls St. Charles Milk, undiluted; ½ teaspoonful salt; ¼ teaspoonful pepper; ¼ teaspoonful mustard; 2 tablespoonfuls sharp vinegar; ¾ cupful salad oil.

Combine the seasonings, add the milk, and gradually beat in the oil with an egg beater. Then whip in the vinegar. Use as any mayonnaise. Transfer to a covered jar. This will keep indefinitely in a cool place.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid" indigestion.

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

By MILTON BRONNER.

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—One afternoon Hugo Stinnes, the business colossus of Germany, en route from his home in Mulheim to Berlin, spent the time on the train reading his favorite light literature—the financial reports of big German corporations.

BRONNER.

The one he had in his hand was that of the Siemens and Halske Schuckert concern. It is one of the two great industrial electrical trusts of Germany. Its history is the typical German one of law protected and approved successful combination of big successful corporations into a super business. In this it resembles the manner in which Stinnes himself combined all his various coal and iron enterprises with those of others and brought into being the vast Rhine-Elbe Union.

"Himmel!" Stinnes is reported to have said to his secretary after looking over the figures of the electrical trust's report. "Those people use a vast lot of coal, iron and steel in a year's time. And they can't ever be sure of their supply. Why not build a new combination, a trust of trusts, bigger than anything Germany has ever seen?"

He Acts Quickly.

With Stinnes to think, to dream, is to act. He got into touch with the electrical concern. He showed them how his coal and iron and steel added to their technical skill and inventions and patents would make a more successful business than before.

It was not long before he brought about a combine of the Rhine-Elbe Union and the Siemens and Halske Schuckert concern. It is known as the Siemens-Rhine-Elbe-Schuckert Union. It is so big it makes one dizzy to contemplate its size and its multifarious activities. It has a capitalization of about a billion marks. And there is very little, if any, water in this.

Therein it differs from our gigantic trusts. This German capitalization is honestly represented by actual properties in superabundance. The agreement Stinnes drew up locks these united concerns together until the year 2000, all of which shows that Stinnes is building for a long time ahead, for a time when he hopes Stinnes' grandsons will be industrial princes in a Germany that will more than have fully recovered from her defeat in the great war.

In a previous article I outlined the many activities of the Rhine-Elbe Union. The Siemens and Halske-Schuckert concern, even before Stinnes stuck a finger in the pie, practically entered the life of every German. It built and controlled subways in Berlin and sold every kind of electric light globes. One could order from it a small electrical tool or a complete lighting and motor plant with the very latest thing in dynamos or turbines. If you wanted to shop for wireless telegraph outfits or telephone systems or any one of a hundred ingenious electrical devices, this concern could and would deliver the goods.

It had grown great because of the genius of two men. Theirs is as much a fairy story of business life as that of George Westinghouse or Thomas A. Edison in similar fields in America.

The Siemens concern, for instance, was founded by Werner Siemens in a one-room shop back of a residence in a poor little street in Berlin. He took in as partner a mechanic named George Halske. From tinkering with tiny repair jobs, they pushed their business until to lay a deep-sea cable or construct the entire telegraph system for the vast Russian empire, was all in the year's work.

About the same time another electrician started out for himself in Nuremburg in Southern Germany. This Bavarian founded the great business of Schuckert and Co.

And by and by the two businesses came together and became the Siemens-Schuckert Corporation.

The names of their underlying enterprises are legion. The Siemens wing has immense plants in Berlin, Hamburg, Bremen and Kiel. It owns a separate corporation which makes all kinds of electrical lamps and in its turn owns still other companies.

The Schuckert concern not only covered Bavaria, but had plants in Mannheim and Dessau. The combine owns subsidiary concerns in Paris, Barcelona and St. Petersburg and on the side operates a big automobile factory, a porcelain works, a steamship turbine plant and a cable manufactory.

It has tremendous holdings in Dresden, and also in Switzerland.

Stinnes' Only Defeat.

In fact, it is hard to go anywhere in Germany or in the neighboring countries without seeing some of the properties of this electrical trust. By bringing this huge corporation within the sphere of his influence, Stinnes has not only made himself by all odds the biggest business man in Europe, if not in the world, but in the midst of his success has banged himself up against one of the few failures of his career.

It was his ambition to unite all the electrical interests of Germany into one all-embracing concern.

To do this it would have been necessary to bring in the far-famed A. E. G., which, as every German knows, stands for the Allgemeine Elektrische Gesellschaft. This is the company which was formed by Emil Rathenau and over which, until he went into politics, the son of the founder, Walter Rathenau, presided. Stinnes and Rathenau are sworn enemies and there are three reasons for this feud which enlivens German politics and business:

First—As stated, Rathenau and his friends would not agree to merge the A. E. G. in the Stinnes combine.

Second—Stinnes stands for a sort of benevolent despotism in his business relations with his workmen, whereas Rathenau, while not an out and out Socialist, has a great many socialistic ideas as to the future relations between employer and employe.

Third—the two men, as great captains of industry, clashed over the matter of German reparations to the allies. At the Spa conference Rathenau, then Minister of Reparations, favored Germany's acceptance of the obligations imposed by the allies. Stinnes wanted Germany to give a blunt "No." The Rathenau policy prevailed.

Later Rathenau went out of the Cabinet for a time and then it was announced the Chancellor was thinking of making him Minister for Foreign Affairs. The Stinnes press and the Stinnes political party, the German People's Party, at once threw down the gauge of battle. But once more Rathenau won. At present there is an armed truce between the men and their great corporations. But people who know him and have watched Stinnes, are betting he is not through yet. Sooner or later they believe he will bring A. E. G. into some sort of business union with his super trust.

LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Bring Back Its Color and Lustre With Grandma's Sage Tea Recipe.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While grey, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

RUSSIANS MAKE WORLD PROTEST AGAINST SOVIET

Ask Christian Churches to Aid Them.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 6.—A protest to all peoples and governments and all Christian organizations throughout the world against the latest measures taken by the soviet Russian authorities against the Russian church has just been issued by the Russian embassy in Tokio, according to advice here to-day from the Japanese capital. Anti-bolshevik Russians throughout the world are responsible for the appeal, according to the embassy statement.

The appeal calls attention to the innumerable misfortunes of the Russian people and their unfathomable distress. The text of the statement follows:

"They have been tried by the world war and civil war, reduced to a state of misery by the Communistic regime, decimated by terror; they have succumbed in masses to deadly epidemics, and have finally been exterminated by famine.

Separated from Church.

"Now their one consolation—their close union with the church—has been taken away from them. This last citadel of the spiritual liberty of the Russian people the power the soviet has now sought to destroy. In spite of the soviet decrees, that under the Russian communistic government liberty of conscience and worship is guaranteed to all, and that the government will not interfere with the affairs of the church, the bolsheviks have decapitated the orthodox church of Russia in depriving her of her primate.

"Seeking to reinforce their pecuniary resources, which are visibly exhausted, the soviet decided to confiscate the wealth of the church. The famine which has raged in Russia furnished them with a pretext.

Give Up Cathedrals' Wealth.

"The patriarch himself ever urged the clergy and the parishes to give up to the soviet government all the wealth which they possessed in the cathedrals, churches, and convents, with the exception of the articles necessary for the use of worship, or those they were not able to give according to canonical laws.

"The soviets in the meantime, without any distinction among the sacred articles of worship, proceeded in many places with the spoliation of all the churches possessed.

"The Russian people, terrorized by the soviets, cannot even struggle against their oppressors.

"Christians, and all of you who possess the sacred fire animating humanity, respond to our appeal, and rise up, reach within the limit of the means at his disposal, against these acts of sacrilege of the bolsheviks."

Local Societies of Women Interested In Peterboro Industrial Exhibition

Local Organizations Will Be Well Represented — Opening Day Will Be of Special Interest to Children.

Different local societies of women are interesting themselves in the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition this year. Ladies' Aid Societies from Mark Street Methodist and Knox Presbyterian Churches will open refreshment booths; ladies from St. James' Methodist Church will have charge of an eating booth, and the Co-Workers of George St. Church will also have a refreshment booth.

The Red Cross Society purpose having a rest tent and emergency centre on the grounds, where Miss A. W. Pike, the new public health nurse, will be in charge.

The programme of sports arranged for children's day by the energetic committee in charge, includes several interesting events for girls, with a pea and spoon race, a shuttle relay and a hundred-yard open dash.

USE OF CHEESE AS FOOD

Cheese has been used as a food for man since pre-historic times and its manufacture is one of the oldest of the technical arts. It is an important article of diet in nearly all civilized countries.

The early French settlers in Canada brought the art of making cheese from France. Certain families on the Island of Orleans still make a peculiar type of cheese for which the process has been handed down from generation to generation for possibly 300 years.

The United Empire Loyalists brought with them from the United States a knowledge of the manufacture of the Cheddar type of cheese into different parts of Ontario over 100 years ago.

All cheese was made on farms in Canada until the year 1864, when the first cheese factory was started in Oxford County, Ontario. Another factory was opened in Missisquoi County, Quebec, in the following year. The factory system has so many advantages that it was quickly adopted and in a few years the making of cheese on farms was practically abandoned. There are now cheese factories in every Province, but about 97 per cent. of the cheese is still produced in Ontario and Quebec. The total value of the cheese produced in Canada in 1920 was $39,100,872.

Miss Helen Doherty Home From a Tour

Miss Helen Doherty, Secretary of the Eastern Ontario Liberal Association, who is a frequent visitor in Peterborough, and has just returned to her home in Ottawa from a tour in the Eastern Ontario district, says that as domestic or home matters, sometimes described as property and civil rights, are more under Ontario law than that of the Dominion, the people devote most of their political attention to municipal and Provincial matters, and not from the standpoint of the three old political parties; but from the way in which they themselves and their business is affected.

"The fact that schools and their management are the great source of care and attention of parents and their children and as the legislation of it comes under the Provincial Parliament, it is not to be wondered at that child welfare, mothers' allowances, nursing and children's aid enactments are real live topics in Provincial matters," stated Miss Doherty, who was impressed with the growing desire of the people that the legislation for the development of the young, the care of the sick and the comfort of aged should reach in a beneficial way the individual homes.

The women electors in Eastern Ontario are alive to the fact that although good work has been done by institutions, yet the real basis has been the homes, for there are thousands who have not been able to enjoy the advantages offered by organizations and institutions, so that they feel home matters are the most important in the way of reaching the individual. They have found that people have spent vast sums of money on entertainments in the way of making people happy, and yet they realize that the best aid to happiness is health and well-balanced training.

Women Interested Dominion Issues

G. Howard Ferguson's Assertion Does Not Always Apply.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, speaking at a Liberal-Conservative picnic at Orland on Labor Day, declared that women voters as a rule were more interested in Provincial than in Dominion-wide questions of importance. That this assertion does not apply to all feminine societies is easily seen. For example, the programme recommended for the consideration of the National Council of Women in the forthcoming year, as enunciated by Dr. Augusta Stowe Gullen of Toronto at the Port Arthur convention in June, includes questions which have a nation-wide as well as a Provincial or municipal significance. It includes: Formation of civic clubs for the study of municipal affairs; course in civics in schools; leadership in public opinion tending to the establishment of a home for feeble-minded; promotion of interest in the establishment of registration for all sub-normal or mentally defective children, and supervision of adults; agitation for the erection of industrial schools for boys and girls with vocational training; medical inspection and appointment of women officials of justice to deal with their cases; effort to secure economic equality for women, including legal share in husband's income; co-guardianship of children; establishment of domestic relations courts in big cities, and right for women to retain British nationality even on marriage to foreign subjects.

Food Exhibits at The Toronto Fair

At the Toronto Exhibition this fall one of the interesting smaller exhibits is that arranged by the dairy and cold storage branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, dealing with the food value of dairy products, stressing particularly the special nutritive qualities of milk and including a demonstration of a few simple dairy dishes. Placed in the Horticultural Building, under the supervision of Helen G. Campbell, demonstrator and lecturer, it has a special interest for mothers of giving children who believe in the exceptional food values of milk and cheese.

OUT OF THE NEST.

The toys are neatly laid away,
The pup neglects his bone
And wanders round the yard all day,
Unfriended and alone.
For he who held them all so long
Beneath his gentle rule
Has suddenly grown brave and strong
And journeyed forth—to school.

He's put away the childish things
So lately his delight,
To try his downy little wings
In bold, aspiring flight.
He trudges stoutly forth to meet
A world of strange alarms,
Where frightened boys may not retreat
To mother's sheltering arms.

Yet great adventures wait him there,
And presently he'll find
The winds as warm and skies as fair
As those he left behind.
Though teachers may be stern and cold
And lessons often pall,
Still, life—when one is six years old—
Is pleasant, after all.

But there's a wound in mother's heart
As forth he goes today,
Which Time, with all his healing art
Can never take away.
She knows that when from out the nest
The baby bird has flown,
Although he long may love her best,
He is not hers alone.

New Veils Permit Beauty

By MARIAN HALE.

No woman is ugly, according to French philosophy, only there happen to be some who do not know how to be beautiful.

This is one of the many instances one might cite where ignorance is not unmitigated bliss, and when a little knowledge comes in decidely handy.

A liberal education in how to be beautiful and alluring in spite of what Nature did for or against you is offered to the woman who will take up the study of the veil, which Fashion now decrees is the keynote of the costume, and master its many uses.

We have always had with us the little face veils who considered their duty done when they kept the hair smooth and tractable.

Veils Do More.

But this year we have veils that do much more, and are capable of going to any length to create an illusion of beauty and mystery.

There are small coy ones of black lace that hang from the brim of the new cartwheel hats and merely cover the eyes—a style recommended only for those whose nose and mouth are of classical cut and who have kept their chins from leading double lives.

Likewise there are others that allow the eyes to be exposed, but conceal the lower part of the face entirely— whose advantages are obvious.

veils reach almost to the hem and hang in intriguing, irregular folds. They call for a plain hat, and an elegant frock of simple line.

Every length between the eye and the hem veil is represented in practically every color, shape and material.

How to Do It.

The first lesson seems to be to take an inventory of your face, then give full play to your best features and conceal the others beyond recognition. Simple, isn't it?

The most popular material for veils is lace, particularly the Spanish type. The reason for this, of course, is because the Spanish women, centuries ago, learned how to arrange their veils. They can create more variety with a few yards of lace than most women can with a trunkful of clothes.

The lace need not be black, however, it may be Nile green, purple, brown or any of the popular shades. And it may be of delicate mesh with sprawling patterns in metal threads or chenille.

Or you may select a veil of plain chiffon, edged with long fringe or bound with ribbon of contrasting color.

It may wrap about your throat two or three times before it flings its filmy lengths to the breeze—it may be anything you like, provided it is becoming.

And you have no idea how many practically discarded hat may be drafted for active service if you will just veil them knowingly. It's not the hat this year, it's the veil.

BED sheets and counterpanes—bath towels and bath mats that you dread to clean on wash day.

Do not put the Rinso direct from the package into the tub. Make the Rinso liquid first.

Mix half a package of Rinso in a little cool water until it is like cream. Then add two quarts of boiling water and when the froth subsides put it in a tub of cool or lukewarm water and you will have enough for a batch of clothes.

If the clothes are extra soiled, use more Rinso.

A New Secretary At the Y. W. C. A.

Miss D. Carlisle Has Already Obtained a Clear Insight in Local Activities.

At the Y.W.C.A. the new Secretary, Miss Donalda Carlisle, has already obtained a clear insight into the affairs of the association. The Assistant Secretary, Miss Leta Brownscombe, will return soon from her holidays, and Miss Carrie Littlefield is expected soon to take charge of her old department. During the fall months, also, Miss Littlefield will have charge of lessons in the swimming-pool, which is open now to swimmers only, not for tuition. If the coal situation warrants the innovation, the swimming-pool will be kept open during the winter months.

On Monday next a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y.W.C.A. will take place at ten o'clock, when the report of Miss Helen Carthy, B.A., will be given on camp activities during the summer months. Miss Carthy will pass through the city Monday en route to Belleville, where she intends to teach in a girls' school.

Some time in the latter part of September, the usual fall rally of the Y" will be held.

Just Apply This Faste And the Hairs Will Vanish

(Boudoir Secrets.)

The judicious use of a delatone paste insures any woman a clear, hairless skin. To prepare the paste, mix a little of the powdered delatone with some water, then apply to the objectionable hairs for two or three minutes. When the paste is removed, and the skin washed every trace of hair will have vanished. No pain attends the use of the delatone and it will not mar the most sensitive skin, but to insure results see that you get real delatone.

Peterboro Women Prepare For Fall

With September, the various feminine organizations in the city that suspend operations during the summer months begin to function once more, and soon they will all be in full swing for the winter season. The Local Council of Women will hold a meeting this month, the first since June, and, among other organizations, the Ladies' Auxiliary to the G.W.V.A. has its initial meeting this month. On Monday next, September 11th, the auxiliary meets to discuss arrangements for the forthcoming bazaar in October and the convention of the various Provincial branches of the auxiliary which meets here next month, and to which the local branch will act as hostesses.

Household Suggestions

JERSEY.

Jersey, both silk and wool, is very popular for fall. It is made into coat dresses of the straight-line type and has very little trimming.

COLORS.

Colors are having a fight for supremacy right now. The latest report is that almond green is being supplanted in the Parisian's affections by petroleum green, which is more generally becoming and more neutral.

BLUE AND BLACK.

Royal blue is used effectively on black velvet. One draped frock is lined with chiffon of that color which is revealed most charmingly by the one-sided drapery. A cabuchon of sapphires holds the drapery in place.

FOR YOUNG GIRL.

COIFFURE.

As the coiffure becomes plainer and more severe the combs become higher and more intricate. It would not be surprising if the mantilla were with us before long.

TAILORED EFFECTS.

The separate blouse and skirt are receiving much consideration at the hands of the fall designer. It is expected these neglected garments will be reinstated in milady's wardrobe, particularly the decidedly tailored models.

HIP LENGTH.

Smart fur sport coats are made hip length, and terminate in a snug band. The shawl collar, or the close Russian choker, is the favorite neck arrangement.

BLUE VELVET.

Gold embroidery completely covers a hat of peacock blue velvet. The milliner had in mind a blue-eyed maid when she designed it.

PRINCESS STYLES.

As skirts grow longer, the waistline is said to be growing higher. Modified princess styles are beginning to make their appearance in Paris.

FOR CHILDREN.

English print is a quaint material highly suitable for making the type of frocks in vogue for small children. These usually consist of a plain smock with knickerbockers to match.

SILKS.

Blistered silks and deeply crinkled fabrics are novelties for fall. They are well adapted to present styles, and are very rich when combined with furs and heavy embroideries.

ORANGE COLOR.

Orange has become a popular color for children's cotton frocks, usually trimmed with white or black. Yellow an dlavender too are now seen on the very small people.

AFTERNOON COATS.

Coats for afternoon wear feature voluminous fur collars and cuffs, but are cut on straight practical lines.

BRONZE PUMPS.

Bronze pumps are elaborately beaded and strapped, and are worn with beaded, embroidered or lace hose that exactly match in color. This is the first of the bronze pump for several seasons.

PINK AND SILVER.

Pink evening frocks are going to be very popular this season, not only for debutantes, but for matrons as well. Pink combines beautifully with silver, and silver is the rage now.

BROWN CARACUL.

Brown caracul has never been shown much before, but on account of the prevalence of brown this season it is advanced as one of the novelties.

TRAINS.

Trains are featured on nearly all the elaborate evening frocks for the coming season. Sometimes they have the only ornamentation, that is, beading or embroidery, that the frock boasts.

SPANISH LACE.

Spanish lace is being widely used with velvets. Often the lace is dyed to match the frock, though most frequently such gowns are carried out in all-black.

METALLIC COATS.

Metallic coats, of gold and silver cloths, brocades, and metal laces over velvet or satin, are combined with furs and velvets to make the handsomest evening wraps of the season.

CLEOPATRA GOWN.

A Cleopatra gown recently arrived in New York from Paris. It was of silk, printed in small squares which depicted scenes in the life of the famous Queen of the Nile. About the waist the metal girdle took the form of an asp, its head serving as a part of the buckle.

COLLARS.

Picturesque wide collars of white satin or white georgette, with wide hemstitching and sometimes embroidery, are featured on the new fall frocks, relieving the plain necklines to which we have grown accustomed.

RICH EFFECTS.

Practically all the evening gowns not made of metal cloth feature it some way. Rhinestones and pearls are used in large quantities to further the effect of richness and splendor.

WHEN your haunts on a summer day must be hot paved streets and a breathless office, instead of shady green lanes, or breeze-swept water stretches,—and you reach home after the day's work, jaded and exhausted,—a refreshing cup of delicious "Ovaltine" will quickly restore your drooping energies.

Nothing so pleasantly recruits Nature's forces as "Ovaltine", supplying as it does the concentrated nourishment of ripe barley malt, creamy milk and fresh eggs, delicately flavored with cocoa Easy to prepare—delicious to take.

NEWS OF BETHANY AND THE DISTRICT.

BETHANY, September 7. — Mrs. Jane Preston returned to her home here on Tuesday, after a brief visit with friends in Peterboro.

Master Norman Steer returned to his home on Monday night after spending the holidays with friends in Peterboro.

Miss Ruth Hamilton returned to Lindsay on Monday to attend the High School there.

Rev. J. E. Beckel, Mr. William Lee, Mr. Walter Jakeman and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Monk attended the lectures of Dr. Campbell Morgan in Lindsay on Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Cecil Waite of Peterboro, spent Tuesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Westlake.

J. E. Griffin was in Lindsay on Tuesday.

School re-opened here on Tuesday with Miss Edwina Irwin as the principal, and Mrs. Walter Rowan in charge of the junior room.

Much sympathy is felt for Miss Gertrude Dewell, former teacher of the junior room, who so lately lost her mother, and for the continued illness of her father, Mr. S. Dewell. Miss Dewell was greatly loved by her small pupils, and it was with sad hearts many of the children started back to school. It is hoped that Miss Dewell will in the near future be able to take charge of the work for which she was so ably fitted.

Mrs. Burleigh and Mrs. Bird of Port Hope, are the guests of their friends, Mr and Mrs. P. C. Brown, for a few days.

Bruce Ryley took in the Toronto Exhibition on Wednesday.

N. C. Dawe spent Labor Day with his family at Young's Point.

Orrie Magill was in Peterboro on Tuesday to visit his wife, who is a patient in the Nicholls Hospital. We are pleased to hear that Mrs. Magill is progessing favorably.

SATIN AGAIN.

Satin-surfaced silks have returned to fashion's graces now that the draped gown is so thoroughly established as the fall favorite. They may be had in plain as well as in plaid, striped and brocaded effects.

St. Louis 11, Cleveland 3.

ST. LOUIS, September 7 (Canadian Press).—St. Louis made a clean sweep of the four game series with Cleveland by winning yesterday's contest 11 to 3. The locals retain the league lead by half a game as a result of the victory. Davis did not allow a hit until the fifth inning.

Williams clouted his thirty-fifth home run of the season, taking the major league circuit drive lead. Score:

Cleveland	000001200	3	7	3
St. Louis	12240101x	11	14	1

Detroit 8, Chicago 5.

CHICAGO, September 7 (Canadian Press). — Detroit tightened its hold on third place with an 8 to 5 victory over Chicago yesterday. Robertson failed in the sixth after the White Sox seemingly had the game safe by a 5 to 3 margin, and was relieved by Davenport, who was unable to check a batting rampage by the Tigers. Score:

Detroit	10002500	8	13	2
Chicago	13001000	5	9	0

New York 9, Boston 2.

NEW YORK, September 7 (Canadian Press). — After losing three straight games to seventh and eighth place teams, the New York Yankees easily defeated Boston in the last game of the series yesterday, 9 to 2. Score:

Boston	000100001	2	12	2

NATIONAL.

Cincinnati 7, St. Louis 4.

CINCINNATI, O., September 7 (Canadian Press). — Cincinnati went back into the first division yesterday by taking a free hitting game from St. Louis, 7 to 4. Sherdel was driven from the box in the fifth inning. The Cardinals hit Donohue freely, but never could overcome the Red lead. Score:

St. Louis	001110100	4	13	2
Cincinnati	21013000x	7	13	1

Philadelphia 6, Brooklyn 4.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., September 7 (Canadian Press). — Four home runs featured Philadelphia's 6 to 4 victory over Brooklyn here yesterday in the final game of the series. Homers accounted for all but one of the runs. Cy Williams smashed his twenty-third of the season, while Cadore, Walker, and Olson made the other circuit wallops.

Brooklyn	001002100	4	8	0
Philadelphia	00023001x	6	9	0

Cadore and Deberry; Hubbell, Winters and Henline.

Boston 1, New York 1.

BOSTON, September 7 (Canadian Press). — Rain compelled off both games scheduled for yesterday between Boston and New York, after five innings of the opening game had been completed. The score was 1 to 1, each team making its tally in the opening inning on a pass and two singles. The two games will be played at the close of the season in New York, 29th September being an open date for both teams, and single games being scheduled for 30th September and 1st October. Score:

New York	10000	1	4	1

BRADFORD PLAYS AT CAMPBELLFORD

Intermediate Semi-Final Game on Saturday Afternoon Should Attract a Big Crowd.

Campbellford and Bradford have agreed upon dates for their home and home games in the semi-final round of the intermediate section of the O.A.L.A. The first game will be played in Campbellford on Saturday afternoon, and will undoubtedly bring out a big crowd from all the towns in the district. The Trent team were unfortunate in drawing a bye in the grouping for the season's play, but they have kept in condition in their practices, and also in exhibition games. They have played the Toronto Riversides and Maitlands, both senior teams, also the Shamrocks of Montreal, the Bradford team, Aura Lee Juniors and Havelock. They have not lost one game, although one was tied, and their supporters have every reason to feel confident of the results of the Bradford series. Both these team shave championship aspirations and neither will underestimate the other.

Lacrosse followers in this district will be assured of a fine exhibition of the national game next Saturday afternoon, and Peterborough will likely provide a fairly large quota of spectators. They have the alternative of motoring or of going by the G.T.R. noon train at 12.15 and returning at 8 p.m.

Football

Lindsay and Warsaw will play in a Gordon Cup game at the Oval on Saturday. The kick-off will be at 3 o'clock, and J. Clark will be the referee.

—o—

Comrades and Owls will play at King Edward Park on Saturday afternoon. This game will be the play-off for the game which was unfinished on August 10, darkness putting a stop to the play on that occasion. The kick-off will be at 3 o'clock, with A. McKinley as referee.

—o—

The C.G.E. team goes to St. Catherines on Saturday, where they will play the McKenna Club to decide who will meet the Hamilton I.L.P. in the semi-finals for the Ontario Cup. It was a St. Kitts team that eliminated the C.G.E. last year, and the boys are out to turn the tables this time.

—o—

The Comrades have been awarded the game against the C.P.C. in the Gordon Cup series which was scheduled for Monday morning. The Comrades were on the field ready to play, but the packers failed to put in an appearance.

—o—

The following Comrades players have been requested to be at King Edward Park Saturday afternoon: Fenner, Anderson, Rae, Jackson, Brown, Hoggarth, Sayers, Craig, Hansen, Abrahams, Nicholls, Conway, Hill and Smith.

—o—

It is a very unusual occurance to have four balls in a football game. This was seen in last night's practice game between C.P.C. and Woollens. The half-back division for the packers was composed of T. Ball, H. Ball and F. Ball, and the other ball was, of course, the football.

BRADLEY HAS HITLESS AND RUNLESS VICTORY

Lakeviews Defeated By Maple Leafs in First Game For City Midget Championship.

MUDDY FIELD.

"Chuck" Bradley turned in a no-run, no-hit game to defeat the Lakeviews in the opening game of the city midget championship series last evening, the final score being 2 to 0. Bradley pitched a masterly game from start to finish, and but three men faced him in any inning except the first and seventh. In the first frame an error let one man on and in the seventh two errors and a fielder's choice filled the bags, with but one man out. Bradley then brought the game to a decisive close by fanning the last two men up. Bradley's work with the willow was as good as his work on the mound, for he hit safely three times in three trips to the plate and batted in one of the runs scored. With the exception of the seventh inning, his support was good, and in the first six innings but three men reached first, two on errors and one on a walk. An error and a walk came in the sixth, but one man was caught trying to steal second, and a snappy double play took care of the other two outs.

Young pitched a good game for the Lakeviews, but found some difficulty in getting the ball down to some of the smaller players on the opposing team and issued three passes. He was touched for seven hits, one in each inning and two in the first, but a little faster fielding on the part of his teammates would have cut some of them off. He struck out eight men, and in the sixth frame, after allowing a walk and a hit, fanned three in a row, with a man on third and a man on second. His opponents scored one run in each of the first two innings, but after that were unable to do any effective work against delivery.

The grounds had not recovered from their drenching of the morning and the vicinity of the home plate was a sea of mud, a fact which undoubtedly helped to keep down the number of safe hits, for the batter could not get a good foothold to swing at the ball, and after he had hit it could not get away with a good start for first. The wet balls were also hard to hit and hard to handle.

The Maple Leafs showed up well on the bases, stealing second four times and third three. Hunter and Thirubeck pulled off a good double steal in the sixth.

The next game is scheduled for Saturday, and the winner of the city honors will have an opportunity to stack up against the winners of the Lindsay and the Toronto midget series.

All Central League games were postponed yesterday on account of rain. This is the first time in the second half that it has been necessary to call off a game on account of inclement weather.

Not much has been written about, or has anyone picked him for his all-American team, yet the fact remains that Gerber, who is performing at short for the St. Louis Browns, is one of the greatest infielders in the game today. His all-around work is one of the reasons why the Browns are occupying the position they hold today—a daily perusal of his score is his best testimonial.

With the pitching staff blown sky high, the cinch that the New York Giants looked to have had a week ago for the National League pennant is not such a cinch. The Pirates are closing in on the McGraw club. Those Pirates have a lot of stuff, and with the Cardinals faded and the Cubs erratic, the big chance is theirs. The Giants haven't a pitcher who can go nine innings, and pitching counts more than anything else at this stage of the race. Nehf, who was expected to be a big winner, has been a disappointment, and so has Jess Barnes, who pitched so brilliantly last fall in the world series.

"Chuck" Bradley not only pitched a good game yesterday, but he fielded his position well and was the star man with the bat.

Some of the Maple Leafs were late arriving on the field last evening, which made the game late in starting. Manager Curtiss was obliged to put his team in the field for the first inning with some second string men on the line-up.

Young pitched a good game for the Lakeviews and fanned five men in the last two innings. He was a little bit wild in the first two frames.

GIRLS' BALL LEAGUE.

The Girls' Softball League game between the Quakers and the Auburns scheduled for last evening was late in starting and the necessary five innings were not played. The game will be replayed this evening and will start at 5.30 o'clock.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the league will be held Thursday evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 8 o'clock.

Little Lessons For the Golfer

(By George O'Neil).

The pendulum-swing putt, the most popular and most generally successful method in use in this country, is made in this way: Stand with the feet fairly close together, with hands as close together as possible. Whether one bends low, crouches over, or stands comparatively erect, is entirely a matter of comfort. Swing the club entirely with the wrist, imitating the swing of the pendulum as faithfully as possible. It is astonishing what good results are frequently obtained by this method.

How would you like to be able to step up to the tee, wind up with your driver and whack the little pill 338 yards down the fairway? That is the world's record drive, officially, made by this man, W. H. Horne, of England. We would all smile just as he has if we could knock out just one long one like that.

YANKS ARE PLAYING INCONSISTENT BALL

Double Defeat at the Hands of the Tail-Enders May Be the Beginning of the End.

Playing bad ball when just fair work ought to be good enough to win, is one of the failings of the New York Yankees who are back again in second place in the American League. At a very critical period in the race, a series with a tail-end club should be food for a champion team, but the Yanks have done nothing with the Boston Red Sox all season. Every other team has taken a majority of games from them, but the Yanks, who have won only seven out of eighteen. The Browns have won thirteen out of nineteen from the Red Sox, which makes quite a difference. The Yanks have always been inconsistent and since they took the last series from the Browns here, they have been acting as if things were all over and nothing remained for them to do but idle along and wait for the Browns to crack. Nearly all the critics have expected the Browns to blow up. They have had plenty of excuses to go to pieces, but they are in there hanging on strongly, and if one of them has to break, it is likely the Yanks are booked for the role. As far as has been observed, the Browns haven't a pitcher with the exception of Urban Shocker, the former Torontonian, and it is surprising that they have gone so well all season. They have a great manager, however, a hustling club and a lot of heart.—Toronto Star.

RAIN POSTPONES GAME AT SIMCOE.

SIMCOE, September 7. Canadian Press. — A sharp thunderstorm accompanied by a heavy deluge of rain swept this district about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The rain continued for over two hours and the streets were floodd to overflowing.

The scheduled semi-final Intermediate O.B.A. game between Simcoe and Bronte was postponed for another week.

After the many difficulties experienced in bringing these two teams together, it seemed a fitting climax that rain should intervene at the last moment. About fifty Bronte players and supporters arrived here at noon via the G.T.R. accompanied by Umpire trvey Muir of Hamilton, and the disappointed visitors were forced to return late this afternoon.

Simcoe will play the initial game of the playoffs at Bronte on Saturday next. With the return game here probably a week from to-day.

SYDENHAM DOWNED BY PICTON, 13-5.

SYDENHAM, Sept. 7.—The Sydenham team, champions of the Frontenac, Lennox and Addington League, went down to defeat here in a semi-final Intermediate O.B.A.A. game to Picton, the score being 13 to 5. The visitors outclassed the locals all the way and were always in the lead. Croft pitched a steady game for the winners, keeping the twelve hits he allowed well scattered and, in addition, having ten strikeouts. He gave three bases on balls and unloosed two wild pitches. Lee, of Sydenham, was handicapped by a strained arm and was touched up for thirteen safeties in the eight innings in which he worked. He had six strikeouts and gave four bases on balls. The batting of Young and Croft featured the game. The score:

BOUT POSTPONED

NEW YORK, Sept. ber 7. Canadian Press. — Threatening weather last night caused the postponement of the 15 round bout between Sid Marks of Toronto, Canadian lightweight champion, and Willie Jackson, New York lightweight, scheduled at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn. No date was set for a future match.

GESSLER'S RUSH TO SHOWERS LETS THREE MEN SCORE

BASEBALL'S BIGGEST BONERS

Forgetting the number of men that are out is a common fault in baseball.

Any number of ludicrous situations have been created because some player thought two were out instead of one.

In the majors and minors every year a score or more of "bones" are pulled because the player making the play lost track of the outs.

In a game at New York a number of years ago, both teams and the umpires became confused as to the number of outs.

The two clubs proceeded to change sides when only two men were out, and only the wild shouts of the official scorer that only two men had been retired, cleared up the situation.

However, the prize play featuring the failure to keep track of the outs, goes to "Doc" Gessler, who was a mighty good ball player. Gessler played in both the American and National Leagues. He was a college graduate, and a mighty bright chap, but it's just as easy for a collegian to pull a "bone" as a sandlotter, if he forgets how many men are out.

Gessler was playing with the Chicago Cubs when he pulled his classic in ivory.

It was the first of the ninth, the bases were filled, one out and the score mighty close.

Gessler evidently thought two men were out, for when he made a remarkable catch of a hard-hit fly ball, he believed the side had been retired and started for the clubhouse at top speed.

Before his teammates could make him realize that only two were out, all three runners had scored on Gessler's mental lapse.

DIFFICULT MENTAL HAZARDS IN GOLF

Owing to the mental nature of golf there are many mental or metaphysical rules which are as important, if not more so, than the actual physical rules of the game. Not matter what ball a golfer is using, be it a gutty or rubber-core, or if his club shafts are of the modern steel construction instead of hickory, if his mental state is not attuned to the game he is in a terrible fix. In the beginning, the smart man, the intellectual one, is naturally at an advantage. This is true at every stage of life, which is the human equation that the socialists and their like fail to realize. There will always be one man smarter than another, just as there will always be good golfers and poor duffers.

Sometime since, an expert suggested a sort of mental handicap to correspond in the mental realm of the game with the stroke handicap given by the superior player. This handicap consists of a certain number of "boos" which may be shouted at the better player at any time during the round. The temperamental golfer—and practically every star player is of that class—can well imagine the effect of having "Boo!" shouted in his ear at just the psychological moment when he is about to hit the ball. Murder has been done on less provocation!

Summing up a few mental rules for the benefit of those interested in golf, a little advice about cheerfulness would not be amiss. Here are a number of maxims on the subject:

"Don't hold onto the last shot; don't get mesmerized by any so-called difficulty spot. Don't ever forget the purely mental nature of golf; play with your head as well as your hands. Don't think about any part of your body more than any other part. Be hopeful and optimistic every moment of the round. It will not only help you, but it may annoy your opponents greatly if their luck is poor.

"Concentrate on your play, but don't confuse lingering memory with concentration. Concentration always implies an element of the present. Be patient; patience is the most essential quality of golf, as in life. The person who cannot control his disposition will never control anything else.

"Don't disregard good advice if it is given in a practical form. But don't try to follow all you get or your golf career will be short. Don't ever be tempted to touch your ball in any dishonest way; cheating at golf is like stealing pennies from a baby. Never get discouraged; remember your first shot and try to live up to it. The inspiration of your high goal will aid your endeavors. And above all, be cheerful."

BOWMANVILLE WON YESTERDAY'S GAME.

Handful of Spectators Saw Last Game of the Season.

OSHAWA, September 7. (Special) —It happened that George Patterson's hosiery crew from Bowmanville came to Oshawa, and handed the motor crew a lacing in their own backyard by a score of 7 to 5, and what made it hurt worse, it was the last game of the season and the handful of spectators who fully expected to go away with a win were sadly disappointed.

The hosiery team went after Saunders who was trotted out by Manager Booth to do the heaving, right when his umps. yelled "Play Ball," chasing two across in the first, one in the second, three in the seventh and one in the eighth.

Oshawa got three over in the third, one in the fifth, and with the bases full in the ninth it looked as though they were going to pull out a victory; but a fast double play nipped all chances and Chambers made the last batter whiff the air.

Local Golfers Motored to Oshawa

A team of fifteen from the Peterborough Golf Club motored to Oshawa yesterday for a match with the Oshawa Golf Club, the Oshawa team scoring four points over the Peterborough team. The following were the scores made:

Peterborough.		Oshawa.
Abbott	1	Jacobs	0
Bond	0	Bull	1
Miles Hamilton	0	Caswell	1
McDermid	0	Mitchell	1
Medd	0	Smith	1
Case	0	Dr. Bascombe	1

Widdes	0	Rev. De Pensier	1
Strickland	1	Thomas	0
Mason, pro.	½	Moss, pro.	½

The Oshawa club have lately extended their course from 12 to 18 holes and now have one of the most sporting links in Canada, it being necessary to play over water on almost every hole. "Bob" Abbott, manager of the Raybestos Co., recognized as one of the longest drivers in the world, made a record drive in his game yesterday, reaching what is known as the "Willows Green," which is over 300 yards from the tee in his drive. Ordinarily it takes a good drive and a long iron shot to reach this green from the tee.

THREE GAMES ON SATURDAY

Juvenile and Junior Championship Contests and O.B.A.A. Semi-Final

The fans are in for a big programme of baseball at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon, when three championship games will be played.

Maple Leafs and Lakeviews start at one o'clock in the second contest for the juvenile championship. At 2.30 o'clock, Lakeviews and Adanacs meet in round number two for the junior championship and at four o'clock the champion Canadian General will play the second game of their O.B.A.A. series with Tweed. The first two games will be seven innings each.

Suppose This Were Your Home!

Carefully consider fire protection when you build or remodel your home.

Every waking and sleeping moment you and your family spend in an inflammable house you risk your lives.

Build for safety by using Gypsum Board and Gypsum Plaster.

Then all your partitions and ceilings will be made of material that can't burn—Gypsum.

Tight joints, no cracks or crevices, air-space insulation between walls (all features of this type of construction), positively prevent the spread of heat and flames.

Ask for the Gypsum Board booklet—it's free.

KIWANIANS OF PETERBOROUGH

"We's." It was the "we's" who were accomplishing things to-day by their spirit of unselfish co-operation.

Governor Hay also referred to the spirit of comradeship and the relationship to-day between the Kiwanians of Canada and United States. He also referred to the convention which will be held at Windsor on Sept. 21 and 22.

Vote of Thanks.

A hearty vote of thanks, nicely worded and ably presented, was moved by Kiwanian J. A. White, of Lindsay, and seconded by Kiwanian Jno. Allan, of Peterborough, to Governor Hay for his splendid address.

A solo by Art. Allin was followed by an instrumental duet by Harold Mercer and Archie McBride, and a story and a song by Hi Meehan. The Lindsay quartette again favored the gathering with a selection, "Larboard Watch," after which Kiwanians Jack McNabb and Jack MacComb of Peterborough, moved a vote of thanks to the Lindsay Club for their hospitality. President Stinson in turn thanked the visitors for their entertainment and their visit.

The lion roared and the rooster crowed, after which the gathering dispersed with the singing of the National Anthem.

DENMARK RECOVERING FROM EFFECTS OF WAR

Idleness Reduced to 50,000 out of a Population of 3,200,000, and Wages Lowered a Third—Little Money Increase During the Conflict.

"Denmark is recovering. Her money is sound and she has few foreign profiteers to bother her because things are not cheap there, even now," said Consul-General Beck of Denmark. "Idleness has decreased to about 50,000 out of a population of 3,200,000, and wages have been reduced one third in the last year. They are still excessive but the reduction must be gradual.

"The impression seems general that Denmark made a great deal of money during the war. There was a large increase in the bank deposits; but our shelves were bare and supplies almost gone. Cattle died or were sold because of lack of feed and our actual capital was merely shifted from products to the [illegible] Ther we siattlletESES ES ES ES There was little true increase.

"Deflation was the chief cause of recent troubles. On a pre-war basis of 100, the index number a year ago decline in price has caused great suffering and made trouble for the banks because securities held have fallen steadily for months. Loans to good firms could not be liquidated —mushroom firms failed. Large amounts were lost through buying marks.

"The market for our products in England continues good. Hogs and cattle are sold there extensively, and some of our cement and machinery. Sales to Germany and other central European markets have fallen off because of the high Danish exchange. Germany, formerly a large purchaser of Danish products, to-day buys comparatively little."

The last picture made by the late William D. Taylor, the Paramount director who recently was the victim of a mysterious assassination in Holywood, Calif., was "The Top of New York" a Paramount picture starring May McAvoy. It is said tat Mr. Taylor's directorial art never was more conspiciously displayed in a picture production than in this delightful story of tenement and department store life in a great city.

Miss McAvoy has the role of a New York tenement girl who clerks in the toy section of a huge department store and during Christmas rush is featured as an animted doll at the toy counter, to attract customers and amuse the children. The tragic home life of the girl, in decided contrast to her gay trappings and light-hearted manners as the doll, make a story full of colorful scenes and gripping intensity.

MAY McAVOY, SHOP GIRL

May McAvoy demonstrates her versatility in "The Top of New York" her latest Paramount picture, in which she gives an impersonation entirely different from any in which she has yet been seen. She portrays this time a New York shop girl who lives in the tenements and finds romance on the rooftops, where New York's poor sleep in summer time.

While ministering to a sick brother, whom she keeps on the roof much of the time even in winter as she has heard patients of hospitals are kept, she finally finds her life problem satisfactorily solved, but not before many bitter experiences come to her.

JIMMY AUBREY GIVES HAIR DOPE

Jimmy Aubrey, the Vitagraph comedian stood looking at Helen Kesler, his leading lady.

It's wonderful how she does it!" he exclaimed to Frank Alexander the heavyweight.

"How she does what?" asked Frank.

"Combs that seventy miles of hair every morning replied the comedian. "Do you realize that a blonde has one hundred and forty-seven thousand separate hairs in her head, while a red haired beauty has only eighty-eight thousand The brown haired girl as one hundred and nine thousand and her black haired sister one hundred and two thousand hairs.

"The woman with long hair has between fifty and sixty miles of filament to comb and brush each day before going to business, while the blonde has over seventy miles of it."

"No wonder the women are going in for bobbed hair" ejaculated the surprised Alexander, who considered hair just hair and had never given it much thought. "So the hairs of the head are really numbered—well I have lost a good many out of the series so I guess that I have less than seventy-five thousand left."

Helen Kesler, who has the reputation of having the most beautiufl head of hair in the world is Aubrey's leading woman in "The Chicken Parade."

AT THE GRAND.

JIMMY EVANS' REVUE.

Jimmy Evans' Musical Revue Company which has been delighting patrons of the Grand this week with their revue, "Miss Manhattan," will to-night present an entirely new offering, "Hello Broadway," replete with musical gems and rich comedy. The Evans' aggregation is clever, peppery and clean. Their opening bill contained not a word or an action that was suggestive or vulgar and the management is to be commended upon the freshness and brightness of the offering. It is not necessary to be off colour to be funny, and Mr. Evans has the right idea when he puts over an entertainment that is as clean as a moonshiner's premises an hour after a tip has been received that the officers are headed that way. He is an amusing comedian himself and has a great lieutenant in Joe Devine, the Hebrew fun-maker. Bert Ryan puts over a song in a manner that suggests Al Plunkett, Kitty Fraser, Grace Gould and Florence Pippin add much to the musical excellence of the bill and Roy Ellis has a pair of dancing legs that simply won't behave. The chorus is well trained and lively and altogether Jimmy Evans has a real show. "Hello Broadway" should please the old customers and make many new friends for the organization. It will be presented for the balance of the week with a matinee Saturday.

William Fox presents
CHARLES JONES

by Charles A. Selzer — Directed by Reeves Eason.

At the ROYAL—To-night, Friday, and Saturday.

CHARLES JONES, FOX STAR, COMING AGAIN

At the Royal Theatre is Charles Jones, the magnetic film star who has made such rapid progress under the Fox banner. Few men on the screen have equalled his speedy development from the crude to the artistically finished actor. He has come to be an ever-welcome visitor, and report declares that in his new picture, "Rough Shod," William Fox has supplied him with a role exactly to his liking in both action and romance.

The story is from the pen of Charles Selzer, a master of ranch life tales, and the leading woman is Helen Ferguson, a most capable actress. Others in the cast include the poplar Maurice Flynn and the petite Ruth Renick. The entertainment should be of the most satisfactory sort, with the fine scenic effects which Fox always gives to his Western pictures.

A photoplay that can be heartily recommended to all theatre-goers is "Rough Shod," now running at the Royal Theatre and to close on Saturday night. Charles Jones is the star, and his work is on the high level of excellence that he consistently maintains in pictures of western life in the open. His support is most capable. Charles A. Selzer, who wrote the story, is noted as an author of western adventure tales, and in "Rough Shod" has furnished the Fox star with a fine vehicle.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U.S. Government and 35 leading universities, and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odour, smoke, or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, F. S. Johnson, 246 Craig Street, W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The first of the September field days for the ladies of the Golf and Country Club was held yesterday, and was very much enjoyed by all who attended. Bridge was played during the afternoon and was in charge of Mrs. A. E. Coulthard. Prizes were won: First, Miss Lizzie Scott; second, Mrs. F. L. Roy. The golf competitions were in charge of Miss Rita Cavanagh and Miss Marjorie Hatton. The first, long distance, driving, won by Miss Cavanagh; the second, approaching and putting, won by Mrs. C. G. Graham. These field days will be held on each Wednesday in September, with luncheon at 12.30.

Mr. J. Grant Braund, who has been spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Braund, 51 Park street, left on Monday to spend a few days in Toronto and Chicago, before returning to Kirksville, M. where he is attending the American School of Osteopathy.

Mrs. G. B. McCulloch and daughter Mildred, who has been visiting Mrs. Peter Thomson and friends in vicinity for the past two months returned on Thursday last ot their home in Spokane, Wash.

BARS USE OF TOBACCO BY KANSAS TEACHERS.

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 7.—Even though the voters of Kansas have placed the stamp of disapproval on the policies of Lizzie Wooster, state superintendent of public instruction, she is putting her foot down harder than ever before on the practice of school teachers using tobacco.

"Hereafter no recommendations for school positions will be made to teachers, instructors or superintendents who use tobacco in any form," Mrs. Wooster decrees. "No State or institute certificates will be issued to tobacco users. Schools and colleges that permit the use of tobacco by administrative heads, instructors or pupils, cannot remain on the accredited list."

INHERENT STRENGTH OF MARKET SHOWN TO-DAY (STUART P. WEST.)

(Special to Examiner.)

NEW YORK, September 7th.—In explanation of the numerous specialty advances Wall street had very little to say. Absorption of the Cosden Oil by one of the big oil producers was one of the few fresh rumors that were going about. The strength of American wool was related to the favorable prospects in this particular industry but these have long been appreciated. So too have the recapitalization projects for consolidated Gas and American Ice, and the usual activity in the Canning trade.

What the market showed in a general way was that the forces making for higher prices had not lost their grip, and that whether the rise was of spontaneous buying or of stimulating by pools and individual speculators, the advances were not bringing out any great quantity of stocks from investment holders.

The advance was not at all general. It was the sort of an advance which has become stereotyped—a collection of more or less rapid upturns in a large number of selected stocks. Some of these reached new high points for the year, among them Norfolk and Western in the railway list, Consolidated Gas, Columbia Gas and and Pacific as in the Public Utilities group, and in the Industrial List American Ice, American Wood, United Retail Stores, American Can and Continental Can.

Oil shares were taken up with special attention being paid to Standard Oil of California, Cosden and Sinclair. Motor Accessory Stocks felt the stimulus of the return of Stromberg Corborator to a dividend basis, and the motor shares were also stronger. On the other hand it was all the more noticeable because of the advance in the stocks of automobile and automobile parts companies that the rubber and tire issues should have had another sinking spell. The tire manufacturers while doing a satisfactory business have as is well known the handicap of abnormally low prices, and are, therefore, in a very different position from other members of the motor industry.

TRADING COMMENT AND FACTORS.

While some irregularity may be seen in connection with profit-taking and professional attacks on speculative vulnerable spots, the general outlook favors special improvement in groups favorably mentioned.

The Government anti-strike injunction, and the manner of securing it, constitute the most constructive Washington business development in twenty years. Whether or not the stock market, with its mixed technique, and in view of the threat of a general strike that will not occur, will extend immediate bullish recognition to it, there is no doubt that it will do so commensurately upon digestion. The issue has been squarely put—Shall the U. S. be ruled by the unions or the people? The Administration has at last crossed the Rubicon, broken with the labor bogy and made a ringing appeal to the people. There can be but one answer.

LATEST LIVE SPECULATIVE INFLUENCES.

Bullish—
Railroad strike injunction.
Reparation developments.
Coal strike settlement.
Failure of railroad strike.
Bank security buying.

ACTIVE INVESTMENT OPINION.

Expert Comment on the Security Market, Finance, Business and Politics.

Looking at it from the standpoint of the investor in railroad securities, especially railroad stocks, we are of the opinion that such a profitable business could be done by the railroad industry through this fall and winter were the strikes settled, that most railroad stocks would be cheap were they selling higher than even their recent highest level.—Colgate Hoyt & Company.

Monetary and banking conditions are better than average, the supply of capital available for investments is greater than average, and it seems reasonable to suppose that the stock market should show more than average strength.—Wrenn Bros. & Co.

Whatever temporary influence, the anti-strike injunction move may have upon the securities market promises to be of little importance compared to the lasting benefits which may follow from the added security to the investment public.—A. A. Housman & Company.

Attempts to scare the public out of low priced rails should be met with buying instead of selling orders. Remember the best months of earnings are just ahead of the majority of them.—Hornblower & Weeks.

We believe higher levels will prevail during September, but the situation at the moment favors a good reaction all around.—J. S. Bache & Company.

The oil department of the market has first place and the railroads next.—Clark, Childs & Co.

Chicago & Northwestern, best among dividend paying rails, should become increasingly prominent.—Prince & Whitely.

The outlook is good. The strike injunction will clear the air. We need not fear a general strike. —Block, Maloney & Company.

RISING PRICES FOR A YEAR?

Rising prices in business generally during the next 12 to 18 months are being predicted in important quarters. This prophecy is primarily predicated on two basic developments, viz., the recovery of raw material prices and the rise in wages from readjustment until each is only about 25 p.c. below the war inflation peak.

Supplementary to and in promotion of this tendency are particularly quoted the following influential factors:

(1) High tariff duties on goods which are already selling above prewar and normal figures.

(2) A large gold supply, high bank reserves and big capital accumulation pressing for employment—all of which furnish ample material to finance rising prices.

While there is no doubt a deflationary reckoning will come later, prior to that time sensational advances in the stock market are predicted in many of its departments, and, counting on the underlying effect of inflation until it is in momentum, leading brokerage institutions are confident that securities of well-managed concerns are attractive on all recessions.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—International Paper, selling at sixty, is being bought today by people close to the inside who say that it is on the move now and will reach a figure around 90. Their mill at Three Rivers is considered the lowest cost newsprint mill in the world and it is running at around 400 tons capacity per day. International Paper looks the best buy on the board.

CAR LOADINGS INCREASE; GENERAL STRIKE WANES

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—General chairmen of railway shop crafts called to meet Monday at Chicago to discuss peace terms with small railroads in west and south.

Bank of England rate unchanged at three per cent.

Railway executives chairman estimates car loadings for week ended August 26 will total about 870,000, against total previous week of 859,219 cars.

Chicago and Northwestern Railway invites strikers to return to work, settlement having failed, and assures them of fair treatment.

Last week's bituminous output between 9,100,000 and 9,300,000 tons, highest of any week since strike began.

Threats of general strike throughout country rapidly wanes as delegates gather for special meeting of American Federation of Labor at Atlantic City.

Gulf Oil Corporation said to be planning new company with 2,710,825 shares of $25 par to take over present New Jersey organization, offering holders 12 shares new stock or one of old, equivalent to 200 per cent. stock dividend. Dividend expected to be $1.50 and annually, beginning immediately.

Compromise plan for ending hard coal strike expected to be ratified by overwhelming vote at Wikes Barre before end of week.

Impression gaining in Germany that Stinnes agreement with the French for reconstruction of devasted regions will result in forcing downward revision of Germany's reparations burden and will go a long way toward relieving tension between France and Germany.

Average price 20 industrials, 100.68, of .99; average price 20 rails, 91.20, of .96.

OIL GROUP ACTIVE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Prices in general list were steady during noon dealings. Oils showed greatest group strength. Important gains were scored by SCE., Cosden and Houston. Dupont made a new high of 151, reflecting tremendous increase in powder sales on resumption of coal mining.

Norfolk and Western rose to 123 3-4. Strength of Norfolk is due less to road's good luck in serving no union mines during the strike than to its strong capital structure and sustained earning power. Common stock will show upwards of $16 a share this year and may run close to $20. Debt is around $53,000 a mile against $70,000 in common and preferred, total of $123,000, whereas gross earnings are running $40,000 a mile annually and management is one of the most cefftive in the country. Surplus earnings have been ploughed back into property to such an extent that balance sheet shows $76,000,000.

THE UNITED STATES DOLLAR AT DISCOUNT.

MONTREAL, July 7—The United States dollar is being quoted at a discount of one-quarter of one per cent. here to-day. This is the first time in seven years the United States dollar has sold for less than par here.

It is said that in very large amounts, say two hundred thousand dollars, one-half of one per cent. will be demanded.

Various reasons are given for the cause of discount, but one of the most justified, say banking officials, is the general prosperity in Canada. It is also said that the new American tariff might have had something to do with the exchange.

OPPOSED TO A FUSION FARMER AND LIBERALS

H. W. Wood of the United Farmers of Alberta Stands Pat on Original Convictions.

"SHOULD RESIGN"

CALGARY, Alta., Sept. 8.—(Special).—Henry Wise Wood, president of the United Farmers of Alberta, is sternly opposed to a fusion between the Farmer members of the Federal House and either of the old line political parties. There had been a good deal of talk concerning the amalgamation of the Farmers with the Mackenzie King administration, and the latest report is that a certain measure of success has been attained by those responsible for the movement, it being understood that the Liberals would make concessions to the Farmers' wing and that the latter would not press immediately for reforms which were contained in their election platform. That this report is taken seriously by Mr. Wood is indicated by a statement by him in "The U.F.A.," the official organ of the Organized Farmers of Alberta, in the course of which he declares that any Farmer who considers joining either of the old politcal parties should resign and submit himself to the electors on the basis of his new convictions.

LIFT LOCK MODEL WINDOW DISPLAY

Interesting Exhibit Advertises Peterborough and Players Cigarettes.

An animated miniature of Peterboro's Lift Lock, which is on display in the main window of the Kingan Hardware Store, has been attracting general interest since it was installed on Thursday afternoon. With the exception of the activiating principle of the famous lock, the little model follows closely both the design and the surrounding locality of its prototype.

The view from the sidewalk corresponds with the prospect of the Lift Lock from the East or Douro side. Two pontoons, one of them containing a tiny boat, move up and down slowly and alternatively illustrating the method by which the boats are lifted from the lower level of the Trent canal to the higher, or reversely. Details are delineated exactly, and with surprising fidelity, as in such little matters as the pier tower and the passage to it, the roadways and fences ,embankments and terraces. Along the road on the east face little motor cars ascend the slope and disappear, returning again at the south side. A feature of the display is the effect of vista conveyeyed by the background showing Armour's Hill, the King George School and other familiar points of the landscape.

It provides a striking and compelling advertisement of Peterboro, and incidentally of Players' cigarettes. its business aspect is not obtrusive, but observers notice the well known Players' signs, especially on the tiny cigarette boxes in the moving trucks. The motive power in the display is obtained from a small electric motor, but as stated on the legend of the advertisement, the Lift Lock itself is operated by hydraulic power.

LABOR CONFERENCE

Another Ottawa Conference Coming

OTTAWA, Sept. 8— (Canadian Press.) — Another conference between the Dominion and Provincial Government lies in the offing. This conference is to discuss important conventions and recommendations adopted at the International Labor Convention of the League of Nations.

It is felt that the primary subject before the conference was unemployment, and the International Labor Conventions would be better discussed at a special conference to be called by the Dominion Government on the request from a majority of the Provincial Governments, when this may be deemed necessary. In the meantime "careful and sympathetic attention was urged.

LABOUR GOING DISCUSS PLAN

Matthew Woll Thinks it is Inadvisable to Impeach the Attorney-General.

ATLANTIC, N.J., Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Inauguration of impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Daugherty as proposed by the New York Central Trades and Labor Council will be brought before the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor when it convenes here to-morrow it was announced to-day by Matthew Woll, vice-president of the Federation and member of the Executive Council. Despite the telegram said to have been sent to the New York Council yesterday by Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation promising his support in impeachment proceedings, Mr. Woll to-day expressed opinion that such action would be impracticable. "To impeach Daugherty we would have to prove that he had been guilty of conspiracy," asserted Mr. Woll. "There has been nothing in his actions to indicate that we will be able to charge him with conspiracy and therefore I believe that any talk of impeaching the Attorney General is still ill-considered."

Unable to Extricate Their Army From Turkish Grasp, Greeks Will Have to Accept Victor's Terms

Official Turkish Statement Says That 400 Greek Officers and 10,000 Men Have Been Captured—Smyrna Hinterland Ravaged by Turks.

SMYRNA, Sept. 8. — (Canadian Press.)—Only an eye that has witnessed can realize the extent of the disaster to the Greek army, which is termed one of the most decisive in military history. An official Turkish statement says that four hundred Greek officers and ten thousand men have been captured since the offensive began, together with five hundred trucks, three hundred and fifty guns and a million rounds of ammunition. The whole of the Smyrnya ninterland has been ravaged by the Turks and refugees continue to pour into the city by the thousands.

Unable to extricate their army from the Turks' hold the Greek military leaders, it is believed here, will be obliged to accept any armistice terms the victors may dictate.

Allied commissioners have recommended to representatives of the Kemalists here that the Angora government propose an armistice to Athens.

British cruisers Concord and Cardiff, under command of Rear Admiral Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt, are under orders to sail at noon to-day for Smyrna. The entire British Mediterranean fleet is now concentrated in the Near Eastern waters.

WILL CANADA SUFFER?

OTTAWA, Sept. 8. — (Canadian Press.)—Severe defeats at the hands of the Turkish Nationalists and consequent political turmoil in Athens, are raising some questions as to the capability of Greece to meet continued itnerest payments on credits extended by Canada to the Greek Government which now owes the Dominion more than seven and a half million dollars. It is understood that Hon. W. S. Fielding will take up credits to Greece and Roumania during his present visit overseas.

BRITAIN TO RELEASE 500 MILLION FRANCS

Part of French War Guaranty to be Returned.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—It is announced that approximately 500,000,000 of the 1,948,000,000 French gold francs on deposit with the Bank of England since 1916, as a guaranty for credits advanced to the French government, are to be returned to France within a few days.

Considerable satisfaction is expressed in the ministry of finance and the Bank of France and it is planned to continue the payments against which the gold was hypothescated until the entire amount is returned.

French financiers have been concerned over the tying up in the Bank of England for six years of nearly two-fifths of the Bank of France's gold.

Timid and cynical observers often have wondered whether this gold would ever find its way again to France; consequently the announcement from London that a considerable part of the deposit is about to be surrendered is reassuring.

It is felt also that it will give somewhat greater liberty of political action to France, which has felt some humiliation at having such an enormous part of its gold held abroad.

OBITUARY

MRS. ELIZABETH PAUL.

The death occurred at 11 a.m. today of Mrs. Elizabeth Paul at her home on Bridge street where she resided during the last 28 years Her husband predeceased her eleven years ago and she is survived by five daughters Miss E. Paul of Chicago, Mrs. W. J. Sherwood and Mrs. J. N. Bongard, Toronto, Mrs. H. F. Parks, Walford, Algoma, and Mrs. A. E. Higgins of Lakefield The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Lakefield cemetery with services by Rev. Mr. Reddick of the Methodist church.

MINING MARKET.

TORONTO Sept. 8.—The mining market is active and strong under the leadership of Hollinger. This isue is selling at 13.15, and 20.00 is being predicted for it. The milling capacity is being doubled and will treat 8,000 tons of ore per day. Trading just started in Davidson today a 35. It is 36 bid now and I hear it is a purchase for an immediate upward move.

The Greek Cabinet Throws Up Sponge

Constantine May Be Driven From His Throne —New Cabinet is Being Formed.

ATHENS, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—The defeat of Greek forces in Asia Minor caused the downfall of the Greek Cabinet here yesterday.

M. Caloghropoulos was charged to-day by King Constantine with the task of forming a new Cabinet.

Reports persist that Constantine may be driven from the throne by enemies using the Turkish victories as a lever to oust him.

TORONTO FIREMEN HAD A BIG BLAZE

Four Lines of Hose Used to Squelch Fire in Swift Canadian Packing Plant

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Half of Toronto's fire-fighting forces battled for six hours today to conquer a fire that ravaged the sausage and lard rooms in the north-west wing of the Swift Canadian Packing plant at Keel and St. Clair Streets, resulting in about $145,000 damage to contents and building.

Between two and three hundred thousand pounds of lard took fire, making fierce fuel for the flames, and throwing off thick stifling clouds of smoke which hampered the firefighters, causing them severe hardships. Forty lines of hose hurled thousands of tons of water into the burning area, but the fire in the lard tanks and storage rooms just burned itself out.

A scores of firemen were overcome time and again by smoke, and had to stagger to fire escapes for air to revive themselves. Others staggered out from narrow passage-ways, falling on their way, weak from the terrific heat and smoke.

Not in years had the fire-fighters such a stubborn blaze. Several squads tried to fight their way into the lard room, but were driven out four times in thirty minutes, and were forced to lie flat on their stomachs to keep their senses.

STEEL REALTY ACQUIRES COAL AREA VIRGINIA

Corporation Has Purchased 6,000 Acres of Coal Lands Producing 150 Tons Per Day.

(Financial Times).

Announcement is made by Leonard R. Steel, President of the Steel Realty Development Corporation, of the acquisition by that company of extensive coal lands and interests in Virginia, located around Price Mountain and Brush Mountain near Christiansburg, in Montgomery County.

Approximately 6,000 acres of coal lands have been purchased in fee simple or acquired under long term leases running from 42 years to "perpetual mining rights" by the Steel Realty Development Corporation, including in this acreage some 1,800 acres on which it holds options, according to Mr. Steel's announcement. Negotiations are also pending, it was learned, for additional coal lands.

To Yield 1,500 Tons Daily.

The present operations in the mines acquired are yielding a production of about 150 tons per day. By the installation of new machinery, equipment and breakers, and the use of electric power from the Appalachian Power Company, and the erection of briquetting plants, according to William Griffith, of Scranton, consulting engineer for the Steel Realty Development Corporation, and also other mining operators, production in these fields can be brought up to at least 1,500 tons per day, including briquette production from the culm. Virginia anthracite is smokeless, sootless coal, particularly adapted for domestic purposes, and is also used in zinc smelting plants, lime kilns and certain other industries.

British Cruisers Ordered to Smyrna — Mediterranean Fleet Concentrated—Allied Commissioners Propose Armistice—Turks Will Dictate

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 8.—(United Press.)—American marines have landed at Smyrna and are taking steps to protect United States' citizens as the Turkish Nationalist Army, driving the defeated Greeks before it, nears the city, according to reports reaching here to-day.

Greek authorities are said to have informed the Allies they are unable to guarantee the safety of foreigners in Smyrna when the routed Greek army reaches the port city.

The victorious Turks, under Mustapha Kemal, had pushed forward to within about twenty miles of Smyrna, at latest reports and had broken through the weak defenses and reached the Aegean sea. The Greek army routed, was retreating upon Smyrna, accompanied by thousands of refugees. Dangerous congestion, with spread of disease and famine, is feared in Smyrna.

It is said the Turks will do their utmost to split the Allies and regain Constantinople. Another report states that the Turks have rejected the Greeks armistice offer.

RETURNED MAN IS ALMOST DESTITUTE

Disastrous Fire Swallowed Up Savings of William Withers of Downer's Corners.

Friends of William Withers, of Downer's Corners, whose season's crop and valuabl estock, were destroyed by fire last Thursday evening, are desirous of enlisting public opinion and getting up a subscription to aid Mr. Withers and his family. He is a returned soldier, a man who spent several years in the service of his country, and the fire which destroyed crop, stock and machinery, has left him entirely without means and taken what savings he had. After giving his health and strength to the service of his country, and spending his time since his return in agricultural pursuits, another service to the Dominnion, he is left practically stranded after a hard season's toil. Any subscription to this fund may be left at this office, and will be acknowledged in the press.

A few of the very advance models of fall coats are beginning to appear. They show straight full lines with interesting sleeves that are a little narrower than they were last season.

Heavy pile fabrics are expected to be most in demand and linings are of brilliant brocades and satins.

Brown in rich bronze shades is very good and is expected to be the most fashionable color for fall. Embroideries are used for trimming, but not so much as plain stitching or various tailored trimmings of the material itself.

ACQUITTED BY MAGISTRATE OF THEFT CHARGE

Charles Vincent of Bobcaygeon Was Accused of Having Stolen a Typewriter—Evidence Weak

WOMAN'S STATEMENT

Charles Vincent of Bobcaygeon, who was tried in the county police court this morning on a charge of having stolen a Corona typewriter from Ross Ferren of Harvey township, about 12 miles north of Bobcaygeon, was acquitted by Magistrate Langley this afternoon. Mr. F. D. Kerr, K.C., appeared for the accused, and Mr. J. F. Strickland for the prosecution.

Flatly contradictory evidence was given by J. L. Bell, of Bobcaygeon, and Mrs. Alice Finley. The former stated that on one occasion he visited Vincents' house but did not see a typewriter. Mrs. Finley was present at that time, and her testimony was that she saw a tyepwriter which she particularly noticed because it was a Corona and smaller than the ordinary kind.

Mr. Strickland, in addressing the Court, said that he had not called Mrs. Finley first because he had a written statement by Bell, which he did not anticipate would be changed. It was unusual, he contended, to see typewriters in Harvey township homes.

Mr. Kerr argued that no jury might properly make a conviction on the evidence presented, which although enough to raise the suspicions of a detective and prompt him to make an investigation, were not sufficient to warrant a conviction.

The Ferren typewriter has not been recovered.

HOTEL COMMISSION

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press.) —According to statements made by members of Ontario Hotel and Tourist Inquiry Commission here yesterday, there is evidently an intention to make recommendation for appointment of hotel commission which shall be distinct from license commission. Hotel submitted that there is no profit for them in serving meals, apparently because of competition offered by cheap restaurants operated largely by foreigners. Committee stated they had found difficulties encountered by hotel men under conditions which have lately developed in Ontario, and received comparatively few practical suggestions for overcoming them.

COAT DRESSES.

Coat dresses for fall are heavily braided. This gives the weight such a frock needs. The skirts are usually circular, and side panels are almost inevitable.

Favors Hospital For Drug Addicts

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Montreal should have a hospital for drug addicts, declared Dr. J. A. Amyot, Deputy Minister of Health, before congress of French speaking physicians of North America, here last evening.

"I do not wish to imply that Montreal is especially wicked or worse than any other city," he said. "But it is a large commercial centre and has become the centre of drug traffic in these parts. There are, unfortunately, many drug addicts in Montreal. Their place is in an institution."

EAT SANDWICHES WHILE YOU DANCE

Dancing Masters Will Soon Introduce the "Sandwich Glide."

DETROIT, Sept. 8. — It is said that dancing masters will soon introduce a fascinating and utilitorian step called "The Sandwich Glide," whereby the constant quest for grace in the terpsichocan art may not be interrupted, even by the requirements of the digestive system.

There are dancing schools in cities that conduct sessions from 10 a.m. to midnight, where, at any hour in the day, flappers and flippers may keep up with the latest jogs—for the steps change over-night, and imagine Geraldine's dismay if the sheik of the dance palaces should trip her up on a new fangle that had come in since last week!

It is difficult to include these periods of instruction in the busy lives of the dance-mad, for at night steps mastered the previous day must be put into practical use, and the daytime is employed in the necessary chase for the almighty dollar. But there is the lunch hour, and that's when the "Sandwich Glide" is danced.

One must have a little nourishment now and then; the "steppers" have finally solved the problem. On the stroke of 12 they dash from work into a lunch room, toss a dime on the counter and demand "Two hams and make the service swift." Then they tuck the sandwiches into their pockets and enact the daily Marathon to the noon lesson.

It is a simple task for the girl to consume her lunch. She grasps the sandwich daintily in her left hand, suspending it lightly above the shoulder of her partner, and in the less intricate phases of the dance, grabs a hastly bite now and then. But the men have a heart-breaking time, for both their hands are occupied in steering the young woman around. Skillful contortions are necessary to perform the deed.

It would make it so much easier, the men affirm, if the master would make allowances for eating, instructing in the following manner: "One, two, balance—bite! One, two, glide—bite! One, two, dip—bite!"

The instructors will no doubt comply with their desire; and the announcement and demonstration of the new "Sandwich Glide" is expected momentarily.

EFFORT TO CHECK TRAFFIC IN DRUGS

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—In an effort to check widespread traffic in drugs in white light district, a raiding party of twenty-eight international revenue agents, twelve police detectives and two assistant federal attorneys swept down on Hotel Longacre in the theatrical district last night, arrested ten persons and seized quantities of narcotics, liquor and stoves for cooking narcotics.

EVECUTIVES MEETING

CHICAGO Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press)—Meeting of several western railwa executives with Daniel Willard president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was expected to be held here this afternoon. No formal announcement of the meeting was made although it was understood the question of reaching separate agremeents with striking railroad shop crafs would be considered.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

PARIS Sept. 8. — (Canadian Press)—George Salem and Egyptian student fired a shot on an automobile in front of the Palace of Elysee today believing the car to be President Millerands. The shot went wild. At the time President Millerand was at his country residence at Rambouillet.

Purchaser Alleges Fraud Against "Buck" Winch and Says He Paid $190 For 42 Bottles.

HEARING ADJOURNED

Solomon Seigel charged Reginald "Buck" Winch in police court this morning with having obtained from him $190 under false pretences and in support of his accusation he produced as an incriminating exhibit a gunny sack containing 42 bott bottles labeled whiskey and each full to the cork with water.

Each bottle was carefully wrapped in cylindrical cardboard cartons with an outer covering of rather fancy paper tucked in at each end the whole lay out bearing a label with the words King George IV Scotch and the name of the Quebec License commission. Had each bottle been touched up with cobwebs the appearance of genniineness could scarcely have been more impresive. From the information at the police station the gentleman with the name of an ancient sage evidently believed he was buying honest though forbidden whiskey whereas the bag of dark green bottles that came to him in the deal were full of honest water

Mr. G. N. Gordon K.C. apearing for Winch said that his client declared that he had not agreed to sell Seigel whiskey, but simply the sack of bottles as they were, and hence there was no misrepresentation or fraud. It was also hinted that Seigel was a bootlegger and had imagined he was securing a stock of liquor for retail purposes.

The price of $190 for 42 bottles would obviously be cheap for any kind of potable in the back-alley traffic, and Seigel may have fancied that he was getting a real bargain when the gunnysack and its contents were turned over to him.

CRUMBS OF THOUGHT.

Good nature, as one has truly said, is in reality God-nature.

It is a sad but a true fact that the church is more concerned in raising money than in raising men.

When the church and the home get back to simplicity the millenium will have begun.

A true Christian never craves for luxuries; always, through and through, he is a simple man.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE.

Women's rights have never been an issue on the Island of Formosa. The women there are the original feminists and are the forces in poltics and society.

Daughters are considered infinitely more desirable than sons. When a girl marries she takes her husband to her home instead of going to his. After marriage a man never may return to his home, even for a visit.

RADIO PRIMER

MULTIPLE-TUNED ANTENNA

—A long antenna grounded at several points along its length through loading industances by means of which the individual sections are tuned to the wave length that it is desired to radiate. It is well adapted for use with the high-frequency alternator, for high-power transmission.

BLACK AND WHITE

Black and white continues to be the favorite combination of the smart woman. Usually the millinery is black and white, though there is a tendency to use a hat of some very vivid shade of green, flame or blue.

THE STRIKE LEADERS TO MEET IN CHICAGO

Will Be a Meeting of the Executive Council To-Day to Consider New Plan of Action.

SAYS STRIKE LOST.

CHICAGO, September 8. Canadian Press. — Rail strike leaders from every section of the country are hurrying to Chicago in response to the summons of B. M. Jewell, president of the Railway Employees Department of the American Federation of Labor. To-day there will be a meeting of the executive council, consisting of the six executives of the shop crafts, and Mr. Jewell, and on Monday there will be a meeting of the policy committee of ninety. The object of the sessions was not stated in the call sent out last night over the signature of Mr. Jewell.

At union headquarters it was stated that the meeting of the executive council would be secret and that no announcement of any kind would be made regarding any possible action it might take. Mr. Jewell, who dropped from sight last Friday was still absent from headquarters to-day. It was stated at his home that he would return from New York early to-morrow morning.

J. P. Noonan, chief of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, one of the seven unions on strike, said in Washington to-day that Monday's meeting in Chicago, was called to decide what should be done in view of the injunction application.

Western railway executives were almost a unit in declaring that they knew of negotiations looking toward separate settlements with individual roads.

Carl Grey, president of the Union Pacific, declared the strike "irrevocably" lost in a statement issued at Omaha. He added that the Union Pacific had 82 per cent of the normal force now at work, and that there was no "disgrace in defeat" for the shopmen.

WON CHAMPIONSHIP.

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press)—For fifth year in succession George S. Lyon of Lambton golf club won championship of Canadian Senior Golf Association at its fifth annual tournament which is being held at Scarboro golf coures. Mr. Lyon made round in 73 seven strokes better than C. P. Wilson of Winnipeg who was second.

ADVISES PEOPLE TO LAY IN STOCK WOOD.

MONTREAL, September 8. — People in Montreal will be well advised not to place too much dependence on the fact that the miners' coal strike in the U. S. is at an end, and fold their arms with the certainty that hard coal will be in their cellars this winter. F. L. Wanklyn, chairman of the Provincial Advisory Fuel Committee pointed out yesterday. The indications are that householders are buying what coal is available and also laying in stocks of wood, which sells at from $16 to $19 a cord in this city.

PENSION QUESTION BEFORE THE BOARD

Royal Commission Hears Charges Laid by G.W.V.A.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press.)— The attention of the Royal Commission, investigating G. W.V.A. charges against the pensions board, was occupied yesterday afternoon by the consideration of individual cases of grievances advanced by the G.W.V.A. through Secretary MacNeil, all of which hinged upon the non-granting of rights as enjoyed by the cases advanced under the Pensions Act, Section 25, sub-section 3. The cases of privates I. Walker, W. I. Perri, Sgt. Bliss and Private E. R. Buchard, were shelved for further consideration. In the only other case considered, that of Pte. R. E. Norris, Dr. Burgess, medical claims advisor to the board, admitted that in some way a mistake had been made in the settling of the pension ability of the men, and that had the case been laid before him at any previous time by the G.W.V.A., he would have immediately recognized that a mistake had been made and have taken steps to correct it. He had not been given that opportunity.

The first three of the other cases were type cases and could only be settled after the decision of the commission had been handed down. The case of Private Buchard, which while the evidence clearly showed that under certain considerations he was entitled to a pension, the board hesitated to decide on, as a decision in his favor, would mean the throwing open of the door to every veteran who thought that he had a grievance or was dissatisfied with his present award. The board recommended its further consideration to-day. There were points in it which were fit subjects for debate, and they wanted to give it the utmost consideration, before giving a decision that would subsequently affect the attitude of the parliamentary committee towards the whole situation at its next sitting.

WHY PAY MORE?

Canada's Piano Wizard WILLIE ECKSTEIN AND HIS TRIO have made their first Apex Records, and the many admirers of the inimitable Willie's pianistic pyrotechnics are invited to go to the nearest Apex Dealer and hear these selections. While these records are played by the Trio, there are a number of bits here and there where Willie "goes it alone" on the piano in that clever manner which has made him so famous.

One of the selections is Mr. Eckstein's latest composition, "Just a Memory of You," Fox Trot, and the other a beautiful waltz, entitled "Lovely Lucerne."

Surprising as it may seem, these records are the same price as other Apex Records, 10", Double-sided, 65c.

THE EXTENSION FRANCHISE MAY BE CONSIDERED

This Will Give the Natives of India a Chance to Vote in Canada.

PREMIER'S LETTER.

OTTAWA, September 8 (Canadian Press). — Parliament is to be invited to consider the extension of the Dominion franchise to natives of India resident in Canada. A few days ago Right Hon. Srinsvasa Sastri, a member of the Council of State for India, interviewed the Prime Minister and members of the Dominion Government to urge the enfranchisement of his fellow-countrymen.

The interview took place in private, but reports have since been current that the Prime Minister had refused the request made by Mr. Sastri.

Referred by a Canadian Press representative to these reports last night, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie-King, Prime Minister, isued a copy of a letter he had written to Mr. Sastri on the subject. Mr. King's letter, which is dated 5th September, reads:

"In reply to the representations made by you at the interview with my colleagues and myself on Friday of last week, and which were the subject of further conference between us yesterday, I desire to assure you that at the earliest favourable moment the Government will be pleased to invite the consideration of Parliament to your request that natives of India resident in Canada be granted a Dominion Parliamentary franchise on terms and conditions identical with those which govern the exercise of that right by Canadian citizens generally.

"The subject is necessarily one which Parliament can determine. It will be submitted to Parliament for consideration when the Franchise Law is under revision.

"In conveying to the Government of India an expression of the attitude of the Government of Canada in this matter, we hope that you will not fail to make it clear that, at the present time, in eight out of the nine provinces of which our Dominion is composed, the Federal franchise is granted to natives of India resident in Canada, on terms which are identical with those applicable generally to Canadian citizens."

THE DELEGATES FROM DOMINION

Named Yesterday at Meeting of the Cabinet.

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press) — Announcement of the names of the four Canadian delegates to the International Labor Conference which open at Geneva, on October 16th, was made following a lenghty sitting of the cabinet yesterday afternoon and evening. As already announced, the two Dominion Government delegates will be Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, the later is at present in Europe attending the meeting of the League of Nations. W. C. Coulter of the Booth-Coulter Cooper and Brass Company, Toronto, has been elected to represent the employers of Canada, while Toom Moore, president of the Allied Trades and Labor Congress will represent Canadian work people.

In addition to a single direct representative each both employers and workmen are allowed to send a person to act as adviser to their delegates. Hon. W. C. McDonnell of the Canadian Manufacturer's Association, Toronto has been selected as adviser to the employer's delegate and John W Bruce of Toronto will fill a similar position in relation to the workmen's representative. The provinces have been invited by the Federal Government to send representatives at their own expense to act in an advisory capacity toward the Canadian Government delegates, but so far none of them have announced their selection

Dr. Jewett Gives Warning World Drifting To War

Calls on Leaders of Christian Churches to Meet in Councils of Peace in Every Nation With Delegates From Every Walk in Life.

LONDON, Sept. 8.— (Canadian Press.)— Following a remarkable peace sermon by the Archbishop of Canterbury at Geneva on Sunday comes a vigorous appeal for immediate action from a well-known free church leader, Doctor Jewett, who in the British Weekly declares that the world is drifting again to war. He urges the churches, Protestant, Roman and Greek to arise from their slumbers and ward off the approaching catastrophe.

Dr. Jewett suggests that representative leaders of the Christian church meet in councils of peace in every nation and adds: "Let us have a council of peace in London with delegates from every part of the Empire; let the delegates be distinguished Christian men, not drawn merely from the ranks of eccelsiastics, but the wider realm of commerce, art, literature and labor. Let us have a three-days' council at the heart of the Empire not merely to make speeches, but to visualize and demonstrate the existence of the corporate body which has in its custody the morals and ideals of Christ and to emphasize the intention to give them their due sovereignty in the reconstruction of the world."

The British Weekly publishes numerous letters from leaders of churches enthusiastically welcoming an appeal to Christian peoples in the interest of peace. The writers include the Bishop of London and other Bishops.

NEWS EVENTS AT LAKEFIELD AND IN THE DISTRICT

Liberal Rally Will Be Held There on Tuesday Next—Store Sold.

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 8.—On Friday evening last about sixteen of the younger set held a successful, must enjoyable Corn Roast at Hogue's Point, followed by a merry little dance at Riverside Pavilion. The Corn Roast season is at hand and this is only one of many which are being held in and around the village.

A Quiet Day.

Labor Day passed quietly in the village as there was nothing special going on and the perfect weather drove those who could do so, to other and livlier places. The steamer "Empress" brought down a large crowd of cottagers who had waited till the last day before opening of school to return to the city's heat and crowds.

Church News.

Regular services were resumed in the Baptist Church on Sunday last, both morning and evening services were in charge of the pastor, Rev. T. L. White.

The Union Services of the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches are over and last Sunday each congregation worshipped in its own church. Rev. (Dr.) J. H. Edmison, superintendent of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church was the preacher at both services in the Presbyterian Church and spoke on the splendid work done in that department of the church activities.

Liberal Rally.

A Liberal Rally of the East Peterboro Liberal Association is billed for Lakefield on September 12th and judging form the bills will be a day and night of varied activities, beginning with a baseball match in the morning and ending with a dance in the evening and including speeches Racing, etc. and with a real aviator as the special attraction.

Purchased Store.

Elwood Northey, who purchased the store owned and occupied by Isaac Jenkinson, is putting the store in shape and will shortly open an up-to-date drug store. Mr. Jenkinson has moved his jewelry and watch repairing business to Rabbit street.

Well Lighted Dock.

The well-lighted dock is now a joy, to the lover of an up-to-the-minute village, and also a guide to those who make use of the river and the lake to enjoy canoeing in the evenings. The lights are not too late to be of use this season and will add the needed touch to the waterfront next year and in years to come.

Personals.

Rev. Frank Vipond who has spent the summer in Christie street hospital is at 'The Retreat' on short leave Mr. Vipond is much improved in health.

Miss Winifred Batten of Hall's Glen is once more a pupil in the local High School.

SWEDEN IS STRONGLY AGAINST PROHIBITION

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 8.—Complete returns in the recent prohibition plebiscite show that 930,655 ballots were polled against prohibition and 901,053 in favor of the proposal. The question of prohibition in Sweden is now regarded as dead for a generation.

PROBABILITIES.

South-east to southerly winds; thunder showers in some localities, but mostly fair and warmer.

CONVICT WAS SENT TO HIGHER COURT

Negro Who Escaped From Convict Train Up For Trial Yesterday.

KINGSTON, Ont., September 8 (Canadian Press). — The negro convict, Walter Griffith, who made his sensational escape from the train in which he was being conveyed to Saskatchewan with other convicts, afterwards being apprehended in Montreal, appeared for trial at about 2.30 p.m. yesterday before Magistrate J. W. Bradshaw, the charge being "Unlawfully breaking away, and escaping, from the Canadian National prison train, being in lawful custody, en route to Saskatchewan Penitentiary."

The Court sat within the Penitentiary buildings.

The prisoner, on being charged, pleaded "Not guilty," and was committed for trial.

The evidence taken showed that while in the vicinity of St. Cloud, a station on the C.P.R., the prisoner made his escape by pushing up a bar over the windows in the train, and crawling through the sperture.

THREE MONTHS FOR A WIFE DESERTER

Was Arrested in Toronto and Sentenced in Montreal

MONTREAL, Sept 8.—(Canadian Press)—Richard Whitehead alias Wilson, self-confessed wife deserter, was sentenced to three months in jail yesterday by Judge Cusson.

He was arrested in Toronto last week on a warrant taken out by J. Innes, secretary of the Socieyt for the Protection for Women and Children, Acting in conjuction with the S.P.W.C. the attorney-general's department of Quebec interested themselves in the case and caused the arrest of Whitehead in Toronto.

Evidence given by the wife of Whitehead and other witnesses was that two years ago he deserted his life and two children, who were living in Lachine, and went with another woman to Toronto. He did not support his family and they did not know his whereabouts. Through the efforts of the agents of the S.P.W.C. he was located in Toronto, where he was living under the name of Wilson.

THE VISITORS ARE HAVING GOOD TIME.

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—The party of prominent visitors from Great Britain and from Eastern Canada, accompanying the Montreal Board of Trade on a tour of Canada in celebration of the 100th anniversary of the board, arrived in Regina yesterday and was given a splendid welcome.

The visitors were taken on a motor trip around the city to the parliament buildings, where they were received in the legislative chamber by Premier Dunning and then were taken a short motor trip out into the country. At noon they were the guests at a civic luncheon and early in the afternoon were taken on a visit to the R.C.M.P. barracks, where they were entertained by a short programme of sports.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

EDMONTON, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press)—F. W. Robinson of Edmonton, travelling inspector of the Gillespie Elevator Company, while atemtpting to cross the railway track at Heisler Wednesday afternoon was struck by a train and killed.

O.T.A. CONDEMNED TO HOTEL BOARD AS ACT OF TYRANNY

Mayor Edmeston Says Act Militated Against the Establishment of Hotels.

OTHER SPEAKERS.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., September 8. — Canadian Press. — The provincial hotel inquiry commission sat at Fort William yesterday morning.

Mayor Edmeston, the first man asked to express himself, opened with a severe arraignment of the Ontario Temperance Act, which he said was an act of tyranny. It had he said, militated against the establishment of hotels in this city. He regarded it as an insult to the municipalities for the government to send a commission around to ask for their advice on matters which they should have considered for itself.

Rev. George Glendenning spoke for the Ministerial Association, and claimed that hotels had been improved under the Ontario Temperance Act. He stated that no legislation had ever been more thoroughly discussed or so unanimously upheld by the electorate.

G. R. Duncan and Alderman Chapple spoke on the need for good hotel accommodation to encourage tourist traffic.

James McCranor, proprietor of the Avenue Hotel, Fort William, asked whether temperance forces had offered the commission any solution. The chairman replied that they had not. Mr. McCranor said that he had spent his money freely in trying to run his hotel and yet had failed to make money.

J. C. Ross, solicitor, speaking for the hotel men, suggested that either the hotels be allowed to sell beer and light wines, or that the prohibitionists should pay the loss occasioned by their not having the right.

John King said that 14 local hotels had gone out of business and T. Donnelly, a former hotelkeeper, said that no small hotelkeeper could make money under present conditions.

Rev. Hector McKinnon believed that it might be fair for the food hotels, which had survived, to receive some bonus, and W. T. Rankine, speaking for the Trades and Labor Council, was opposed to any bonus, but would support the light wine and beer policy.

The commissioners said they were solid on measures that would encourage the building of good roads through the scenic districts of Ontario.

At one thirty the Commission adjourned to meet this afternoon in Port Arthur.

ATTENDANCE INCREASE.

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press.)— Attendance at the Canadian National Exhibition yesterday was 86,500, an increase over the corresponding day last year of 11,500. Attendance so far is 1,156,500.

Chinese Children Refuse to Attend Separate Schools

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 8th. — The Chinese school children are on strike, refusing to attend the classes unless they are placed on an equal plane with white pupils.

In the past the Chinese boys and girls mingled with whites in schools here, but the parents protested against such an arrangement and the school board decided to separate the Orientals. A special school was built for the Chinese, but they refused to enter it.

OLD QUESTION UP BEFORE THE PEACE LEAGUE

The Economic Situation in Central Europe Proves a Puzzle For the League.

WORKABLE PLAN.

GENEVA, September 8 (Canadian Press). — Disarmament and other old questions before the League of Nations have been overshadowed for the moment by Austria and the economic situation in Central Europe.

Viscount Ishii, of Japan, however, brought disarmament again to the attention of the members briefly yesterday, but the others made Austria the principal theme.

M. Motta and Dr. Nansen both declared that the League must act.

The plan for an international force to guarantee the political stability of Austria has been abandoned, the Austrian delegation giving assurances that if the rest of the plans were carried out Austria would be able to guarantee its own stability.

The discussion turned yesterday on the restoration of Austrian railroads, which at one time were highly prosperous, are now piling up deficits, and there was considerable optimism in both the Austrian delegation and the League Council.

It is thought that a workable plan can be completed here, and that the Allies can improve it and put it into effect in a short time. It would be ..., however, for the Reparations Commission to abandon its ... on the railroad, which thus far it has refused to do.

Their Future

Your Boy, For Instance

Your boy can be interested in his own future.

His ideas will be "standied" by the knowledge of your plans for him.

Later on his training helps to win confidence,

If your boy or girl could speak now with the wisdom of later years, they would ask, above all else, for education, training for business,—a real start in life.

Every parent knows that the boy who has training is selected for a good position; and the girl who has the right start can make a place for herself in the world, and always be sure of independence and happiness.

You want your children to be equipped for the battle of life, as others are.

Make Your Plans Secure

Why not provide, as many parents are now doing, that "no matter what may happen" your boy or girl will have the advantage of a good start in life?

In these times they need training and the help you can give as never before.

See what the Canada Life can do with the new Educational Policy

It will provide immediately, if you should die, an educational fund, to be held in trust at interest for your child's training.

This fund cannot be touched by the child until the date set by you has been reached.

It will then be paid in eight separate payments, six months apart, to cover the four vital years of training.

If you should live, the cash value of the contract, with dividends, will be available at any time to carry out any of your plans.

Nothing could be more simple—the funds provided—your plans made definite and secure—whether you live or die.

You have probably thought this matter over many times. Here is a chance to do something—tangible, immediate, yet quite easy.

Why not find out now what the educational policy will do for your child? This will not put you under any obligation.

NOVEL ADVERTISING.

A number of American cities this year have adopted an effective method of advertising their municipalities by utilizing the fact that motor traffic is steadily increasing. They have been supplying motorists with a plate bearing the name of their home cities to carry just above their license number, with the result that every car travelling away from home calls attention to the city from which it comes. It is a new form of advertising that does not cost very much and yet gives widespread publicity. Many such name plates have been observed on American cars visiting Peterborough this summer, and the desirability of the scheme being utilized locally should be investigated. The plates do not appear to be very expensive, and the adoption of such a plan here should not prove prohibitive. At least the local branch of the Ontario Motor League might be able to secure information on the subject so that the feasibility of the plan might be considered.

THE COAL SITUATION.

It is a feature of the coal situation that we in Ontario fail to appreciate that even if because of the strike of the hard coal miners, the people of this Province are compelled to use a large quantity of soft coal, we will be no worse off than the householders of the middle western States or of the southern and far western States. Anthracite coal is never used in those districts, and for many years heating and cooking has been done with bituminous or semi-bituminous coal. This fuel is, of course, not to be compared with the anthracite coal so far as cleanliness is concerned, but in other respects a comparison of the two is very favorable to the semi-bituminous article, which can be used economically in any stove or heater without changing grates, costs less per ton, gives more heat per ton, makes a quicker fire and contains less ashes. According to the authorities, there will be an abundant supply of bituminous coal, even if there are unusual demands made upon the reserves. Ontario would prefer anthracite because of its cleanliness, but the soft coal as a substitute is not to be despised.

AUTOMOBILE COURTESY.

That half of the automobile accidents are a result of a disregard of the ordinary rules of courtesy is the opinion of the American Automobile Association, which is so convinced that it is right that it is inaugurating a "courtesy campaign," in which motor car owners all over the United States are asked to co-operate by carrying upon their wind shields a distinct label marked "Automobile Courtesy." The result of the experiment will be awaited with much interest, and Canadians should be prepared to profit by the scheme if it works out as the Automobile Association expects that it will. That there is need of greater attention to courtesy in driving is evident to any one who has done much motoring. People monopolize more than their fair share of the road and hold on to a point that is positively dangerous, they ignore the regulations in regard to dimming their headlights, and travel around at night with blinding shafts of light emanating from their cars, bewildering approaching drivers; they almost force smaller cars into the ditch by tearing past them on narrow roadways, and in a dozen other ways not only forget the rules of common-sense, but the rules of good manners as well. It is in recognition of these things that the American Association has embarked upon a campaign to arouse the motoring fraternity to a recognition of the fact that they are sadly lacking in many respects as regards the code of courtesy on the highways. If the lesson could at the same time be learned by Canadian car-owners there would be a remarkable improvement in conditions on both sides of the line and a correspondingly great reduction in the number of accidents.

SYMPATHIZING WITH LABOR

To encourage his followers on Labor Day, Samuel Gompers informed them that they "have few outside their own ranks who sympathize with them in their determination to emancipate mankind." It is a good phrase, but not quite clear. The trainload of "mankind"—aged invalids, women and their babies—whom members of the gently named brotherhoods stalled in the California desert, would regard that act as a faulty essay in emancipation. A similar doubt must have beset the miners at Herrin who were so summarily emancipated from their right as Americans to work—or even to live. If winter comes—the poet Shelley and the novelist Hutchinson hold forth an encouraging possibility that it won't—the meaning of emancipation as Mr. Gompers conceives it will be plain not merely to railway passengers and unorganized laborers but to millions of the organized. For those who have, there will be something new in the way of coal bills; for those who have not, emancipation will mean an experience unlike that on the August desert, but scarcely more welcome to invalids, women and children.

Mr. Gomper's eulogy of the emcanipation wrought by his followers had a refrain that punctuated it like a triolet or a camp-meeting hymn. It was "Organize Organize Organize in trade unions." On the same day, W. Z. Foster told his hearers what he thought of organising in trade unions. It was not at all complimentary. Among the railway men there are nine such organizations, of which only five went on strike. Can that be called organising to emancipate mankind? Mr. Foster would have each basic industry, each public utility, organized as a single union extending throughout the nation. If any one refused then to be emancipated, he wouldn't have a chance for back talk.

To Mr. Gompers it is apparently a matter of pain and surprise that so few outside the ranks "sympathize with them." There are actually those who wish to "destroy unionism." Doubtless he is lamenting the time, not so long ago, when at the outbreak of industrial strife "mankind" sided instinctively with the supposed under dog of labor. That that time is definitely past is only one more evidence of the slow emancipation of mankind. There is no general condemnation of the principle of organization, of unionism as such. The demand is only that it be brought within the sphere of law, made to abstain from violence and public oppression. There is, or should be, a future for organized labor as bright as its past—but only as a harmonious part of the industrial state. Of that one hears little from what Mr. Foster describes as "$25,000-a-year labor leaders," especially on Labor Day.—New York Times.

ERRING CHILDREN

Police Court judges state that offences against the criminal laws are becoming more frequent among minors in Montreal, says the Montreal Star. Various causes are given for this lamentable condition of affairs. The judge of the Juvenile Court declares that multiplying offences among the young are largely due to the dying out in many quarters of home training as it was known in the past, and to the lack of parental control in the attendance of children at places of amusement. In the very nature of their calling learned jurists must know whereof they speak, and it behoves those who are interested in social conditions to see what means can be employed to make the influence of the home more potent. The task may be a difficult one, owing to changed social conditions, but successful achievement ought not to be impossible. The object in view is one of tremendous import; it is only by proper training that the actions of the young can be moulded towards high ideals, and the avoiding of associations that lead to dishonor and ruin. The very foundations of society are based on law and order, and the young cannot be too clearly taught to observe them. It is a peculiarity of very many boys that they look upon policemen-representatives of the law with feelings of mingled fear and dislike. Educational methods should be instituted to change this, as it results in boys regarding all law as unjustly repressive and cruel. Discussing the peculiar phase, it was suggested, at a recent Chief Constables' gathering in this city that an educational campaign should be undertaken so that the youth of the country could be taught to consider a policeman not as an enemy, but more in the light of a friend. Undoubtedly the most feasible way to reach this desired end would be instruction in the daily schools. This would entail no arduous task on the teachers, and, in the very nature of things, would be sowing good seed. It could be explained that not only must officers of the law be looked upon as friends, but that it is the duty of scholars to respect the law and, in their humble way, to help in its enforcement.

OUR HINDSIGHT.

Now that we have no coal in sight, a great many people are beginning to think what a fine thing it would be to do more research work in Canada to see what can be found at home, says the London Advertiser.

This notion is neither shrewd nor helpful.

For years there have been a few public-spirited men in the Dominion who have given of their time to the carrying on of research work in the Dominion, but their efforts have been poorly recognized and scantily appreciated.

Now that we run our heads into the stone wall of a cold winter with no coal, we begin to rub our eyes and look around.

Not until we are half-way down a steep hill with a gulley at the bottom do we look around to see if our brakes are working.

Not until our house is on fire do we look through the old tin box to find out whether we have any insurance or if it was allowed to lapse a year and a half ago.

Likewise the county council has a meeting at the place where a heavy load went through the bridge and killed the driver and drowned the horses.

So also the fire chief goes around to find out why it was that the asbestos curtain was not working in the theatre, or how it was that the sprinkler system was out of order in the factory when the fire started.

Of 99 out of every 100 people it can be written that they do things when they have to and not one bit before.

So right here in Canada we have been running over to the United States year after year with our coal scuttle. And year after year we have seen that we were living in a fool's paradise.

Each succeeding strike has been more deadly than its predecessor, and every time transportation has been crippled in United States, we have known for positive fact that our coal supply was endangered.

And yet, in the face of these certain facts we have each year dusted off the old coal bucket, and packed off to the United States coal fields, apparently quite secure in the knowledge that we could get what we needed for the immediate present.

Now that we can't get it, we become wonderful investigators, or researchers, or home-talent exponents. All this feeling that is created now toward finding or developing something in Canada that we can burn to keep us warm is simply a passing notion, and as soon as it is found that the old nag will draw up at the side door with a load of United States anthracite, we will forget all about our desire to investigate and our passion for research will become only a foolish memory.

The men who have tried to carry on research work in Canada may have been formally thanked for their efforts, but that is where it has ended. The mass of the people are not interested, nor will they become interested in the problem. If we are going to solve our fuel problem in Canada it will be the few "cranks" and "faddists" who will some day hand to us the solution. And after it has been done we will wake up and make the discovery that we are indeed a very remarkable people.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Peterboro, Sept., 8, 1922

Peterboro Examiner:

Dear Sir—Having heard so many times recently that Toronto radio concerts cannot be heard in Peterboro, I would like to correct this impression. We have enjoyed the Toronto Star's concerts for the past two months, and since the Exhibition started, have had them from 11.30 a.m. to 7 p.m.

To-night, Sept. 8, we received the Toronto Star and Pittsburgh concerts on a single tube detector outfit only, with no amplification and with a Dubilier Ducon aerial plug which was screwed into an electric light socket. We used no outside aerial.

Fans must not mistake the above mentioned plug for the ordinary plug used for electric irons or fans, as they are liable to get more than music if they try experimenting with any plug except those made for the purpose of receiving concerts. Yours truly, H. A. Cranfield, 504 Bolivar St., Phone 1236

"Let's" she said.

"I—I haven't so much use for these commercial clairvoyants——"

"But they can do things. Remember how you yourself discovered I was at that crumbling old church, and saved me. Besides"—there was a wistful softness which stole into her expression—"remember all my poor father suffered. Would it be fair to him to let the picture go, never to open that codicil of his will——"

"I'll go phone right away" Aunt Julia, only so called by Violet as a child because she was the sister of Doctor Sutton, bustled out eagerly.

Mesma, the psychic in question, still occupied the quarters in which she had eked out a living before she became a society fad. One rather large room served for her sittings; behind that was a smaller bedchamber. Narrow steamboat stairs led to the ground floor of the little building, once a stable, now a garage to the extent that the first floor was leased for the storage of two unused motor trucks. The alley, a private drive, made a sharp turn at fifty yards, then led straight to the street for the length of half a block. It was dimly lighted, unkept, paved with worn and loosened cobblestones.

Dupont, decidedly ill-impressed, noticed that Violet was nervous.

"Do you think we'd better give it up?" he sked.

Mesma had compromised her surroundings for the benefit of her wealthy patronage to the extent of the installation of electric lights and a telephone. Cheap Japanese lanterns covered the bulbs, however. Under foot the carpet gave softly, but with the crinkle testifying to straw padding beneath. While there were huge vases and ornaments placed about with an attempt to create an artistic effect, the whole was tawdry and garish and fraudulent.

Mesma herself was a mountain of fat, soft, flabby, and ponderous. She trembled like a gelatin dessetr as she moved. Her voice was vapid, weak; her eyes lack-lustrous, watery and small. Dupont knew at a glance that she was the true medium type, that she would be honest to the extent of her powers—but of those he had his doubts.

"I'm right glad to see you both," she wheezed. Then she turned to Violet. "Sit down, dearie, at the table here, and let me have your hands. I feel right smart to-day and there are many spirit voices clamoring to give a message. I hear the heavenly music near you, my dear, and there is a bright light about you which tells me everything is going to come out all right if you keep a stiff upper lip and trust to your spirit guides and the impulses they give you."

She turned off the main lights, so that there was only the dim glow from an altar lamp behind her, a gleam of red which failed even to outline the figures at the table to Dupont, a single glowing eye in the darkness.

"I see an Indian chief" Mesma exclaimed. Her voice was little more than a whisper. "And another And another You are surrounded by Indians, dearie. That is a splendid sign and you must remember these redmen friends of yours in your prayers at night."

Violet was impatient. "I've come to ask you about——"

"Sh" Mesma's voice hovered on the hiss of the warning. "I see a 'D,' and another 'D.' Do you know anyone whose name begins with 'D?'"

"No I——"

"Wait It's coming clearer. It's—it's doc—it's doctor I see the word 'doctor' written over your hand in flaming letters. Doctor 'D'"

"Not Doctor Sutton, my guardian?"

"No, it's—" A ause, then an element of doubtful elation. "It's a very peculiar name, but it's very clear. It's 'Doctor Daddy'"

"That's it That's wonderful" Violet's voice was eager. "What does he say?"

"He says not to worry. He says he is very happy. He indicates that you will be very happy in a three. That's three days, ir three weeks, or three months.e It's—it's quite far off. It may be months."

Violet was plainly disappointed. "Then—then he has nothing else to tell me?"

"Yes He wants to tell you something about a—about a map So you want to know anythingabout a map, or—" a pause—"it looks something like a portrait and something like a map. He holds it up for me to see. I can't quite make it out."

"Oh, Mesma" Violet was pleading in her excitement. "That is perfectly wonderful. It is a portrait and I want to recover it. I want to know where it is."

Suddenly Dupont, sitting in the darkness, became aware of a new and disturbingly familiar mental influence. For several moments he could not place it in his memory; then he recotnized the intruder. The Mystery Mind What did this mean? Was Mesma one of the gang? All at once he realized that he was speaking again.

"There is a big black cloud rolling in over me, dearies, and over you. It is chill and cold. Can you feel me tremble? And I am getting frightened. Something in the back of my head is drawing together. I do not understand. Is there some great fear hovering over you? Now—now the Indians are hurrying away. They make signs to tell me to watch out, to be careful. They explain that they are powerless." In an instant stark terror came into the medium's voice. "Go 'way Go 'way" She lost the wheezing whisper. Her tones mounted until they were a shrill scream, beating on the table. Then with sudden cessation of the hysteria she fell forward on her arms. She began repeating the Lord's prayer, over and over to herself, in a mumbling undertone.

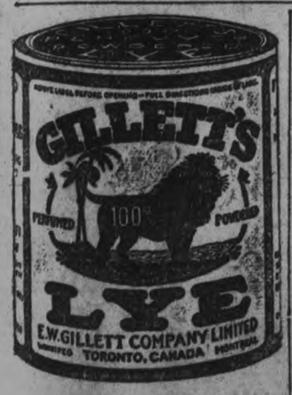
THE DAY'S DOINGS AS RECORDED BY THE EXAMINER'S STAFF OF CORRESPONDENTS.



MISSIONARY WAS WELL KNOWN HERE AND IN MILLBROOK

Mrs. W. E. Smith Spent Many Years in China Mission Fields—Review of Life.

MILLBROOK, Sept. 8.— During the month of September many of the missionaries of the different churches who have been on furlough, or who are going out for the first time, are leaving for the Orient, sailing, in the majority of cases, from Vancouver. This annual exodus will bring freshly to mind to the young people of Peterborough district, as well as to many others by the sad loss mission work has sustained through the recent death of Mrs. (Dr.) W. E. Smith, who with her husband, represented this district "on the firing-line" in West China for twenty-seven years. The late Mrs. Smith was a sister-in law of Mrs. W. Forsyth, of Millbrook, and an aunt of Miss Ethel Forsyth and of Mrs. G. H. Harrington, and was born at Rochdale, in Peterborough County, fifty-three years ago. Her maiden name was Grace Olivia Young, and her public school education was received at Norwood; afterwards she attended the Peterborough Collegiate, and the O. L. C. at Whitby. A short period was spent in teaching near Roland, Man., where she became such a leader amongst the young people that "Grace Church" was named after her, and to this day stands as a monument to the influence she exerted in that district. In 1896, soon after her marriage to Rev. W. E. Smith, a newly-ordained minister of the Bay of Quinte conference, they sailed for West China, members of the third party of Canadian Methodist missionaries to volunteer for that far-off field.

Those were the pioneer days of mission work in that land, the journey inland for thousands of miles by houseboat being fraught with perials of rapids, and of robbers, all the way Contempt from the higher classes, hatred and ill-concealed hostility from the lower, was then the missionaries portion. Dr. and Mrs. Smith were located first at Junghsien, a station where no missionaries had previously lived, and misunderstanding and presecution fell to their lot for many weary months, and seven years. However the young missionary's wife never showed signs of fear, or faltering, though her labors included long itinerating journeys with her husband opening up new market towns and villages, helping in the dispensary with the sick, since Dr. Smith was the only physician in the city, starting kindergarten, and later primary schools, for the children, calling upon the rich in their homes, and entertaining them in her own; but her most outstanding work was the establishment of the best Bible Training School for women in all West China and went the news of her death reaches the Celestial Empire, though twenty-six years ago, she and her husband knocked in vain at their hearts for admission, there will be a great memorial service at which the native church will be crowded with Chinese Christains, and their friends, who will mourn her sincerely for they learned to love her truly.

During her second furlough, while convalescing after an operation for cancer which had developed, Mrs. Smith was the guest of Rev. and Mrs. George Brown at the parsonage here, and many of the young people then had the pleasure of making her acquaintance, and that of her only son, Douglas, after whom Douglas Heights, in West China, is named; it was here that Mrs. Smith desired to be buried, had her life not been spared to return to Canada once more. However, to the surprise of her physician and friends, she recovered from the effects of so serious an operation, and illness, sufficiently to carry on through a final seven years of service, though no one may estimate at what a cost of physical weakness and suffering. Just one week after Dr. and Mrs. Smith arrived in Toronto this summer on their last furlough the frail strength gave out, and Mrs. Smith passed to her Eternal Home. Two children predeceased their mother in her Chinese field of labor, one baby, Ruth, being called away through illness, and another little baby girl was lost in the Yangtse when their houseboat captized while returnig to their mission station during the Boxer uprising, which occured in their first term of service. Besides her husband, three daughters, Dora, who until her recent marriage conducted the children's page in the 'Sunday World' under the pen-name of "Auntie Rose", and who is now Mrs. Douglas Conover, of Toronto, Jean, for some years dietitian at the Sick Children's Hospital, now Mrs. Arthur Irwin, also of Toronto, and Ethel, who is this term attending the Uuiversity taking her Arts course, survive their mother, also one son, Douglas, who passed his entrance in China this year, and will take up high school work in Toronto this winter.

Rev. Dr. Endicott preached the funeral sermon, and six of her fellow-missionaries, Rev. W. E. Sitley, R. K. Beaton, A. N. C. Pound, R. O. Joliffe, C. J. Joliffe, and W. J. Sheridan, acted as pall-bearers By special request of her mother, just previous to her passing away, Miss Ethel Smith sang, "The Day Thou Gavest, Lord, is ended." Dr. Smith's furlough does not expire until this time next year, but his intention is to then return to China, and carry on his work.

COULD HARDLY STAND AT TIMES

Hips, Back and Legs would Have That Tired Ache

Everett, Washington.—"For several years I have had trouble with the lowest part of my back and my hips and my legs would ache with that tired ache. I could hardly stand on my feet at times. I was always able to do my work although I did not feel good. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and having heard several praise it I decided to try it. I feel first-rate at the present time. It has done wonders for me and I keep it in the house right along. I always recommend it to others who are sick and ailing." — Mrs. J. M. SIBBERT, 4032 High St., Everett, Washington.

To do any kind of work, or to play for that matter, is next to impossible if you are suffering from some form of female trouble. It may cause your back or your legs to ache, it may make you nervous and irritable. You may be able to keep up and around, but you do not feel good.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for women. It is especially adapted to relieve the cause of the trouble and then these annoying pains, aches and "no good" feelings disappear.

FIRE ENGINE DIVES INTO TWO STORES.

Driver Avoids Collision With Taxi; Jewellery Scattered.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. — Frank Hoolahan, driver of Fire Engine No. 84, going from the company house on One Hundred and Sixty-First Street, between Amsterdam Avenue and Broadway, to answer an alarm at 537 West One Hundred and Fiftieth Street, saw a taxicab coming east across Broadway ahead of him at the foot of the steep hill which ends at One Hundred and Fifty-Eighth Street.

Hoolahan turned his engine sharply to the left to avoid a collision. The pavement was wet and slippery. The heavy machine skidded to the curb, jumped it, crossed the sidewalk and plunged into the fronts of two stores.

The window display of Mortimer Kane, jeweller, at 3,797 Broadway, was showered over the street for 100 feet, mingled with broken glass and torn and mussed lingerie from the window of the ladies' wear store of Max Rubin, next door.

Hoolahan and the other men on the engine leaped from their stations as it mounted the sidewalk when they saw the wreck was inevitable. They were slightly cut and bruised but did not require surgical aid.

Other firemen put out the fire in One Hundred and Fiftieth Street, which was trifling in the damage it caused.

QUESTION OF PRICE YET TO BE DECIDED.

PHILADELPHIA, September 8—Canadian Press.—In the matter of anthracite coal distribution and the prices for the same, "the householder must and will be protected," declared Herbert Hoover, secretary of Commerce last night at the conclusion of a hard coal conference of national significance. The question of price is yet to be decided.

The principal accomplishment of the meeting, according to W. D. B. Ainey, chairman of the Pennsylvania Fuel Commission, who called at the request of Secretary Hoover, was the appointment of a committee that will take immediate steps to survey the anthracite situation from the standpoint of distribution.

DUCK SHOOTING IS VERY POOR

More Hunters Than Ducks — Crop Report From Bailieboro District.

BAILIEBORO, September 8. — The duck shooting season opened on Friday, September 1st, with only a small number of hunters on the job, but even then there were more hunters than ducks. Whether the season has been too hot or not is not known but there is only an occasional black duck to be found in the rice beds.

The divers which are generally numerous around the shores and marshes, are very scarce.

The larger portion of the hunters who have been hunting ducks report no success so far.

Crop Report for September.

There is a poor prospect of having fall pasture this fall on account of the weather being so dry and hot. The grass in the meadows is very badly burned up and even the late rains will not come in time now to save the situation.

The acreage of wheat throughout the country which is being planted now, is the smallest that has been known for many years. The weather has been so extremely dry that the farmers have been unable to prepare their land for the seed.

Clover seed is a good crop throughout the country; the heads are large and well filled. The dry weather has enabled the farmers to get the early seed into the barn in good condition.

Silo filling has commenced in some localities, but is not general as yet.

School Re-Opens.

The school opened on Tuesday with the usual good attendance. The scholars were glad to greet their former teacher, Miss S. Southern, back again.

DOURO COUNCIL HELD A MEETING

Council met at the Town Hall, Douro, on Monday, 28th August — all the members were present.

On motion, the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

The following municipal by-laws were passed;

By-law No. 919, authorising the levying and collecting of 8.4 mills on the dollar, as a county rate, 1 mill on the dollar as a House of Refuge rate, 4 mills on the dollar as a highway and Provincial highway rate, and 6.35 mills on the dollar as a general school rate.

By-law No. 920, appointing Richard Sheehan collector of rates for the year 1922 at a salary of $120.00.

The following accounts were passed:

Examiner Printing Co., voters' lists, etc., 51.85; Municipal World, pay lists and reports, $2.40; F. D. Leahy, cico, 40c; Geo. Whibbs, cleaning out gravel pit in 1920, $3.60; Arthur Carveth, half cost of 30 rods wire fence, $7.65; Stephen Miller, half cost 56 rods wire fence, $10.50; David McManus, half cost 70 rods wire fence, $13.12; Thos. Fitzgerald, work on road, $11.50.

Kellogg's Bran means so much to the health of every one who eats it!

Start eating Bran today! You can't afford the delay of a day—for BRAN—Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is nature's own remedy for constipation. Eliminate constipation or its symptoms from your system and you add years to your life. Free yourself of illness that can be directly traced to this distressing condition!

Authorities state that 90% of human illness has its beginning with constipation, which clogs the eliminative passages, backing up poisons and creating toxic conditions. At this stage the blood becomes affected and then follows the disorder of various organs. Bright's disease, diabetes, most cases of rheumatism, hardening of arteries, headaches, brain fag, etc., are directly caused by intestinal poisoning.

Pills and cathartics can give no adequate relief. They are not only temporary in their effect, but tend to aggravate already dangerous conditions. Kellogg's Bran causes neither discomfort nor irritation, and its action is absolutely positive. Bran sweeps and cleanses and purifies! Its work is wonderful!

Physicians indorse the use of Kellogg's Bran for constipation because it relieves constipation, naturally. Eat Bran regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; in chronic cases with each meal—as a cereal, sprinkled on other cereals, or in many other appetizing ways such as in raisin bread, gems, pancakes, macaroons, etc. Recipes on every box. All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled! It's wrapped "WAXTITE." Start with Kellogg's to-day.

P. S.—Kellogg's Bran, eaten regularly, will clear up a pimply complexion and overcome an obnoxious breath.

ADVERTISERS PAY TO BROADCAST MUSIC

By PAUL F. GODLEY.

The opening of this station by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company was looked forward to for a long time. It was expected that the company would make some announcement of its policy of toll broadcasting. But all it issued was a statement of generalities.

However, it has been gratifying to radio listeners to hear the quality of tone reproduction of this and similar stations constructed by the Western Electric Company. Stations of this type are now in use in Detroit, Boston and Newark, N. J. Many more are scheduled for insallation all over the country.

More to Come.

According to the original plan of the telephone company, WBAY is to be the first of 12 or 15 toll broadcasting stations to be erected in various parts of the country. These are to be followed by 100 or more additional centres if the first group proves successful.

The installation of these stations has been held up pending legislation at Washington which would permit the operation of the toll broadcasting sets on a band of wave lengths different from those now used by private broadcasting stations.

Should the plans of the telephone company work out, the country will be assured of a first-class chain of broadcasting stations. At first the company will supply the programs. But after the stations have been in operation for a few weeks, they will be opened for use to any advertiser providing high grade entertainment for the public.

High Grade Talent.

Only strictly high grade entertainment will be acceptable to the telephone company. The name of the advertiser, in all probability, will merely be announced as the benefactor. It is expected that the rate charged will be $50 for a 15-minute period at any one broadcasting station.

STATION WBAY ATOP A NEW YORK SKYSCRAPER.

Service of this character will also be open to national advertisers. At the hours when most broadcasting is done, a great number of long distance telephone lines are idle. These will become available at a low rate for the interconnection of two or more broadcasting stations. Thus, through the offices of the national advertiser, an artist of national repute may perform at a given hour for several million listeners.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.— (Canadian Press.)— Assertions that owing to drought and heat the corn crop this season would be 380,000,000 bushels less than was harvested last year, had much to do yesterday with an all around advance in the value of grain. Wheat closed 1-2 to 3-4 net higher with December 1.02 1-4 to 1.02 3-8 and May 1.07 1-2 to 1.07 5-8. Corn finished 1-2 to 7-8 up and oats 1-8 and 1-4 to 1c. In provisions the outcome was unchanged to 12 and 15c. higher.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, Sept. 8. — (Canadian Press.)— The export situation remains unchanged. Receipts of specials and extras are lighter and prices firmer.

Toronto higher, specials 42c. to 43c., extras 38c. to 39c., firsts 33c. to 34c., seconds 28c.

Montreal unchanged, specials 39c. to 40c., extras 34c. to 35c., firsts 28c. Some shipments of fresh reported going forward to England on consignment.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.— (Canadian Press.)—In sympathy with the strength displayed in oats at Winnipeg yesterday a stronger feeling prevailed in the local cash market and prices were advanced one cent per bushel. There were no further changes in flour prices or rolled oats. Baled hay quotations were the same as the previous day while cheese prices advanced from 1 1-4c. to 1 1-8c. per pound over prices of one week ago. Butter was unchanged.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.— (Canadian Press.)—Sterling exchange was quoted as follows: Demand 4.4632; cables 4.4651.

Lang-Sayles: That the Reeve and Councillor Eakins be a committee to wait on Mr. Attwool re street watering arrangements at the mill.

Eakins-Lang: That Councillors Sayles and Stinson be a committee to purchase and install fountain at the Town Hall Square. Carried.

Sayles-Eakins: That Councillor Lang be appointed to purchase a wood stove for the Council Chamber. Carried.

SHIPBUILDING FIRMS AFTER THE NEW DOCK

LONDON, Sept. 8. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—Ten of the principal shipbuilding firms of the United Kingdom are keen competitors for the construction of a large floating dock which the London, Southwestern railway proposes to install at Southampton for the accommodation of big liners like the Majestic.

The dock will be long enough to berth the longest ship afloat with ample margin and will be 170 feet broad. It will be built in at least six sections and more than 10,000 tons of steel will be employed.

GREEK GENERALS FALL INTO HANDS OF TURKS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 8.— (Canadian Press.)—A telegram from Angora reiterates the assertion that General Tricoupis, the new commander in chief of the Greek army in Asia Minor and several other Greek generals were made prisoner by the Turks on the evening of September 2. The dispatch adds: "They were taken to the headquarters of the Kemalist forces, where they were treated as guests of Mustapha Kemal Pasha."

TWO AIR PILOTS ARE KILLED AT A FAIR.

RUTLAND, Vt., September 8. — Canadian Press. — Henry A. (Dare Devil) Smith of Boston, an aeronaut was instantly killed late yesterday at the Rutland fair grounds when his parachute failed to open after he had dropped from a balloon at a height of 1500 feet.

Four hours earlier Lieutenant Belvin W. Maynard, known as the "Flying Parson," and two companions were killed when their airplane crashed at the fair grounds.

HOT WATER FOR SICK HEADACHES

Headaches are caused by auto-intoxication—which means self-poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head, producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilid, aspirin or the bromides, which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank before breakfast, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache, but will cleanse, purify and freshen the alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up in the morning with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness constipation, or sour acid stomach, begin the phosphated hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

BRITAIN'S AIR BOGEY FADING

Fears of Attack By Fliers Dissipated As Ministry Provides for 500 New Machines.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Now that the Air Force is to have 500 new planes, Great Britain feels considerably safer against attacks from the air, and an occasional expert can be found who is willing to say that for the next 10 years, at least, the country need not fear that her great cities will be bombed and destroyed, and her population killed off by poison gas and disease germs.

What most Englishmen are hoping is that during the process of settling down from the last war, the nations will get together on an agreement for the limitation of air armament, just as they have agreed to limit the number of capital ships. They hope the nations will pledge themselves to such a limited number of planes as to make a destructive air war impossible.

Those who have studied the question have come to the conclusion that it would take a huge number of planes to create any considerable degree of havoc by a sudden attack. A. H. G. Fokker, the Dutch expert, has talked about a successful raid by 10,000 or 20,000 planes. These would consist of a fleet of light, high-flying scout planes to show the way; a fleet of heavy bombing planes, huge fellows capable of carrying several tons of explosives each; and a third fleet of fighting planes to break up whatever defensive formations might be sent against the attacking squadrons.

Mighty Fleet Necessary

Experts declare even a huge bomb can create havoc in only a limited area, and several tons of explosives would be needed to wipe out a single city block. That is why a fleet that could strike a single crushing blow would have to be large. If it relied on poison gas, instead of explosives, it would have to reckon on air currents and on the possibility that the population would be provided with protective appliances. If disease germs were to be used, the experts say it has not yet been demonstrated they can be made effective. In any case, whatever method of attack, the enemy would need a tremendous fleet; and if the nations agree to limit their air power, no such fleet would be available.

That commercial planes easily could be converted into engines of war is scouted. They are heavy and clumsy, and, while capable of carrying fairly good loads, can not fly very high with them. They could not act without a protecting escort of a considerable number of fighting planes, and, with their comparatively slow speed and large size, would make good targets for anti-aircraft batteries.

Could a country, bent on making war, construct secretly a fleet of the necessary size? Such an expert as Major C. C. Turner replies in the negative. Not even a fleet of 2,000 planes, in Major Turner's opinion, could be constructed by any nation without news leaking out. The very report that an organization was being prepared, capable of constructing and manning such a fleet, would cause prompt measures. If there were an international convention limiting the air forces of the nations, it would be still harder.

TREASURE LIES IN BATTEAU CHANNEL

Bootleggers' Stock Dumped From Launch Lies in Favorite Fishing Ground.

KINGSTON, ONT., Sept. 8.—There is a treasure near the upper end of Batteau Channel, five miles west of Kingston in the form of four hundred dollars worth of liquor. It is at the bottom of the channel and about one hundred yards out from shore and will no doubt attract earnest seekers.

The liquor was dumped there a few days ago by a bootlegger from Oswego, N.Y., who was taking the cargo from Belleville to his home town. When near Simcoe Island the motorboat sprang a leak and as he had a good fifty miles to go to make Oswego the bootlegger threw his cargo overboard. Had the weather not been so rough he might have been able to have made his home port.

After getting rid of the liquor the bootlegger came on to Kingston, where repairs were made to his boat. He then went to Belleville and took another cargo and is believed to have made his safe landing at the American port. Batteau Channel is a favorite fishing place and as the liquor is in bags a lively time is looked for among the anglers.

CHICKENS ARE MISSING

PORT HOPE, ONT. Sept. 8.—Clarence ("Red") Friar, a member of the local baseball team, was arraigned before Magistrate Campbell yesterday morning on a charge of stealing chickens from Lewis N. Clarke. He was remanded for a week. Much interest is taken locally in the case, as complaints of the thefts have been going on for some time, and the gang who are alleged to be responsible for the depredations is thought to be a large one.

TWO ACTRESSES DESPAIR OF FAME AND WOO DEATH.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Two actresses attempted suicide to-day by swallowing poison.

Miss Donnie Harrison, 20, leaving a note saying she was desperate because she was unable to rid herself of addiction to drugs, was found unconscious in her bed which had been set afire by a cigaret. Her condition is serious.

Mrs. Vera Maynard, 32, a widow, who was discharged from Bellevue hospital two weeks ago after an attempt to end her life, told detectives that she made her second attempt to-day because she realized that she could not ack'eve success as a motion picture actress. She added that she would try suicide again if she recovered.

Girl Sought Stage Career

Miss Harrison, who came from Detroit left a letter in which she told the old, old story of the temptations of an ambitious young girl alone in the city. Several other letters were found, one addressed to her mother, Mrs. Carrie Harrison, 624 Charlotte Avenue, Detroit.

"Well—to start with—I am a dope," Miss Harrison's revelations began. "It really wasn't my fault in the beginning. I mean about the dope.

"Gee—I was young then, and sweet—O, well You know the kind.

"I left my home town to attain something that a million other girls pray to attain—a brilliant caree on the stage. I landed in New York with $20 my parents had given me—thinking it was more than sufficient to hold me until I obtained work—and a large suit case.

"I was a stranger. All I had to guide me was a scrummy little piece of paper with the address of an alleged respectable boarding house. After just two days in the big city I came to realize that employment is not easy to get——for a hick.

When Her Money Gave Out

"I also came to realize (O, fully, too, you can bet) that $20 in New York lasts about as long as a snowball in hell.

"Furthermore, I experienced then and there my pang of regret that I had ever left the old home town and my first thrill of fear of what might happen to me—and did happen—when my money gave out.

"Days and days followed, and every day I went to the different offices only to be met with the same sharp 'No opening.' The landlady demanded her rent. I was down and out and disgusted with myself. But I wouldn't send for money; I was too proud.

"One rainy night I went home, tired out. It was only to find my suitcase in the hall. I knew what that mean . No home for even that night. No place to sleep. Well, I walked miles and miles in that mood with no plans—just aimlessly. I had one thought: If I kept on walking I might—" Here the note broke off abruptly.

"GREATEST WAR HERO" AT WORK ON RIVER DAM

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 8.—Sergt. Samuel Woodfill, chosen by General Pershing as the greatest single hero of the world war, was at work to-day on the Ohio river government dam at Silver Grove, Ky., a short distance about Cincinnati.

"My husband went to work on the dam to-day because he finds it necessary to raise the money to meet the payment on our home that will fall due on Jan. 1" Mrs. Woodfill said. "He could never do it on his sergeant's pay and the work at the dam opened a way for him."

Sergt. Woodfill was assigned to carpentering work at the dam. His pay will be $6 a day, which is just twice as much as he received as a sergeant in the United States army.

What Men Admire Most in Women is Perfect Health —the Sign of Strength

Barrie, Ont.—"I was suffering from a rundown system some time ago, was unfit to perform my daily duties, and was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I tried it, took two bottles, and was restored to my natural strength. I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's medicine too highly and will be willing to write to any one sending a stamped envelope."—Mrs. A. H. Bishop, R. R. No. 1.

Mothers, Advice for You!

London, Ont.—"I wish I could tell all the women in the world who suffer with woman's trouble, what a wonderful medicine Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is. My earliest experience with it was during my first expectancy. I became dropsical and my people were quite alarmed about my condition. The doctor's medicine did not seem to reach my trouble at all so my husband urged me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and to please him I did. Before I had finished the second bottle the distress and dropsy left me and I felt in absolutely perfect health. I had no further trouble from that time on. I afterwards took Favorite Prescription whenever in a nervous rundown condition and it always strengthened and built me up."—Mrs. Lily Stoddart, 438 Ontario St.

MANY FEATURES OF THE OTTAWA FAIR

Without militating against the agriculture, live stock, child welfare and educational factors of the Ottawa Exhibition, the management this year has given special attention to the entertainment features, and these will be on a scale never before equalled. The directors voted an unusually large appropriation for the midway and grand-stand attractions, and the committee with every confidence states that the result will make a new record for excellence.

Daring and thrilling stunts have been secured. Possibly the most sensational event will be the automobile races, when speed demons will cut loose with their racers on the track which has been specially banked for the races. At least half a score of road and dirt track professionals have already entered.

R. Burr Lampkin and his speedway Puegeot head the long list, and if old man dope runs true to form, Lampkin has a chance to make the local track record and possibly to hang up new marks for all short distances on the local track. Ray Claypool, of California, and an old rival of Lampkin, has entered a DeLage. Last season Claypool campaigned in the west and midwest, and at the end of the season he was the possessor of points that placed him well up amongst the great dirt track drivers of the country. He claims that he will give the best of them a run for their money this year.

Other celebrities who have entered into the fray are Lloyd Willard, the light car king and holder of the world's record for wheel changing; Sandy McDonald, head of the Essex team; Billie Williams, who will also tool an Essex; Cleo Sarles, driving a Mooney Special, and Whip King, at the wheel of his Briscoe Wildcat.

Then each afternoon and evening there will be auto polo. Negotiations have been completed with the All-American team, the present champions of the world, and the Canadian team. The American team is captained by Chick Vale, of Long Island, and the Canadian team by Kat Matter, of Calgary.

Dividing honors for thrills with these acts will be the daily parachute drops from an airplane. Prof. C. A. Farley, who was formerly a balloonist, will make the drops. Then there will be horse races, whippet races, aerial feats, high class comedy and vaudeville turns from the New York Hippodrome, and vaudeville circuits and a big spectacular fireworks display in the evenings.

LINDSAY MAN IN AN ACCIDENT

A bad accident took place near Myrtle on Wednesday, when a car containing five Lindsay citizens on their way to the Toronto Exhibition, met with a mishap.

Mr. Braunton owned the car, and was a passenger, Frank Goodwin was the driver, and other passengers were George Goodwin and W. J. Walter.

As the car was spinning along the wide highway near Myrtle, a tire blew out, the car swerved, and instead of putting on the brake, it is assumed that the driver stepped on the accelerator.

The car shot forward, took to the ditch, rode over a stump, and hit three trees before it finally halted—a broken and very much subdued automobile.

Fortunately no person was hurt.

The car, however, was wrecked, and had to be brought home on a truck. The radiator was bent three ways and driven back into the engine, the front fenders were ripped from the chassis, and one running-board was severed from the chassis. Two front wheels were wrecked, the top damaged, and the windshield smashed into atoms.

RAILWAY STRIKE.

Canadian Shopmen Next Says Official.

MONTREAL, September 8. Canadian Press. — A strike of the railway shopmen in Canada is inevitable from what can be seen at the present moment, was the declaration of an officer of Division No. 4, Railway Employees, this morning, following the second day's deliberations on the findings of the board of Conciliation, which upheld the wage cuts.

The shopmen throughout Canada are being circularized at all points and told to hold themselves in readiness for a general strike.

A reply which will be sent to-day to the Minister of Labor's telegram in response to Secretary Dickie's protest against the finding of the board will state that the men recognize the futility of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, and that they are free to choose their own course. The statement that the strike was inevitable was made by J. A. McClelland, Canadian Vice-President of the International Association of Machinists.

WIFE NO. 4 QUITS WILLARD MACK; WED A YEAR AGO

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Sept. 8.—Willard Mack, stage star, dramatist and producer, to-day confirmed the report that his fourth wife, Mrs. Beatrice Beebe Mack, has left him.

The Macks were married a year ago, following the final decree of divorce granted to the third Mrs. Mack, who is better known as Pauline Frederick, now in Chicago.

Especially in our newly arrived Fall Hats —it's the line of a Hat that counts—the sweep of it over the eyes—the set of it on the head. The way it softens or vivifies. Its chic, ts charming audacity. Hats of just such magic lines for the new season have already come into our shop. They're here waiting for you to try them on.

SPORTS HATS

The Sport Hat finds a place—and a large place, too—in every season's display, and those who delight in sports costume will be well pleased when they view our range of Sport Hats for fall wear. Plush and velour in vivid shades are the materials from which these Sport Hats are made.

Large chonxes of velvet are very new trimmings, and these pierced by a dagger create a very smart effect. Large bows of ribbon and wings of lace find a front place in Fall Hat decorations. Some of the materials most prominent in the new fall headwear are quilted satins, aluminum and gold cloths, duvetyn, plush, velvet, brightly colored narrow ribbon with tinseled edges, quills and metallic flowers.

Colors include ginger brown, seal, chocolate, rust, and numerous other shades of brown, copper, orange, gold, mustard, nasturtium, navy, grey and black.

Black velvet, both Panne and Lyon's, is to have the front place in Hat development the coming season; but don't forget that the metallic touch is applied wherever possible.

Artistic, Authentic, Aristocratic Announce The Charm of our Autumn Apparel

Smart youthful lines are predominate in our entire fall collection of freshly evolved creations, including fascinating reproductions of French origination and still more individual models or typically American design, fabriced in exquisite qualities and cut and needled with diamond-like precision.

The New Wrappy Coats with Ornate Fur Trimming

You will just live in delight in the ample folds of these new draped Coats, some in simple silhouette design of soft deep fabric, others with rich ornitures of furs contrasted with braided effects and set off with antique metal clasps and buttons. The price offers a fairness of value that will appeal to the woman who wants "the best if it does not cost too much."

Duvetyn is the material that these beautiful Coats are fashioned from, and many a stormy winter wind will blow when you are snugly wrapped in one of these Coats and you will never feel the harshness of the wind or snow, because they are made with largy comfy fur collars, and the sleeves, although large draped effects and some bell shaped, are fitted with wind-shield cuffs, keeping the wind from the unwrapped arm. Almost every shade of brown is shown, and some light shades, too. The prices range from ..... $37.50 to $52.50

We Have Achieved The Utmost of Your Desire In This Fall's Collection of Suits Favored By Women Who Seek Smartness

Each garment possesses some feature lifting it above the ordinary, and combining a striking originality in style motif with fabrics of the hour specially suited to sports, street wear, informal or dress occasion.

Yet they have been priced to meet your expectations of better wear for less.

It seems that Dame Fashion has struck an altogether new note in the fashioning of Fall Suits. The strictly tailored garments are in great prominence, while others developed on tailored lines confine themselves to trimmings of silk stitching and fur. A notable feature about the new Fall Suits is the length of the coat, which is much longer than has been for many a season, giving more graceful lines, and the skirts have a notable tendency to greater length. Come in and choose from an up-to-the-minute range that is priced to suit anybody's purse.

SIMPLER RADIO WANTED

HOW RADIO IS BEING SIMPLIFIED: ABOVE, A "MODERN" COMPLICATED SET; BELOW, DR. ALFRED N. GOLDSMITH AT HIS "ONE-DIAL" SET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Radio will lead the phonograph in popularity when its operation is simplified.

So say prominent radio engineers and dealers who have been trying to develop this new instrument to a high state efficiency. To back up their statement they show figures of the tremendous sale of radio instruments and parts during the last year or so.

This sale, they say, will continue even stronger when autumn comes and warm weather does not force radio enthusiasts outdoors. But it will be mostly amateurs and other fans. The layman will not consider the installation of a radio set until the simple and efficient apparatus is produced.

One Controll.

Radio engineers are fast approaching this goal. Dr. Alfred N. Goldsmith of the College of the City of New York, has already perfected a radio receiving instrument which has only one main controll and an auxiliary control. Comparing this with the set of many knobs, dials, switches and other controls, Dr. Goldsmith has brought the new science down to simplicity of operation.

Still, says Dr. Goldsmith, the radio receiving set must be developed so that any person, who knows nothing about its operation, may be able to "tune in" on a radio concert with a single turn of a knob or by merely pushing a button. Then, he says, radio will gain the public favour faster than any invention has in the past.

Besides simplicity of invention, however, a high state of efficiency, is desired. As regards efficiency, engineers say, radio is still in its infant stage. Not more than one-fourth of the energy put into a transmitting instrument is caught at the receiving end. Sometimes as low as four per cent of the original energy remains to be received.

Static.

This loss is somewhere in the transmitting apparatus. But there is also a great loss in the receiving end, which engineers are trying to compensate.

Between these two there is the everlasting bugaboo of radio fans—static. Like the grating of the phonograph needle, which may mar the tone of a record, static interferes in the reception of broadcast messages and concerts.

Engineers connected with the U. S. Bureau of Standards and others working for private firms, have been trying to eliminate this interference. But they have yet to arrive at the proper formula for its submission.

PLAIN GOWNS FOR WORK DAYS.

When the first fall frocks appear there is always a demand for simple dresses of the sort designed for school girls or the young woman who works.

This special type of dress is usually trim and simple in its lines and inexpensive, but by no means unregardful of fashion and attractiveness.

Wool Jersey has been the favorite material for these dresses during the past few seasons and seems likely to be this fall as well.

They are seen in the most expensive of specialty shops as well as in lower priced stores and the distinguishing charm is usually a bit of different looking trimming or a pleasing combination of colors.

This season there are new woolen fabrics as well. One is wool crepe, lighter than jersey and shown in either plain or striped weaves.

Smooth finished materials seem to be preferred. There need be no lack of variety, at any rate, no matter how simple the style of the dress may be.

VESSEL HAD 100,000 POUNDS FISH ABOARD.

HALIFAX, N. S., September 8. — Canadian Press. — The Gloucester fishing schooner, Henry Ford, Capt. Clayton Morrissey, sailed from here yesterday for the fishing grounds, after being in port since Tuesday. She had 100,000 pounds of fish on board.

The top plank of the Ford's starboard bow is missing and presumably accounts for the finding about a month ago off Canso of a vessel's plank with the name "Henry Ford" on it.

A member of the Ford's crew said to-day she was the fastest sailor he had ever been on.

LARGE ORDER FROM FRANCE

Railway Electric Equipment Worth $8,000,000 Purchased Here.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 7.—A contract for equipment amounting to approximately $8,000,000 has been received by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. The contract includes an order for control equipment for 120 electric locomotives which are now under construction.

The order, it is stated, comes from the Paris-Orleans Railway Company, which is one of the largest systems in France. This railway, which operates more than 5,000 route miles of track, is electrifying 125 miles of its main lines between Paris and Viezon.

The complete order of control equipment will be manufactured in the United States, and shipment of the order, it is announced, will commence in January, 1923, and extend to December, 1924.

Long-Distance Phone May Help Broadcast High-Class Concerts

By PAUL F. GODLEY.

The American radio audience has become critical.

No longer is it content with "canned" music. It wants the real thing. Having heard both good and poor programs, it now demands the best—

Broadcasting de luxe!

This increased demand for the leading stars is increasing the cares of the men behind the scenes at the broadcasting stations. They are encountering more and more difficulty in getting topnotchers for their programs.

At first they were able to secure them for the publicity of the thing.

But now the demand has been so great that the artists have put a price on their services.

First-class artists must, of necessity, eat. And most of their expenses are high. So why not charge for their broadcasting services?

It is therefore almost impossible for the numerous broadcasting stations to have a staff of first-class artists on tap at all time. The expense would be too great unless there were some way of passing the burden along to the public.

Centralization.

Yet the demands are such that the broadcasting must be of the highest plane.

It would seem that a logical solution of this problem would be found in centreing a strictly first-class collection of entertainers at one big station, where a program could be so arranged as to have it of a high level continuously.

This program could be broadcast from any station in the land by interlinking land telephone lines.

This could be done at comparatively small expense. The American Telephone & Telegraph Company's system covers the whole country. It is going in for broadcasting, too—"toll broadcasting." The services of these stations are to be sold to those who want to advertise.

In Practice.

Perhaps the manufacturers of a popular automatic tooth-brush will arrange to have John McCormack sing at 8 p. m., eastern standard time John will put in his appearance at the radio station on Broadway at the scheduled time.

Meanwhile, Havana, Atlanta, Norfolk, Albany, Wheeling, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston and Portland have all been connected with the New York radio studio.

The brush manufacturer pays $50 a station. For 15 minutes' time McCormack is alloyed to sing. His voice is carried by wire to the foregoing cities and broadcast from there.

Subsequent to his final selection, announcement is made that it has been possible to favor the public through the courtesy of the brush company. And purchasers of the celebrated brush will have borne the burden of McCormack's broadcasting offerings.

SUGGESTS SPACE AND LINE RADIO.

Two Forms of Communication For Future Adoption.

These are the two forms of radio communication suggested for future adoption by Dr. Louis Cohen, consulting engineer of the U. S. Signal Corps. "Space radio," for broadcasting. "Line radio," for personal and business calls.

"Line radio," he says, "is a limited form of radio transmission guided by wires. This form, perfected by General G. O. Squier of the U. S. Signal Corps, is rapidly coming into wide use."

Increasing demands for radio communication and growth of the industry all over the world, are Dr. Cohen's reasons for suggesting the division of communication into these two forms.

Advantages.

"Line radio," says Dr. Cohen, "could take care of individual communications, leaving all the available wave channels in space radio for communication between mobile stations, such as ships and airplanes, places inaccessible to wire lines, and broadcasting. By the use of line radio the existing telephone and telegraph lines may be loaded up by multiplying the number of messages carried on any single line so as to take care of all possible public requirements for personal communication, and in a very economical manner at that.

"Broadcasting is a service that can be accomplished only by space radio and the use of space radio should be limited as far as possible to that service. On the other hand, in line radio the number of circuit channels can be increased almost indefinitely and always kept up to capacity to meet all public needs for individual communication, personal or business."

Miners Owe Their Victory To Little Corner Grocery

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., September 5. — The position of the little corner grocery, sometimes ridiculed, is responsible for the settlement received by Illinois striking coal miners, union officials and miners assert.

It was the backbone of the defence which, for almost five months withstood the assaults of poverty and hunger, these officials assert, adding that no matter what may be the future of the coal miners in industry, the corner groceryman is inextricably bound up in the welfare of the coal miners.

The end of the strike found many of the Illinois miners destitute. Since 1st April they received but $5.00 in strike benefits. Supplies of foodstuffs, gathered before the strike, soon were consumed, and the simple clothes of last winter in many instances were made to serve throughout the summer. Amusements were almost negligible.

The home garden and fish from nearby streams enabled many to pull through, but miners say it really was the credit extended by the corner grocery man, and his faith in the word of the men that enabled them to keep their families from starving. Many of these grocery stores, especially those in the mining villages, depend entirely for existence on the miners' patronage. For them it was a case of credit or go out of business, it is explained.

Every grocery store in this section which has a miner's business is carrying hundreds of dollars in miners' accounts on its books. Throughout the summer they supplied their patrons' needs in flour, sugar, and other staples without seeing a penny in cash.

Unusual activity in these grocery stores marked the closing of the strike. Huge orders began to roll in the day after the settlement was announced.

A few miners, however, were assisted by officials and employees at union headquarters from their private purses. Associated charities in some of the larger cities and towns also were called upon, but only when the need was most pressing.

Nervous Trouble

Nervous troubles are, without a doubt, the most discouraging form of sickness to the sufferer. You are tired and ill but cannot say what is wrong, no pain except frequent headaches, you are fretful, cross and irritable without a cause, no ambition or desire to continue your daily routine, you feel a picking or itching of the limbs or body and feel that some terrible calamity is about to overcome you, cannot enter into your former pleasures and prefer solitude to the company of your friends. In such cases the whole nervous system is deranged and requires the most careful attention. Take one of Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets every night or every second night and if there is any tendency to Stomach trouble take one Special Stomach Tablet three times a day before meals.

Evangelist Declares They Are Driving Young Men Into Ministry.

CHICAGO, September 8. — Flappers are doing missonary work by driving young men into the ministry, Dr. Paul Rader, President of the Christian Missionary Alliance, and a noted evangelist, declared:

"Better a hungry heathen with a club than a thirsty flapper with a lip stick," seems to be the motto of hundreds of young men, he said. "The idealism has been killed by flapperism."

MATTY ORDERED TO KEEP AWAY FROM BASE BALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Thousands of fans, meaning well, hope ot see Christy Matthewson pitch once success in winning an extra-inning victory against tuberculosis they have rosy visions of him getting into action again All such thoughts should be dismissed, however. His doctors say it would be foolhardy for Matty to tempt fate by even exerting himself again even if he should feel at some time that he had entirely recovered from the dangerous disease. Matty has too much to live for to flirt with the Grim Reaper.

INSTANTLY KILLED BY FAST EXPRESS

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 8. — (Canadian Press).—Mary W-Lock, aged 42, of Buffalo, was instantly killed and Helen Kaspryk, aged 16, also of Buffalo, slightly injured when struck by a west-bound G.T.R. express half a mile west of Vineland this morning. They had stepped out of the path of a fast freight without observing the approaching express. The W-Lock woman was hurled fifty feet. The younger girl's injuries are very slight, although she was knocked fully sixteen feet. Coroner Elmer will hold an inquest at Beamsville next Tuesday.

BOY IS FATALLY KICKED BY HORSE

KINGSTON, Sept. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Richard James Foley, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foley, of Howe Island, was instantly killed last night about five o'clock, when he was kicked in the head by a horse just after he had returned from school. He was driving three horses which were at pasture to another part of the field, when he touch one, which immediately kicked out and struck him.

PAGE MR. SENNETT

(By H. I. Phillips.)

When does a woman swimming champion dress?

This becomes more and more of a mystery, the more you look at the illustrated sections of the newspapers.

The average editor who picks the pictures for the photogravure sections, for instance, must consider his duty well done if out of 100 photographs he has ninety ladies in bathing suits, five views of the Prince of Wales, three snapshots of Lloyd George, and two of President Harding at golf.

In the old days photographs were used to "dress" the paper. Now they're used to "undress" it.

Of course, the girl swimming champions are somewhat to blame. When they are not swimming they're posing. A girl swimming champion is always diving for distance and coming up for photographs. She's a bare!

* * *

Until recently it has been the custom for the girls to pose with an appropriate background. Not necessarily at the water, but with a water atmosphere. The other day, however, we saw a picture of a famous girl swimmer posing in a one-piece suit in a Morris chair. Yesterday we saw another sitting on a tabourette. We wouldn't be surprised any day to see a group of swimming girls posing on a baby grand piano.

The deduction is that they never dress. It would be a real novelty (and why doesn't some editor realize it?) to see a picture of a lady swimmer in street clothes.

It always has struck us that a young man who keeps company with a swimming champion must be kept in a perpetual state of curiosity as to how she will look when she decides to settle down and put some clothes on.

* * *

Last fall a famous swimmer was married. When the groom saw her the day of the wedding, fully dressed, he didn't know her and had to have her identified. 'Safact.

Training for a distance race must be very difficult. The swimmer has to get up early in the morning and phone for the newspaper photographers. Then she has to name a place to meet them. Then she must hurry there and go through a half day of posing.

This over she must hustle to her own photographer's studio and put through a grilling hour posing for pictures for distribution to papers not represented by staff photographers.

The rest of the day has to be spent in posing here and there wherever a stray photographer happens to be located.

It's a terrible ordeal. No wonder a swimming champion lives such a short life: she's exposed to so many things!

Mommer, may I get in to swim,
And cut some diving capers?
Yes, my dear and have each limb
In all the Sunday papers!

"The Greatest Enemy of Babies Is FEAR."

But Science Now Plans to Stand Guard at the Door of the Infant's Mind and Keep Out Those Fears Which Experiments Have Shown Are Not Instinctive, but Needlessly Acquired.

Little Jimmy Syracuse, Eighteen Months Old, Who Has Been Taught to Live Without Fear—and Without Clothing, Winter and Summer. He Spends All of His Time in the Open in His Father's Private Park in Upper Manhattan Island.

A WORLD-WIDE fight against the greatest enemy of mankind—Fear—may soon be started if the dream of a group of American psychologists is realized. This fight will be conducted along purely scientific lines and as a necessary preliminary to the main campaign an exhaustive study in infant psychology will first have to be made.

The infant mind, in fact, will be the main theatre of action, for it is within the first three years of life that the thousands of fear states which afflict humanity are acquired.

This, at least, is the conclusion of scientists who have already been making experiments in infant psychology. And this will be their guiding principle in their attempt to eliminate unnatural fears from the lives of human beings.

Dr. John B. Watson, the celebrated New York psychologist, in a recently issued statement made an appeal for the founding of an institution where the human infant could be studied from birth to at least three years of age. It would lead, he said, to an untold wealth of new scientific conclusions and to a practical and common sense set of data upon the psychological care of the infant. He thought it was not too much to expect that an endowment fund for such a cause as this could be raised when more than the income from a million dollars was being spent annually in the study of the sea urchin, the coral and the jelly-fish.

A shining illustration of the child mind from which all unnatural fears have been excluded is that furnished by little Jimmy Syracuse of New York, whose pictures appear on this page.

Jimmy Syracuse is eighteen months old and has none of the commonly acquired fears of childhood and to a limited extent has combated his inherited fears. He is not afraid of the dark, the water, animals or great heights. From earliest infancy he has been taught to live a free, fearless and natural life.

His father owns a private park in upper Manhattan Island and Jimmy roams around in it without any clothes, winter and summer. He never learned to fear the common accidents of childhood and for that reason he climbs trees, scales up and down rocks, and disports generally as a young animal might.

Another case of a child who has none of the usual fear responses is that of Bianca Blackburn of Los Angeles, California. Most children pick up a fear of water from their elders and as a consequence have a relatively difficult time learning to swim. Bianca, at the age of three, swims with the ease of a young puppy and makes high dives without a trace of hesitancy.

The Two Types of Fear

As a result of extensive experimental work done in the laboratory of Johns Hopkins University, Dr. Watson established, in a manner conclusive to himself and his fellow scientists, that only two types of fear were instinctive with children. Those are (1) the sudden removal of support and (2) a loud sound such as the striking of a long steel bar with a hammer.

In an article written for the Scientific Monthly, Dr. Watson said:

"These are the common stimuli (to fear) which are present almost daily in the life of every infant. The reaction or response to such stimuli is a sudden catching of the breath, clutching randomly with the hands, the sudden closing of the eyes and the puckering of the lips followed in some cases by crying. In older children these reactions appear and in addition there is crawling away, running away, and in some cases, hiding the face. We have found no other stimuli which will call forth fear in the very young infant. It has been often stated that children are afraid of the dark, or animals, of furry objects in general. . . . This is not the case."

These unnatural or artificial fears which are so prevalent in childhood and which finally become basic elements in a person's character, are acquired, as Dr. Watson goes on to prove, by association of ideas. In other words, one of the instinctive stimuli to fear—a sudden removal of support or a loud sound—is linked up in some forcible manner with some other object or situation and thereafter this second and hitherto harmless stimulus, becomes a cause of fear.

For example, a child has no natural fear of the dark. But if the door to a darkened room in which he is lying is violently slammed he may thereafter associate all dark places with this loud sound and therefore come to fear them. Likewise, if an animal is produced in front of a child at the same time a steel bar or tin pan is struck behind him, this animal will thereafter become a stimulus to fear. And in most cases, all other animals resembling the one with which the experiment was made will excite a similar fear.

Between the ages of 165 and 172 days, this child was introduced to dogs, cats, mice, pigeons and wild animals at the zoo. The tests were continued by taking the child in his chair to a dark room and building a bonfire in front of him. In no case did he exhibit the slightest fear. In practically every case he would reach out his hand and try to stroke the object.

One of the animals presented was a white rat. Later, at the age of eleven months and three days, the following experiment was made:

A white rat was suddenly taken from the basket and presented to Albert. He began to reach for rat with left hand. Just as his hand touched the animal the bar was struck immediately behind his head. The infant jumped violently and fell forward, burying his face in the mattress. He did not cry, however.

In order not to disturb the child unduly no further tests were given for one week. Albert was then brought back into the laboratory and the rat was suddenly presented without a sound. There was a steady fixation, but no tendency at first to reach for the rat. The rat was then placed nearer, whereupon tentative reaching movements were begun with the right hand. When the rat nosed the infant's left hand, the hand was immediately withdrawn.

The combined stimulation of rat and loud noise was then offered and Albert showed the common symptoms of fear. After this had been repeated once or twice the rat was brought out alone and the baby began to cry as soon as he caught sight of the animal. A similar experiment made after thirty days had elapsed showed that the fear of the rat still existed in the child's mind and it was also demonstrated that this fear had been transferred to similar appearing objects such as rabbits, dogs, fur coats and cotton wool.

In commenting on these experiments Dr. Watson said:

Importance of Emotional Reaction

"We see that the conditioned fear to the rat which was experimentally set up transferred to many other objects. The transfer was immediate and without any additional experience in connection with these other objects. In these transferred emotional reactions we thus would find a reason for the widespread change in the personality of children and possibly even of adults once even a strongly conditioned emotional reaction has been set up to any object or situation. It accounts for the many unreasoning fears and for a good deal of the sensitiveness of individuals to objects for which no adequate ground for such behavior can be offered in the past history of that individual. The importance of such a factor in shaping the life of the child needs no further emphasis from us.

"At present we are engaged upon the study of methods by means of which such directly conditioned fear responses and their transfers may be removed. The importance of establishing methods for the removal of these undesirable reactions is apparent to all. That such conditioned reactions are present in the life of every child many parents can testify. We have repeatedly had children brought to us whose emotional life had been so warped and twisted by such factors that the formation of the stable habits by means of which the race must maintain itself was seriously interfered with. . . .

"The sceptic will be inclined to say that such things happen in the life of every day, but that the child immediately puts them aside and soon forgets or outgrows such happenings. We have not the full experimental data to combat this view, but we have the evidence to show that in Albert at least, both the original fear of the rat and the transferred emotional reactions remained after a period of thirty days in which no experiments were made. Furthermore, the latter were still called out by the same objects which called them out in the above test. Our view is that such happenings are permanently impressed upon the growing child. They remain not only as a part of his reaction system, but also they tend to modify or prevent, by limiting the number of objects that he deals with, the formation of constructive habits. In other words, they modify his vocational future. When we consider that these conditioned emotional responses are being constantly set up in the growing child, not only in the realm of fear but in the realm of love and rage, and that they bring in their train a host of transferred responses, we begin to realize the importance of the pre-school age of the child."

Dr. Watson later said that parents and family physician should stand guard at the door of the infant mind and keep out these unnatural fears. In cases where conditioned fear responses were set up by accident, steps should be taken to remove them as soon as discovered. In order to do this, however, a great deal more data bearing on infant psychology will have to be compiled and placed in the hands of parents. It is for the purpose of making extensive experiments possible that he hopes to see an institution founded.

Toronto Won Twelve Inning Affair With Syracuse Stars

Cincinnati Defeats St. Louis and Goes Into Third Place in National League.

INTERNATIONAL.

Toronto 3, Syracuse 2.

TORONTO, September 8 (Canadian Press). — The Leafs defeated Syracuse here yesterday in a twelve-inning game by 3 to 2. With two out in the twelfth, Orme singled and stole second to score on Richardson's hit over the shortstop's head. Score:
Syracuse ..... 000001100000—2 9 2
Toronto ..... 000020000001—3 13 1
Rhinehardt and Niebergall; Best and Vincent.

Baltimore 6, Jersey City 1.

BALTIMORE, September 8 (Canadan Press). — Groves was at his best yesterday, and held Jersey City helpless, Baltimore winning 6 to 1. The southpaw fanned thirteen batters and showed little of his customary wildness. The Orioles hit the ball opportunely and played well in the field. Score:
Jersey City ..... 00000010—1 7 3
Baltimore ..... 21100020x—6 11 0
Carruthers and Dehaney; Groves and Styles.

Rochester 3, Buffalo 1.

BUFFALO, September 8 (Canadian Press). — Bill Hughes pitched a great game for Rochester against Buffalo, winning yesterday's game by 3 to 1. A walk for Archdeacon, Brady's triple to right, followed by an error, gave Stalling's Tribe the runs that won in their third inning. Both hurlers were strong after a nervous start. Score:
Rochester ..... 102000000—3 8 0
Buffalo ..... 010000000—1 7 2
Hughes and Lake; Reddy and Urban.

AMERICAN.

Philadelphia 7, Boston 4.

BOSTON, September 8 (Canadian Press). — Philadelphia took both games from Boston yesterday 7 to 4 and 3 to 0. The visitors bombarded Ferguson and Karr in the first inning of the first game, and made four runs. Walker's thirty-fourth homer of the season was made over the left field fence in the fifth inning of the second game, with Galloway on base Rommel was hit safely but four times in this game. Galloway's fielding was brilliant. Scores:
Philadelphia ..... 400100011—7 13 3
Boston ..... 000040000—4 11 3
Naylor and Perkins; Ferguson and Ruel.

Philadelphia 3, Boston 0.

Philadelphia ..... 000020001—3 8 1
Boston..... 000000000—0 4 0
Rommel and Perkins; Piercy and Shaplin.

Chicago 9, Cleveland 8.

CHICAGO, September 8 (Canadan Press). — Yarayan, forced into the game in the tenth inning after Schalk's finger was split by a foul tip off Stephenson's bat, cracked out a home run which gave Chicago a 9 to 8 victory over Cleveland. Yarayan was the first man up in the tenth inning, and he smashed the ball into the left field bleachers. The visitors finally got three men on in the ninth, and forced Faber to retire. McInnis' long fly followed, and the tying run came home. Schalk will be out of the game for several days. Score:
Cleveland ..... 3011010110—8 12 1
Chicago ..... 3050000001—9 14 0
Morton, Winn and O'Neill; Faber, Blankenship and Schalk, Yarayan.

NATIONAL.

Cincinnati 10, St. Louis 6.

CINCINNATI, September 8 (Canadian Press). — Cincinnati advanced to third place in the National League race yesterday by winning from St. Louis 10 to 6. North was pounded hard in the first and fourth innings, ten men going to bat in the latter round, and seven of them scoring. Rixey was effective until his team had secured a big lead when he let down in his work. Score:
St. Louis ..... 001002012— 6 10 3
Cincinnati ..... 30070000x—10 13 1
North, Barfoot and Ainsmith, Clemons; Rixey and Wingo.

New York 13, Philadelphia 6.

PHILADELPHIA, September 8 (Canadian Press).—The Giants took the first game of the series from Philadelphia yesterday 13 to 6. Goldie Rapp's diving one-hand catch of Meusel's liner in the second when he doubled Frank Frisch off first was the fielding feature of the game. Irish Meusel and Cliff Lee hit home runs. Score:
New York ..... 603200020—13 13 0
Philadelphia ..... 100200030— 6 13 4

Pittsburgh 6, Chicago 0.

PITTSBURGH, September 8 (Canadian Press). — Cooper held Chicago to six hits yesterday, and chalked up his twentieth victory of the season, Pittsburgh winning 6 to 0. Only one Chicago player reached third base. Score:
Chicago ..... 000000000—0 6 1
Pittsburgh ..... 30010101x—6 13 0

CENTRAL LEAGUE GAMES TOMORROW

Peterborough at Leaside.
Bowmanville at Belleville.
Lindsay at Port Hope.
Oshawa at Cobourg.

THREE FAST GAMES HERE ON SATURDAY

All Will Be Played at Riverside Park Tomorrow Afternoon — First Game at 1 O'clock.

Reliable portside hurlers having been a scarcity in Peterborough for a great many years, the local Junior and Juvenile Leagues have accomplished much this season in bringing out Frank Whitehouse and Charlie Bradley, two promising left-handed twirlers. The youngsters are graduates of the Public School Baseball League, and Bradley, whose work with the Maple Leafs has been an outstanding factor in the team's success, is but fifteen years old. These pitchers are with teams playing in the finals for the city baseball championships, the winners of which will continue in the O.B.A.A. races for the Ontario championships and will be seen in action at Riverside Park tomorrow afternoon.

Bradley's receiving partner, Albert Delahaye is also in his fifteenth year. This early summer he was a pitcher with the Central School seniors. One day when the Leafs were unable to muster one of the regulars, Delahaye was asked to go behind the bat, where he was an instant success. His throwing to bases is speedy and accurate, and pilfering is no easy task for the opposition.

Saturday's bill promises much. The Leafs and Lakeviews played to a 2-0 score on a soggy field on Wednesday evening, Bradley putting his opponents away without a hit. Adanacs and Lakeviews ended an exciting game with a 2-1 count. On top of these performances Canadian Generals went to Tweed and made the natives go seventeen frames to get a victory. This is great baseball.

The first game will start at one o'clock, and if the Leafs can repeat the city championship is theirs. On the other hand, a Lakeview victory will tie the series. Young, who does the pitching for Lakeviews, was going great guns in the last game and he will be a tough proposition at the week-end.

Similar scenery decorates the stage for the second game, which finds Lakeviews and Adanacs in the midst of a keen battle for the junior title. Adanacs were lucky to get the decision in the first game. To beat Lou LeBarr's team tomorrow "Jeff" Hardill and Charlie Shaughnessey will have to pitch at top form. Any faltering will bring disaster. This is the sort of a situation baseball fans are partial to.

Tweed must be a good team to beat the Canadian Generals. One thing appears certain, the Trent Valley League champs can hang on. The return game here should be a corker. It will be the third contest on the afternoon's programme.

COLLEGIATE HELD RUGBY PRACTICE.

The P.C.I. had their first formal rugby practice yesterday afternoon at Riverside park. About twenty were out in uniform. Many old players were present and not a few new ones. Walter Smaill and Carl Brown were out putting the boys through their paces. Tackling and line work were practised chiefly.

C. G. E. Lost To Tweed In Seventeen Innings Game

McElroy Held His Opponents Hitless For Thirteen Innings — Ross Tied the Score in the Eighth.

GOOD SUPPORT.

After battling for seventeen innings and holding their opponents hitless for the last thirteen, the C. G. E., city intermediate champions, lost to Tweed by a score of 5 to 4. The game from start to finish was one of the best exhibitions of first-class baseball seen in this section. McElroy pitched the entire seventeen innings for the electricians and, far from weakening, seemed to be going even stronger at the finish than at the start. For the last thirteen innings he did not allow a hit, a feat which in itself would make the game a notable one.

Cohen, who was on the mound for Tweed, also went the whole seventeen innings and turned in a wonderful game. He allowed more hits than McElroy, but kept them scattered, and also had a few more strike-outs to his credit than had the C.G.E. ace.

Both pitchers received first-class support in both the infield and the outer gardens, and but few errors were marked up against either team.

At the end of the third inning the Peterborough boys were holding the large end of a 3 to 1 score, but in the fourth the Tweed players were able to get in their only effective hitting of the game and sent two runs across, to tie the count. Another tally in the fifth gave them a one-run lead, which they held to the eighth. In this frame Bob Ross tied the score again on a hit, a stolen base and a sacrifice fly.

From then on the teams battled on even terms until the seventeenth inning was almost over. The winning run was made in one of the few errors of the game and it was almost an excusable misplay. McCarney took a long hit in the field for the second out and made a throw to third to catch a runner there. It was an exceptionally long throw and Helson had to take the ball on the bounce. It looked as if it was going straight into his hands, but it took a bad bound and flew off into the crowd, allowing the runner to cross the plate with the winning run.

As an exhibition of real ball playing the game left nothing to be desired, and the return game at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon is expected to be a pitcher's battle of a similar order.

THE HOME RUN STRETCH.

The eminent Infant has three hard hitters to overhaul, but he hopes to have his range neatly adjusted when all four swing into sight of the wire.

Ruth has had to travel much further than any one thought late in May to regain the old homestead of swat.

He has had his share of rasping setbacks, while Hornsby, Williams and Walker have rather outslugged themselves, in so far as past performances are concerned.

It will take about forty-four or forty-five home runs to lead the pack. It will also be the first time in baseball history that four men clubbed out more than thirty.

EXECUTIVE MEETING.

The executive meeting of the Girls' Soft Ball League will be held on Tuesday evening in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, and not on Thursday as previously announced.

HAVELOCK WILL MEET HASTINGS

Will Play Off For Group Honors in Junior O.A.L.A.

Peterborough and Havelock junior lacrosse teams played off their tie game in Norwood Thursday afternoon, Havelock winning by 11 goals to 4. When they met at Riverside early in the season the score was 6-6, and a win for Peterborough yesterday would have given Hastings the group honours. Instead, however, they are tied on the round with Havelock, each team having won five games.

Penalties in the first two quarters proved a big factor in Peterborough's defeat, Havelock scoring most of their goals in those periods. The local team appeared to have the advantage in the last half, but the game was lost and Havelock kept the play fairly even during the final stage. W. A. Harcourt refereed.

Diamond Dust

The defeat of the C.G.E. team at Tweed was the first setback the electricians have received this season.

There will be plenty of baseball tomorrow, with three games scheduled. The fireworks will start at 1 o'clock and will continue till all three games have been played.

* * *

It would do the game a great deal of good were St. Louis to win the American League. It is a bad thing when New York hogs all the honors.

"You might mention," writes a St. Louis fan, "that Hornsby and Sisler are something more than great ball players. They are also two great fellows, clean living and untemperamental, a credit to existence in general. It is always a pleasure to say it with flowers.

How quietly they drop out—here's Louis Guisto playing first base for the Cleveland Indians and Stuffy McInnis warming the bench, and there's only a line or two about it in the news of the day. A tip in that to a lot of these ball players who think the parks will close up when the time comes for them to pass out.

Jimmy Austin was said to be a bit dejected when the St. Louis Browns finally landed Eddie Foster and put him on third base in Jimmy's place. The veteran Austin was just about getting set to play the best ball of his career and he could hear the pennant flapping every time he hitched up his trousers. They had a hard time, it is said, explaining to him why anybody should be brought on to take the third base job away from him.

NEW OFFICERS FOR D.F.A. ARE ELECTED

John Eaton is President and Sam. Davidson Secretary-Treasurer.

Dan McNeill and Dave Roy, of Winnipeg are no longer the machinery of the Dominion Football Association. Wednesday at the second day of the annual meeting at Winnipeg the break came. Winnipeg still retains control but John Eaton as president and Sam Davidson as secretary-treasurer, are the new occupants. J. Russell, Vancouver and Tom Mitchell, Montreal, were elected vice-presidents, and Tom Holland, Toronto, was selected as hon. president. The new council includes the following: Quebec, J. McQuade; Ontario, W. E. Dean; New Ontario, H. H. Wilcox; Manitoba, H. Scrymgeour; Saskatchewan, S. Lyn; Alberta, R. Stephens; British Columbia, J. Adams.

The smash which was expected to take place on the financial statement of the Scottish tour was avoided by the diplomacy displayed by Tom Holland, of Toronto, who suggested that, in the interest of the game, it would be best to leave over the entire statement for the incoming executive to deal with. The suggestion was unanimously carried out. Prtviously, A. R. Watt, one of the auditors appointed to examine the report, claimed that he could not satisfy himself as to the correctness of the statement on account of lack of time. He refused to attack his signature to it. The report was not given to the auditors until three days ago, although months have elapsed since the Scottish tour.

BASEBALL'S BIGGEST BONERS

Can you imagine a player sitting on the bench through a seven-run rally and forgetting to take his place at bat?

That is what actually happened in a game between New York and St. Louis in the American League. The game was played at St. Louis.

The player who forgot to take his turn at bat was Claude Derrick, playing shortstop for the Yankees in that game.

Frank Chance was then managing the New York club. Chance came close to being the victim of Derrick's forgetfulness, or lack of interest, as you will have it.

It so happened that Chance became a hero for a day because of Derrick's "bone." However, he had just as good, if not a better chance, of landing in the dub class.

It might also be of interest to know that Derrick never played another game for Chance, or in the American League after that day. It marked his passing from the majors.

Up to the eighth inning of the game St. Louis had New York badly beaten. The Yankees were trailing by about six runs. Chance put himself in to bat for pitcher Fisher an hit safely.

That hit started a rally. After Chance had scored he went to the coaching lines at third. Derrick was hitting eighth in the batting order.

When it came Derrick's turn to bat, someone yelled to Chance at third that he was up again. Instead of hitting ninth in the pitcher's place, he hit eighth in Derrick's place on his second trip.

Chance again singled, scoring two runs. Those two runs proved to be the margin by which the Yankees won the game.

Not until the inning was over did the St. Louis club discover that Chance had batted out of order his second time up. However, it was too late then; the damabe had been done.

FOOTBALL NOTES

The Junior Football League for the Yeotes Cup will open to-morrow afternoon with a game scheduled between the C.P.C. and C.G.E. junior teams. The game will be played at King Edward Park.

Schweier and Calodine, who were injured in a game with the C.P.C. team, are out again with the C.G.E. players.

The following C.G.E. junior players have been asked to turn out at King Edward Park to-morrow afternoon at 1.30 o'clock: Rangers, Moss, Sanders, Calodine, Cole, Clarke, Williams, Rady, Jenkins, Schweier, Downes, Grant and Hutchison.

The following Owls players have been requested to be at King Edward Park at 2.45 to-morrow afternoon for the game with Comrades: Jones, Frost, Ralston, Burrows, Hotston, Wain, Willis, Hutton, Roberts, Hosker, Burgess and Howe.

GOLFERS BEWARE!

A clipping from The London Mail reads as follows: "By 47 to 36 votes the Pontypridd Golf Club, Alamorgan, has decided against Sunday play, one number saying that in towns where Sunday play was allowed mortality was at a lower standard than in other areas."

AUSTRALIA LOOKING FOR SOME FIGHTERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—Australia has sent a "fight scouting" expedition to the United States.

The expedition's program calls for 20 American boxers per season, with provision for one star match.

Jack Munro heads the mission. He is one of the biggest sporting figures in Australia, and Johnny Dundee is the star he particularly wants. It seems the Australians have a scrapper by the name of Syd Godfrey in their midst who could, in their opinion, give Johnny at least a run for his money, and maybe more, too.

For the rest, Munro is after above-the-average talent for the smaller bouts.

What Munro looks forward to ultimately is an arrangement for a regular international exchange of fighters on something of the plan followed by the big eastern American universities and similar institutions abroad.

If, on the Yanks' visit to Australia, the Antipodeans succeed in "showing up" their guests they propose to send a delegation to this side the year after, and to keen this indefinitely, to the mutual advantage of the sport in their own country and this one.

BY STUART P. WEST.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.— (Special.)—Rates on European exchange still displayed the same obstinancy in yielding to the obvious better news regarding German reparations that they had on previous days, but very little happened in the financial markets outside the stock exchange. Both francs and marks went lower. As a matter of fact, immediate fluctuations in the market for continental exchanges have ceased to be an accurate guide to International banking opinion. They are controlled less by the promise of relief through the payment of German indemnity in goods than by the more pressing influence of continued inflation in the paper currencies. The increase of nearly a billion francs during the last two weeks in French note issues is the chief explanation why France exchange has not responded to the Stinnes arrangement for supplying the devastated regions of France with German materials for reconstruction, and for the equally important pledge of the German industrialists to guarantee in co-operation with the German Government the payments which Belgium has foregone for the rest of the year.

In the stock market underlying the appearance of general buoyancy, there were many evidences that the speculative following was drawing down some of its profits accruing from the recent rise. These realizing sales were carefully conducted. At no time were they pressed to the extent where they threatened to disturb the markets equilibrium. The usual procedure was followed, a few leaders being pushed ahead, to offset such reaction as occurred in the old favorites. The result was a very confused price movement, with the buying side still preponderant.

The most noteworthy features were the new high records reached in the railway equipment stocks and the increased interest shown in railway securities, both stocks and bonds. It was the obvious thing to relate the strength in these two groups to the developments in the labor situation which this morning more than at any time so far, indicated the collapse of the shopmen strike.

But inasmuch as the market has never taken this strike seriously and has never believed that it was doing much harm either to railroad operations or to general business, such an explanation was perfunctory.

The real reason for the strength in stocks of the car and locomotive builders was that the latest figures privately obtained had obtained to an astonishing volume of new business coming on the books. As for the rails they were merely having their turn in a market which makes a practice of pushing forward stocks by groups.

NOON SUMMARY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.— Stocks set up their display of strength and unusual activity in early afternoon. High priced rails showed extraordinary buoyancy. Del. and Hudson advancing more than ten points up to 141 1-2 and % and No. four to five points, Studebaker lead the industrials rising to 133 3-4. General Motors gained slightly in expectation of action regarding restoration of dividends payments within the next six months. Dupont's rise to a new high to 154 1-2 was a reflection of strength in GM, Lorillard, May, Wilson, SG and Ice were included in issues which moved ahead in anticipation of improved earnings and speculative interest.—D. Expert Comment on The Security Market, Finance, Business and Politics.

We believe that we are now entering on the final stage of this 'bull' market. We frankly think that men who make money in the stock market have already done most of their buying; but, as the strikes have held back the materialization of full prosperity, so it is quite likely that the up-swing will be prolonged beyond what would have otherwise been the case.—Hayden, Stone & Co.

We expect higher prices for many utility, gold and railroad stocks. —Goodbody & Company.

We believe that the country is already in a period of what is termed secondary inflation and that this means increased prices for stocks which represent earning power—generally common stocks.—Reinhart & Bennet.

Railroad stocks of companies covering the chief industrial centers, look very attractive at current prices.—A. E. Masten & Co.

Inflation is here. Uneconomic? Yes. Dangerous? Yes. Speculative? Yes. Translated into stock market terms it means a market of big swings both ways; large margins and ample courage both in buying and selling.— Livingston & Company.

During September and October we expect to run into some very active markets at higher levels.—J. S. Bache & Company.

On any setback the good stocks will do to buy. Coppers, sugar stocks, car equipments and the specialties or pooled stocks will be the features.—Brumley, Chamberlin & Company.

ENOUGH COAL.

Information from well-informed circles indicates that while the supply will be of a hand-to-mouth character, there will be coal in quantities sufficient for all purposes during the coming winter now that the anthracite strike has been settled.

Private advices reaching the Street from both soft and hard coal interests are positive that a sufficient amount of coal will be mined for industrial needs notwithstanding irresponsible talk of only enough for essentials.

In regard to the transportation of fuel, railroad channels of the first magnitude are positive that based on the record during the shopmen's strike thus far, coal traffic will be delivered at destination in time to prevent any serious compalint.

As to price, the watchfulness of the government may be depended upon to keep down profiteering to minimum, in view of the approaching election.

In conclusion, it may safely be said that the settlement of the coal strike has lifted the greatest load from the stock market.

In their market news letters last night Bryant Brothers refer to Riordan paper as follows:—"In the papers Riordan sold at 8 or nearly double its quotation last week. The action of the shares would seem to indicate that the liquidating order which was depressing the market has been filled, and such being the case the shares should be very attractive speculation.

ROYAL—Wm. Fox production, with Charles Jones in "Rough Shod" Fox comedy with Al St. John, in "The Village Sheik." Mutt and Jeff and Fox News. Special Vitagraph comedy, Larry Semon in "Dull Care."

CAJITOL— Mary McAvoy in "The Top of New York". Jimmy Aubrey's latest comedy "The Chicken Parade."

Capitol Entertainment

The second half of Paramount week entertainment is featured by a very entertaining picture in "The Top of New York," with May McAvoy as the charming heroine. There is a particularly good child actor in this production in the little sick Micky, the idol of his golden-haired sister. A heart interest story, the action centres around the career of the "baby doll" of a huge New York departmental store, played by May McAvoy as Hilda Shaughnessy. With her little crippled brother, she lives away up under the roof of a New York tenement house with a fat, hard-working aunt and a tippling uncle. With the crippled brother on the roof top, she finds romance in the friendly artist who paints beautiful pictures above the roar of the city streets. There is a villain in the piece, the department store owner, who plots the destruction of the young girl, and there is a tense final moment as she plans to throw herself from the roof to escape from him.

Two good comedies accompany the bill for the week end; a Snub Pollard fantasy, and Jimmy Aubrey in "The Chicken Parade," a good example of this comedian's fun-making abilities.

As usual the comedian injects a lot of punch, a bunch of surprise and a thousand laughs into this funmaker. His flivver with human intelligence and the intoxicated hens provide much mirth for the spectator. The automobile has the instinct of a person and can cry as readily as a child. No wonder Jimmy is fond of this little animal which feeds on gasoline and prances about on four wheels.

Just how the director went about getting his hens and geese to perform is veiled mystery; but the result is excruciatingly funny. Perhaps the funniest incident of all is a duel through the bung holes of a couple of barrels. In the course of action the "villain" and the "hero" have kegs dropped over their heads; but this does not detain them from going after one another. They climb the roof, balance on the ridge pole and continue their fight in mid air.

While this amusing action is at its height eight men get entrapped under a vat and each starts to walk in a separate direction. The results are unexpected and produce a loud outburst of laughter.

An explosion of TNT sends Jimmy Aubrey skyward; but the comedian is not hurt. He sails to the rafters as gracefully as any bird. Nothing seems to mar the serenity of this individual. He falls from buildings, allows the sheriff to use his chest as a step, gets in the midst of exploding dynamite, and is entrapped on the top of a burning oil derrick; but each time he emerges uninjured and is ready to start the show all over again.

The climax of this comedy is exceptionally good. The animated flivver chases the villain up the side of an oil derrick. The comedian and his sweetheart are in the car. When the automobile reaches the top of the derrick it collapses and every one is hidden in smoke, debris and explosion. As the smoke clears Jimmy and his sweetheart are seen; but, Oh, what a change! Helen Kesler, the leading woman is attired in Aubrey's clothing and Jimmy is tightly fitted in her dainty muslin dress.

The work of the entire cast is exceptionally good and the stunts used in the comedy are cleverly thought out and developed in masterly fashion. It is a film that will appeal to the average picture goer.

AT THE GRAND.

HELLO BROADWAY.

Jimmy Evans and his revue company came right back with another hit last night at the Grand when they presented a fast moving melange, entitled "Hello Broadway," and rightly described on the programme as "a little bit of everything entertaining." It was an entire change so far as specialties and costumes were concerned, over the offering of the early part of the week, and last night's audience voted it a winner from curtain to curtain. Jimmie Evans as Jerry, and Joe Devine as Ike, have a number of funny comedy bits that convulse the house, and they are given able assistance by Bert Ryan, whose smoothness helps to put the comedy over effectively. The musical numbers are a feature. Notable was the rendition last night by Florence Pippir, a violinist of ability, of Didla's exquisite "Serenade," a number that "stopped the show" and won two encores. Kitty Fraser score in her "Oh Baby Glide" number, Grace Gould was successful in her rendition of "You Can Have Every Light on Broadway." Bert Ryan won a triumph in "Nobody Lied When They Said That I Cried Over You" and "A Hundred Years From Now." Jimmy Evans put over the classic old ballad "When You and I Were Young, Maggie" most effectively, and the rest of the specialties were of an equally high order. The solo dance of Roy Ellis and his Bolshevik Trot number with Ray Jollymore, call for special mention. Jimmie Evans and his company should be greeted with capacity houses for the balance of the week. They will open on Monday with another success, "Midnight in Chinatown."

AT THE ROYAL.

The Royal Theatre has a specially good bill for the week-end. Al St. John, in the "Village Sheik," and Larry Semon, in "Dull Care," provide hilarious comedy elements, and Charles Jones has one of his typical Western pictures in "Rough Shod." A story of ranch life, with a hard-riding hero and a pretty heroine, the action is swift and vivid. Charles Jones has a part that suits him absolutely, in the free and easy, good-natured cowboy who rides and fights and loves with equal vigor. There is an element of surprise in the story, working out to a very satisfactory conclusion. The real heroine is shoved into the background by the girl from the city, who double-crosses the plans of the cowboys to circumvent the evil designs of Satan Latimer, the dark, handsome villain of the tale. There is a spectacular and thrilling fight at the cliff head as a fitting conclusion to a picture of rapid-fire action and interest.

IN MEMORIAM.
In loving memory of our dear father, Henry J. Manley, who passed away Sept. 8th, 1921:

In loving memory of days gone by
And a sigh for a face unseen,
A constant feeling that God alone
Knows best what might have been,
What would we give to clasp his hand
His cheery face to see
To hear his voice, to see him smile
That meant so much to us.

ATAL ERROR OR ROOF FONTO

An American newspaperman was coming home from Europe one summer on a British liner manned and officered exclusively by Britishers. The Yankee sat at the purser's table. All his tablemates were Englishmen. One evening at dinner, as Irvin Cobb tells it, the purser was inclined to do a little "spoofing" at the expense of the American.

He began by telling of a trip he claimed to have made on a steamship which passed through an enormous school of whales off the Newfoundland Banks.

"All of them were sound asleep," said the purser with a wink to a gleeful fellow-countryman, "and all of them were snoring. The noise was deafening."

"It must have been," said the correspondent: "but when I was a boy out in Cincinnati, O., there used to be a whistling whale that lived in the ocean just in front of my father's house. His name was Ponto— and he would answer to it —answer by whistling. You see, his blow-hole was clogged with barnacles and every time he spouted he made a sound like a siren on a fire boat.

"Ponto was a great pet with all the ships that traded in and out of Cincinnati. The pilots got to know him, and when they were entering port and saw Ponto cruising about in the channel they would signal him and he would signal back, always giving the correct number of blasts. But he's dead now—poor old Ponto

"One day there was a freighter coming in from Covington, Ky., and Ponto tried to pass her, headed out. But he got confused and gave the whistle for going to the port side when he meant the starboard, and the freighter ran him down and stove in four of his compartments, and he sank in nine minutes, whistling for help to the very last."

VOL. LI., No. 58 — PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1922 — PRICE THREE CENTS

LAWRENCE WAS EJECTED FROM DAIL MEETING

Southern Irish Parliament Had a Fracas to Start the Session Off — The Elections.

COSGRAVE PRESIDENT

DUBLIN, Sept. 9. — (Canadian Press.)—The Southern Irish Parliament met this morning in Leinster House and general calm prevailed. The only anti-treaty member present when the session began was Lawrence Ginnell. He refused to sign the roll of what he called a "foreign" parliament, and having shouted several times his objections to proceedings, was, on motion of William Cosgrave, excluded from the House. After adoption of the motion three men forcibly removed Ginnell.

Professor Hayes was elected speaker without opposition. On motion for election of president of Dail Eireann, who would be head of ministry, Richard Mulcahy moved the election of William Cosgrave, and Professor John McNeil seconded the motion.

William T. Cosgrave, minister of local government, was elected president of the Dail Eireann by the new parliament at its inaugural session to-day. The only votes cast against him weer by the labor members.

After election, President Cosgrave nominated Desmond Fitzgerald as Minister of Foreign Affairs and Fitzgerald was elected. Remaining ministers were appointed as follows: Minister of Home Affairs, Kevin O'Higgins: Minister of Local Government, Ernest Belythe; Minister of Agriculture, Patrick Hogan, and Minister of Industry, Commerce and Labor, Joseph McGrath.

Other ministers were appointed as follows: Minister of Education, Professor John McNeill Minister of Defence, General Richard Mulcahy. President Cosgrave nominated himself for present as Minister of Finance. He said that these of the new ministry who were serving in the army would shortly be released.

Exhibition Notes

Many entries from the Canadian National Exhibition came in to-day.

Every inch of space on the grounds and inside the buildings will be taken up. It looks as though larger grounds will soon be needed.

Secretary Hall reports a very heavy entry of horses and cattle. Shows that a worth-while prize-list gives results.

Wells Bros., Toronto, have been engaged to supply the necessary machines for the moving pictures and community singing.

Any boy or girl under 14 guessing nearest to the number of miles the ox team on the streets to-day came, will be admitted free on Wednesday, Sept. 13th.

Mr. Bert Caldwell, Toronto's fine baritone, has been specially engaged to take charge of the community singing. Make up your mind to get into it.

The tug-of-war has been postponed until Saturday at 3 p.m., in front of the grand stand. Many teams are entered.

Panic Prevails As Turks Near Smyrna

ATHENS, September 9. Canadian Press. — Smyrna is being evacuated amidst scenes of great disorder, according to the refugees, 2200 of whom have arrived here. Panic reigns as the Turks approach the town, it said, and the Greek soldiers are contending with civilians for places on the outgoing ships. Rioting is reported among the soldiers in the Brusa sector,in the north, where the Greeks are embarking at Mubania. Smyrna is being bombarded by the Turkish Nationalists.

M. Kalogeropoulos, the premier-designate, is expected to announce the names of the new Cabinet ministers to-night.

General Hadjanestis, former commander in chief of the Greek forces in Asia Minor, has arrived here. He declared that the defeat of the Greek army is inevitable and fatal. He would speak when the moment arrived and show that he was not responsible for the defeat.

THIS SEASON'S DANCE

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—"Fast and respectable" is the slogan of this winter's dance, according to Mrs. Edwina Martine Weckler, who returned yesterday from the fourty-fourth annual convention of the American Society of Teachers of Dancing, held last week in New York.

"Last year dancers considered themselves disgraced if they found themselves more than six inches away from their starting point by the time the last encore had been played," Mrs. Weckler said. "But this year, dictators of the dance insist that couples circle the dance floor at least twice a minute.

Fox Trot Back; It's Fast.

"The fox trot is back, only done much faster. The one step returns at a pace that will take your breath away at first."

As an offset to the speed program, however, Mrs. Weckler says the waltz is here to stay and will have a batting average of one in five at this winter's balls. Already the Edgewater Beach hotel, where she conducts dancing classes, has adopted this rule.

Some Dancing Innovations.

The Roulette—A circling glide step, in which the feet, alternately, describe half circles and the body sways from the pirouting foot.

The Wave or Roll Waltz—Two canters, a corte and a roll waltz turn, keep this dance well within the waltz family, but give it enough variation to make it interesting to the younger generation.

The Valentino Tango—A "quiet modification of the old tango, minus most of the freak steps, and done "in the line of direction."

The correct dancing position, this year, demands that both the man and the woman face half left. Last year, the lady turned her face to the right. The new position, dancing masters maintain, makes cheek to cheek dancing more difficult.

Norwood to Have CONFERENCES START.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(Special).—Informal conferences started for the settlement of the United States rail strike.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE.

If you have been invited to several weddings the past few months, and have more to look forward to, perhaps you have been inclined to wonder who started this practice of giving wedding gifts.

Well, it dates back to the sturdy Dutchmen. In ancient times the relatives undertook the responsibility of furnishing the new homes for the brides and grooms. They still give probably the most elaborate gifts of any people.

THE SINGER AND HIS ART

To the lovers of vocal art in Peterborough who are unacquainted with the quality of teaching available in this city, it will doubtless prove interesting to learn something of the training which gives Mr. William McKee Bingham a major position in the ranks of the city's teachers. At a recital given by Mr. Bingham in April of this year, Judge E. C. S. Huycke expressed is appreciation of "the splendid training of that great teacher, Mr. Bingham, to whom the thanks of the citizens of Peterborough are due for his splendid work among us."

Mr. Bingham studied vocal art in New York under Isadore Luckstone. J. Armour Galloway, E. M. Zimmerman and Chas. Schmitz. He studied opera under Enrico Duzensi, and was leading tenor with Augustin Daly, Daly's Theatre, New York, where he received his stage training. In Daly's company were John Drew, Tyrone Power, Ada Rehan, Otis Skinner and many others.

Mr. Bingham, whose voice received exceptionally favorable comment from outstanding musical critics in New York and Philadelphia, sang under prominent conductors, including the late Fritz Scheel, first conductor of the Phialdelphia Symphony Orchestra, Dr. Horatio Parker, Frank Damrosch, and Maurits Leefson. He was soloist of several large churches in Philadelphia and Chicago.

Mr. Bingham was selected as one of three judges in the only contest ever held in the United States between soloists, when Edward Barrow, winner of the gold medal at the Royal Conservatory of Music, London, England, competed with Paul Volkmann of Philadelphia.

When the new horticultural hall in Philadelphia was opened, Mr. Bingham was selected as soloist with a symphony orchestra of sixty-five musicians for a series of concerts. He also sang with the Orpheus Club of seventy voices, the Fortnightly Club of the same number, and the hundred voices of the Younger Mannechor.

Mr. Bingham has taught singing for twenty years, and is a specialist in tone production. Hector Charlesworth, in the "Toronto Saturday Night," says: "He uses the Jean de Reske method, and the newspapers of several American cities have spoken in high terms of the freedom and naturalness of his singing."

Musical critics in this city, where he has taught for the last three years, are emphatic in their opinion of the clear rounded vocalization, the facile attack and unstrained tone production which characterize the recitals of his pupils.

LOCAL MARKET BROUGHT MANY BUYERS TODAY

Wagons Piled High With Fruit and Vegetables--Potatoes Strike a New Low Level.

TODAY'S PRICES

The farmers' market was swarming with buyers this morning. All the colors of the rainbow were contained in the vehicles that were piled high with produce in fruits and vegetables, upstairs and down, people bartered over full baskets and heavy shopping-bags.

Potatoes were fairly plentiful at from 90 cents to $1 per bag. Tomatoes were everywhere, selling at 25 cents a basket, the green variety the same price, and the little yellow tomatoes at 3 boxes for a quarter. Apples were on view on all sides, the Wealthys at 20 cents a peck, Tol man Sweets at 25 cents and St. Lawrence at 30 cents, Alexandra apples were 25 cents also. Green grapes were 90 cents for a large basket, smaller baskets, holding the blue variety at 50 cents. Crabapples; 20 cents a peck; late red raspberries 20 cents a box; elderberries 10 cents a quart; wild grapes 50 cents a basket; green and blue plums, 3 quarts for 25 cents, and one dealer sold peaches at 70 cents a basket green gages 50 cents and red plums, 40 cents, Green pears were 40 and 50 cents a peck.

Corn was in evidence in a number of carts, in large and small cobs, ranging from 10 cents to 25 cents a dozen; cucumbers, 50 cents per peck white onions (large) 50 cents a peck small, 6 quarts for $100; small beets; 50 cents a basket; string beans, 3 quarts for a quarter; radishes and carrots 5 cents a bunch; cauliflower and cabbage at 10 cents and fifteen. Pumpkins were from fifteen to twenty-five; and one man had Brussels Sprouts at 15 cents a box and Chinese cabbage at 10 cents a head. Water-cress dried sage and savory were 5 cents per bunch; vegetable marrow 10 cents, green and red peppers, 3 for a nickle, and celery 3 bunches for a quarter. Melons were 20 cents apiece Clover honey was selling from fifteen to eighteen cents per pound, with the crystallized product at 25 cents for a 5 pound pail and buckwheat honey in the comb at fifteen and twenty-five cents. A lonesome little pup found a kind owner on the exchange of a dollar bill.

Upstairs, in the basket section, eggs and butter were plentiful and fowl very much so. Hens were 25 cents per pound, chickens and ducks going at 30 cents. Eggs were selling at 28 and 30 cents a dozen, and butter from 37 to 40 cents per pound.

ST. JOHN'S SUNDAY SCHOOL REOPENS

St. John's Church Sunday School reopened on Sunday last, when short inspirational talks were given by Dr. Meyers and Mr. R. J. Devey. Teachers, officers and scholars are requested to make an effort to be present next Sunday and get the year's work well started. Any members of the staff of the main school who find it impossible to continue are requested to notify Mr. J. Edgar, the superintendent, to that effect.

Rev. Dr. Blagrave will be charge again on Sunday next.

Hay Fever Victims Suffer From The Burning Leaves on Streets

"What is one man's meat is another man's poison," is one of those old sayings that still persist. The logical method of disposing of back-yard rubbish of any sort, to most people, is to set a match to the pile and send it up in smoke. Many citizens like the smell of burning leaves, for instance, and there is something attractive and woodsy about the sight of a gaily-burning pile of leaves on a misty fall evening. But along comes a gentleman who says that the practise is illegal, and furthermore, a nuisance, and must be stopped. People who burn leaves on their premises are transgressors against the law, and also, a menace to sufferers from hay fever, whose miserable plight is rendered more uncomfortable by the odor and fumes of burning leaves. So the piles, after this, will have to be shovelled out on the causeway, for the winds to play havoc with, and the brawny drivers of municipal garbage carts to laboriously gather up.

CITY SUFFERS FROM CHRONIC ATTACK OF SLEEPING SICKNESS?

Population Lower and Taxes Higher—What Sir Adam Beck Has Done to Advance the Interests of Peterboro—Remedy in the Hands of the City Couucil

There are a few ugly disagreeable facts that must be fully appreciated before we can properly and intelligently solve the problems that confront this city.

Since 1915 our population has sunk from 22,500 to 21,439 in 1922, which represents a loss in our population of 1,161 in six years.

Since 1915, our rate of taxation has risen from 24½ mills to 36 mills in 1922, which means that our rate of taxes has increased about 50 per cent. in six years.

Since 1915, our annual taxes have increased from $339,048.45 to $701,344.04, which means that our annual taxes in this city have more than doubled in six short years.

Since 1915, our assessment has increased from $12,853,685 to $20,810,485.00 in 1922, which means in fact that an increased value for assessment purposes of Peterborough property has taken place, without the corresponding erection of new buildings or the making of new improvements to justify such increased assessment. If such artificially increased assessment had not been made, our true annual tax rate would be 50 mills in 1922 instead of 36 mills.

Since 1915, our annual taxes per head of our population have increased from $15.07 to $32.71 in 1922 which means that in truth and in fact our taxes in this city have more than doubled in six years, with very few substantial and solid improvements to show for it, except the Hunter Street Bridge, which is receiving more blame than it is justly entitled to, because the annual interest charges on the cost of the construction of that bridge represents just about 1-10th of the increase in the total annual tax bill that has been imposed upon this city.

We cannot shut our eyes to the fact that these figures are taken from Page 11 of the City Auditor's report of the City of Peterborough for the year 1921.

Is it not time that the taxpayers and property owners of this city should seriously consider whither are we drifting?

Is it possible that this fair city with its splendid natural advantages has become stagnant, mute, and motionless with its annual taxes merrily rolling up?

Is it possible that this city, so centrally located in Canada for trade and commence and for distribution of manufactured products, has a chronic attack of sleeping sickness?

What the causes of our misfortunes and how are they to be retrieved?

To commence with, this city has been deceived and misled from its own best interests by Sir Adam Beck and the Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

This city used to be advertised as having abundance of water power, but when this city, in 1913, applied to Sir Adam Beck for 1,000 H.P. or more, it was a confession to the outside world that our boasts of abundance of water power were empty sounding, and that a real shortage of water power in this district forced us to appeal to Sir Adam Beck for 1000 H.P. or more. That certainly was a very bad advertisement for this city to issue to the manufacturing and industrial world.

For again since Sir Adam Beck has been supplying this city with power it has on occasions been advertised throughout the North American Continent as being short of electric power, and the worst feature is that many of our own manufacturers have had a bitter and costly experience of such shortage.

The most disgusting feature of the whole matter is that the remedy has always been in the hands of this city, and through pure unadulterated short-sighted neglect, those opportunities have not been taken advantage of. We have a power development at Dams Numbers 4 and 5 and at Burleigh Falls that could be developed to produce all the power that is at present consumed in this city, and on present prices for light and power this city could make a clean annual profit of $50,000, which is sufficient to pay interest at 5 per cent. on $1,000,000.00, and which is sufficient to pay the interest charges on the entire debenture debt of this city incurred for general city purposes of $1,030,300.00.

Is it not about time that the City Council would call a public meeting of the ratepayers of this city and invite Sir Adam Beck to it, for the purpose of explaining the unscrupuleus use that he is making of our power agreement that was entered into in 1913 to the great injury of this city. I shall be pleased to attend such a meeting and to bring out some very plain facts that are in the interests of the ratepayers to know.

THE GREAT CANADIAN HOME

WOOD ORDERED BY COUNCIL IS NOW ARRIVING

First Car Load Reached City Yesterday From Stoney Lake — Mayor Doubts Early Relief.

PROBLEM HAS RISKS

Two car loads of wood arrived in the city on Friday from Stoney Lake, the first shipment of the fuel recently ordered by Dr. Holloway's committee for the municipal fuel yard. It is expected that the wood will be sold directly from the cars, and the bulk of the coal that is due next week will be disposed of in the same way.

The special fuel committee of the Council reported that "we have ordered 57 1-2 cords of four foot hardwood at $6.50 a cord, and 149 cords of four foot mixed and soft wood at $4 a cord on the shores of Stoney Lake. We had Mr. Wm. Quinn inspect and report on this wood before it was purchased."

The first deliveries will be the inferior grade with the hardwood following. One of the retail fuel dealers told the Examiner that these receipts would not affect the city's supply of fuel for the reason that had not the city purchased it some of the dealers would have taken it.

The inference from this comment is that the city's action in this respect will not be materially helpful in relieving any fuel scarcity that may develop with the coming of cooler weather and the first real need of heat in the homes.

In regard to coal the committee reports as follows: "We have ordered 1,000 tons of three-quarter lump bituminous coal, screened, at $6 a ton at the mine, which will cost $10.67 a ton on the cars at Peterborough. Of this quantity the Board of Education will take 750 tons for the schools, and a further quantity will be required for the city's own use."

When this coal reaches Peterborough notices will be published advising citizens who wish to buy some of it to list their names at the city clerk's office, together with a deposit of $5 for every ton ordered.

Although the settlement of the coal strike and the early production of anthracite seem assured, Mayor Taylor is doubtful about the passing of the fuel emergency before cold weather comes. The news of the last week has heartened householders, who are still anxious about their winter's coal supply, especially hard coal, but opinions of men who have made a close study of the coal industry tend to moderate the hopes that have been engendered by the indications of an immediate declaration of peace and resumption of mining operations.

Dr. Holloway's committee have to consider the needs of the people and the interests of the retail fuel dealers with the prospects of their receipt of anthracite before the cold weather comes. Their action so far has shown a desire to be helpful without assuming too large a liability or intruding too far into the retailers' field. Mayor Taylor remarked to the Examiner that he would like to obtain additional shipments of wood along some of the railways and at a distance that would not entail too heavy a freight bill. The next move of the committee will be considered at once. His Worship said yesterday that he was waiting for Dr. Holloway's return to the city to arrange for further details of the fuel programme.

GOOD POTATO CROP

T. E. Graystock has had luck this year in his porato crop. The "country gentleman" was the special tuber chosen by him, and it has developed a potato that, when kept in a cool, dark place, never sprouted until used. The advantage of a potato of this sort over the ordinary variety that takes every possible opportunity to sprout all over the place, is obvious. The potato itself, from examples submitted to The Examiner, is a fine, firm, dry specimen of earth-apple.

HAD A GOOD NIGHT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press.) — Attorney-General Daugherty who remained throughout the night at the White House because of the critical condition of Mrs. Harding, wife of the President, said on leaving this morning that she had passed a fairly good night and he expected her "pluck and will power" would carry her safely through. Bulletin early to-day stated that complications were less threatening.

PETERBORO DISTRICT METHODISTS GATHER IN CONVENTION HERE

THOSE PRESENT

The Peterborough District convention of the Methodist church was held yesterday in Reid street hall, with morning and afternoon sessions presided over by Rev. S. T. Tucker, of Millbrook, and Rev. J. F. Chapman, of Peterborough, acting as clerk. The morning was devoted to a consideration of district finances, while missionary endeavor occupied the attention of the members in the afternoon, with addresses on missionary work by Rev. G. R. Clare, of Little Britain, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, and by Mr. J. M. Greene, of Peterborough, representing the laymen of the district. Rev. Dr. Barbour of Victoria College, Toronto, gave an inspiring address in the morning on the need of support for Methodist educational institutions.

Spirit of Co-operation.

A pleasing feature of the discussion on finances was the generous support afforded by the members present in a common effort to reach their objective. It was decided to increase givings for this year by 25 per cent.

Rev. R. M. Patterson, of Fraserville, district educational secretary, reported on educational work, and Rev. Harold W. Young read a report on Evangelism and Social Service. During the fall, Mr. Campbell, of Toronto, will assist the different circuits of the district and hold inspirational meetings.

J. M. Greene.

Mr. J. M. Greene, for the laymen, presented an interesting report on the foreign and home mission work of the Methodist church in Canada. He referred in his introductory remarks to the difficulties encountered by missionaries when the work was commenced in China, thirty years ago, and to the advancement of the church, which now numbers among its members approximately 10,000 Sunday schools and 6,000 day scholars.

In Japan, where missions were launched 50 years ago, there are now nearly 100 churches, with approximately 22,000 members. Last year saw 2,000 adult baptisms. But Mr. Greene remarked that only 15 per cent. of the original programme of missionary work in Japan had been carried out.

In the home mission fields, the work in the western provinces was particularly encouraging, especially among the Indians. Mr. Greene said that the spirit of the Methodist farmers in the west with regard to the mission work was exemplified in the fact that, when applying to banks and other sources for assistance in bad years, they always included in their budget a certain amount for contribution to missionary work by the Methodist church.

Givings last year for missionary purposes amounted to $1,083,318, a decrease of $9,592 from the previous year. Expenditures amounted to $1,164,049, creating a deficit of $80,731, and made possible by using a legacy account held in reserve. The Methodist church this year required two million dollars to go on with the missionary programme laid out five years ago. Quoting figures of outlay in Canada last year for such things as chewing gum, soft drinks, cigarettes and amusements, Mr. Greene was of the opinion that missionary givings might easily be increased. The Methodist objective was for ten cents per week from each of its members for this purpose, whereas last year's contribution amounted to only a little over five cents from each member.

Rev. G. R. Clare's Address.

Rev. G. R. Clare, of Little Britain, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, gave an inspiring and eloquent talk on missions, which was listened to with profound attention and concluded to enthusiastic applause. He announced that later figures than those obtained by Mr. Greene showed an increase in receipts which wiped out the deficit referred to, and left a surplus of $844.75.

In his last week's experience at district meetings, Mr. Clare reported a willingness amongst the brethren to co-operate in every way, and remarked that the educational section must co-operate, as the need in the fields was for trained men. "We want a tremendous enthusiasm for the Kingdom of Jesus Christ."

The triumphs and the difficulties of the work weer alluded to, "the difficulties which are a stimulus to us," and the need of a fresh vision. Some of the experiences of Dr. Endicott, general secretary, were related, while on his tour through the Japanese field, and a eulogy read of the work of the church in India.

"The difficulty in giving in most churches is in the preacher who is on the job," said the speaker, who declared that what was required was not brilliancy, but an exemplification

A TEAM OF OXEN FOR EXHIBITION

Animals Sauntered Down George Street Last Evening-Came from Dummer

A team of oxen, a sight which probably has not been seen on the streets of Peterborough for many a day, was the object which attracted the curiosity of many residents of Water Street last evening. The animals, driven by Frank Harding, a farmer from Dummer Township, came down the street in a very leisurely manner, and with a slow, lurching motion, more slow because of the long day's journey from their home farm. They stopped at every man-hole in the street and carefully walked around them, Mr. Harding remarking, "They think they are holes in the ice." They also balked frequently at the street corners and had to be urged forward by the use of a long black snake whip.

The "harness" attracted no little attention, for it consisted simply of a large wooden yoke over their massive necks, with light wooden "bows" passing under and holding the yoke in place. The tongue of a heavy two-wheeled cart was fastened directly to the yoke, and its load consisted simply of a few bags of wheat. Although a single rope extended from the yoke to the cart, it was not used for driving the animals, who are guided entirely by word of mouth, aided by the black snake whip.

Mr. Harding is staying at the Windsor Hotel, and intends to exhibit his oxen at the Peterborough Exhibition. He said last night he would like to meet some of Peterborough's fast horses in a trial for speed at the Fair.

A matter of twenty-five or thirty years ago oxen could be seen on many a farm in the vicinity of Peterborough, and their appearance on the streets of the city attracted but little attention, but they were rapidly supplanted by the horse, who is in turn giving way to the motor truck, and now it is seldom and only in the outlying districts, that a team of these primitive beasts of burden may be seen.

Railway Shopmen Are Standing To

MONTREAL, Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press.) — Prepare for a strike on short notice. This terse warning was despatched this morning in a circular letter to every local of the Canadian railway shopmen from Halifax to Vancouver. Between forty and forty-five thousand men are involved, and the situation is most serious, union executives admitted. In a letter addressed to Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor and signed by James Dickie, secretary of Division No. 4 Railway Employes, the Dominion government was told: "We have no hesitation in saying that instructions will be issued within the next few days for a cessation of work by all railway shopmen in the Dominion."

INVESTIGATOR ADVISES KEEPING OUT OF RUSSIA

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. — Frank Connes, interpreter in the New York County Supreme Court, returned on the French line Savoie from Russia, where he went to investigate. In his opinion, the Government should not have any business intercourse with the Soviet Government or assist it in any way financially.

"I am going back to Russia next year," Mr. Cornes said, "because I am certain that the Soviet regime will be no longer in existence. Till that time America should have nothing to do with Russia officially except for the work of the American relief organization.

"During my visit to Petrograd, Moscow and Kiev I had opportunity to note the changes that time has wrought. The relief work had checked the deaths, but the country is as badly off as ever. Politically I found that 2 per cent. of the population is socialistic or communistic, and of these one-half are radicals and the other half conservative. There are 3 per cent. who are counter-revolutionists; ready to join any movement that would change the government, but lack the means and organization to inaugurate such a move. The other 95 per cent. are just people who do not know which way to turn, but are simply awaiting something.

"Within the Communist Party there is trouble. With Lenin ill, the heads of the Government have split into factions. Tretzky heads the radical party, which includes Radek, Dzierzynski and Litvinoff, while Tchicherin, with Krassin and Lomonosoff, are conservatives.

"Agriculturally, Russia is in fine condition, but the crops are going to waste for the lack of implements with which to harvest them."

Today's Blunder Corrected

White lies told to keep children out of mischief by scaring them are a prolific source of trouble. If a boy actually believes his mother when she tells him, "A big dog will get you if you do that," he is afraid. A few such experiences and he becomes a chronic "fraid-cat." But, if he does not believe her, he is forced to the conclusion that she does not always speak the truth, which is equally to be regretted. It is a sorry moment when a son first learns to doubt his mother's word.

THE BRITISH ASSN. TO HOLD ITS 1924 MEET IN TORONTO

Great Institution For the Advancement of Science Was Established 91 Years Ago.

ITS OBJECTS.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press)—The British Association in annual session yesterday in Hull accepted the invitation to hold its meeting in Toronto in 1924. Next year's meeting will be held in Liverpool.

The British Association for the advancement of science met for the first time in York in 1831. It had for one of its leading principles the idea of stimulating public interest in science and for that purpose its constitution enjoined an annual meeting in some leading town of the United Kingdom. Consequently in the 91 years of its existence its meetings have been held in nearly every city and town of importance with the exception of London in the British Isles, on five occasions the annual meeting has been extended to the Dominions having been held three times in Canada, once in South Africa and once in Australio. The main branches of science dealt with by the Association are mathematics and physics (with which are associated astronomy and meteorology), chemistry, geology, geography, zoology physiology, botany, economics and statistics, education, engineering, anthropology, psychology and agriculture.

NATIONAL EXHIBITION MAKES A NEW HIGH.

TORONTO, September 9. Canadian Press. — The attendance at the Canadian National Exhibition yesterday was 81,000, an increase over the corresponding day last year of 14,500. An attendance of only 12,500 is required to-day to reach the objective of a million and a quarter.

Reichsbank Has Not Sufficient Currency To Pay Cheques Issued

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press.)— Crowds again yesterday besieged the Reichsbank to obtain cash. Many persons waited for hours in line and then were disappointed as they only received a fraction of what they were entitled to on the Reichsbank checks.

Notices posted in the principal banks attribute the scarcity in currency to the printers' strike, but the belief prevails that it is due to largely to the hoarding of notes.

FOUND CLOTHING OF MISSING MAN

Helps to Solve Mystery of Disappearance Three Years Ago.

LINDSAY, September 9. — The finding of clothing, gun and several small articles carried on the day of the disappearance of Christopher Hulbig, aged about 30, two hundred yards east of Bob Lake Narrow, Haliburton, helps to solve a mystery of the Northland.

The young man has been missing three years and the discovery of the articles on the rocks was made by Mr. Eugene Hollefreund on Monday.

Coroner Fram of Minden, investigated, and it was found that the clothes, etc., belonged to the missing man, but there was no trace of his body.

A jury has been empannelled, but an adjournment was made pending the decision of the Crown Attorney.

DAIL MEMBERS ARE GATHERING IN DUBLIN

DUBLIN, September 9. Canadian Canadian Press. — Members of the Dail began reaching the city last night in preparation for the meeting of the assembly to-day. If any of the followers of De Valera make their appearance it will be for the purpose of questioning the government regarding the exact status of the new parliament and to determine whether the Dail Erianne still exists.

Among DeValerites seen in Dublin were Count Plunkett, Mary MacSweeney and Laurence Ginnell, who were returned at the last election, and are entitled to sit in Parliament.

Such of their colleagues who are in armed rebellion will be arrested once they make their appearance.

ONTARIO PEACHES ON OLD COUNTRY MARKETS

TORONTO, September 9. Canadian Press. — For the first time in history Ontario peaches will be offered in large bulk on the English market this season. Shipment of one thousand cases of the finest Niagara fruit is to leave for Montreal next week and will be in England 10 days later.

PROBABILITIES.

GREEK DEFEAT AT HANDS OF TURKISH FORCES COMPLETE

Turks Within 35 Miles of Smyrna and Advancing Rapidly — Much Booty Captured.

LATE REPORTS.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press)— Official dispatches from Constantinople indicate the Turkish Nationalist forces have advanced to within 35 miles of Smyrna and are advancing rapidly.

ANGORA, Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press)—The statistics of the booty which has fallen into the hands of the Turks up to September 4 is given as 910 guns, 1200 auto trucks, 200 automobiles, 5,000 machine guns 400 carloads of munitions and 40,000 rifles. In addition more than 20,000 Greeks have been made prisoners.

ADANA, Sept. 9.— (Canadian Press) — Advices received from Turkish Nationalist sources complete defeat of the Greek army. The army, what the beginning of operaions, was estimated to aggregate 20,000 men, has lost more than half its effectives. The troops which are flying to disorder before the Kemalis cavalry amount hardly to 50,000.

Thousands of prisoners are being taken daily. The Kemalists continue to advance rapidly. They have reached Manissa and have occupied the whole of the railroad from Panderma to Malissa.

PARIS, Sept. 9. — (Canadian Press)—The Angora Government will grant an armistice to Greeks only if a request is made direct by the Greek generalissimo, according to Nationalist circles in Constantinople says a despatch to the Havas Agency from Constantinople.

The despatch adds that an armistoice would be subject to two conditions,—first the evacuation of Thrace, and second the immediate departure of the Greek and naval units in Constantinople. Permission to embark troops and material from Asia Minor would be subordinated to the above two conditions.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press)—The British Government has again proposed that the question of the protection of the minorities in Asia Minor shall be carried to the League of Natons. The view of the Government is that the military situation between Greece and Turkey cannot affect its views of the general question of peace between the allies and Turkey, but that anything affecting in the slightest degree the freedom of the Dardanelles will not be tolerated since there is no question of relinquishing what was won in the world war.

ROME, Sept. 9. — (Canadian Press)—The Italian Foreign Office continues to persuade France and Great Britain to invite Greece and Turkey to a joint conference to be held in Venice according to an announcement made yesterday. The purpose of the conference would be to discus preliminaries for peace in the present Greco-Turk conflict. An armistice or a truce is suggested by the Italian Governmen during the period of the preliminary negotiations.

AT YOUNG'S POINT AND THE DISTRICT.

Visitors to the Village — Wedding Bells.

YOUNG'S POINT, September 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Mackey, who have been summering at Burleigh Falls, passed through the village on Wednesday en route to Lakefield.

Mr. W. Bullock is at present visiting in Buffalo and other cities of the United States.

Mr. J. Johnson was in Peterboro, on Wednesday, on business.

Mrs. Norman Hurl and daughter, Dorothy, are at present in Toronto, where she joined her husband a short time ago.

August 28. A. Newcourt, Hilton, New York.

August 30. Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Minnich, Loraine, Ohio; Dr and Mrs Joseph Ginnane, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Rath, Loraine, Ohio; C. G. Huffman, Brickville; L. O. Sterling, Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. G. Monkman, Peterboro, Jos. A. Bryce, Peterboro, Mr. C. V. Osborne, Toronto.

September 7. Mrs. Brwning, Toronto, John S.Sullivan and wife, Detroit; Misses Bernadette and Bernadine Sullivan, Detroit, Mr. Clement Sullivan, Detroit; Mrs. L. G. Fobert.

Graham--Cummings.

On Wednesday, September 6th, in the Methodist church, Lakefield, the marriage took place of Jessie, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cummings, of Young's Point, to Albert Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Graham of Lakefield.

ELEVATORS BURNED.

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press.) —Two grain elevators, three grain cars, 2,000 bushels of grain were destroyed by fire at Lead-Theer, Sask., at an early hour yesterday. The loss is estimated at $22,000 with some insurance on the elevators.

Members Gather in Dublin For New Irish Parliament

Several Prominent Followers of De Valera Among Those Who Will Take Part in Opening Session.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN.

DUBLIN, September 9. — Canadian Press. — Many members of the new Parliament reached Dublin yesterday in readiness for the opening session to-day. The attendance is not expected to exceed 80.

If any of the followers of Eamon de Valera make their appearance it probably will be for the purpose of questioning the government regarding the exact status of the new parliament and to claim that the Dail Eireann still exists. A test case would be that of John O'Mahoney, who represented Fermanagh in the Dail but cannot obtain a seat in the new parliament, the membership of which is confined to the 26 counties.

Among the prominent de Valerites seen in Dublin last night were Count Plunkett, Laurence Ginnell, and Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late Lord Mayor of Cork. All three were returned at the last elections and were entitled to sit in the parliament. But such of their colleagues as are engaged in armed conflict against the government would be liable to arrest before they reach the Parliament Hall in Leinster House.

Approach to Leinster House is impossible for unauthorized persons. Their access is everywhere barred by high gates. The building is so situated that no surprise raid upon it is possible. Tickets of admission to the newspapers are for one week only. After the formal election of a speaker and other offices to-day the next session is uncertain, whether it will be on Monday or Tuesday.

The threatened strike of the postal workers, if it becomes effective, would delay reports of the sessions to the outside world. The correspondents therefore are planning devious routes for their despatches.

GERMANY HAS BEGUN TO REBUILD FRANCE

First Delivery of Material to War Sufferers Received.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—The first check to be paid by the German government direct to one of the war sufferers in the devastated areas of France under the terms of the Welsbaden and Franco-German accords has been received by the ministry of liberated regions. The check covers the amount of the first order for building material, sent to one of the German firms designated by Germany to make deliveries of merchandise to Frenchmen in occupied territory, whose homes or property were destroyed during the German invasion. It marks the beginning of the application for the Weisbaden Agreement, negotiated by the late Dr. Walter Ratheanau, German minister of reconstruction, and Louis Loucheur, former French minister of liberated regions; and also the agreement signed in Berlin June 3 last, by Controller Gillet, which was, in effect, an amplification of the Weisbaden Accord, and had as its purpose the legalizing and facilitating of the delivery of everything necessary for reconstruction.

It is anticipated that thousands of orders for materials soon will be filled under the terms of the understanding, and that the rebuilding of homes and commercial buildings destroyed during the period of German occupation will be greatly accelerated.

The agreement between Hugo Stinnes, of Germany, and Senator de Lubersac, president of the Federation of Co-operative Societies of the French liberated regions, is an additional arrangement made by an organization of inhabitants of this territory and Stinnes himself.

LOCOMOTIVE WORKS TO RE-OPEN IN MONTH

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press.)— Following the official announcement which was made at the conclusion of the annual meeting yesterday of the shareholders of the Canadian Locomotive Co., that contracts had been secured for the rebuilding of a number of engines, it was stated that the works would probably re-open in about a month's time. At first about one hundred hands will be employed, but it is expected that this number will be increased as new business is secured, the prospects for which are declared to be very bright.

IRISH REBELS WOULD RESTORE BRITISH RULE

Actuated By Jealousy and Have No Consecutive Programme — Country Blighted.

DUBLIN, Sept. 9.—To oust the present government, bring back British troops, and deprive Ireland of the freedom already won, is the motive of the irregulars as interpreted by Archbishop Curley of Baltimore.

He asserted that most leaders of the irregulars were acting from pique, jealousy and disappointed hopes; that they had been imbued with bolshevistic ideas and had no consecutive program. He emphasized that the "minister of destruction" of the irregulars was an Englishman, Erskine Childers, and frankly expressed suspicion of the sincerity of this leader.

People Want Treaty.

"More than 60 per cent. of the people want the treaty, even with what partition brings," he said. "The immense majority of those who bore the brunt of the fight against the Black and Tans favor it. Against the people is a hopeless minority, determined to coerce the majority, and refusing to bow to the people's will. I have yet to meet a man who is fool enough to say a good word for the men who are wrecking the country.

"The irregulars may tell you they want a republic and a free Ireland. But how are they doing it? By blowing up bridges, destroying railroads, looting banks, denuding farms, robbing houses, intensifying the suffering already inflicted by the Black and Tans, and bringing sorrow to every county. Hundreds tol l me of suffering as much at the hands of the Irish as they did at the hands of the Black and Tans.

"Stop Backing Rebels."

"I hope that Americans will disassociate themselves from the warfare conducted by the irregulars. I am convinced that the Americans little realize that the money they contribute is being used for a campaign of murder and destruction. Maj. John McKeogh is a marked man and the Irish-Americans are sending over ammunition to murder him."

The archbishop urged more stringent measures by the government in dealing with the irregulars. While describing the situation as desperate, he still hopes the government will emerge successfully. He is curtailing his stay to go home and inform Americans of the actualities of the situation. He will sail on Saturday. The latter part of his visit is being spent at the home of the late Richard Croker, at Glencairn.

FAT SOLUBLE VITAMIN CALLED HUMAN NEED

American Chemical Society Told of Discovery Through Rats by New York Scientist

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—The health-building vitamin and the greatly increased use of corn oil for food products were discussed by the American Chemical Society Convention.

"While the fat-soluble vitamin has been studied mainly through experiments on rats, it is now known to have very important functions in the nutrition of animals minerally, including men and women," said Dr. H. C. Sherman of New York City. "It is needed by adults as well as by growing children. A food supply containing only enough of the fat soluble vitamin for growth will not support full vigor. When the food furnishes too little of the fat-soluble vitamin the body is weakened and becomes more sensitive to infection. On the other hand, the body is more able to store this vitamin in cases in which the food furnishes more than is required for current needs."

Green vegetables such as lettuce, whole wheat flour and unpolished rice were recommended by Dr. Sherman as foods containing a plentiful supply of vitamin. Patent medicines of the "vitamin" group were disapproved by Dr. Sherman.

"Every child, to have a proper ration, should have at least a pint of milk a day, together with large proportions if fruits and vegetables," he said. "At least one-fifth of the usual expenditures made for foods in a family should be used for fruits and vegetables."

PROTECTION URGED FOR SALMON FROM NATURAL ENEMIES

Conservation Should Be Through Protection of Breeding Grounds Rather Than Closing Rivers to Fishermen.

A GREAT LOSS.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press.)— Better protection of the breeding grounds and the destruction of the natural enemies of the salmon was urged by W. H. Barker, president of the British Columbia Fishing and Packing Company here before the Federal Fisheries Commission, which opened its sessions in Vancouver yesterday.

The government was right in seeking conservation, but in Mr. Barker's opinion at the same time he thought it had gone far enough in restrictive regulations on the fishermen. While greater conservation of the fishing resources was needed, he said, he was opposed to the closing of the Fraser River. The amount of loss that such a closing down would involve to the fishing companies and the canneries would be too serious. It was not the number of fish that was being caught by the fishermen that was bringing about a depletion of the salmon supplies so much as the depredation of the natural enemies of the salmon. Speaking in the interests of the Great War Veterans, H. P. Jones argued that it was impossible for returned men to engage successfully at the present time, particularly in view of the competition they had to contend with from the Oriental fishermen.

POET AND WIFE ARE RECONCILED

Love of Mr. and Mrs. Masters Survives Three Years' Separation.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Love for each other and their children, which has survived the test of three years' separation and of suits for separate maintenance and divorce, have brought about a reconciliation of Edgar Lee Masters, poet, and Mrs. Helen Jenkins Masters, according to friends of the couple.

Mrs. Masters filed suit for separate maintenance in 1920, and in March, 1922, she obtained a decree for $300 monthly alimony. Her suit for divorce on the grounds of desertion still is in the courts.

PICTURE SHOWS TO CLOSE.

BERLIN, Sept. 9. — (Canadian Press.) — All the moving picture shows in Berlin are to be closed after September 22 in accordane with a decision reached by the Association of Cinema Theatre owners owing to the excessive amusement tax.

Canadian Brotherhood Is Large Organization

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press.)— Internationally organized railway clerks, freight handlers and station employees form but a corporal's guard of those organized under the Canadian Brotherhood, Joe Wall, Genera Organizer for the Province of Quebec for the latter organization declared here yesterday. The comment followed publication of a report from Cincinnati, Onio, that a conference is to be held here shortly to amalgamate the two organizations. According to Wall, the Canadian Brotherhood has a membership of 20,000. The president is A. R. Mosher, of Ottawa.

U. S. Crop Estimates For Year Announced.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press.)— This year's important farm crops in the United States were forecast yesterday by the department of agriculture, basing its estimate on September 1 crop conditions, as follows (expressed in millions of bushels),

Spring wheat — 277; fall wheat, 818; corn 2,875.

Oats — 1,255; barley 194; buckwheat 13.5; white potatoes 4.38; sweet potatoes 108; tobacco (pounds) 1,353; flax 11.7; rice 38.8, hay, tame (tons) 92.9; hay, wild (tons) 15.8; sugar beets (tons) 5.26; apples total 207; apples commercial (barrels) 32.6; peaches 55.6.

Conditions of the crops September 1 was:

Spring wheat 80.1; corn 78.6; oats 74.9; barley 81.2; buckwheat 85.7; white potatoes 79.9; sweet potatoes 82.4; tobacco 76.2; flax 82.7; rie 85.5; sugar beets 88.6.

YANKS IN EUROPE RUSH FOR HOME

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The trans-Atlantic rush for home by American travelers has now set in and it is almost impossible to secure accommodations on liners without waiting a month or six weeks.

The White Star liner Majestic sailed today with 2,200 passengers, the largest number of first-class passengers ever carried by a single ship. Every berth was taken and a number of would-be passengers sailed for Cherbourg in the hope that some who expected to join the ship there would fail to turn up.

FINED $1,000.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9. — (Canadian Press.)—A fine of one thousand dollars and costs or three months in jail was yesterday pronounced by Magistrate Rollard Millar upon David Brousseau, of West Templeton, who, in the Hull magistrate's court was found guilty of a charge of illegally keeping liquor for sale.

FATALLY INJURED.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press.)— Howard Winters, the 12-year old son of Captain J. W. Winters of Poplar Point, was fatally injured on his father's farm early yesterday by the accidental discharge of a shotgun.

TRADE CONDITIONS HAVE IMPROVED IN PAST FEW WEEKS

End of Holiday Season Causes Brisk Retail Trade — Building Active and Unemployment at a Low Mark.

WEEKLY REPORT.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press.)—This week's trade report of the Canadian Creditmen's Trust Association is in substance as follows:

Manufacturers and wholesalers in the east are finding a steady improvement in business and there has been more activity in the retail than for some little time past, owing, no doubt, to the end of the holiday season.

There is quite a lot of building going on in both Montreal and Toronto, perhaps more pronounced in Toronto and the unemployment question is getting to be very much less serious, the larger centres reporting little unemployment.

Conditions west of the lakes have been somewhat interfered with by rain which has delayed threshing. Wholesale business is keeping steady, retail business leaves a good deal to be desired though in certain lines more business is being done.

Collections are somewhat on the slow side which, however, is to be expected just at this period.

SHOEMEN DECRY LONG SKIRT

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Long skirts were decried by shoemen at their annual convention, which closed today. Percy E. Hart of New York City told the shoemen that the long skirt will not hurt the silk stocking market as women would not use cotton, or even lisle, but would insist upon silk stockings.

The old strip pump, Mr. Hart said, would be the thing this fall and winter. The low heel, one-button pump, he declared, was the kind which style decreed. Mr. Hart said that Paris was not up on the styles and at the French watering resorts there was nothing that would point the way for Americans to follow.

The best dressed people in the world are in America, Mr. Hart said.

THRESHING DELAYED.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press.) —Wet weather has prevailed generally over Manitoba for the greater part of the week and threshing operations delayed on that account. Grain cutting is practically complete in this province.

There were indications last night of clear, cool weather, and if this forecast is correct, it is thought that little damage to the unthreshed crop will have resulted from the rains of the past four days.

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS.

Last year, soon after the Peterborough Exhibition, it was announced that the directors would be glad to receive suggestions from the people as to how the big event could be bettered, and a number of helpful hints was the result. The same plan might profitably be adopted this year, but instead of waiting until the Exhibition is over, why not place the facilities outside the Secretary's office during the Fair providing the public with a chance to offer suggestions as to improvements to the grounds, changes in the programme of arrangement of exhibits or any other feature in connection with the event. It is the people's exhibition and they should be willing to give the benefit of their counsel in improving it. The directors are anxious to serve their patrons, and in the plan suggested they would perhaps come into touch with new features and get a wide vision as to the possibilities of the big Exhibition. If only a dozen people supplied constructive suggestions during the four days of the Fair, the carrying out of the plan would be worth the slight trouble it would cause. The hint is passed on to the Exhibition Board.

A CHANCE TO HELP.

The Examiner would like to call the attention of its readers to the plight of Wm. Withers whose barn, near Downer's Corners, was totally destroyed by fire last week, together with the bulk of the season's crop, some valuable stock and equipment. Withers is a returned soldier with a record of over three years' service in France. The loss sustained by him last week wiped out all his war bonus and savings and the little sum his wife had managed to lay by while the husband was overseas. They had invested their all in this farming enterprise, encountered a poor crop last year and were counting upon this year's operations to put them on the road to prosperity. And in an hour stock, crops, barn, prosperity, savings all disappeared in the flame of a disastrous fire. There was no insurance and the unfortunate veteran is left without anything. The circumstances are such that those who are acquainted with the facts of the case believe that the assistance of the public should be forthcoming. The Examiner will receive cash donations from those who feel that they would like to help a deserving individual to get upon his feet again. All such donations will be acknowledged by this paper.

REAL ECONOMY?

Various cities are beginning to question the wisdom of sending representatives of the City Council and permanent civic officials to attend conventions of various kinds in other centres. Undoubtedly matters of importance are discussed at such gatherings and a lot of useful information is afforded for the benefit of the delegates, and it is necessary that the cities should co-operate in the holding of these convention, for otherwise it would soon be found impossible to arrange them. At the same time, however, some way should be adopted of providing the Council with a comprehensive report of what has taken place in order that the full benefit may be obtained from the convention. This is rarely done in Peterborough, or elsewhere, and about all the Aldermen hear about the matter as a rule is the passing of the expense account of the delegates. In Ottawa the other day Mayor Plant, who had been in attendance at the convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities, did something none of his predecessors had ever attempted—he presented an excellent report of the proceedings to the members of the City Council. But, strange to say, when a motion was brought in to spend $15 in having the report printed for reference purposes, the Council refused to authorize the expenditure. The workings of the aldermanic mind are, in a good many instances, most difficult to understand. There was entire hesitation apparently in voting the much larger sum necessary to cover the expenses in connection with the Mayor's visit to the convention, but when it came to the question of a trifling sum that would have preserved a useful record of the proceedings the Aldermen suddenly decided that economy was necessary. We have had Councils like that in Peterborough.

THE REVOLVER.

For many years, advocacy has been advanced of the idea of Government prohibition of the manufacture and sale of revolvers. No objection has been advanced to this proposition except that it would not be effective—in other words, that the prohibition could not be made complete enough, also that so many revolvers are in existence that criminals would be able to get them for numberless years yet. The Ottawa Journal, a strong advocate of the proposal, says that a good plan should be tried, even if it is not perfect.

The idea is receiving widespread discussion at present on account of a recent pronouncement of the American Bar Association.

Eighty-five thousand "unlawful homicides" in the past ten years—which is almost as many deaths as the United States suffered in nearly two years of the greatest war in history—probably 90 per cent. of which were committed by the use of pistols, leads the committee on law enforcement of the American Bar Association to declare that "the pistol serves no useful purpose in the community today." The manufacture and sale of pistols and revolvers, this body of eminent lawyers recommends, should, therefore, be prohibited "save as such manufacture shall be necessary for governmental and official use under proper legal regulation and control." "The criminal situation in the United States, so far as crimes of violence are concerned," they aver in their latest report, "is worse than that of any other civilized country." Burglaries, for instance, have increased in number by 1,200 per cent. in a decade. "More than 90 per cent. of the crimes of this country are committed by the use of pistols; deliberate murder, burglary and robbery is seldom attempted unless the criminal is armed," we are told.

Newspaper comment in the United States is rather striking in its acceptance generally of the suggestion that the sale of revolvers should be prohibited. Says the Chicago Tribune, one of the chief newspapers of the United States:

"We believe that this evil should be attacked at its source by a law prohibiting the manufacture or sale of revolvers for private use. The revolver is made for one purpose only—to shoot men. It is not a hunting weapon, and only soldiers and officers of the law should be permitted to possess or carry them."

"The chief claim for the revolver is that it can be carried secretly on the person. But who carries it there? The criminal. By existing law, any private citizen who carries it is a criminal, and most people who do so are not primarily interested in self-protection."

The Grand Rapids Press is emphatic as to the necessity of prohibition:

"The dozens of statutes against the carrying of deadly weapons have never been of much use, and never will be until sale and disposal except for official purposes is done away with, and licensed owners are registered."

These opinions are shared by such widely scattered papers as the Boston Transcript, Rochester Post-Express, Milwaukee Sentinel, Des Moines Capital and Kansas City Star. As already said, such criticisms as are made of the proposition of prohibition of sale are all based on the view that prohibition would not be effective enough. But what harm would be done by trying it?

RELIEF FOR UNEMPLOYMENT.

The Unemployment Conference, which opened in Ottawa on Tuesday, has begun its work with a commendable exhibition of good sense. It has begun by making it clear that in any relief that may be given, sharp distinction will be drawn between the man who is thrifty and who wants to work and the man who is thriftless and who wants to loaf. Mr. Murdock, the Minister of Labor, who opened the proceedings, gave the conference the right lead when, after declaring his belief in the old adage that "God helps those who help themselves," he issued this clear warning:

Mr. Murdock objected to the system of doles. Both Federal and Provincial Governments had been imposed upon in the past. Referring to this matter Mr. Murdock declared it was an absurdity to demand that relief for unemployment to the extent of trade union wage rates of employment should be provided. Some of these unreasonable demands should be firmly rejected.

The Dominion had paid out some $1,500,000 for unemployment relief last winter and he did not believe the Federal Government should be asked to go any further in the way of co-operation in the relief of unemployment than it had done in its order-in-council of last winter.

The discussion which followed made it clear that there is little cause for any physically fit man being unemployed in Canada at the present time. In British Columbia, according to the delegate from that Province, there are jobs for all who want to work. In Alberta, according to Mr. Alexander Ross, one of the Provincial Ministers, there is no unemployment at the present time, and little prospect of any in the future. In Saskatchewan and Manitoba, reported delegates from these Provinces, there are actually thousands of vacant jobs. And in the rest of the Provinces, between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic, unemployment was declared to be rare.

Delegates were unanimous in hostility to any system of doles. Mr. J. G. Gardiner, Saskatchewan, declared that:

"The relief system of the past two winters had increased unemployment in Saskatchewan, where men had thrown up low wage jobs in order to go into the cities and draw relief. There should be some system which would place idle men at work instead of giving them doles."

Mr. A. McNamara, Manitoba, said:

"There was now a shortage of 4,000 men on the farms, and tradesmen today could all find employment. He believed the fit single man would have no difficulty in finding work even this winter. Single men not physically fit might require relief. Married men in the various trades would be unemployed to some extent and would need some assistance. The single man fit to work, however, need look for no relief in Manitoba this winter."

This is plain common sense, and it is bound to have a salutary effect. As The Journal pointed out yesterday, there are all too many in Canada too lazy and too shiftless to make hay while the sun shines, trusting that an all-rich, all-powerful state will tide them over winter. Mr. Murdock's plain talk, buttressed by the temper of the conference, may help to convince all such that their dependence is perilously insecure. For the man who wants to work, but who, through circumstances over which he has no control, is left unemployed, there will be always sympathy and assistance. But the people of Canada will not submit to tax themselves for a condition which confers the same reward upon shiftlessness and thrift, and which, in truth, places a premium upon laziness.—Ottawa Journal.

The United States dollar selling at a discount. Canada is certainly returning to prosperous times.

After all the proof, the fuel will be in the burning.

Once more the man with the well-filled cellar is being pointed out, but this time it is a question of coal.

The worst feature about the fuel situation is that it offers the man with a substitute for coal to sell to profiteer.

THE MYSTERY KIND

Dupont found the switch to the lights and threw them on. Violet looked about for water. In a moment, however, Mesma seemed to come to herself. She was chagrined and apologetic.

"I do not understand the influence that swept in upon me," she told them. "And just as I was getting things for you, too." She brightened. "I tell you what. Conditions are unfavorable now, but you come back. You come back right after supper. I have no appointment then."

In the alley, making their way in the gloom toward the street, Violet clung to Dupont's arm and both were silent. He was wondering again about this mysterious mental influence. If it penetrated to his trained scientific mind there was no wonder it terrified the medium. But did it mean that the gang were active once more? Was there any immediate menace which he should guard against?

Probably Violet's thoughts were similar to his own. Without warning she clutched him in a trembling fear.

"Look!" she exclaimed, in an undertone. "The hunchback!"

Sure enough the little man was slinking along our of the alley ahead of them. Dupont caught a bit of her fright and for a moment both hesitated.

It was obvious, however, that Case was unaware of the presence of the couple behind him. Into Dupont's mind flashed an inspiration. If the gang again were to become active it was the part of wisdom to anticipate their moves. He once had followed the black, Kali, to a previous haunt. Perhaps Case would lead him to their new headquarters.

"Are you afraid to go home along?" ye asked Violet. "Now?"

"No, but—" The little hand on his arm tightened.

"You are perfectly safe in this neighborhood once we reach the street. That hunchback probably has been syping on us, and if I follow him it may give me a direct clue to our enemies."

In the darkness she kissed him bravely; then held back without another word.

Case made his way leisurely to a downtown surface car, transferring. Then he took the elevated, and by a devious route, utilizing the street cars again, made his way to an outlying quarry in a borough across the river. By this time it was dark, so that Dupont could follow closely on foot. Never once did the hunchback look back, occupied apparently with thoughts of his own. Complete success attended the amateur shadowing of the hypnotist.

Overlooking the yawning hole of the quarry was a rough wooden shack. Case entered, lighting a watchman's lantern and settling to read an old newspaper by the light it afforded. For some time Dupont waited. Then, sure the hunchback was alone, remembering the information he had gained from him before, he entered boldly, unarmed, preparing to fix the little man's eyes; to plunge him into a hypnotic state.

Hardly had Dupont taken his position, hardly had Case glanced up in amazed surprise, before a new voice sounded from behind the hypnotist.

"I hope you'll pardon me." The tones unmistakably male, were very polite. "I regret the necessity of this very much, but I must ask you to elevate your hands above your head."

XXII

THE SECOND SITTING

For more than an hour Violet waited for Dupont to return. Then she rose and with her newborn determination resolved to visit Mesma alone. The medium had promised to obtain results for her, and would be waiting. Dupont was doing his part, seeking to uncover the meeting place and perhaps the plans of her enemies. The recovery of the map was of even greater importance. Therefore she would proceed without him.

In her room, carefully concealed in the back of a drawer of lingerie, was the revolver Doctor Sutton had given her, still loaded. She hid this in her handbag so as to be prepared to defend herself in case of trouble. Stealing out of the house, she stopped in the drug store at the corner to phone the detective agency. With them she arranged for an operative who would meet her at the alley entrance to Mesma's quarters. These precautions taken, she felt secure to hasten to her second sitting.

The detective was a solid burly individual who gave her a sense of confidence. As they hurried over the rough cobblestones in the dark she realized she would never have had the courage to approach the place alone. At the door, however, she felt at ease. The stairs were lighted and the smell of incense drifted down from above.

"You wait in the entrance here," she instructed her man. "Warn me if anyone steals up, or if you see anything suspicious. If you hear a cry from me you'll know I need you. Understand?"

Conversion of Victory Bonds

THE SERVICES of this Bank are offered free of charge to those who wish to arrange the conversion of Victory Bonds maturing on December 1, 1922, to the new five- or ten-year bonds. Application should be made as early as possible, but not later than September 30th.

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH—V. EASTWOOD, Mgr.
Corner George and Hunter Sts.

To Holders of Five Year 5½ per cent Canada's Victory Bonds

Issued in 1917 and Maturing 1st December, 1922.

CONVERSION PROPOSALS

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE offers to holders of these bonds who desire to continue their investment in Dominion of Canada securities the privilege of exchanging the maturing bonds for new bonds bearing 5½ per cent interest, payable half yearly, of either of the following classes:—

(a) Five year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1927.

While the maturing bonds will carry interest to 1st December, 1922, the new bonds will commence to earn interest from 1st November, 1922, GIVING A BONUS OF A FULL MONTH'S INTEREST TO THOSE AVAILING THEMSELVES OF THE CONVERSION PRIVILEGE.

This offer is made to holders of the maturing bonds and is not open to other investors. The bonds to be issued under this proposal will be substantially of the same character as those which are maturing, except that the exemption from taxation does not apply to the new issue.

Holders of the maturing bonds who wish to avail themselves of this conversion privilege should take their bonds AS EARLY AS POSSIBLE, BUT NOT LATER THAN SEPTEMBER 30th, to a Branch of any Chartered Bank in Canada and receive in exchange an official receipt for the bonds surrendered, containing an undertaking to deliver the corresponding bonds of the new issue.

Holders of maturing fully registered bonds, interest payable by cheque from Ottawa, will receive their December 1 interest cheque as usual. Holders of coupon bonds will detach and retain the last unmatured coupon before surrendering the bond itself for conversion purposes.

The surrendered bonds will be forwarded by banks to the Minister of Finance at Ottawa, where they will be exchanged for bonds of the new issue, in fully registered, or coupon registered or coupon bearer form carrying interest payable 1st May and 1st November of each year of the duration of the loan, the first interest payment accruing and payable 1st May, 1923. Bonds of the new issue will be sent to the banks for delivery immediately after the receipt of the surrendered bonds.

The bonds of the maturing issue which are not converted under this proposal will be paid off in cash on the 1st December, 1922.

W. S. FIELDING,
Minister of Finance.

Gave the Rest of the Party the Surprise of Their Lives—Apsley News of Interest.

APSLEY, Sept. 9.— An attempt was made by a number of young men to stage an old-time charivare in honour of a recently married couple, but all the eclat went out of it, and it collapsed like a pricked bubble when it was discovered that the bridegroom himself was participating in it, and the laugh was on the "shiverees" instead of the "shivareed." A party of about 25 or 30 persons, disguised and carrying every conceivable form of noise producing implement paraded down the village street to the home of the bride and bridegroom and serenaded them in vigorous style. During a lull, the one who had been making the loudest noise, disclosed his identity by thanking the company for their visit, expressed a wish for more music, and according to custom handed them a sum of money. The serendaers, completely non-plussed by this sequence, after consultation returned the money as a wedding present to the bride, and dispersed after singing of "He's a jolly good fellow." It is hardly safe now to mention the word "shivaree" in the hearing of any of the serenaders. Crown Attorney Hatton, Dr. Young and Sergt. Wigg, who had just arrived at Apsley en route to Jack's Lake, were amused spectators.

Obituary.

Th death occurred early on Wednesday morning of Mrs. Catherine Lean, a highly respected and lifelong resident of this township. Mrs. Lean had been ailing for some time, and her end was not unexpected. She was 74 years of age and had been a widow 28 years. She was a strict Methodist, and sang in the choir of the Methodist church practically all her life. She leaves of her immediate family three sons, Jim at home, Tom of Northport, Dan of Peterborough, and one daughter, Mrs. Wm. Earnshaw at whose home she died. Other relatives surviving are two brothers, Tom Stephens, Apsley, Ned, Toronto, and two sisters, Mary in California and Jane in Toronto.

The funeral service, which was largely attended, was held in the Methodist church on Friday afternoon, the service being conducted by Mr. McTavish, interment being made in the family plot in the churchyard of St. George's church, the Rev. C. A. G. Spence taking the service at the grave.

IDEAL WEATHER FOR HARVESTING

Cavan Centre News of Interest—George Locke Dead.

CAVAN CENTRE, Sept. 9. — The weather is ideal for harvesting the late crops, flax, corn etc., but still the rain holds aloof.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. J. W. Perrin and Mrs. Harry Lang in the sudden death of their father Mr. Geo. Locke, Millbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Locke had been camping on the Otonabee, and were not long home. He enjoyed the time spent at the river and seemed somewhat improved in health.

He retired on Wednesday evening apparently as well as usual and in good spirits, but the call home came very suddenly and he died about four o'clock Thursday morning. The funeral will be delayed until Tuesday to give his daughter Mrs. Williamson, of Alberta, time to arrive home.

Hal. Argue was a visitor to the Exhibition on Thursday.

Mrs. Milligan and Master Joe Munroe went to Toronto, on Friday while there they will visit the Exhibition.

Canadian Red Cross Branch Has Been Established in Peterborough

Public Health Nursing Service Will Be Provided—Miss A. W. Pike of Toronto Will Be in Charge—Will Be Under Supervision of Board of Health

The proposal made by the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Red Cross to establish a public health nursing service in the city, to be under the direct supervision of the Board of Health and the M.O.H., has finally been carried out. A bright and well lighted office above the Tax Collector's department has been fitted up, and Miss A. W. Pike of Toronto placed in charge. Miss Pike is an attractive lady of cheerful demeanor, who gives an impression of efficient training and ability.

The work of a public health nurse is mainly preventive, and is concerned with practical home demonstrations and instruction on questions of general health. The local office is particularly desirous of co-operating in every possible way with the various societies already established in Peterborough whose work centres around matters of public health.

One branch of activity is the follow-up work in connection with immigration. The Canadian Red Cross Association maintains a nurse at the port of entry, who reports to Provincial authorities any cases requiring medical advice or attention. These are then forwarded to the municipalities in which the various immigrants locate, and the public health nurse follows up the work. In most of the smaller cities of the Dominion public health nurses have long been established and have proved successful. In Oshawa, with a population of 12,000, two of these nurses are busy constantly.

Miss Pike, who has had varied experience in the work, both in this part of Canada and in the West, will have charge of the rest and emergency tent at the Peterborough Exhibition, where she will be pleased to meet any inquiring visitors desirous of learning more of her work.

Men Don't Marry the Flappers

"Men like to amuse themselves with girls of the flapper type, but they don't marry them."

"The flapper kind of girl stands just as good a chance of finding a husband as the other kind; if anything, a little better."

These two contradictory opinions were expressed by two different young men when asked whether or not they agreed with the French psychologist who says "the flapper race is dying out because such girls can't find husbands." Andre Tridon, the psychologist quoted, thinks that the flapper is too masculine—that the "swish of skirts" is necessary to attract men.

"Andre Tridon, whoever he is, is quite right," said a young, unmarried man. "Boys like to fool round with the flappers, but that is as far as it goes. A chap will spend his money on a girl who is out for a good time, and then when he meets a real girl she has to wait four or five years till he can save enough to get married. The flapper takes all the cash, but she doesn't get the ring."

Has More Chance.

"I don't think Monsieur has the right line on it," commented a youth whose opinion, as a contemporary of the flapper in age, is worth considering. "As long as she doesn't go too far in dolling up, and doesn't look too conspicuous, I think the flapper has more chance than the girl who is too quiet. Of course, a man doesn't like to be seen out with a girl who is painted up till she doesn't look respectable, but if a girl doesn't take the eye at all, doesn't look a bit smart, he thinks she is apt to be lacking in 'pep,' in other things besides dress."

Other masculine opinions sought were divided in about the same proportion, pro and con, giving the flapper a fifty-fifty chance in the matrimonial market.

The feminine verdict was similarly divided.

"It is 'such girls' that do find husbands," declared a young business woman. "It isn't common sense, nor anything else inside of a girl's head that attracts the average man, but the kind of outside appearance she puts up. He will probably want her to be sensible and efficient afterwards, but he doesn't think of that at the time. Even at school it isn't the little girl at the head of her class to whom all the little boys bring apples, but the one with pink cheeks, and the biggest bow on her hair."

Poor Housekeepers.

"Men run around with these girls, but when it comes to getting married they choose someone else," said a little bride, with a complacent toss of her bobbed hair. "That kind of girl is a good pal, but likely to be an awfully poor housekeeper, and men are afraid to undertake a life-long partnership with them."

That Monsieur Tridon, for all his psychology, was much mistaken in diagnosing the flapper's lack of attraction for possible husbands as too much masculinity, was the general opinion. Rather, accentuated, femininity is a part of her flapperishness, even if her skirts have not the Victorian "swish." It is a long time since skirts have "swished" anyhow. Starch and stiffness have gone out of date.

As to the psychologist's claim that the flapper race is dying out, the question arises, "What—or should it be who—is a flapper?"

Most persons asked for a definition are vague as to what they understand by the term. The general impression is one of immaturity, irresponsibility, flippancy, a precocious sophistication, and so on, with the outward and visible signs of a made-up complexion, the latest fad in dress, and frequently, bobbed hair.

As a member of one of the women's organizations observed, "There have always been immature, flippant, irresponsible, and precocious young persons, and if the present manifestations of the flapper pass, the qualities are likely to appear in some other guise."

In the meantime, the French psychologist to the contrary notwithstanding, the flapper's chances of matrimony seem to be about the same as those of anybody else.

Humane Society Is Progressing

Efforts in Peterboro Cover a Wide Area—Ill-used Animals.

The work of the recently appointed inspector for the local Humane Society covers a wide area. Attention to many cases of cruelty and neglect of animals comes within the scope of Mr. Stapleton's activities. According to him, more work and longer life would be the lot of many a hard-driven dumb brute if its owner would pay a little more attention to "feet, teeth and shoulders." "Wolfe" teeth and grinders are the cause of much discomfort and pain to many a working horse, causing decay and the bad breath that is as prevalent in horses as in humans, with bad mouth conditions.

Another aggravation is dirty and ill-fitting harness. Few owners will take the trouble to wash the inside of a harness, where dirt, dandruff and perspiration have collected, and the sores which often result are neglected, becoming worse under the collars which in the majority of cases do not fit the horse that wears them. A wash of salt and water is recommended by the inspector for galling shoulder sores. Another abuse is the violence with which horses in many cases are driven, their tender mouths sawed from side to side by quick, uneven jerks of thoughtless drivers.

In one case of ill-used cattle that came under Mr. Stapleton's notice, the cows were housed in a stable that had for many months admitted no single gleam of light. In another, where two savage animals are penned up until such time as they are fat enough for the butcher's knife, the only attendant they will allow near them is a woman. Furious protests greet the approach of any other visitor.

Trim With Red

Red is a ever-blooming perenial—sartorially speaking. It is seldom scheduled for over-whelming popularity, but there is never a season during which it doesn't put in an appearance.

Its chief use this season is to line the wide sleeves or loose panels that continue to be worn, to touch up a dark gown with a dash of embroidery or to function, in its lighter shades, in evening gowns of undoubted dash and brilliance.

For daytime wear all the shades of brown are undoubtedly most popular. They vary from the brown that is nearly black to the brown that is nearly red or yellow, with special flavor shown to the golden browns half way down the scale.

SEPARATE BLOUSES.

Very coarse, square meshed laces are mounted on chiffon, usually of a bright color, and used for separate blouses. They are usually worn over the outside of the skirt, Russian blouse fashion.

Thousands Of Women Are Now Taking This Newer Form Of Iron

"Only a short two weeks ago I was so tired, nervous and worn-out from the drain on my nerves and strength of household drudgery, that I thought I could not keep up another day.

A short two weeks' treatment of the newer form of iron has given me a marvelous increase in health, strength and energy. Now I can do my whole house without help, and do not have to sit at home in the evening "all-in" sick and nervous."

"The above is a typical hypothetical case," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physican of Bellevue Hospital (Out-Door Dept.) New York, and the Westchester County Hospital. "You cannot be well and strong and full of vigor, force and power unless your blood is rich in iron. It is your red blood that enables you to resist and overcome disease and that nourishes every organ in your body. Without iron your blood becomes thin, pale and watery. Poor blood cannot nourish your vital organs and as a result you may have pains in your heart or kidneys, indigestion, headaches, and feel all "run-down" and tired out."

When your blood lacks iron do not waste your time taking stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, but directly enrich your blood with the newer form of iron sold by all druggists under the name of Nuxated Iron, which is like the iron in spinach, lentils, and apples, and is in a form easily assimilated into your blood.

Get a bottle of Nuxated Iron today. Take it for two weeks and if you have not, like thousands of others, obtained most surprising health, strength and energy, the manufacturers will promptly refund your money. The following local druggists will sell you Nuxated Iron with this "satisfaction or money back" guarantee.

Household Suggestions

MONOGRAMS.

Monograms are seen everywhere, not only on blouses and lingerie, but on ties, scarfs and even coat linings.

CORSAGES.

The use of large, unnatural looking flowers, of velvet or silk, is frequently noticed on the new frocks. They are frequently made into large corsage bouquets.

ONE-TONED FROCKS.

Smart frocks are being made of brilliantly colored silks, all in one tone, say flame, American Beauty, vivid green or yellow. They are cut very conservatively with the popular side drapery, and no sleeves to speak of.

BANDEAUX.

For evening wear are fantastic hair bandeaux, some of the most original of which are built high, in the Russian style, and have lace veils which half cover the face.

SILVER.

One sees silver embroidery everywhere on the new winter suits and gowns. It is also featured on some of the smartest hats.

BRACELETS.

Bracelets worn above the elbow are frequently seen. Those of jade or amber or white ivory are effective worn this way.

JAPANESE.

Figured silks with a strong Japanese influence in the figures are made into frocks with very wide flowing sleeves and practically no broken lines. The low waistline is secured by a loose girdle of the material.

WHITE FROCKS.

White dresses are now the vogue in Paris, in contrast to the black crepe garments which have so long been popular. Frequently they are beaded with crystal beads and paneled and plaited.

HOSIERY.

The latest information from Paris is that hosiery will again match the pumps, and pale rose beige is no longer the correct tone. Grey pumps and grey stockings continue to be popular.

JACKET BLOUSES.

Jacket blouses in satin matelasse are now seen on the streets worn with separate skirts of silk or wool.

FOR DANCING.

For dancing the bouffant type of frock is sponsored by the younger set. Frequently the hems are scalloped, and small bouquets of velvet or silk flowers, and ribbons are used as trimmings.

VELVET HATS.

Many of the smartest black velvet hats for fall wear are quite without any trimming, their chic depending entirely upon their lines.

WAISTLINES.

Now that we have grown accustomed to the longer skirt, fashion authorities tell us to prepare for the higher waistline. At present the long waist is still excellent style, but there is an indication that high girdle effects may return.

DIAMONDS, SAPPHIRES.

Enormous hoop earrings, encrusted with diamonds and sapphires, are suggested for wear with a black velvet frock, cut on very long, narrow lines.

VANITY CASE.

A very individual looking umbrella has an old-fashioned snuff box mounted in the handle. It may be used as a vanity case.

TUNIC BLOUSES.

Gold and cocoa shades are mentioned frequently in connection with fashionable frocks. They are particularly liked for tunic blouses to wear with dark skirts.

GIRDLE OF FRUIT.

A gown for a debutante is of velvet trimmed with brilliantly colored fruit motifs which have been cut out of satin and padded to make a girdle.

BATIK DESIGNS.

A frock of white tricotine is embellished on its sleeves and pocket with an all-over batik design in black and red. Red pumps are worn with this costume.

CONVENIENT.

A smart frock, made of the most supple black satin, has a skirt drapery which may be drawn up around the shoulders to form a smart loose coat effect.

SPORTS COAT.

A fur designer says the short sports coat of fur will be decidedly popular this coming winter and very moderate in price.

WITH SLEEVELESS FROCKS.

Beauty doctors says that the elbows may be beautified by rubbing them every night with warm cocoa butter. After the massage the elbows should be rinsed in cold water or rubbed with a piece of ice.

ROSE PANELS.

A black satin sleeveless frock has a front and back panel of embroidery, in shades of green and rose, giving a certain moss-rose effect in coloring.

RUN DOWN PEOPLE WEAK AND NERVOUS

Thousands in This Condition Can Easily Help Themselves.

There are thousands of people who bear the pain and discomfort of minor ills in the hope that the indisposition is only temporary and will be outgrown in time. Often such illnesses are not serious enough to require the attention of a doctor, but will respond to intelligent home treatment if a reliable remedy is used. Women, busy with a multitude of household cares, young women in offices or stores, or girls studying hard in school, easily fall a prey to that condition of bloodlessness known as anaemia. The trouble need not be serious if prompt measures are taken to check it in its early stages. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will restore the elements needed to bring the blood back to strength, and once the blood regains its healthy quality the entire body will soon show the benefit. Among the many who have found benefit through the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills is Mrs. Albert W. Smith, Miscouche, P.E.I., who says: "I was very much broken down in health, had pains in the region of my heart, and was so short of breath that if I went upstairs I would have to lie down as soon as I reached the top. Then a strange nervous twitching of the muscles took possession of me, and every muscle in my body would apparently be twitching. I became very emaciated, and my family were much alarmed as to my condition. At this time I read an article in our home paper concerning Dr. Williams Pink Pills and decided to give them a trial. The result was that in a short time I felt much improved, and under further use of the pills I felt like a new woman, had gained in weight and was in every way better. I would urge anyone afflicted as I was to give Dr. Williams Pink Pills a trial."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED—

You remember that second marriages call for very conservative wedding ceremonies. Any elaborate decorations or a large number of attendants is out of place.

This applies, also, to third, fourth and subsequent marriages.

Snowy white without boiling

THAT dull, grey, streaky look that you always had to boil out of your clothes is never there when you use Rinso. It soaks the dirt, softens it, loosens it so thoroughly that it all runs away in the rinsing, leaving the clothes sweet, snowy-white and fresh as new.

It's because Rinso is the new, modern scientific washing preparation that works in an entirely new way. It washes by soaking. It is altogether different from ordinary soaps and washing powders. So, it should be used differently. Do not pour Rinso itself into the tub. Make your Rinso liquid first, as per directions.

IF YOU USE A WASHING MACHINE

Soak your clothes in the Rinso suds as usual—for one hour, two hours, overnight, or whatever time is convenient. Then add more Rinso solution and work the machine. Rinse and dry—you'll have a clean, sweet, snow-white wash.

MARRIED AT 14 RING TOO LARGE

"But I'll Grow Into It," Says the Bride

MACON, Ga., Sept. 8. —Getting married at 14 worried little Miss Florence Bright enormously. Not so much because she was only 14 and her parents objected— but because she didn't have a thing to wear!

(Which shows, doubtless, that she was more grown up than people thought.)

Naturally, it was an elopement. Papa and mamma were going to send her away to boarding school because they thought she was seeing too much of Claude (that's Claude Oliphant, the 19-year-old husband.)

"I didn't think we were really and truly going to get married that night when Claude and I started for the show," said young Mrs. Oliphant. "But when we got on the street car he said, 'Flossie!' (That's what he calls me, you know), 'Flossie,' he said, 'we're going to get married to-night' He said he had the license in his pocket. Well, I told him I just couldn't. I didn't have on the right clothes to get married in —just a plain little voile dress, you know!'

"But when Claude said the preacher was waiting for us I just couldn't disappoint him!'

"When we got almost there," young Mrs. Oliphant went on, "I said to myself, "No, I'm not going to do it! But we finally got there—and I just didn't see any sense in backing out!"

No, she isn't a bit sorry. She says she likes married life—"for Claude is so sweet, and he's good looking too!'

Now they're living with the young husband's parents—and she's very proud of a gold wedding ring, even if it is several sizes too large for her 14-year-old finger.

"I've tied a piece of string around it to make it fit until my finger grows" she said.

"Being married is oceans better than going off to a sticky old boarding school where old maid teachers won't even let you peep out of the window.')

A GENTLE LAXATIVE FOR THE CHILDREN

Mothers—the surest way of keeping your little ones well and happy, whether it is the new-born babe or the growing child, is to keep their bowels regular and their stomach sweet. Nine-tenths of all childhood ailments are the result of clogged bowels and sour stomach. The most necessary and the best medicine for little ones is a gentle laxative — something that will relieve constipation, sweeten the stomach, and promote rest and natural sleep. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are a gentle but efficient laxative; are absolutely guaranteed free from opiates or other injurious drugs, and may be given to the youngest infant with perfect safety. They banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers, and give the baby that health and happiness which all children should have. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from Te Dr. Wiliams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MINERS STILL LIVING.

ARGONAUT GOLD MINE, Sept. 9.—(Special).—The chemical engineer declares that tests show that the entrapped miners still live.

Simple Way To Take Off Fat

There can be nothing simpler than taking a convenient little tablet four times each day until your weight is reduced to normal. That's all—just purchase a case of Marmola Prescription Tablets from your druggist for one dollar, the same price the world over. Follow directions—no starvation, dieting or tiresome exercising. Eat substantial food—be as lazy as you like—and keep on getting slimmer. And the best part of Marmola Prescription Tablets is that they are harmless. That is your absolute safeguard. Purchase them from your druggist or send direct to Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward ave., Detroit, Mich.

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

SLEEVES

Sleeves here as yet found no golden mean. Either they are long and flowing and are the most important feature of the frock or they are completely absent. For evening, the sleeveless gown is not so all-powerful as it was. Small caps and draperies are seen on many of the newest models.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.— (Canadian Press.)— Ontario country markets are firmer and circles are now being offered 32c. f.o.b. Three cars are reported shipped export on consignment to be sold for 21c shillings c.i.f. The United States' Government report of storage stocks on hand September 1st shows 9,586,000 cases as compared with 7,234,000 cases for the same time last year. The movement out of storage during the month of August was approximately 547,000 cases.

Toronto firmer with the possibility of a considerable advance in jobbing prices next week.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, Sept. 9.— (Canadian Press.)—The feature of the local grain market continues to be the demand from malsters for Ontario barley and sales of a number of cars of number three extra have been made at 73c. No Canadian western number three oats were available on the market. Flour, though steady in demand was unchanged and rolled oats active remained at the same price. Butter prices were irregular and conditions unsettled. Potatoes were much weaker, due to the liberal offerings of wagon loads. Baled hay was unchanged.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 9.—(Canadian Press.)— Receipts to-day 1,000 cattle and calves, 325 hogs and 345 sheep and lambs.

There was a fairly good demand for cattle this morning with trading generally active and brisk. Choice handyweight butchers changed hands at Thursday's prices. Stockers and feeders were in good demand at steady prices.

CAMPBELLFORD FOLKS GET AN INVITATION PETERBORO FAIR

Post Office Authorities Had a Real Busy Day Yesterday—Police Court News—Lawn Tennis.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 9.—Not since the mid-summer catalogues were sorted —have the employes of the Post Office had such a busy day—and when the mysterious bags arrived yesterday containing circulars announcing "Peterboro's Industrial Exhibition" — Mr. C. L. Owen, the genial postmaster just smiled, and got busy. Nearly everybody got one — and nearly everybody loves a fall fair—so if Campbellford is not well represented at Peterboro either Wednesday, Thursday, Friday or Saturday, of next week, it will not be the fault of the man in charge of publicity.

Lawn Tennis

The local club entertained Norwood visitors on Friday afternoon and served a delightful luncheon on the grounds after the game.

Bowling Club

The Bowlers from Warkworth were entertained by the local club on Friday evening and had some real good practice games.

Clothesline Stripped

On Friday morning Mrs. E. M. Abernethy, Sebastapol street, found that her clothesline had been visited during the night and entirely stripped of its contents, including some of her best linens. It is to be hoped the guilty party will be apprehended and punished.

Police Court News

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 8. — Stanley A. Russell was sentenced by Magistrate Payne to 21 days in Cobourg Jail for theft of a tire and automobile tools, the property of Morley Murray of Rawden Township. His two companions Ayrhart and Labrash were let on suspended sentence and to give bonds of $200 for one year from this date to insure good behaviour and to report to the police monthly and be at home each night at 10.30 p.m.. The other two members of the party were asleep in the car when the tire was taken. The story given by Russell was as follows:— it appears that Smith and Lott asked Russell to take them to Norwood. Ayrhart, Labrash, Smith, Garrison and Russell started out and had tire trouble and one of the boys suggested going down to Murray's and get one, as the hour was late, they did not want to wake Mr. Murray up and the garage was open, so just took one—when they returned Garrison and Smith were asleep in the back of the car. They changed tires and drove home. Mr. Lynch for the defense.

The boys said they never intended to steal the tire—but intended to return it, however, Magistrate Payne took a different view of the case with results as above stated.

Chief Duncalf brought H. J. Ellis back from Perth at 3 a.m. Saturday morning. Ellis is charged with stealing army revolver from Major Bygott, Grand Trunk Station Master at Campbellford.

Division Court

Division Court will be held in Campbellford on Wednesday, September 13th when Judge Huycke will preside.

Wedding Bells.

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. John Michel when his niece, Miss Ina Milne, second daughter of Mrs. Jno. Milne, was united in marriage to Mr. Keith Halstead on Tuesday, Sept. 5th. Rev. Mr. McCord, pastor of the Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

The happy couple left by motor for Cobourg, Toronto and western points. The bride travelling in a navy suit with hat to match. On their return they will reside in Haldimand township.

On Wednesday, Sept. the 6th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Thackery, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when their only daughter, Annie, became the bride of Mr. Frank Adams, third son of Mrs. Thos. Adams, of Denella. After a short honeymoon they will live in Haldimand.

Mr. and Mrs. Drope left on Tuesday for a few months' visit with their son Harry in Saskatchewan.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to Mr. Willie McMillan, son of Mr. Jno. McMillan, on the loss of his little son. The little lad is well known here, having spent a few weeks' holidays here this summer.

To Stop Pimples Yeast Vitamines Must Be Ironized

Ironized Yeast Combines the Necessary Body-Iron and Body-Vitamines Which Make Skin Eruptions Vanish Absolutely

You can prove the remarkable results of ironized yeast in a few days' time. To get results that you can actually see in your mirror, and actually feel in your whole make-up, you must use that yeast which gives the necessary blood-building vitamines with the proper kind of strength-giving iron, in the same form as it exists in the human body. There is only one ironized yeast produced in the world, and it is called simply, Ironized Yeast. It is not a mere mixture of yeast and iron, but is yeast ironized, which is a substance all by itself. Pimples, blackheads and eruptions mean that you are minus the right kind of iron-and-vitamines. You need both. Ironized Yeast will free you from pimple-embarrassment forever, your blackheads will vanish, your purified rich red blood will show in the ruby of your cheeks and adorable skin-clearness. Ironized Yeast will put wireness in your nerves, new red blood-cells in your blood. It builds strength in every organ, in men, women and children. It is also a stomach strengthener. Ask for Ironized Yeast, nothing else. Beware of imitations. Ironized Yeast is sold at all druggists stores at $1.00 a package. Each package contains 60 tablets, each tablet sealed. They never lose their power. Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Ltd., Toronto, Sales Agents. All kisses will be sweeter from now on!

MARKET TURNS TO THE RAILWAY STOCKS

(Special to The Examiner.)
(By Stuart West.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. — The stock market was strong all around again in to-day's two-hour session.

Interest shifted more to the railway list, particularly in the higher priced dividend paying rails. There were a variety of reasons for this.

In the first place, although railway securities have at no time been weak since the strike started, they had been neglected in favor of industrial and public utility issues. Consequently the advance in this quarter Friday and again to-day was to be looked upon as bringing railway shares into line with the rest of the market, now that the shopmen's strike is on the wane.

In the second place, there was a prospect of unusually heavy earnings from coal traffic during the next six months to furnish a special incentive for the buying in the stocks of coal carrying railways such as Reading, Lehigh Valley, Norfolk and Western, Delaware and Hudson and Western Maryland.

In the third place there was a prospect of what speculative Wall street calls "melon cutting," to give a special inducement in several instances.

Increase in the Louisville and Nashville capital, with a consequent extra stock distribution, has long been in view. There was belated recognition to-day in the sharp jump in Atlantic Coast Line for which, as the owner of a majority interest in the Louisville road said, this recapitalization means much. The new high record for Union Pacific drew more attention to the possibility of another distribution to Union Pacific share owners, of the stocks of other companies held in its treasury similar to that of over a decade ago.

Low priced non-dividend paying rails were not as a rule drawn along in the advance. Among the industrials there was still a great deal of profit taking, which in the last hour rather checked the advance and brought about some recession in many of the leaders. But as against this, operations for the rise went on in the Tobaccos in several of the Motors, and in a number of specialties of the type of Iron Products and Austin Nichols.

Outside of the stock market the day was unimportant. Foreign exchange rates did scarcely anything one way or the other. The disposition was for the exchange market to stay down around its present level and await the next developments in the German reparations situation.

ACTIVE INVESTMENT OPINION.

Expert Comment on the Security Market, Finance, Business, and Politics.

No indication yet of any change to trend, but discrimination necessary in making purchases to get best results.—Prince & Whitely.

We are not bearish and most assuredly we would not think of short selling. But we are at a period when we should expect to see signs of reaction and the beter the market looks at this time the more reasonable is it to take profits.—Hornblower & Weeks.

There are many traders, especially among the professional element, who expect some reaction in stocks at this level, but on the whole, bullish sentiment for a long pull overwhelmingly predominates.—A. A. Housman & Co.

The market fails to impress one with reality. Specialties are bid up to new high prices while the general list churns without getting anywhere. Livingston & Co.

On any settlement of the railroad strike, the equipment issues should have a further advance.—Brumley, Chamberlin & Co.

The only objectionable point is the market's technical position. This is a subject that has not received any consideration recently, but it is not advisable to ignore it because when we have such a situation, sharp reactions come when least expected. —Thomson & McKinnon.

MARKET NEWS AND ITEMS.

From Banking and Stock Exchange Circles.

In some quarters of the Street it is held that those who take a bear position on the market at present are likely to be "swallowed up in the yawning abyss of an investment demand that has seldom been equalled."

The higher prices now likely to prevail for coal are confidently expected in well-informed quarters to steadily increase the demand for fuel oil and the stocks of companies supplying it.

New Haven (NH) is being put in a class of low-priced rails to be preferred against others. It is said the company is coming back in earnings much faster than expected by the management.

NEWS IN TABLOID FROM THE BUSINESS VIEWPOINT.

Average price 20 rails, 93.51, up 1.32.

REACTION WAS TECHNICAL.

New York—By the way the stock market gained ground to-day, there was left little doubt but that the reaction of Wednesday was a technical one. General Motors sold at within a half-point of its year's high on the expectation of resumption of dividends within the next six months. Int. Paper made another new high at around 60. This stock is out of line with the rest of market, and it promises to be a speculative favourite in the not distant future.

Canadian Market. — Considerable buying power came into the local market to-day, and new highs were made by Bell Tel. and Montreal Power. Riordon sold near $10.00. This is double what it was a week ago when it was being recommended as an excellent speculation in these columns. Spanish River issues act well. It is being predicted in quarters close to the inside that the shares will shortly sell higher than they did in 1920 or at more than 30 points above the present market.

Mining. — There was enormous trading in th mines to-day, total sales being over 550,000 shares. Holly sold at 13.30 and Lake Shore at $3.00. Trading started in Davidson Cons at 35. The shares later advanced to 37 1-4 and are spoken of as going higher Teck Hughes at 86 holds its gain of yesterday. In Silver Crown Reserve was strong at 25 and Ophir at 5 was up 1 point. The public are in the market in a big way and prices look a long way from top.

"NOTHING TO SAY."

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.— (Canadian Press.)—"Nothin gto say," was the brief reply of union leaders and railroad heads alike to inquiries concerning the straike situation to-day, pending developments next Monday, when Judge Wilkerson is due to hear Attorney General Daugherty's application to make Government's strike injunction against railway organiaztion permanent.

New and Interesting Facts from Science and Life

How the "RADIO COP" POLICES THE AIR

KEEP off the air!" Such is the command of the newest official—the "radio cop." The use of the radio is fast becoming so widespread that laws and regulations must be formulated to maintain the ether or radio highways and byways in the most efficient condition for the great majority of radio amateur novices, commercial companies, and government stations. The ether is not a limitless medium so far as the present radio practice is concerned, and it is even now quite evident that with the ever-increasing number of radiophone and radio telegraph stations in operation, stringent rules must be followed in order to reduce interference to a minimum.

How are the laws enforced? Why does a person have to bother with a license for transmitting? Cannot the transmitting equipment be purchased and clandestinely installed and operated? These questions, which are often asked by persons not intimately familiar with the way of things in radio, are answered by a writer in the Scientific American.

Under the present system any piece of radio equipment can be purchased without formality. It can be installed without formality. But when it comes to operating a transmitter, a license must be obtained in short order or the operator soon faces the government authorities on the charge of violating certain laws of the land.

Just how the unlicensed transmitter is run down to earth is a far simpler matter than is apparent to the laity. In the first place, the present system of transmitting licenses makes it necessary for every transmitter to use a "call"—a combination of numerals and letters not unlike the automobile license, and serving virtually the same end. Therefore, since these "calls" are published in various forms and are in the possession of all amateurs, any unknown "call" or duplicated "call" immediately becomes the subject of much suspicion. Secondly, the dyed-in-the-wool radio amateur is critically attentive to radio activities at all times. Nothing escapes him in his broad vicinity. Any infraction of the radio laws, such as transmitting on a wave length beyond the allotted amateur range, he soon reports to the radio inspector of his district. Finally, the radio inspectors, with the aid of amateurs, can soon locate the unlicensed transmitter within a small territory, and by a little detective work the station is finally discovered and visited.

There is no such thing as hiding the radio transmitter indefinitely. Even if the aerial is inclosed in a chimney or strung in an attic, the offending transmitter can be found. If necessary, the radio inspector and his staff can use the radio compass principle, as shown in the accompanying illustration. The radio compass consists simply of a wooden frame that holds a number of turns of wire, these turns serving both as the antenna and ground connections for a receiving set. The loop, as this arrangement is called, is a directional affair. It receives best when pointing end on toward the transmitting station. By getting directional bearings on the clandestine transmitter at two different points and laying out the directional lines on a map, it becomes possible to discover the exact location of the transmitting station, which is the point where the lines cross. During the war the radio compass was employed for locating hidden radio transmitters, but in normal times such an arrangement is rarely employed. The mere fact that it is available should be sufficient to prevent transmitters from operating without licenses.

As a whole, the radio amateur and radio novice are a most law-abiding folk, and a letter from the radio inspector, informing them that they are violating a law or regulation, is generally sufficient to correct violations. Again, the radio inspectors are at all times assured the watchful services of amateurs and novices in their respective territories, thus simplifying a task that would be well nigh impossible with the limited personnel now available for the radio inspection service.

Why You Should Get Out of Bed Slowly

GET out of bed slowly if you would avoid trouble," is the latest scientific advice. Scientists now say that if you get out of bed suddenly you throw your internal mechanism out of gear, so to speak, and for an entire day you may not recover entirely from the sudden awakening of the nervous system in response to the quick work demanded of it.

How often do you awaken leisurely, as you are now told you should, stretch delightfully and yawn a few times, throw the arms over the head, and one by one get the senses marshalled into their proper place?

How often do you struggle back from that wonderful borderland of sleep inch by inch, fighting yourself into earth conditions again, to take up the burdens of a new day?

You wake with a start and get up quickly. And experts are beginning to see that it is not natural, and they are telling you so, with very little results, so far, perhaps.

People of today are nervous and hustling. It has been known for years that seldom was there a person who knew how to sleep properly; now scientists are beginning to find out that most persons do not waken properly.

During sleep the vital organs are at rest. The vitality is consequently low and the circulation is weak. To jump from bed as soon as one opens one's eyes is to start the blood pumping too suddenly, and if the heart is weak there is likely to be trouble. If it is not, the process carried through a long period of time will tend to make it weak.

It is not often you are given such agreeable advice, based on expert medical opinion as in this case. You are told to "lie awake at least five minutes before arising."

"Stretch every limb," continues the medical man, "and a few minutes spent in reading would be an excellent habit.

"Think of it, you tired women who were up late at a bridge party, or mothers who were up late nursing a sick baby to health—think what probability there is of you following that advice.

"Think of it, you hurried business men who do not take time to eat breakfast rightly, who snatch a bit of toast and a few swallows of coffee, which more than likely burns your mouth, and then rush out on your way to the office!

"Think of it, young people who are hastening away to school in the morning with your eyes about half open! Sounds good, doesn't it? No doubt it is good."

How METAL Is MELTED Under WATER

A NEW invention has come to the aid of divers who salvage sunken ships, in the shape of an instrument for cutting through metal plates under water. The instrument cuts by means of a small but intensely hot electric flame that travels slowly along the submerged plate, melting the metal that comes in contact with it.

Although working in water, the electric arc flame slices a way through the iron as easily as a knife passes through butter.

Down the stem of the tool run a couple of thin tubes through which gas is forced. This gas does not burn, but performs the work of driving the water away from the tips of the arc and, further, for blowing the molten metal to one side as it is cut through.

When the diver descends to a wreck, he marks the iron plate where he wishes to cut it, and then brings his torch into play, the point of the arc slowly moving along the marked line.

The moment the tool is brought to bear, the arc is switched on, and at the same time the gas flows out of the two tubes, so that the hot flame is actually burning in a little pocket of gas.

In this way iron or steel plates are cut as rapidly as if they were in open air—a vast improvement on the old method of sawing, or the still more unsatisfactory method of blasting.

While in New York harbor the British ship Lord Dufferin was rammed. She sank immediately, with 65 feet of stern set off.

At first she offered considerable difficulty to the divers, as a great piece of her steel hull had been bent, and had driven deep into the mud. But the electric cutting tool solved the difficulty. Rapidly the awkward mass was sliced off and the freed ship was soon floated to the surface.

Another instance of the cutting tool repairing an otherwise almost unmendable break was in the case of a huge water main on the bed of a river, 50 feet below the surface, and badly broken at one point.

Divers went down and soon cut out the shattered section, which was hauled to the surface. Then a new section of pipe was lowered into position and the divers welded it into place as effectively as if they were carrying out the job in a workshop.

At the time the river water was nearly at freezing point, but this did not in any way affect the heat of the arc flame! Within 10 days after the accident the normal water supply was again flowing through the main, a masterpiece of diver's workmanship.

Perfume to Disinfect City Streets

WITH a view to using bath salts to perfume city streets the chemical experiment station, conducted by New York City, is investigating two chemicals of great importance to public health.

One of the remarkable agents is trioxychlorcresolphenol, a highly scented ingredient, which has been found to be destructive to germs, insects and fungus growths.

As the ratio of a chemical to water is 1 to 1000, City Chemist Kleeberg of New York believes it is possible to sprinkle the city streets with this sanitary fluid. The odor of perfume following application of the liquid is purely a side issue.

Deodorol, the product of Dr. Maximilian Toch, is the second ingredient to be added to sanitation. It is claimed by the inventor of this chemical that it will purify sewage to the consistency of pure water, and its use for filtration of sewer discharge is predicted.

The action of deodorol upon garbage also has been under observation. It is said that this agent will transform vegetable waste into a product that can be used for fertilizer without recourse to expensive reduction plants now in use.

Dr. Toch said that the germs of whooping cough had been discovered in garbage cans, while other fungus growths and germs are common.

Is the Blonde More Susceptible to Hay Fever Than the Brunette?

NOW is the time when every hay fever fan in the interests of science should ask himself this crucial question: "Am I a brunette or a blond?"

For science has a glimmering of a new idea on the subject of hay fever, and earnestly desires statistics as to the complexions of hay fever victims. If a careful canvass proves that all hay fever fans are blonds, or that a substantial majority of them are, a strong incentive will have been aroused for careful research in a direction suggested by Maj. Charles Edward Woodruff, A. M., M. D., a surgeon in the U. S. Army.

Hitherto hay fever has baffled the doctors. It has been attributed to various causes, including the pollens of plants, such as ragweed and goldenrod. Some German investigator guessed that it might be cured by the administration of an extract of pollens, which he duly prepared. But it has been abundantly proved by observation and experiment that any dust is equally capable of acting as an irritant in some forms of hay fever, and that they can rage in places and seasons far from the possibility of pollen being in the air.

Maj. Woodruff's idea is that the fundamental cause of hay fever may be undue exposure to the actinic rays of the sun. The effects of such exposure would be sure to appear among blonds more than brunettes, since the former lack the protective pigmentation of the latter.

The American habit of getting sunburned and tanned is blamed by Maj. Woodruff for many ills, including neurasthenia, "the American disease." And it is not to the heat rays of the sun that he attributes the mischief, but the light rays, those of short wave length, embracing the violet, indigo, blue and ultra-violet.

Blonds have no business to expose themselves to those actinic rays, which are destructive to the protoplasm of the nerve cells, according to Maj. Woodruff in his book, "Effects of Tropical Light on White Men."

While this is not a tropical climate, its summer sunshine is such that undue exposure to it may bring an inconvenient penalty sooner or later, even though the victim imagines he is baking himself to a rugged health.

Another remarkable fact is that farmers seldom get hay fever, although they breathe continually all the pollens afloat on all the breezes. Now, farmers are pigmented with a perennial tan much deeper and more resistant to the actinic rays than the feverish and fleeting tan acquired by the city man on his vacation. Moreover, they have sense enough to keep in the shade as much as possible and to wear big, shady hats when forced to go into the sunlight.

In fact, hay fever is essentially a scourge of what in England are called "the classes," and not of "the masses." It afflicts the rich, the intelligentsia, the aristocracy of the white collar. And those are the poor people whose pallid skins are most sensitive to the rays of the sun, especially when they happen to be blonds.

A survey of the complexions at the annual convention of the United States Hay Fever Association, which is usually held at some immune, or almost immune, coast or mountain resort each summer, should go far toward determining whether the blonds predominate. If after a careful inspection of polls the chairman should announce, between sneezes, "The blonds have it," an important step would have been taken toward the verification of Maj. Woodruff's hypothesis.

How SNOWFLAKES Form ICEBERGS

TO those who have set eyes on that dread enemy of the seafaring man, the mighty iceberg, it seems impossible that this huge object is the child of the softly falling snowflake. But the snow has to fall for many years for an iceberg to form high up on some frozen mountainside.

A hundred years is a rough estimate for the time it takes to form one of those colossal giants of the North, and in that time layer after layer of snow has fallen until the very weight compresses the bottom flakes into clear blue ice.

The mind of man cannot imagine the weight of this ice, but it is so terrific that the solid ice slowly slides down over the rough rocks in the form of glaciers and so at last reaches the sea.

Here, as the ice projects farther and farther into the water the pressure underneath snaps off huge lumps, which float away as icebergs.

The weight of some of the biggest icebergs is as much as 2,000,000,000 tons, according to the estimate of a writer in Pearson's Weekly, and they tower to a height of over 1000 feet above the waves.

Years ago sailors viewed an iceberg with superstitious dread, for these mighty masses would be seen churning their silent way through the sea right in the teeth of a gale and against sea currents. But the explanation is simple. An iceberg floats with seven-eighths of its mass below the surface. This huge bulk will be immersed in a current of water flowing southward, which has a far greater hold on it than the mere surface streams and wind.

An iceberg has one great and curious feature; it is its own executioner, and from the moment it sets sail it is gradually dying. As the sun's rays strike it, the surface is continually melting, and pours off in rushing streams.

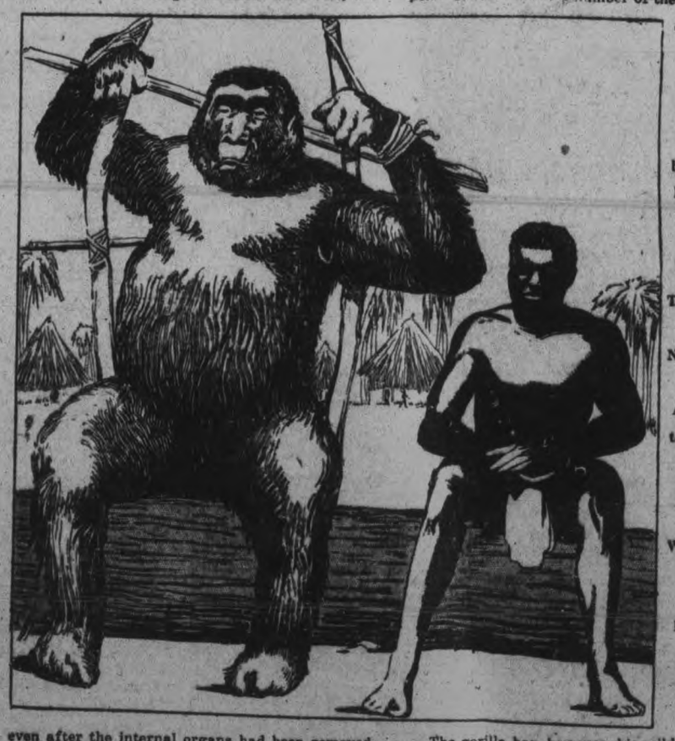
This water, which is fresh, is lighter than the salt sea water, and so floats on the surface, wrapping round the berg like a warm blanket. This has the effect of making the ice melt still more quickly, for fresh water is more readily warmed than salt, and so aids in the general destruction.

A half-melted iceberg is much more dangerous to passing ships than a new one, for, due to the melting, the centre of balance is gradually altered, and the berg may suddenly lurch over and crush a ship near-by.

Ships avoid bergs as they would the plague, but on one famous occasion a ship actually sought help from one. The skipper, Dr. Kane, an American, who had gone in search of the lost Franklin expedition, ran out of fuel many miles from land. A drifting iceberg gave him the chance that he craved for. He hitched his ship to it and was towed for many miles dead in the teeth of wind and wave and in the comparative calm of the iceberg's wake.

Why Sportsmen Say GORILLA Is Real KING of BEASTS

SPORTSMEN regard the gorilla as the most formidable adversary of the animal world. In the accompanying illustration is shown a giant gorilla killed after a terrific fight in the forests of Bambio in Africa. The size of the monster can be best appreciated by comparing him with the negro seated beside the dead body. The brute had a height of about nine feet, and even after the internal organs had been removed the frame weighed over 650 pounds. One of his hands alone weighed more than 11 pounds.



The Size of a Full Grown Gorilla Can Be Best Appreciated by Comparing Him with the Negro Seated Beside the Dead Body. This Specimen Is Nearly Nine Feet Tall, and Even After the Internal Organs Had Been Removed the Frame Weighed Over 650 Pounds. One of the Hands Alone Weighed More Than 11 Pounds.

The death of the gorilla here pictured was an occasion of great rejoicing, and a feast lasting several days took place, to which members of the tribe came from far and near. The gorilla is a troublesome neighbor to any village and causes great destruction by his raids. Sometimes when his depredations get beyond bearing a gathering of the villagers takes place and a hunt is organized. This is seldom successful except at the expense of the lives of a number of the hunters.

The gorilla has, however, his milder moments, and there is a legend among the elders of the tribes that if the brute comes across a man wandering in the forest he will not kill him unless resistance is offered. He will turn him about, examine him curiously and after a while let him go.

Of late years science has been more and more eager to know in intimate detail the habits and family life of the gorillas. These huge and marvelously powerful and highly intelligent relatives of mankind bear a close relationship to civilized man, and offer many and perplexing problems which anthropologists are desirous of studying.

But of all creatures on the face of the earth science knows least about the gorilla. These great anthropoid apes live in the midst of the African wilderness in a comparatively small area of almost impenetrable jungle. Science has been able to gather little trustworthy information from the natives who live in the vicinity of the apes. The savages are in terror of the huge creatures, and prefer to see and know as little as possible about them.

When scientists push their way through to the edge of the gorilla country, they find themselves unable to get much more than distant views and an occasional shot at a passing gorilla.

Other animals can be captured and held in captivity for observation and experiment. But nobody has ever succeeded in capturing a full-grown live gorilla, and even the baby gorillas which have been brought safely out of the jungle alive have never lived long in captivity.

And now the American Museum of Natural History has undertaken to supply science with the information it lacks. Several months ago an expedition of half a dozen and more, under the leadership of Mr. Carl E. Akeley, the eminent scientist and big-game hunter, was organized and sent to the African jungle. The expedition was especially and peculiarly equipped thoroughly to cover everything of interest and scientific importance in regard to man's gigantic African relatives.

How little is known about gorillas is proved by the intense interest excited by the young gorilla, John Daniel. He was four and a half years old, and was the first gorilla to live to that age in captivity. He displayed the most remarkable intelligence and human ways. He sat down at table and ate like a well-behaved boy, cleaned up the plates, and made his own bed, but just when scientists were beginning to learn new facts about living gorillas, John Daniel died.

The most interesting observation from John Daniel's remains was an explanation why the gorilla cannot talk like a man. Beneath the tongue of Daniel the muscles were divided into some five unconnected groups. In man the muscles are spread out into the shape of a fan, with infinite numbers of small fibres, by which the tongue can move with great rapidity and utter every word that makes up language—as many as 170 words per minute. The ape can only scream, squeak, and howl. Of his method of communication with his mates scientists have little knowledge, but there is reason to believe that the gorilla can express more by his noises than other animals.

...LEAP... ST TO SYRACUSE BY A NINTH INNING RALLY

St. Louis Again Drops to Second Place in the American League Race —Homer For Williams.

INTERNATIONAL.

Syracuse 4, Toronto 3.

TORONTO, September 9 (Canadian Press). — Syracuse defeated Toronto here yesterday by 4 to 3, scoring the winning run in the ninth inning on McCurdy's triple and Taggart's single. Score:

Syracuse	200010001	4	8 1
Toronto	000100200	3	5 2

Dyer, Montgomery, Stewart and McCurdy; Baumgartner and Vincent.

Buffalo 6, Rochester 5.

BUFFALO, September 9 Canadian Press). — Buffalo and Rochester staged a great battle yesterday, the Bisons winning 6 to 5. The sensational part came in the last innings, when Leach, a newcomer in the International, hit over the right field fence, which is some feat. Rochester, in their ninth, pulled up to within one run of a tie by getting to Heitman for five hits and three runs. Score:

Rochester	000010013	5	10 4
Buffalo	00000312x	6	9 4

Keenan, Cox, Gordonier and Lake; Heitman and Urban.

AMERICAN.

Detroit 8, St. Louis 3.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., September 9 (Canadian Press). — St. Louis dropped to second place in the American League pennant race yesterday by losing to Detroit 8 to 3, while New York defeated Washington 8 to 1. New York is now in the lead by half a game. Detroit did not tally an assist until the eighth inning, when Shorten, batting for Shocker, grounded to Cutshaw. Blue executed two double plays unassisted.

Kenneth Williams knocked his thirty-sixth home run of the season, regaining the major league home run lead. It was the fourth home run by Williams in the last four games.

George Sisler got two hits out of three, making 37 consecutive games in which he has hit safely. This is only three under the modern major league record.

Bobby Veach clouted two four-baggers, with a man on base each time. Both were off Shocker. Score:

Detroit	300200201	8	13 2
St. Louis	000000300	3	5 3

Chicago 7, Cleveland 2.

CHICAGO, September 9 (Canadian Press). — Chicago made it two straight from Cleveland yesterday, winning 7 to 2. Score:

Cleveland	200000000	2	8 2
Chicago	30110200x	7	10 0

Boston 2, Philadelphia 1.

BOSTON, September 9 (Canadian Press). — Boston only made four hits off Hasty yesterday, but beat Philadelphia 2 to 1.

The visitors' run came in the first after J. Harris' two-base muff, B. Miller's single, and a wild pitch. W. Collins' single in the sixth, followed by two errors by Galloway gave Boston a run and the Red Sox scored again the seventh on J. Harris' double, a fielders' choice play, and O'Rourke's single. Score:

Boston	00000110x	2	4 1

Hasty and Bruggy, Perkins; W. Collins and Ruel.

New York 8, Washington 1.

NEW YORK, September 9 (Canadian Press). — The Yankees slugged Walter Johnson hard here yesterday, and easily defeated Washington in the first contest of a two-game series by a score of 8 to 1. Score:

Washington	000001000	1	9 4
New York	20002400x	8	13 1

Johnson, Erickson and Picinich; Mays and Schang.

NATIONAL.

Philadelphia 8, New York 4.

PRILADELPHIA, September 9 (Canadian Press). — Hard hitting and excellent pitching by Lee Meadows enabled Philadelphia to beat New York yesterday 8 to 4 and even the series. Art Nehf was hit hard by the Phillies from the fourth inning on. Fifteen hits, including two triples and four doubles were made by the locals. Meadows had one bad inning, the second, when four hits and a base on balls gave the Giants four runs. Score:

Philadelphia	00022013x	8	15 0

Nehf and Smith; Meadows and Henline.

St. Louis 6, Cincinnati 1.

CINCINNATI, September 9 (Canadian Press). — Pfeffer's pitching stopped the Reds after the first inning yesterday, and St. Louis won 6 to 1. Hornsby made his thirty-fifth home run of the season, with no one on base, in the fourth inning. Score:

St. Louis	000110040	6	8 2
Cincinnati	100000000	1	6 3

Pfeffer and Clemons; Couch, Gillespie and Hargrave.

Chicago 10, Pittsburgh 7.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., September 9 (Canadian Press). — An eighth inning rally by Chicago, which netted four runs, upset the Pirates' chance to gain a notch on New York in the pennant race. The score was Chicago 10, Pittsburgh 7. Score:

Pittsburgh	100131010	7	13 1

Aldridge, Cheeves, Kaufmann and O'Farrell, Wirts; Hamilton, Carlson, Brown, Morrison and Gooch.

INEVITABLE.

"J. J. McGraw now plans to quit!"
Five years ago these lines were writ.
But still beyond all chance for cure
He finds the pastime's ancient lure.
For when the fever's in your bones,
In spite of pessimistic groans,
When passing years have gone and gone,
There's something beckons on and on,
There's something calls one to the field.
With club and ball, or sword and shield,
We, too, have mapped out our retreat,
Only to find that we must eat."

Unsigned Letters

Several letters have been received recently by the sports editor to which the writers have not affixed their signatures, and as has been pointed out several times before, no attention will be paid to such communications. Writers must put their name and address on every letter as an evidence of good faith, and if it is desired that the name be not published, a request to that effect is all that is necessary. Correspondents are also asked to write on only one side of the paper.

GIRL TO UNDERTAKE SWIM ACROSS THE CHANNEL

MISS IVY HAWKE

Miss Ivy Hawke is the Surbition (England) girl of 19 who intends to try swimming across the English Channel soon. She has been training for several months and awaits only ideal weather.

From Dover to Cape Cris Nez in an air line is only about 20 miles, but there are strong tides and currents to breast. These necessitate zig-zagging, which greatly adds to the distance.

Captain Matthew Webb, who lost his life later in attempting to negotiate Niagara Rapids, swam from Dover to Calais in 1875 in 21 hours, 35 minutes. William T. Burgess in 1911 swam, in 22 hours, 35 minutes, from the South Foreland, Dover, to Le Chatelet, a French village, near Cape Gris Nez.

CHILDREN'S SPORTS AT THE EXHIBITION

Field Day For Both Boys and Girls Will Be the Feature For Next Wednesday.

Wednesday next will be children's day at the Peterborough Exhibition and the management has arranged a series of races for both boys and girls, which will be run off during the day. Prizes will be awarded the winners of each event and are on exhibition in Roland Denne's window.

Names of those who wish to enter must be in the hands of Walter Smaill at the Y.M.C.A. not later than 6 o'clock Tuesday evening, September 12, and entry forms may be found on page 4 of The Examiner for Thursday, September 7.

Each competitor will be required to wear his or her school colors as an arm-band.

The events will include five races for boys and five for girls as follows:

Sack race for boys under 12 years.

Three-legged race for boys under 14 years.

Wheelbarrow race for boys under 16.

Potato race for girls under 12 years.

Peas and spoon race for girls under 14 years.

Hobble skirt race for girls under 16 years.

Shuttle race, open to girls of Public and Separate schools.

GIRLS' GAME.

The Girls' League game scheduled last evening between the C.G.E. and Brintons was called at the end of the fourth inning on account of darkness, and will be replayed Monday evening at King Edward Park.

MEN'S SOFT BALL LEAGUE TO START.

A meeting of the Peterborough Softball Association was held on Wednesday evening in the Empress Hotel. The following teams were represented: Kiwanis, Rotary, K. of C., Firemen, Lawn Bowlers, De Laval, Canadian Woollens, Quakers, C.G.E., Engineers, Raybestos, Brinton Carpet.

Capt. Munroe was appointed a member of the Executive.

W. Perks, G. Langley and A. Butcher were appointed a committee to draw up the schedule.

Each club is allowed to register fifteen players.

A player will not be allowed to participate in any game unless he be duly registered with the Secretary.

It was decided that the entrance fee of $5 must be paid to the Secretary at the next meeting to be held in the Empress Hotel on Sept. 20 at 7.30 o'clock.

It is the intention of the Executive to get the league under way on Monday, Sept. 25, if possible.

It will be of interest to the participating clubs to know that at the next meeting on Sept. 20 President J. E. Sullivan is arranging with Alex Kay to have the referees on hand to discuss fully the league rules and playing rules. Each club should arrange to have at least one or more representatives at this meeting.

TUG-OF-WAR AT THE EXHIBITION

Several Entries Already Received For Feature Event on September 15.

One of the big features of the Peterborough Exhibition will be the tug-of-war, which will be held on September 15. This event is open to teams from any club or organization in the district, and several entries have already been received. The teams from the local police and fire departments have been getting into shape and are looking to carry off some of the honors. Some entries have already been received from teams representing the counties and villages in this vicinity and industrial concerns in the city, and these men are expected to give a good account of themselves.

Teams wishing to take part should enter their names with F. J. A. Hall, Secretary; R. Denne, J. Frazer of the Bank of Nova Scotia, or Walter Smaill at the Y.M.C.A.

The following rules will govern the contests:

1.—Ten men shall compose a team.

2.—Each team shall be allowed one coach.

3.—At the start the rope shall be taut and the centre tape shall be over the centre line and the competitors outside the sidelines. During no part of the pull shall the rope be tied or in any way crossed by the anchor man, nor shall he wilfully place either hand on the ground.

4.—The inspectors shall take charge of the teams and see that members of each team do not wilfully touch the ground with any part of the body other than the feet and report to the judge any infringement of this rule.

5.—It shall be in the discretion of the judges to disqualify the offending team and award the pull in question to the opposing side, or he may disqualify the offending team from the competition.

6.—A pull shall be won when one team shall have pulled the side tape of the opposing team over their own sideline, or if any portion of the foot of any competitor of the opposing side go beyond the centre line.

7.—No competitor shall make any hole in the ground with his foot, or in any other way, before the start.

8.—All heats shall be won by two pulls out of three.

9.—No prepared boots or shoes, heel plates (sunken or otherwise), projecting nail tips, springs, Blakeys, points, hollows or projections will be allowed.

10.—No gloves or abhesive substances whatever shall be used on the hands or on the rope.

11.—Where three teams only compete the team drawing the bye shall pull off for second prize if defeated by the winner of the first round.

12.—Teams shall change ends after each pull, or if the ground is cut up too much shall be moved to new ground.

O.A.C. SPORTS FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

Events Will Be Open to All Pupils in Peterboro and the Surrounding Counties.

Preparations are well under way for the field day to be held Saturday afternoon, September 23, under the auspices of the Ontario Athletic Commission, and open to all school children from the following counties: York, Ontario, Victoria, Haliburton, Durham, Northumberland and Peterborough.

The local committee in charge of the affair consists of Dr. R. W. Frank, representing the P.A.A.A.; Walter Smaill, representing the Ontario Athletic Commission; Jack Sullivan and J. Corkery, representing the Separate schools, and Joe Munro and Maurice Park, representing the Public schools.

Entries should be made to any of the above representatives as soon as possible. The events are for boys and girls from the junior schools who have not passed their entrance exams.

The events will include:

75-yard dash for boys 13 years and under; running broad jump for boys 13 years and under.

100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, running broad jump, running high jump, pole vault and 8-pound shot put for boys 15 years and under.

Half-mile relay race. Four boys to a team, all of whom must be from the same school.

75-yard dash for girls 15 years and under.

Diamond Dust

Leaside still has two games to play with Belleville. If the Peacock boys can trim the lakeshore crew twice, the Petes and Cobourg will have a chance to jump into first place, but must both win today to do so.

Something rather odd about passing one batter to get the next man up in the St. Louis-Brooklyn game of August 17. In the first inning Wheat was purposely passed to get Myers, and Hi hit a single and scored a run. In the fifth inning Wheat again was passed to get the same Hi Myers, and Hi hit a single and scored two runs. Somebody running loose in the strategy department.

Coming down to brass tacks, would it be any worse for Phil Douglas to stay away from the Giants, if some one paid him to, than it would be for some club to pay a player's salary to keep him from joining a rival club? Not saying anything like that ever happened, of course.

"CHICK" EVANS TO MEET SWITZER FOR THE GOLF HONORS

Finals For U. S. National Golf Championship Will Be Played To-Day at Brookline.

GOOD PLAY.

The Country Club, Brookline, Mass., September 9. Canadian Press. —Jesse Sweetzer, of New York, Metropolitan champion and Charles E. (Chick) Evans of Chicago, best of the west, will meet to-day to decide the national amateur golf championship for 1922. They advanced to the final round of the 26th United States Golf Association tournament for the title yesterday in semi-final matches that were marked by their mastery both of the mechanics of play and the human element represented by opponents of high rank.

Bobby Jones of Atlanta, champion of the south, went down seven holes short of the 36 hole distance before the sweeping and record breaking strokes of Sweetzer. The golfing artistry of Chick Evans, which has brought him two national amateur and one national open title, the championship of France and the leadership in the west, was exemplified anew at the expense of little Rudy Knepper, his fellow-westerner from Sioux City. This was the greater defeat, 11 up and 9 to play, but the score of 8 up 7 to play, by which Jones fell on his fifth national amateur championship wayside, was the days surprise.

(By George O'Neil).

For years I practiced with a pendulum stroke using an ordinary Schenectady after I had most reluctantly adopted that club. But I was not satisfied for I was anxious to make my putting stroke as reliable as the others, and it seemed to me that almost no one was able to do that. A golfer appeared to regard a good putt as a gift from heaven, while a good drive was the result of a correct method. Therefore my constant change has been a quest for the comparatively certain method and whether we can get it I do not know.

One of the climbing amateurs of the South is Frank A. Godchaux, of the sugar plantation Godchaux of New Orleans. He is a sturdy youth with a superb golf style and no doubt a great deal more would have been heard about him in southern golf events had not Bobby Jones claimed such widespread attention.

UMPIRES HESITATE TO CALL THE THIRD.

Hesitancy on the part of umpires to call a third strike is causing many of the wrangles this season. An umpire hates to call the third one, and unless a pitcher cuts the plate he is likely to find the umpire calling it a ball.

Pitchers rarely cut the plate. They work for the corners. The umpire gives them the corners until the batsman has two strikes, and then the umpire calls the same "corner" balls bad.

Bill Evans "gives" the pitcher the corner after he has two strikes on a batter, and for this reason pitchers would sooner see Evans behind the plate than any man in the league.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL LEAGUE MAY PLAY AT EXHIBITION

The Exhibition Board has offered the Girls' Softball League the use of the grounds on Thursday afternoon for the games between the Bonner-Worth and Quakers and C.G.E. and Colonials. The matter will be brought under discussion at the meeting of the Executive in the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Tuesday evening.

Fred Merkle's Blunder the Most Costly Ever Made

BASEBALL'S BIGGEST BONERS

Usually failure to follow some simple rule of baseball produces the worst kind of bonehead plays on the ball field.

Ninety-nine times out of a hundred, the failure to properly complete the play, is not due to lack of knowledge, but rather to sheer carelessness on the part of some player.

Failure to touch a base is the easiest way to create a bonehead play. As long as baseball is played players will continue to fail to touch the bases.

If such failure does not prove costly, the omission is soon forgotten. Otherwise the careless player goes down in history in the list of "boneheads."

In all probability the most costly failure to touch a base is charged to Fred Merkle.

Chicago was playing New York. It was the ninth inning, the score was tied, two were out, and runners were on first and third. Merkle, then playing first base for the Giants, was the runner on first.

The batsman hit cleanly to the outfield, and the runner jogged across the plate with what was apparently the deciding run. Merkle, on first, ran within a few feet of second, and seeing the runner had crossed the plate, dashed for the club house.

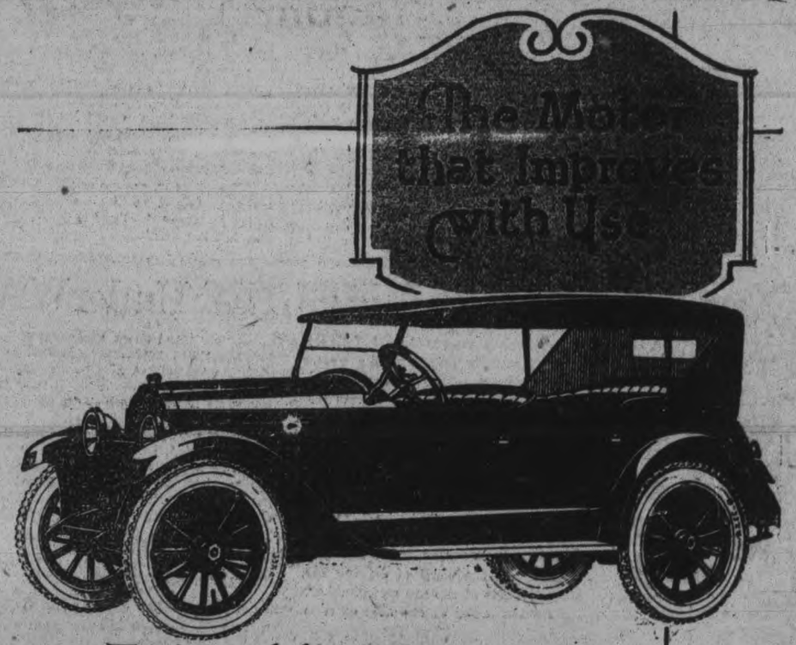
Johnny Evers, playing second for Chicago, called for the ball, which was thrown to him by Hoffman. In the meantime the crowd was surging on the field. Evers touched second and Merkle was called out. His failure to touch the bag, simply made a force play at second.

This retired the side and the rules state no runs can score on a play in which the third out is a force play. That erased the run that apparently had won the game.

The game was never finished, as it ended in a tie score. New York and Chicago tied in the pennant race that year. It was necessary to play an extra game to decide the championship. Chicago won the game and the right to play in the series.

Merkle's "bone" was the costliest ever made. Had he touched second the Giants would have won the pennant. The owners would have realized a small fortune and each player a fancy figure.

The Motor that Improves with Use



Enjoyable Motoring
—that is absolutely free from care

THE Willys-Knight motor, highest development of the Knight sleeve-valve principle, delivers a smooth, ceaseless, silent flow of power, greater than the power of any other engine of its size and weight.

Free from the troubles common to poppet valves, it turns carbon, that deadly enemy of most motors, into a friend and ally which builds up its power, so that it improves with use.

The car is especially designed to match the motor in long life and distinction. Its sturdy steel chassis beats off jolts and jars and holds the body permanently free from rattles and squeaks.

The Willys-Knight is fleet, comfortable, responsible —and a sound investment.

of the life of Christ in daily life and conversation. As with the process which purified water of its natural impurities, the thing to do was to raise the spiritual temperature of the church until all difficulties were eliminated. "A church that is cold is fractious and hard to handle." It was the little church on Main street that put the latest amendment into the constitution of the United States, "when the liquor interests, the politicians, the intellectuals, the press, the church and the labor organizations were all against it. This missionary task is in your hands."

Sundry Business.

It was decided to hold Sunday school and Epworth League Institutes on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of the week of October 20th to 27th, in Cavan, Lakefield and Pontypool, with a closing convention in Peterborough on Friday of the same week.

Rev. J. F. Beckell, of Bethany, was appointed to act as missionary secretary and draft a system of exchange for the Sunday following inaugural day. Rev. R. M. Patterson, of Fraserville, was appointed district statistical secretary, and the following appointments were made to the District Religious Education Council: Rev. S. T. Tucker, Millbrook, ex-officio; W. A. Jakeman, Warsaw, superintendent of Sunday school efficiency; Mrs. E. D. Lewis, Peterborough, superintendent of elementary grades; Mrs. J. F. Chapman, superintendent of girls' work; T. N. D. Kelly, Bridgenorth, superintendent of boys' work; Rev. A. J. Langford, Trinity church, superintendent of young people's work; Rev. J. A. Beckell, Bethany, superintendent of missionary work; Rev. H. Wilkinson, Pontypool, superintendent of adult work; Rev. R. M. Patterson, Fraserville, conference report of Epworth League; Rev. S. C. Reddick, Lakefield, district religious education secretary.

Those Present.

Ministers present were: Rev. A. J. Langford, Trinity church, Rev. H. W. Young, George street, Rev. J. F. Chapman, St. James' Methodist; Rev. G. E. Ross, Mark street church; Rev. S. T. Tucker, Millbrook; Rev. S. G. Rork, Cavan; Rev. R. M. Patterson, Fraserville; Rev. S. C. Reddick, Lakeefild;; Rev. P. H. Neville, Bridgenorth; Rev. J. A. Beckell, Bethany; Rev. H. Wilkinson, Pontypool. Laymen: H. C. Stabler, A. Stewart, B. F. Ackerman, A. R. Kidd, T. Sargeant, J. W. Speer, F. Kitney, F. Follis, H. Lowes, A. Dawson, A. Higgins, T. N. D. Kelly, Bridgenorth; Messrs. Carveth and W. Jakeman, Warsaw; E. Cain, Pontypool.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit. Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Metal and timber are essential in the building and construction arts from which spring all civilization, while farms and livestock are the basis of prosperity. As your agricultural section prospers, so will your city prosper. The city business man and the business man of the farm should join hands in making your county a more prosperous one. Better business for both, should be their aim.

TENNIS DRAW

At 3.30—Men's Singles.

S. T. Medd vs. James McKone.
Homer Meyers vs. F. C. Weber.

At 4.30—Mixed Doubles.

F. Bradburn and lady vs. Dr. A. W. McPherson and Miss Young.

Men's Doubles.

Gordon Langley and F. D. Kerr vs. Carmichael and Fitzgerald.

The draw for Tuesday will be in The Examiner on Monday evening. The entries for the ladies' singles will be received by Dr. McPherson until Wednesday noon. Friends of those who are participating will be extended the privileges of the Golf Club grounds for the purpose of witnessing the games in the tournament.

At The Theatres

ROYAL—Wm. Fox production, with Charles Jones in "Rough Shod" Fox comedy with Al St. John, in "The Village Sheik." Mutt and Jeff and Fox News. Special Vitagraph comedy, Larry Semon in "Dull Care."

CAJITOL— Mary McAvoy in "The Top of New York". Jimmy Aubrey's latest comedy "The Chicken Parade."

AT THE GRAND.

Another lareg audience witnessed the popular Jimmie Evans and his Revue Company at the Grand last evening, and if laughter and applause is any indication the present offering of "Hello Broadway" is even more popular that n the opening revue. Every skit, dance and song number was a decided hit, and there is no question as to this attraction giving the best evenings entertainment seen in Peterboro in several seasons.

The Evans' Revue will be here all next week (Fair Week) offering two complete changes of programme in the week. Nothing will be repeated in any way. The Revue offering for next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday is something entirely different, being of the Oriental nature, entitled "A Night in Chinatown." Special Oriental scenery and costumes are carried by Mr. Evans for this production. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday the offering is entitled "Love and Kisses," and Jimmie promises us it is just as good and refined as the title indicates.

On account of it being Fair Week would advise all to secure seats as early as possible for any night during the week. No advance in prices. For good clean enjoyable entertainment one cannot wish to see better than the Evans' Musical Revue.

THOMAS MEIGHAN AT THE CAPITOL ON MONDAY IN HIS GREATEST PICTURE SINCE "THE MIRACLE MAN" —"IF YOU BELIEVE IT, IT'S SO.." MATINEE DAILY AT 2.30 P.M., EVENING 8 O'CLOCK —NO ADVANCE IN PRICES.

FAITH BIG FACTOR IN PROMOTING SUCCESS.

Thomas Meighan Asserts If You Firmly Believe It, It Must Be So.

Faith is a tremendous factor in promoting the success of men in all walks of life, acording to Thomas Meighan, star in "If You Believe It, It's So." His theory is that if you believe a thing firmly, it must be so.

We believed in this story from the very start, said Mr. Meighan. "There's nothing like confidence in a thing to make it come out right. If you believe a thing firmly enough it will very likely be a fact before you're through believing in it and in a way that's the theme of the picture. After all, the big things that take place in the world all have a mental origin, and because somebody believed in them sufficiently, they were realised. If somebody hadn't believed that motion pictures were a possibility, there wouldn't be any such thing. Things don't happen—they're developed through consistent effort based on conviction. Every great discovery and every great world movement comes about in just this way.

"So I feel that I am willing to bank on my statement that this picture will be one of the best in which I have ever appeared. Paramount believes in it, and to prove it, gave

GENTLEMANLY HIGHWAYMEN IN HISTORY AND FICTION; GLAMOR OF "LONE BANDIT"

There are varying social levels, so to speak, among highwaymen as well as in other walks of life. The modern hold-up man of the city's dark thoroughfares is generally as we know, a brutal ruffian. But there are exceptions, in which he is found to be a man of some culture and education, impelled toward his unpopular trade through persistent mistortune.

Both history and old-time fiction have thrown a glamor of romance around the 'knight of the road" of former days who operated in the open country, "far from the mad-

ding crowd." Most of us have met, in our reading, the gentlemanly pursuer of stage coaches or equestrians —the man who, in language and tones of the drawing room, would rob a lady of purse and jewels with a low bow and sweep of his hat, meanwhile assuring her gently of her absolute personal safety if she "stood and delivered."

The polished Claude Duval, who was hanged at Tyburn, in England, in 1670, achieved fame and the admiration of the ladies in a degree far surpassing many a man of genius in the learned professions. "Sixteen-String Jack" has his niche in romance. One Brennan was acclaimed in song of old:

And Robin Hood—'Robin Hood and his Merry Men.' Was there ever a more picturesque knight of the road than he? Everyone is familiar with him and his woodland life. In song and story like he figures and in opera he has held the stage these many years.

Zane Grey, the distinguished writer of stirring stories of the American West, in his novel "The Last Trail' made a mysterious lone bandit the figure on which centered the entire development of the romance— a bandit operating at night on lonely roads in a moutainous region, and who was susceptible to the charm of a woman risking his life at times to be with her. This lone bandit has been transferred to the motion picture by William Fox, whose film version of "The Last Trail" is to open a run on Monday at the Royal Theatre. The story is a fascinating one, and the picture which is super-special production, was directed by Emmett J. Flynn.

How the "RADIO COP" POLICES THE AIR

KEEP off the air!" Such is the command of the newest official—the "radio cop." The use of the radio is fast becoming so widespread that laws and regulations must be formulated to maintain the ether or radio highways and byways in the most efficient condition for the great majority of radio amateur novices, commercial companies, and government stations. The ether is not a limitless medium so far as the present radio practice is concerned, and it is even now quite evident that with the ever-increasing number of radiophone and radio telegraph stations in operation, stringent rules must be followed in order to reduce interference to a minimum.

How are the laws enforced? Why does a person have to bother with a license for transmitting? Cannot the transmitting equipment be purchased and clandestinely installed and operated? These questions, which are often asked by persons not intimately familiar with the way of things in radio, are answered by a writer in the Scientific American.

Under the present system any piece of radio equipment can be purchased without formality. It can be installed without formality. But when it comes to operating a transmitter, a license must be obtained in short order or the operator soon faces the government authorities on the charge of violating certain laws of the land.

Just how the unlicensed transmitter is run down to earth is a far simpler matter than is apparent to the laity. In the first place, the present system of transmitting licenses makes it necessary for every transmitter to use a "call"—a combination of numerals and letters not unlike the automobile license, and serving virtually the same end. Therefore, since these "calls" are published in various forms and are in the possession of all amateurs, any unknown "call" or duplicated "call" immediately becomes the subject of much suspicion. Secondly, the dyed-in-the-wool radio amateur is critically attentive to radio activities at all times. Nothing escapes him in his broad vicinity. Any infraction of the radio laws, such as transmitting on a wave length beyond the allotted amateur range, he soon reports to the radio inspector of his district. Finally, the radio inspectors, with the aid of amateurs, can soon locate the unlicensed transmitter within a small territory, and by a little detective work the station is finally discovered and visited.

There is no such thing as hiding the radio transmitter indefinitely. Even if the aerial is inclosed in a chimney or strung in an attic, the offending transmitter can be found. If necessary, the radio inspector and his staff can use the radio compass principle, as shown in the accompanying illustration. The radio compass consists simply of a wooden frame that holds a number of turns of wire, these turns serving both as the antenna and ground connections for a receiving set. The loop, as this arrangement is called, is a directional affair. It receives best when pointing end on toward the transmitting station. By getting directional bearings on the clandestine transmitter at two different points and laying out the directional lines on a map, it becomes possible to discover the exact location of the transmitting station, which is the point where the lines cross. During the war the radio compass was employed for locating hidden radio transmitters, but in normal times such an arrangement is rarely employed. The mere fact that it is available should be sufficient to prevent transmitters from operating without licenses.

As a whole, the radio amateur and radio novice are a most law-abiding folk, and a letter from the radio inspector, informing them that they are violating a law or regulation, is generally sufficient to correct violations. Again, the radio inspectors are at all times assured the watchful services of amateurs and novices in their respective territories, thus simplifying a task that would be well nigh impossible with the limited personnel now available for the radio inspection service.

Is the Blonde More Susceptible to Hay Fever Than the Brunette?

NOW is the time when every hay fever fan in the interests of science should ask himself this crucial question: "Am I a brunette or a blond?"

For science has a glimmering of a new idea on the subject of hay fever, and earnestly desires statistics as to the complexions of hay fever victims. If a careful canvass proves that all hay fever fans are blonds, or that a substantial majority of them are, a strong incentive will have been aroused for careful research in a direction suggested by Maj. Charles Edward Woodruff, A. M., M. D., a surgeon in the U. S. Army.

Hitherto hay fever has baffled the doctors. It has been attributed to various causes, including the pollens of plants, such as ragweed and goldenrod. Some German investigator guessed that it might be cured by the administration of an extract of pollens, which he duly prepared. But it has been abundantly proved by observation and experiment that any dust is equally capable of acting as an irritant in some forms of hay fever, and that they can rage in places and seasons far from the possibility of pollen being in the air.

Maj. Woodruff's idea is that the fundamental cause of hay fever may be undue exposure to the actinic rays of the sun. The effects of such exposure would be sure to appear among blonds more than brunettes, since the former lack the protective pigmentation of the latter.

The American habit of getting sunburned and tanned is blamed by Maj. Woodruff for many ills, including neurasthenia, "the American disease." And it is not to the heat rays of the sun that he attributes the mischief, but the light rays, those of short wave length, embracing the violet, indigo, blue and ultra-violet.

Blonds have no business to expose themselves to those actinic rays, which are destructive to the protoplasm of the nerve cells, according to Maj. Woodruff in his book, "Effects of Tropical Light on White Men."

While this is not a tropical climate, its summer sunshine is such that undue exposure to it may bring an inconvenient penalty sooner or later, even though the victim imagines he is baking himself to a rugged health.

Another remarkable fact is that farmers seldom get hay fever, although they breathe continually all the pollens afloat on all the breezes. Now, farmers are pigmented with a perennial tan much deeper and more resistant to the actinic rays than the feverish and fleeting tan acquired by the city man on his vacation. Moreover, they have sense enough to keep in the shade as much as possible and to wear big, shady hats when forced to go into the sunlight.

In fact, hay fever is essentially a scourge of what in England are called "the classes," and not of "the masses." It afflicts the rich, the intelligentsia, the aristocracy of the white collar. And those are the poor people whose pallid skins are most sensitive to the rays of the sun, especially when they happen to be blonds.

A survey of the complexions at the annual convention of the United States Hay Fever Association, which is usually held at some immune, or almost immune, coast or mountain resort each summer, should go far toward determining whether the blonds predominate. If after a careful inspection of polls the chairman should announce, between sneezes, "The blonds have it," an important step would have been taken toward the verification of Maj. Woodruff's hypothesis.

How SNOWFLAKES Form ICEBERGS

TO those who have set eyes on that dread enemy of the seafaring man, the mighty iceberg, it seems impossible that this huge object is the child of the softly falling snowflake. But the snow has to fall for many years for an iceberg to form high up on some frozen mountainside.

A hundred years is a rough estimate for the time it takes to form one of those colossal giants of the North, and in that time layer after layer of snow has fallen until the very weight compresses the bottom flakes into clear blue ice.

The mind of man cannot imagine the weight of this ice, but it is so terrific that the solid ice slowly slides down over the rough rocks in the form of glaciers and so at last reaches the sea.

Here, as the ice projects farther and farther into the water the pressure underneath snaps off huge lumps, which float away as icebergs.

The weight of some of the biggest icebergs is as much as 2,000,000,000 tons, according to the estimate of a writer in Pearson's Weekly, and they tower to a height of over 1000 feet above the waves.

Years ago sailors viewed an iceberg with superstitious dread, for these mighty masses would be seen churning their silent way through the sea right in the teeth of a gale and against sea currents. But the explanation is simple. An iceberg floats with seven-eighths of its mass below the surface. This huge bulk will be immersed in a current of water flowing southward, which has a far greater hold on it than the mere surface streams and wind.

An iceberg has one great and curious feature; it is its own executioner, and from the moment it sets sail it is gradually dying. As the sun's rays strike it, the surface is continually melting, and pours off in rushing streams.

This water, which is fresh, is lighter than the salt sea water, and so floats on the surface, wrapping round the berg like a warm blanket. This has the effect of making the ice melt still more quickly, for fresh water is more readily warmed than salt, and so aids in the general destruction.

A half-melted iceberg is much more dangerous to passing ships than a new one, for, due to the melting, the centre of balance is gradually altered, and the berg may suddenly lurch over and crush a ship near-by.

Ships avoid bergs as they would the plague, but on one famous occasion a ship actually sought help from one. The skipper, Dr. Kane, an American, who had gone in search of the lost Franklin expedition, ran out of fuel many miles from land. A drifting iceberg gave him the chance that he craved for. He hitched his ship to it and was towed for many miles dead in the teeth of wind and wave and in the comparative calm of the iceberg's wake.

Why You Should Get Out of Bed Slowly

GET out of bed slowly if you would avoid trouble," is the latest scientific advice. Scientists now say that if you get out of bed suddenly you throw your internal mechanism out of gear, so to speak, and for an entire day you may not recover entirely from the sudden awakening of the nervous system in response to the quick work demanded of it.

How often do you awaken leisurely, as you are now told you should, stretch delightfully and yawn a few times, throw the arms over the head, and one by one get the senses marshalled into their proper place?

How often do you struggle back from that wonderful borderland of sleep inch by inch, fighting yourself into earth conditions again, to take up the burdens of a new day?

You wake with a start and get up quickly. And experts are beginning to see that it is not natural, and they are telling you so, with very little results, so far, perhaps.

People of today are nervous and hustling. It has been known for years that seldom was there a person who knew how to sleep properly; now scientists are beginning to find out that most persons do not waken properly.

During sleep the vital organs are at rest. The vitality is consequently low and the circulation is weak. To jump from bed as soon as one opens one's eyes is to start the blood pumping too suddenly, and if the heart is weak there is likely to be trouble. If it is not, the process carried through a long period of time will tend to make it weak.

It is not often you are given such agreeable advice, based on expert medical opinion as in this case. You are told to "lie awake at least five minutes before arising."

"Stretch every limb," continues the medical man, "and a few minutes spent in reading would be an excellent habit.

"Think of it, you tired women who were up late at a bridge party, or mothers who were up late nursing a sick baby to health—think what probability there is of you following that advice.

"Think of it, you hurried business men who do not take time to eat breakfast rightly, who snatch a bit of toast and a few swallows of coffee, which more than likely burns your mouth, and then rush out on your way to the office!

"Think of it, young people who are hastening away to school in the morning with your eyes about half open! Sounds good, doesn't it? No doubt it is good."

How METAL Is MELTED Under WATER

A NEW invention has come to the aid of divers who salvage sunken ships, in the shape of an instrument for cutting through metal plates under water. The instrument cuts by means of a small but intensely hot electric flame that travels slowly along the submerged plate, melting the metal that comes in contact with it.

Although working in water, the electric arc flame slices a way through the iron as easily as a knife passes through butter.

Down the stem of the tool run a couple of thin tubes through which gas is forced. This gas does not burn, but performs the work of driving the water away from the tips of the arc and, further, for blowing the molten metal to one side as it is cut through.

When the diver descends to a wreck, he marks the iron plate where he wishes to cut it, and then brings his torch into play, the point of the arc slowly moving along the marked line.

The moment the tool is brought to bear, the arc is switched on, and at the same time the gas flows out of the two tubes, so that the hot flame is actually burning in a little pocket of gas.

In this way iron or steel plates are cut as rapidly as if they were in open air—a vast improvement on the old method of sawing, or the still more unsatisfactory method of blasting.

While in New York harbor the British ship Lord Dufferin was rammed. She sank immediately, with 65 feet of stern cut off.

At first she offered considerable difficulty to the divers, as a great piece of bar steel hull had been bent, and had driven deep into the mud. But the electric cutting tool solved the difficulty. Rapidly the awkward mass was sliced off and the freed ship was soon floated to the surface.

Another instance of the cutting tool repairing an otherwise almost unmendable break was in the case of a huge water main on the bed of a river, 50 feet below the surface, and badly broken at one point.

Divers went down and soon cut out the shattered section, which was hauled to the surface. Then a new section of pipe was lowered into position and the divers welded it into place as effectively as if they were carrying out the job in a workshop.

At the time the river water was nearly at freezing point, but this did not in any way affect the heat of the arc flame! Within 10 days after the accident the normal water supply was again flowing through the main, a masterpiece of diver's workmanship.

Perfume to Disinfect City Streets

WITH a view to using bath salts to perfume city streets the chemical experiment station, conducted by New York City, is investigating two chemicals of great importance to public health.

One of the remarkable agents is trioxychlorcrosolphenol, a highly scented ingredient, which has been found to be destructive to germs, insects and fungus growths.

As the ratio of a chemical to water is 1 to 1000, City Chemist Kleeberg of New York believes it is possible to sprinkle the city streets with this sanitary fluid. The odor of perfume following application of the liquid is purely a side issue.

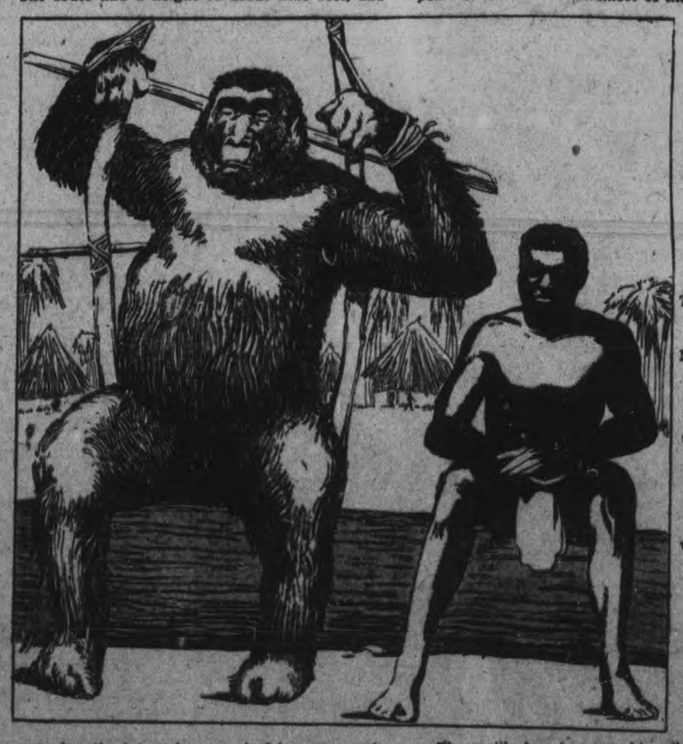
Deodorol, the product of Dr. Maximilian Toch, is the second ingredient to be added to sanitation. It is claimed by the inventor of this chemical that it will purify sewage to the consistency of pure water, and its use for filtration of sewer discharge is predicted.

The action of deodorol upon garbage also has been under observation. It is said that this agent will transform vegetable waste into a product that can be used for fertilizer without recourse to expensive reduction plants now in use.

Dr. Toch said that the germs of whooping cough had been discovered in garbage cans, while other fungus growths and germs are common.

Why Sportsmen Say GORILLA Is Real KING of BEASTS

SPORTSMEN regard the gorilla as the most formidable adversary of the animal world. In the accompanying illustration is shown a giant gorilla killed after a terrific fight in the forests of Bambio in Africa. The size of the monster can be best appreciated by comparing him with the negro seated beside the dead body. The brute had a height of about nine feet, and even after the internal organs had been removed the frame weighed over 650 pounds. One of his hands alone weighed more than 11 pounds.



The Size of a Full Grown Gorilla Can Be Best Appreciated by Comparing Him with the Negro Seated Beside the Dead Body. This Specimen Is Nearly Nine Feet Tall, and Even After the Internal Organs Had Been Removed the Frame Weighed Over 650 Pounds. One of the Hands Alone Weighed More Than 11 Pounds.

The death of the gorilla here pictured was an occasion of great rejoicing, and a feast lasting several days took place, to which members of the tribe came from far and near. The gorilla is a troublesome neighbor to any village and causes great destruction by his raids. Sometimes when his depredations get beyond bearing a gathering of the villagers takes place and a hunt is organized. This is seldom successful except at the expense of the lives of a number of the hunters.

The gorilla has, however, his milder moments, and there is a legend among the elders of the tribes that if the brute comes across a man wandering in the forest he will not kill him unless resistance is offered. He will turn him about, examine him curiously and after a while let him go.

Of late years science has been more and more eager to know in intimate detail the habits and family life of the gorillas. These huge and marvelously powerful and highly intelligent relatives of mankind bear a close relationship to civilized man, and offer many and perplexing problems which anthropologists are desirous of studying.

But of all creatures on the face of the earth science knows least about the gorilla. These great anthropoid apes live in the midst of the African wilderness in a comparatively small area of almost impenetrable jungle. Science has been able to gather little trustworthy information from the natives who live in the vicinity of the apes. The savages are in terror of the huge creatures, and prefer to see and know as little as possible about them.

When scientists push their way through to the edge of the gorilla country, they find themselves unable to get much more than distant views and an occasional shot at a passing gorilla.

Other animals can be captured and held in captivity for observation and experiment. But nobody has ever succeeded in capturing a full-grown live gorilla, and even the baby gorillas which have been brought safely out of the jungle alive have never lived long in captivity.

And now the American Museum of Natural History has undertaken to supply science with the information it lacks. Several months ago an expedition of half a dozen and more, under the leadership of Mr. Carl E. Akeley, the eminent scientist and big-game hunter, was organized and sent to the African jungle. The expedition was especially and peculiarly equipped thoroughly to cover everything of interest and scientific importance in regard to man's gigantic African relatives.

How little is known about gorillas is proved by the intense interest excited by the young gorilla, John Daniel. He was four and a half years old, and was the first gorilla to live to that age in captivity. He displayed the most remarkable intelligence and human ways. He sat down at table and ate like a well-behaved boy, cleaned up the plates, and made his own bed, but just when scientists were beginning to learn new facts about living gorillas, John Daniel died.

The most interesting observation from John Daniel's remains was an explanation why the gorilla cannot talk like a man. Beneath the tongue of Daniel the muscles were divided into some five unconnected groups. In man the muscles are spread out into the shape of a fan, with infinite numbers of small fibres, by which the tongue can move with great rapidity and utter every word that makes up language—as many as 170 words per minute. The ape can only scream, squeak, and howl. Of his method of communication with his mates scientists have little knowledge, but there is reason to believe that the gorilla can express more by his noises than other animals.

LEAP ST TO SYRACUSE BY A NINTH INNING RALLY

St. Louis Again Drops to Second Place in the American League Race —Homer For Williams.

INTERNATIONAL.

Syracuse 4, Toronto 3.

TORONTO, September 9 (Canadian Press). — Syracuse defeated Toronto here yesterday by 4 to 3, scoring the winning run in the ninth inning on McCurdy's triple and Taggart's single. Score:
Syracuse ..... 200010001—4 8 1
Toronto ..... 000100200—3 5 2
Dyer, Montgomery, Stewart and McCurdy; Baumgartner and Vincent.

Buffalo 6, Rochester 5.

BUFFALO, September 9 Canadian Press). — Buffalo and Rochester staged a great battle yesterday, the Bisons winning 6 to 5. The sensational part came in the last innings, when Leach, a newcomer in the International, hit over the right field fence, which is some feat. Rochester, in their ninth, pulled up to within one run of a tie by getting to Heitman for five hits and three runs. Score:
Rochester ..... 000010013—5 10 4

Detroit 8, St. Louis 3.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., September 9 (Canadian Press). — St. Louis dropped to second place in the American League pennant race yesterday by losing to Detroit 8 to 3, while New York defeated Washington 8 to 1. New York is now in the lead by half a game. Detroit did not tally an assist until the eighth inning, when Shorten, batting for Shocker, grounded to Cutshaw. Blue executed two double plays unassisted.

Kenneth Williams knocked his thirty-sixth home run of the season, regaining the major league home run lead. It was the fourth home run by Williams in the last four games.

George Sisler got two hits out of three, making 37 consecutive games in which he has hit safely. This is only three under the modern major league record.

Bobby Veach clouted two four-baggers, with a man on base each time. Both were off Shocker. Score:
Detroit ..... 300200201—8 13 2
St. Louis ..... 000000300—3 5 3

Chicago 7, Cleveland 2.

CHICAGO, September 9 (Canadian Press). — Chicago made it two straight from Cleveland yesterday, winning 7 to 2. Score:
Cleveland ..... 200000000—2 8 2
Chicago ..... 30110200x—7 10 0

Boston 2, Philadelphia 1.

BOSTON, September 9 (Canadian Press). — Boston only made four hits off Hasty yesterday, but beat Philadelphia 2 to 1.

The visitors' run came in the first after J. Harris' two-base muff, B. Miller's single, and a wild pitch. W. Collins' single in the sixth, followed by two errors by Galloway gave Boston a run and the Red Sox scored again the seventh on J. Harris' double, a fielders' choice play, and O'Rourke's single. Score:
Philadelphia ..... 100000000—1 6 2
Boston ..... 00000110x—2 4 1
Hasty and Bruggy, Perkins; W. Collins and Ruel.

New York 8, Washington 1.

NEW YORK, September 9 (Canadian Press). — The Yankees slugged Walter Johnson hard here yesterday, and easily defeated Washington in the first contest of a two-game series by a score of 8 to 1. Score:
Washington ..... 000001000—1 9 4
New York ..... 20002400x—8 13 1
Johnson, Erickson and Picinich; Mays and Schang.

NATIONAL.

Philadelphia 8, New York 4.

PHILADELPHIA, September 9 (Canadian Press). — Hard hitting and excellent pitching by Lee Meadows enabled Philadelphia to beat New York yesterday 8 to 4 and even the series. Art Nehf was hit hard by the Phillies from the fourth inning on. Fifteen hits, including two triples and four doubles were made by the locals. Meadows had one bad inning, the second, when four hits and a base on balls gave the Giants four runs. Score:
New York ..... 040000000—4 10 3
Philadelphia ..... 00022013x—8 15 0
Nehf and Smith; Meadows and Henline.

St. Louis 6, Cincinnati 1.

CINCINNATI, September 9 (Canadian Press). — Pfeffer's pitching stopped the Reds after the first inning yesterday, and St. Louis won 6 to 1. Hornsby made his thirty-fifth home run of the season, with no one on base, in the fourth inning. Score:
St. Louis ..... 000110040—6 8 2
Cincinnati ..... 100000000—1 6 3
Pfeffer and Clemons; Couch, Gillespie and Hargrave.

Chicago 10, Pittsburgh 7.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., September 9 (Canadian Press). — An eighth inning rally by Chicago, which netted four runs, upset the Pirates' chance to gain a notch on New York in the pennant race. The score was Chicago 10, Pittsburgh 7. Score:
Chicago ..... 002002042—10 15 0
Pittsburgh ....g.... 100131010— 7 13 1

INEVITABLE.

"J. J. McGraw now plans to quit!"
Five years ago these lines were writ.
But still beyond all chance for cure
He finds the pastime's ancient lure.
For when the fever's in your bones,
In spite of pessimistic groans,
When passing years have gone and gone,
There's something beckons on and on,
There's something calls one to the field.
With club and ball, or sword and shield,
We, too, have mapped out our retreat.
Only to find that we must eat."

Unsigned Letters

Several letters have been received recently by the sports editor to which the writers have not affixed their signatures, and as has been pointed out several times before, no attention will be paid to such communications. Writers must put their name and address on every letter as an evidence of good faith, and if it is desired that the name be not published, a request to that effect is all that is necessary. Correspondents are also asked to write on only one side of the paper.

GIRL TO UNDERTAKE SWIM ACROSS THE CHANNEL

MISS IVY HAWKE

Miss Ivy Hawke is the Surbition (England) girl of 19 who intends to try swimming across the English Channel soon. She has been training for several months and awaits only ideal weather.

From Dover to Cape Cris Nez in an air line is only about 20 miles, but there are strong tides and currents to breast. These necessitate zig-zagging, which greatly adds to the distance.

Captain Matthew Webb, who lost his life later in attempting to negotiate Niagara Rapids, swam from Dover to Calais in 1875 in 21 hours, 35 minutes. William T. Burgess in 1911 swam, in 22 hours, 35 minutes, from the South Foreland, Dover, to Le Chatelet, a French village, near Cape Gris Nez.

CHILDREN'S SPORTS AT THE EXHIBITION

Field Day For Both Boys and Girls Will Be the Feature For Next Wednesday.

Wednesday next will be children's day at the Peterborough Exhibition and the management has arranged a series of races for both boys and girls, which will be run off during the day. Prizes will be awarded the winners of each event and are on exhibition in Roland Denne's window.

Names of those who wish to enter must be in the hands of Walter Smaill at the Y.M.C.A. not later than 6 o'clock Tuesday evening, September 12, and entry forms may be found on page 4 of The Examiner for Thursday, September 7.

Each competitor will be required to wear his or her school colors as an arm-band.

The events will include five races for boys and five for girls as follows:

Sack race for boys under 12 years.

Three-legged race for boys under 14 years.

Wheelbarrow race for boys under 16.

Relay race, 880 yards, open to boys of Public and Separate schools.

Half-mile race, open to boys under 18 years.

Potato race for girls under 12 years.

Peas and spoon race for girls under 14 years.

Hobble skirt race for girls under 16 years.

Shuttle race, open to girls of Public and Separate schools.

GIRLS' GAME.

The Girls' League game scheduled last evening between the C.G.E. and Brintons was called at the end of the fourth inning on account of darkness, and will be replayed Monday evening at King Edward Park.

MEN'S SOFT BALL LEAGUE TO START.

A meeting of the Peterborough Softball Association was held on Wednesday evening in the Empress Hotel. The following teams were represented: Kiwanis, Rotary, K. of C., Firemen, Lawn Bowlers, De Laval, Canadian Woollens, Quakers, C.G.E., Engineers, Raybestos, Brinton Carpet.

Capt. Munroe was appointed a member of the Executive.

W. Perks, G. Langley and A. Butcher were appointed a committee to draw up the schedule.

Each club is allowed to register fifteen players.

A player will not be allowed to participate in any game unless he be duly registered with the Secretary.

It was decided that the entrance fee of $5 must be paid to the Secretary at the next meeting to be held in the Empress Hotel on Sept. 20 at 7.30 o'clock.

It is the intention of the Executive to ge the league under way on Monday, Sept. 25, if possible.

It will be of interest to the participating clubs to know that at the next meeting on Sept. 20 President J. E. Sullivan is arranging with Alex Kay to have the referees on hand to discuss fully the league rules and playing rules. Each club should arrange to have at least one or more representatives at this meeting.

TUG-OF-WAR AT THE EXHIBITION

Several Entries Already Received For Feature Event on September 15.

One of the big features of the Peterborough Exhibition will be the tug-of-war, which will be held on September 15. This event is open to teams from any club or organization in the district, and several entries have already been received. The teams from the local police and fire departments have been getting into shape and are looking to carry off some of the honors. Some entries have already been received from teams representing the counties and villages in this vicinity and industrial concerns in the city, and these men are expected to give a good account of themselves.

Teams wishing to take part should enter their names with F. J. A. Hall, Secretary; R. Denne, J. Frazer of the Bank of Nova Scotia, or Walter Smaill at the Y.M.C.A.

The following rules will govern the contests:

1.—Ten men shall compose a team.

2.—Each team shall be allowed one coach.

3.—At the start the rope shall be taut and the centre tape shall be over the centre line and the competitors outside the sidelines. During no part of the pull shall the rope be tied or in any way crossed by the anchor man, nor shall he wilfully place either hand on the ground.

4.—The inspectors shall take charge of the teams and see that members of each team do not wilfully touch the ground with any part of the body other than the feet and report to the judge any infringement of this rule.

5.—It shall be in the discretion of the judges to disqualify the offending team and award the pull in question to the opposing side, or he may disqualify the offending team from the competition.

6.—A pull shall be won when one team shall have pulled the side tape of the opposing team over their own sideline, or if any portion of the foot of any competitor of the opposing side go beyond the centre line.

7.—No competitor shall make any hole in the ground with his foot, or in any other way, before the start.

8.—All heats shall be won by two pulls out of three.

9.—No prepared boots or shoes, heel plates (sunken or otherwise), projecting nail tips, springs, Blakeys, points, hollows or projections will be allowed.

10.—No gloves or adhesive substances whatever shall be used on the hands or on the rope.

11.—Where three teams only compete the team drawing the bye shall pull off for second prize if defeated by the winner of the first round.

12.—Teams shall change ends after each pull, or if the ground is cut up too much shall be moved to new ground.

O.A.C. SPORTS FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

Events Will Be Open to All Pupils in Peterboro and the Surrounding Counties.

Preparations are well under way for the field day to be held Saturday afternoon, September 23, under the auspices of the Ontario Athletic Commission, and open to all school children from the following counties: York, Ontario, Victoria, Haliburton, Durham, Northumberland and Peterborough.

The local committee in charge of the affair consists of Dr. R. W. Frank, representing the P.A.A.A.; Walter Smaill, representing the Ontario Athletic Commission; Jack Sullivan and J. Corkery, representing the Separate schools, and Joe Munro and Maurice Park, representing the Public schools.

Entries should be made to any of the above representatives as soon as possible. The events are for boys and girls from the junior schools who have not passed their entrance exams.

The events will include:

75-yard dash for boys 13 years and under; running broad jump for boys 13 years and under.

100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, running broad jump, running high jump, pole vault and 8-pound shot put for boys 15 years and under.

Half-mile relay race. Four boys to a team, all of whom must be from the same school.

75-yard dash for girls 15 years and under.

Diamond Dust

Leaside still has two games to play with Belleville. If the Peacock boys can trim the lakeshore crew twice, the Petes and Cobourg will have a chance to jump into first place, but must both win today to do so.

Something rather odd about passing one batter to get the next man up in the St. Louis-Brooklyn game of August 17. In the first inning Wheat was purposely passed to get Myers, and Hi hit a single and scored a run. In the fifth inning Wheat again was passed to get the same Hi Myers, and Hi hit a single and scored two runs. Somebody running loose in the strategy department.

Little Lessons For the Golfer

(By George O'Neil).

For years I practiced with a pendulum stroke using an ordinary Schenectady after I had most reluctantly adopted that club. But I was not satisfied for I was anxious to make my putting stroke as reliable as the others, and it seemed to me that almost no one was able to do that. A golfer appeared to regard a good putt as a gift from heaven, while a good drive was the result of a correct method. Therefore my constant change has been a quest for the comparatively certain method and whether we can get it I do not know.

One of the climbing amateurs of the South is Frank A. Godchaux, of the sugar plantation Godchaux of New Orleans. He is a sturdy youth with a superb golf style and no doubt a great deal more would have been heard about him in southern golf events had not Bobby Jones claimed such widespread attention.

"CHICK" EVANS TO MEET SWITZER FOR THE GOLF HONORS

Finals For U.S. National Golf Championship Will Be Played To-Day at Brookline.

GOOD PLAY.

The Country Club, Brookline, Mass., September 9. Canadian Press. —Jesse Sweetzer, of New York, Metropolitan champion and Charles E. (Chick) Evans of Chicago, best of the west, will meet to-day to decide the national amateur golf championship for 1922. They advanced to the final round of the 26th United States Golf Association tournament for the title yesterday in semi-final matches that were marked by their mastery both of the mechanics of play and the human element represented by opponents of high rank.

Bobby Jones of Atlanta, champion of the south, went down seven holes short of the 36 hole distance before the sweeping and record breaking strokes of Sweetzer. The golfing artistry of Chick Evans, which has brought him two national amateur and one national open title, the championship of France and the leadership in the west, was exemplified anew at the expense of little Rudy Knepper, his fellow-westerner from Sioux City. This was the greater defeat, 11 up and 9 to play, but the score of 8 up 7 to play, by which Jones fell on his fifth national amateur championship wayside, was the days surprise.

UMPIRES HESITATE TO CALL THE THIRD.

Hesitancy on the part of umpires to call a third strike is causing many of the wrangles this season. An umpire hates to call the third one, and unless a pitcher cuts the plate he is likely to find the umpire calling it a ball.

Pitchers rarely cut the plate. They work for the corners. The umpire gives them the corners until the batsman has two strikes, and then the umpire calls the same "corner" balls bad.

Bill Evans "gives" the pitcher the corner after he has two strikes on a batter, and for this reason pitchers would sooner see Evans behind the plate than any man in the league.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL LEAGUE MAY PLAY AT EXHIBITION

The Exhibition Board has offered the Girls' Softball League the use of the grounds on Thursday afternoon for the games between the Bonner-Worth and Quakers and C.G.E. and Colonials. The matter will be brought under discussion at the meeting of the Executive in the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Tuesday evening.

Fred Merkle's Blunder the Most Costly Ever Made

BASEBALL'S BIGGEST BONERS

Usually failure to follow some simple rule of baseball produces the worst kind of bonehead plays on the ball field.

Ninety-nine times out of a hundred, the failure to properly complete the play, is not due to lack of knowledge, but rather to sheer carelessness on the part of some player.

Failure to touch a base is the easiest way to create a bonehead play. As long as baseball is played players will continue to fail to touch the bases.

If such failure does not prove costly, the omission is soon forgotten. Otherwise the careless player goes down in history in the list of "boneheads."

In all probability the most costly failure to touch a base is charged to Fred Merkle.

Chicago was playing New York. It was the ninth inning, the score was tied, two were out, and runners were on first and third. Merkle, then playing first base for the Giants, was the runner on first.

The batsman hit cleanly to the outfield, and the runner jogged across the plate with what was apparently the deciding run. Merkle, on first, ran within a few feet of second, and seeing the runner had crossed the plate, dashed for the club house.

Johnny Evers, playing second for Chicago, called for the ball, which was thrown to him by Hoffman. In the meantime the crowd was surging on the field. Evers touched second and Merkle was called out. His failure to touch the bag, simply made a force play at second.

This retired the side and the rules state no runs can score on a play in which the third out is a force play. That erased the run that apparently had won the game.

The game was never finished, as it ended in a tie score. New York and Chicago tied in the pennant race that year. It was necessary to play an extra game to decide the championship. Chicago won the game and the right to play in the series.

Merkle's "bone" was the costliest ever made. Had he touched second the Giants would have won the pennant. The owners would have realized a small fortune and each player a fancy figure.

Enjoyable Motoring
—that is absolutely free from care

THE Willys-Knight motor, highest development of the Knight sleeve-valve principle, delivers a smooth, ceaseless, silent flow of power, greater than the power of any other engine of its size and weight.

Free from the troubles common to poppet valves, it turns carbon, that deadly enemy of most motors, into a friend and ally which builds up its power, so that it improves with use.

The car is especially designed to match the motor in long life and distinction. Its sturdy steel chassis beats off jolts and jars and holds the body permanently free from rattles and squeaks.

The Willys-Knight is fleet, comfortable, responsible —and a sound investment.

of the life of Christ in daily life and conversation. As with the process which purified water of its natural impurities, the thing to do was to raise the spiritual temperature of the church until all difficulties were eliminated. "A church that is cold is fractious and hard to handle." It was the little church on Main street that put the latest amendment into the constitution of the United States, "when the liquor interests, the politicians, the intellectuals, the press, the church and the labor organizations were all against it. This missionary task is in your hands."

Sundry Business.

It was decided to hold Sunday school and Epworth League Institutes on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of the week of October 20th to 27th, in Cavan, Lakefield and Pontypool, with a closing convention in Peterborough on Friday of the same week.

Rev. J. F. Beckell, of Bethany, was appointed to act as missionary secretary and draft a system of exchange for the Sunday following inaugural day. Rev. R. M. Patterson, of Fraserville, was appointed district statistical secretary, and the following appointments were made to the District Religious Education Council: Rev. S. T. Tucker, Millbrook, ex-officio; W. A. Jakeman, Warsaw, superintendent of Sunday school efficiency; Mrs. E. D. Lewis, Peterborough, superintendent of elementary grades; Mrs. J. F. Chapman, superintendent of girls' work; T. N. D. Kelly, Bridgenorth, superintendent of boys' work; Rev. A. J. Langford, Trinity church, superintendent of young people's work; Rev. J. A. Beckell, Bethany, superintendent of missionary work; Rev. H. Wilkinson, Pontypool, superintendent of adult work; Rev. R. M. Patterson, Fraserville, conference report of Epworth League; Rev. S. C. Reddick, Lakefield, district religious education secretary.

Those Present.

Ministers present were: Rev. A. J. Langford, Trinity church, Rev. H. W. Young, George street, Rev. J. F. Chapman, St. James' Methodist; Rev. G. E. Ross, Mark street church; Rev. S. T. Tucker, Millbrook; Rev. S. G. Rork, Cavan; Rev. R. M. Patterson, Fraserville; Rev. S. C. Reddick, Lakefield;; Rev. P. H. Neville, Bridgenorth; Rev. J. A. Beckell, Bethany; Rev. H. Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit. Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Metal and timber are essential in the building and construction arts from which spring all civilization, while farms and livestock are the basis of prosperity. As your agricultural section prospers, so will your city prosper. The city business man and the business man of the farm should join hands in making your county a more prosperous one. Better business for both, should be their aim.

TENNIS DRAW

At 3.30—Men's Singles.

S. T. Medd vs. James McKone.
Homer Meyers vs. F. C. Weber.

At 4.30—Mixed Doubles.

F. Bradburn and lady vs. Dr. A. W. McPherson and Miss Young.

Men's Doubles.

Gordon Langley and F. D. Kerr vs. Carmichael and Fitzgerald.

The draw for Tuesday will be in The Examiner on Monday evening. The entries for the ladies' singles will be received by Dr. McPherson until Wednesday noon. Friends of those who are participating will be extended the privileges of the Golf Club grounds for the purpose of witnessing the games in the tournament.

At The Theatres

ROYAL—Wm. Fox production, with Charles Jones in "Rough Shod" Fox comedy with Al St. John, in "The Village Sheik." Mutt and Jeff and Fox News. Special Vitagraph comedy, Larry Semon in "Dull Care."

CAJITOL— Mary McAvoy in "The Top of New York". Jimmy Aubrey's latest comedy "The Chicken Parade."

AT THE GRAND.

Another lareg audience witnessed the popular Jimmie Evans and his Revue Company at the Grand last evening, and if laughter and applause is any indication the present offering of "Hello Broadway" is even more popular that n the opening revue. Every skit, dance and song number was a decided hit, and there is no question as to this attraction giving the best evenings entertainment seen in Peterboro in several seasons.

The Evans' Revue will be here all next week (Fair Week) offering two complete changes of programme in the week. Nothing will be repeated in any way. The Revue offering for next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday is something entirely different, being of the Oriental nature, entitled "A Night in Chinatown." Special Oriental scenery and costumes are carried by Mr. Evans for this production. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday the offering is entitled "Love and Kisses," and Jimmie promises us it is just as good and refined as the title indicates.

On account of it being Fair Week would advise all to secure seats as early as possible for any night during the week. No advance in prices. For good clean enjoyable entertainment one cannot wish to see better than the Evans' Musical Revue.

Capitol Entertainment

THOMAS MEIGHAN AT THE CAPITOL ON MONDAY IN HIS GREATEST PICTURE SINCE "THE MIRACLE MAN" —"IF YOU BELIEVE IT, IT'S SO." MATINEE DAILY AT 2.30 P.M., EVENING 8 O'CLOCK —NO ADVANCE IN PRICES.

FAITH BIG FACTOR IN PROMOTING SUCCESS.

Thomas Meighan Asserts If You Firmly Believe It, It Must Be So.

Faith is a tremendous factor in promoting the success of men in all walks of life, acording to Thomas Meighan, star in "If You Believe It, It's So." His theory is that if you believe a thing firmly, it must be so.

We believed in this story from the very start, said Mr. Meighan. "There's nothing like confidence in a thing to make it come out right. If you believe a thing firmly enough it will very likely be a fact before you're through believing in it and in a way that's the theme of the picture. After all, the big things that take place in the world all have a mental origin, and because somebody believed in them sufficiently, they were realised. If somebody hadn't believed that motion pictures were a possibility, there wouldn't be any such thing. Things don't happen—they're developed through consistent effort based on conviction. Every great discovery and every great world movement comes about in just this way.

"So I feel that I am willing to bank on my statement that this picture will be one of the best in which I have ever appeared. Paramount believes in it, and to prove it, gave

GENTLEMANLY HIGHWAYMEN IN HISTORY AND FICTION; GLAMOR OF "LONE BANDIT"

There are varying social levels, so to speak, among highwaymen as well as in other walks of life. The modern hold-up man of the city's dark thoroughfares is generally as we know, a brutal ruffian. But there are exceptions, in which he is found to be a man of some culture and education, impelled toward his unpopular trade through persistent mistortune.

Both history and old-time fiction have thrown a glamor of romance around the 'knight of the road" of former days who operated in the open country, "far from the mad-

ding crowd." Most of us have met, in our reading, the gentlemanly pursuer of stage coaches or equestrians —the man who, in language and tones of the drawing room, would rob a lady of purse and jewels with a low bow and sweep of his hat, meanwhile assuring her gently of her absolute personal safety if she "stood and delivered."

The polished Claude Duval, who was hanged at Tyburn, in England, in 1670, achieved fame and the admiration of the ladies in a degree far surpassing many a man of genius in the learned professions. "Sixteen-String Jack" has his niche in romance. One Brennan was acclaimed in song of old:

"Bold, brave and dauntless stood Young Brennan on the moor." And Robin Hood—'Robin Hood and his Merry Men.' Was there ever a more picturesque knight of the road than he? Everyone is familiar with him and his woodland life. In song and story like he figures and in opera he has held the stage these many years.

Zane Grey, the distinguished writer of stirring stories of the American West, in his novel "The Last Trail' made a mysterious lone bandit the figure on which centered the entire development of the romance— a bandit operating at night on lonely roads in a mountainous region, and who was susceptible to the charm of a woman risking his life at times to be with her. This lone bandit has been transferred to the motion picture by William Fox, whose film version of "The Last Trail" is to open a run on Monday at the Royal Theatre. The story is a fascinating one, and the picture which is super-special production, was directed by Emmett J. Flynn.

LAUNDERING LINEN.

A valuable bit of information is furnished by a subscriber on the care and laundering of linen. She says: "I wash my own linens as most women do who want it to wear long. First of all I look it over for stains, use cold water for tea, and boiling water for fruit stains, then wash and scald in boiling water for just a few minutes, as boiling it takes the life out of the linen, thereby shortening the life of it. I then rinse and blue it and hang in the sun until it is about half dry, then take it down and dampen, roll up, and iron. I find if you have a heavy linen and let the wrinkles dry in, one can hardly take them out. Another thing I do to lessen the print of the wrinkles is to wring the cloth by hand. You will find you will be repaid by taking this care in the end. Table linen shows its laundering, I think, more than any other article in the house.

GIRLS! LEMONS

BLEACH SKIN WHITE

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whitness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

LADIES—

Maybe you have met him—the dealer who assures you that the brand he stocks is just as good pastry flour as DELIGHT, or perhaps he is enthusiastic enough to claim that it is better than DELIGHT. Anyhow the basis of comparison is the goodness of DELIGHT FLOUR, proof of itself that DELIGHT is the standard by which other PASTRY FLOURS are judged. PLAY SAFETY FIRST. Radio News

Educators of the country are looking forward to the time when school will be kept by radio.

That this time is not far distant may be gleaned from the fact that already college lectures and other educational talks are being delivered by radiophone. These at present are free. But according to some of the pioneers in this activity a radio correspondence course could be devised for those who pay.

One of the leaders in the establishment of a lecture course by radio is Prof. William Oxley Thompson, president of the Ohio State University at Columbus, O. When radio first gained popularity last spring, Thompson had a transmitting set installed at the college and began delivering educational talks free.

From this start may devolve a nation-wide educational programme for those boys and girls who must stay home and work. For this purpose the U.S. Bureau of Education will come in as the most important source on which the youth of America will depend for a higher education.

PROF. THOMPSON BROADCASTING A LECTURE.

For, say college leaders, radio educational courses will have to be centralized under the direction of Federal educational authorities. Thus there would be no duplication of effort and broadcasting of lectures would be distributed evenly throughout the country.

This is no wild dream, say these educators, and for proof they point not only to the voluntary lectures being broadcast by some of the larger colleges, but to the various broadcasting activities of the government. The public health service and the bureau of education will soon open a regular broadcasting service, for dissemination of information and other educational matter. The Department of Labor is planning a labor radio news service.

The Department of Commerce has just authorized its 33 co-operating offices to arrange with local broadcasting stations for the release of all cable and radio information on foreign markets. This will be more in the form of a world survey, commercial, financial and political.

AUTUMN SOON TO BAN GOLF SOCKS FOR HIKING.

Flappers and flippers who have adopted knickers with woollen golf stockings will have to substitute silk or cotton stockings or perhaps puttees, before long if they are given to taking hikes in the country. A dictate of autumn, not Dame Fashion, makes this necessary. Soon the country fields will be the hiding-places of thousands and thousands of pestiferous tiny seeds known as "beggarstick."

These seeds, although they stick to serge and other materials used in making clothing, are especially fond of adhering to the rough wool of golf stockings and to remove them from these garments without tearing the stockings is well-night impossible.

CANNING CORN ON COB

This is a recipe which isn't often called for because it is so extravagant in the use of space. The only way to do it is to fit the ears into the jars, using a couple of small ears for the quart can and for the larger ones using the two-quart cans, and then proceed as for corn cut off the cob. The jars, of course, are filled up with boiling salted water. It uses so much space that most people like to cut the corn off the cob.

WEDDING BELLS

STUART—ELLIOTT.
A quiet wedding was solemnized July 24th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stuart, Mosten, when their daughter, Mary Amy, was united in matrimony to Daniel Wesly Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Elliott, of Peterborough, Ont. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. E. Elliott, B.A., of Bosten, brother of the groom, in the presence of the immediate relatives. After a wedding breakfast the bride and groom motored to White Bear, Sask., of which district the groom is a pioneer. The best wishes of the whole community followed the young couple to their home—Mosten Daily, Sask.

Husband and Wife Nearly Dead With CHOLERA

The chief symptoms of cholera are vomiting, and purgings occur either simultaneously or alternately, and are usually sudden and very violent, and the matter ejected from the stomach has a bilious appearance and a nasty bitter taste.

On the first symptoms appearing, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry should be taken, and the trouble checked before it becomes serious.

Mrs. Isaac Smith, Campbellton, N. B., writes: "We have been using Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for cholera. My husband and I were pretty nearly dead with it until we started to use your medicine, and thanks to it, we have found great relief, and are recommending it to all our friends."

PENSIONED.

The Captain sits upon the porch,
He wears a cheery grin,
And if he bears a troubled heart
He hides it well within.
If he remembers months of pain,
Nobody ever knows,
An atmosphere of kindliness
Surrounds him where he goes.

The Captain fought in many wars,
Has medals by the score,
But if the bugle blows again
He knows he'll go no more.
The Captain's sight is almost gone,
His service stripes are three,
He gave his years to make the world
A better place for me!

The Captain sits upon the porch,
The boats go drifting by,
He cannot see them as they pass.
But you don't hear him sigh;
And though religion's not his line,
When he, half-blind, can smile,
I, too, can have a braver heart
And feel that life's worth while!

THE HANK OF HAIR.

"A woman's crowning glory is her hair."
"We members of the poets' union don't mention that any more. We're all for bobbed tresses."— Louisville Courier-Journal.

COMBINATIONS.

Combinations of materials are noticed in the most exclusive models, frequently the long waist is of a different material from the skirt. This is an excellent thing to remember when remodeling frocks, or when you have not quite enough material for a complete costume.

ANOTHER SPRING.

Doctor—You ought to go to Arkansas and take a bath in the spring.

Proctor — Heavens! I intend to take one before then, doc.

Social Calendar

Miss Helen Carson, 44 Sherbrooke Street, has returned from visiting Miss Helen Feenie at Tweed.

Mrs. H. Stewart, Sheridan Street, has returned from Toronto, after having spent a week visiting her daughter, Mrs. Carson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Renwick have returned from a visit in Toronto.

Miss Ida G. Sanderson, organist of Murray Street Baptist Church, who has been visiting her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sanderson, San Diego, and friends in Hollywood and Los Angeles, California, has returned and will preside at the organ on Sunday.

About 35 of the young people of George Street Methodist Church took part in an enjoyable evening last night at Mr. George Powell's summer camp near the canal. The evening, which was under the auspices of the Epworth League, was spent in singing and games, with a marshmallow and weiner roast.

Among those who entertained during the last week for Miss Hazel Davidson, whose marriage takes place next week, were Mrs. M. H. Park, at a recipe shower and tea; Mrs. Kenneth McClelland, hostess at a miscellaneous shower, given at the residence of Mrs. A. J. Eaton, Park Street, and Miss Ina Allen, with a miscellaneous "good luck" shower and tea.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Philips of Sarnia, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Banks, Maitland avenue.

Rev. Dr. Blagrave returned yesterday with his family from Balsam Lake Dr. Blagrave is feeling much improved in health for his three month's rest and will take part in the services in St. John's on Sunday. Rev. J. Elliott Baker of St. Michael's church, Toronto, will preach in the morning and the vicar in the evening. Members of the Sunday School Staff are asked to be present at 3 p.m.

John Davidson, M.A., L.L.B. and Mrs. Davidson, Gilmour and Albertus avenue, have returned from their summer home, Grand View Lodge, Stoney Lake.

Mrs. Henry de Gens and daughter, Betty Lee, of Alicia, Mich., are visiting Mrs. Ed. Conroy, Water street.

A number of the vocal pupils of Mr. W. McKee Bingham motored to Harwood, last evening, to take part in a concert connected with a basket social held for the benefit of the Anglican church there. The Misses Georgia Cuffe, Trucie Pearson and Florence Harrison, with Miss Muriel Bridge, accompanist, and Miss Helen Morrison, reader, took part in a delightful musical programme on a gaily-decorated stage erected on the church lawn. Mrs. W McKee Bingham also rendered several much-appreciated solos. Rev. Mr. Smith, rector of the Anglican church, acted as chairman. A jolly cafeteria luncheon was served at the conclusion of the programme.

Every Function

of the human body is dependent upon the Nervous System for its activity. If it were not for the Nerves supplying the stomach, that organ could not digest food. If it were not for the Nerves supplying the heart, that important organ would cease to function, and death would result. If it is true that a complete severing of the Nerves leading to these organs will cause them to cease to function, is it not reasonable that pressure upon those same Nerves will limit their function so that the heart or stomach is abnormal?

THE ONLY WAY

to relieve such abnormal conditions is to relieve the pressure from the Nerve Fibres supplying these organs. We as Chiropractors do this by adjusting the segments of the Spine which are pinching the Nerves. When these segments are restored to normal position, the Nerves are capable of carrying 100% of mental impulses to the abnormal tissues. The result is Health.

We are here to be at your service. Call in and let us tell you more about Chiropractic.

THE ALLIES WILL RESIST EFFORTS OF TURKS TO GET CONSTANTINOPLE

France Has Definitely Decided to Stand Firm With Britain — Pleased With Turkish Win Over the Greeks.

FREEDOM OF STRAITS

PARIS, Sept. 11. — (Canadian Press).—France has definitely decided to stand firmly with Britain for the freedom of the Straits of Dardenelles and for some form of international control of Constantinople, it was declared in official circles here to-day.

While frankly pleased with the Turkish victory over the Greeks, official quarters are now evidencing considerable anxiety over what they consider are indications that the Turkish Nationalists will be unreasonable in their demands.

In just what way France will support Great Britain in maintaining the freedom of the Straits is not revealed, but competent observers say any military action by the Turks towards the occupation of the Dardanelles will result in military and naval action by the Allies.

The statement of Turkish spokesmen in Paris and other places to the effect that the Nationalists will demand Constantinople and all of Thrace has received much unfavorable comment unofficially.

All the Allied Powers, it is thought here, will be in accord in limiting the Turkish ambitions to Asia Minor, with a nominal foothold in Europe.

TURKS DELIGHTED.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press).—The official announcemnt of the capture of Smyrna by the Turks was the signal for a series of demonstrations here. Groups of celebrators paraded the city throughout the night and serenaded the French and Italian Legations, Greek troops were confined to the barracks, and the Allied patrols were strengthened as a precaution against trouble, while a heavy guard, commanded by a British colonel, kept the crowds moving before the Greek Legation.

The likelihood of the Turkish victories stirring up wild, impossible hopes among the Moslems in the regions far removed from Kemalist influences is suggested by despatches from India, telling of the excitemnt and demonstrations in Mohammedan quarters, where the mosques are full of people praying for further successes of the Turks.

Commenting on the action Britain is taking in the Dardanelles, the military correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says as follows: "We should be pleased to learn that the overseas Dominions had been consulted about the question of the straits, and that they agree with us in whatever policy we adopt. If in this emergency that was not possible, the British people overseas will have observed that we are in the presence of difficulties which are preventing us carrying out our own policy in our own way."

ARGUMENTS ON THE INJUNCTION

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.— (Canadian Press.) — Arguments on United States' government's motion to make permanent temporary injunction against rail strikers opened at 1 o'clock this morning before Federal Court Judge Wilkerson. Blackburn Esterlin, assistant to Collector-General, opened for the Government with formal rending of list of defendents on whom personal service had been obtained. Donald R. Richberg, attorney for B. M. Jewell, President of John Scott, secretary-treasurer of Railway Employes' Department American Federation of Labor, called attention to motion he filed Saturday, asking dismissal of injunction so far as it relates to his clients and said it shlukd take precedence over Government's motion.

RESCUE PASSENGERS.

Lansfield has a dwelling in view on Rubidge Street, to cost $3,100. A F. Lane is making extensive alterations to his apartment dwelling, converting the lower floor into two apartments, instead of one.

EFFORTS AVOID A STRIKE HERE

Railway Companies Asked to Take the Initiative.

MONTREAL, Sept. 11.— (Canadian Press.)—Canadian Railway Association to-day sent reply to Minister of Labor's letter asking railways to take initiative and endeavor to avoid strike stating that it will immediately take up with interested railways the question of further direct negotiations with representatives of shopmen concerning definite rates of pay and will inform Minister of the result as quickly as possible.

Leading officials of Canadan railway companies went into conference this morning following receipt of telegram from Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, urging companies to take initiative and open direct negotiations with railway shopmen for permanent wage with a view to averting strike. Railway shopmen are awaiting outcome of Labor Minister's message to railways and are disinclined to talk until it is known. Frank McKenna, vice-president of No. 4 district railway employees declared that next move must come from railways. Shopmen at Montreal were not in receipt of Mr. Murdock's message replying to Secretary Dickie's communication that strike would be called in a few days though Minister's letter pointing out that "Canada deserves something better than strike at this time from all concerned," received wide publicity, in the press. "We are gravely concerned, because we have not received this important letter," said Mr. McKenna.

DRIVER AT RIGHT CROSSES FIRST.

The man on your right has the right of way.

If this were remembered generally, says Dai H. Dewis, acting executive chairman of the American Automobile Association, many fatal accidents could be avoided.

"No automobile driver should be compelled to watch both sides of the street," says Lewis. "The rule of the road is that the driver on the right has the right of way and there should be a severe punishment for any person who violates trat rule."

Many cities have adopted this rule in their ordinances.

OLD NEW YORK YEARS BEHIND PARIS STYLES

Long Skirts, No Corsets is Paris Dictum—Hygiene Has Nothing to Do With Fashions.

POIRET INTERVIEW

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—M. Paul Poiret, recently arrived from France, was "available to representatives of the press"—the words are the Ritz-Carlton's—yesterday morning. The creator of some of the most startling fashions of the century received a dozen newspaper women and one man in his rose and gray sitting room. He wore morning dress, consisting of striped trousers, a half length fawn colored house coat belted and braided, white spats, yellow shoes, pink shirt and a striped necktie. On the rack in the foyer were more fawn colored coats and hats to match.

"You have something to ask me?" ventured the head of the house of Poiret. Simultaneously several feminine voices chorused, "Are skirts to be long, really long?"

"They are," he replied emphatically. "Women will wear long skirts, long sleeves, straight lines, draped bodices, no corsets and colored leather Russian boots draped over the ankle. These are already being seen in Paris: In three years they will be generally worn here.'

"Is New York three years behind Paris?" the reporters asked.

"Exactly. It takes that long for you to resign yourselves to our ideas. You protest, but in the end you wear our styles. I made the first long skirts in 1918, the year after they were so very short .Now Paris is appearing in ankle length skirts. Hygiene has nothing to do with fashions. The mode has no logic, it is never inspired by reason. You remember when your cars were very small women wore those big full skirts."

Never again will the long, heavily boned corsets be worn by womankind, Mr. Poiret predicted. A girdle or sort of band effect has already replaced this clumsy garment. They go not make good lines, these heavy corsets, he stated, and they are not comfortable. With a gesture he flicked them from the discussion and from the realm of fashion.

Fashions to-day have been influenced by Italian pictures of the Renaissance, he said. That is the fashionable silhouette. Much flat lace, in black and white, will be worn, and red will be a favorite color, though this is to be a season of many shades. Color is really less important this season than for a long time.

The tariff has dealt a sad blow to French dressmakers and milliners, according to M. Poiret. Many of them have decided to open branches in America. "I shall be obliged to come here and make my models," he said. "I am quite well disposed to do that, say twice a year. In this way I shall avoid paying the high duty. But I shall have to pay an income tax, I suppose.

"Of course you can live without Paris models as you do without wine," Mr. Poiret added, "but in three years you will be inhabitants of the moon."

On the day he leaves for France he will tell what he thinks of the way American women dress, he promised. "They are more healthy looking than French women, I will say now, and they have all the aristocracy of the English woman. Their complexions are fresh and charming. The girls on the stage are very much better looking than ours, they are more athletic. French women are not so tall and most of them look tired."

He expects to put through the copyright idea whereby each of his models will bring in a royalty for every copy.

"How can you prohibit manufacturers from copying your dresses?" he was asked.

"You have prohibited so many things here you can prohibit that," he replied, "I don't mind if you copy my dresses at home, but not by the thousands."

READY TO WALK OUT IF NECESSARY

STRATFORD, Sept. 11—(Canadian Press).—Though word has been received from headquarters to be in readiness to strike, prominent federated shop craft officers here told Canadian Press at noon to-day they were in readiness to bidding officers of Division No. 4. There is little talk among workmen but representative railway workers state that men will go out as unit if order comes. Upwards of 1,000 men are affected locally.

DECLARES SHOPMEN'S STRIKE MORE EFFECTIVE THAN EVER

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Sept. 11. — (Canadian Press.) — Shopmen strike is more effective now than it was, even with injunctions which are secured from Government pets, like Judge Wilkerson, who issued injunction powers for Attorney General, Samuel Gompers declared to-day in an address before convention of International Typographical Union of North America. Union held its opening session in the Ambassador Hotel, "Injunctions forbid people to do things they have a lawful right to do and permit others to do things they should not," he continued. "Any offender against an injunction is guilty of contempt of court. But industrial tide has turned. Trade unionism and federation of all unions is the protection of the masses. The ideal of this nation is for freedom and liberty. It has always been that in this country's history and that spirit is not dead in 1922."

KING TINO MAY LOSE THE GRECIAN THRONE

Defeated Greek Troops March Through the Streets Hooting Their King—Moslem World Stirred by Events.

NEED STRONG MAN

PARIS, September 11 (United Press). — The victorious Turkish Nationalist troops are pouring into Smyrna to-day, while mutterings of Christian massacres stir the Moslem world as a result of Mustapha Kemal's crushing victory over the Greeks.

King Constantine of Greece is in peril of being overthrown, according to despatches from Athens.

Riotous remnants of the defeated Greek army are marching through the streets hooting their King.

Plans of the Greek Government to scatter the troops over the islands in the Aegean Sea failed when the soldiers seized the transports and insisted on being landed at Piraeus, the Port of Athens.

A "strong man" is needed in Greece, and adherents of former Premier Venizelos are understood to favour his immediate return, which would involve ousting Constantine.

Venizelos was due in Paris to-day to consult the Allied statesmen.

The first note of a possible Islamic uprising against the Christians was sounded in Constantinople, where, upon the word of Kemal's successes, throngs of Moslems congregated and threatened the "unbelievers."

Christians are in grave fear.

Constantinople, however, is garrisoned by Allied troops, principally British, under the command of Field-Marshal Plummer, and there is a squadron of British warships nearby.

United States, British, French and Italian bluejackets and marines are guarding the Consulates and public buildings in Smyrna, but they are heavily outnumbered by the Turks.

Mustapha Kemal planned to make his triumphant entry into the city to-day.

The Turks have taken charge of the sanitation work, and are trying to clean up the city, stamp out pestilences, and feed the refugees.

Winnipeg Suffers Heavy Fire Loss

WINNIPEG, Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Several business places suffered heavy losses early this morning when fire gutted the Kennedy block on Portage Avenue and affected the Edward and Dismor buildings. Crystal Palaces confectionery and Yale Shoe Store suffered the loss of two hundred thousand dollars. Fire followed a terrific explosion in the confectionery store. Many persons asleep in the upper part of the buildings were forced to make their escape in night attire.

HATCHET BURIED BY MOVIE STARS

Mr. and Mrs. Flo Ziegfeld Are Ready to Make Up Again — Pickford Responsible.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Flo Ziegfield and Marilynn Miller have buried the hatchet.

Jack Pickford, over whom they squabbled, made the announcement in an interview.

The producer and the dainty star and creator of "Sally" are ready to make up, Jack said, and start playing twelve performances a week in every large city in the east.

Ziegfield could not confirm the peace tidings for he was way up in the Maine woods with Billie Burke but Jack insisted everything was all right and that Mrs. Pickford thought Flo the "geratest musical comedy producer in the world."

The Pickfords are roughing it in a nine room suite at the Ambassador, winding up their honeymoon. Marilynn starts enchanting folks in "The Alley' of her famous play soon and Jack is slaughtering villains in a couple of movies, so they are hard at work, they say. It was half past twelve in the afternoon when the interviewer called and the Pickfords weren't up.

Along about 2 o'clock, Jack gorgeous in a purple dressing gown, got one eye opened and came down to tell all about the forthcoming love feast between Ziegfield and Mrs. Jack.

"For at least a year and probably two", he said, "Marilynn will be doing "Sally" at the same old stand. She wouldn't consider other productions, nor another producer. She thinks Ziegfield the best there is de spite any little misunderstanding."

Jack will linger in the east this Fall to be near his beautiful bride.

"We can be together week-ends," he explained.

Arm Bands Needed In Exhibition Races

In order that there may be no unnecessary confusion in running off the races at the Exhibition on Wednesday, every entrant will be required to wear a competitors' badge to facilitate the work of the judges and officials in keeping track of these who are taking part in the sports and those who are not.

The badges can be obtained at the Y.M.C.A. any time before 6 o'clock to-morrow evening when the entry lists will be closed.

The relay race for boys and the shuttle relay race for girls will be open to pupils of both the Public and Separate schools who have not yet passed their Entrance examinations.

BENNIE SWIN MUST PAY DEATH PENALTY

OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Bennie Swim, murderer of Mrs. Olive Tranholm at Benton Ridge, New Brunswick on March 27th last and now confined in Wood stock prison must pay death penalty on Friday next. Commutation of sentence has been refused by Governor in Council.

FAIR ENTRIES 30 PCT. ABOVE 1922 MARK

Secretary Hall's Files Bulging With Lists That Poured in on Saturday.

OPENS ON WEDNESDAY

Entries for Peterborough's exhibition closed on Saturday night with a list at least thirty per cent. bulkier than last year. Mr. F. J. A. Hall, the secretary of the directorate, told the Examiner this morning that from a first glance at the bulging files the greatest gain appeared to be in the cattle classes with others all showing more entries than ever. From the standpoint of exhibits, therefore, the Fair will open with an assured success. The financial and other aspects will depend upon the co-operation of the citizens and farmers.

President Denne was highly pleased with the prospects to-day, and emphasized the fact that the entry list was a guarantee of expansion that should bring out large attendances on all days of the Fair.

He especially emphasized the change that has been made in regard to the opening day. The Exhibition will get under way on Wednesday afternoon which has been devoted to all the children, especially the school children of the city and district. The vaudeville programme will be presented for them and in addition to this entertainment there will be a programme of races open to all school children, who must hand in their entries by Tuesday night to Mr. Walter Smaill at the Y.M.C.A. or to the secretary, Mr. Hall. The prizes are on display in the window of Mr. R. Denne's store.

The official opening of the Exhibition is scheduled for Thursday afternoon, when the Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture in the Dominion Government, will perform the ceremony of formally declaring Peterborough's own Fair open and bestow upon it the best wishes for a new set of records in attendance, receipts, exhibits and general improvement. Hon. Mr. Motherwell will be the guest of the city at a luncheon at the Empress, and will afterwards give an address in connection with the opening ceremonies.

The directors feel confident that they will have the loyal support of the people of Peterborough and of the farmers of the county and neighborning counties. With a run of September's best weather there is virtually no doubt that the Exhibition will again prove its merits to the public.

THE CITY IS ALMOST FREE OF CONTAGIOUS DISEASES, IS REPORT

Dr. Young Gives Peterboro a Very Gratifying Bill of Health This Morning—Only One House Quarantined.

HEALTH BOARD MET

Medical Officer of Health Dr. T. W. H. Young gave this city a very gratifying bill of health this morning when he reported to the local Board of Health, that there is only one house in the city quarantined, and that is for scarlet fever.

In this connection also the monthly report from the Isolation Hospital, (Queen Mary's), also testified to a satisfactory health condition here, at least so far as contagious diseases are concerned. This report gave the number of cases in the hospital on August 1st, to have been: scarlet fever 8, diphtheria 3. Admitted during the month: scarlet fever 1, diphetheria 1. Of these, 7 scarlet fever and 4 diphtheria were city cases and 1 scarlet fever and 1 diphtheria was an out of city case. The number of cases discharged during the month of August were 10 and one died.

The number of cases in this hospital on September 1, were scarlet fever 2, diphtheria none. All of which goes to show that Peterborough is pretty free from contagious or infectious diseases at present.

Expense Account

Expenditures at Queen Mary's Hospital for the month of August amounted to $853.69 making a total since January 1 of $8,287.01. The salaries for the month of August totalled $339.26.

Salary Increase

M.O.H. Dr. Young endorsed a request by laundress, Mrs. J. Spencer of the Isolation Hospital for an increase of salary from $35 a month; and on the M.O.H.'s motion seconded by E. F. Mason she was granted an increase of $5 a month.

A number of accounts for August were here passed and payment ordered.

There were present Chairman George H. Duncan E. F. Mason, Mayor W. H. Taylor, Sanitary Inspector C. Stapleton. Plumbing Inspector Metheral and M. O. H. T. W. H. Young.

Former Peterboro Residents Return

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Whiten, of British Columbia, are visiting friends in the city for a few days. Mr. Whiten left Peterborough seventeen years ago. At that time he was well-known here as a photographer. Mr. and Mrs. Whiten returned East to take in the old Boys' Reunion at Orillia, and each received a gift for the couple having travelled the longest distance to attend the event. Mr. Whiten was presented with an arm chair and Mrs. Whiten received a hand bag. They travelled twenty-five hundred miles. This is Mr. Whiten's first visit to Peterborough in seventeen years. They are the guests of Mr. Ben. Shortly, 546 Aylmer Street.

COLLECT GARBAGE HOLIDAY MORNING

Otherwise Collectors Must Make Rounds of District Missed the Following Day.

That unless garbage collection is made on holidays, it must be collected the following day from districts where missed, was the action taken by the Board of Health this morning, when M. O. H. Dr. Young reported complaints in this regard.

And that garbage must be put in covered containers, and also wrapped in paper and drained, was another important decision reached by the board, when Sanitary Inspector Stapleton complained that garbage from South City and East City is invariably nothing but a mass of wet mush, difficult to handle, and which will not burn until dried.

To cover the former nuisance, the following resolution was unanimously carried:

Moved by Dr. Young, seconded by E. F. Mason, that the City Council be requested, when the next garbage collection contract is awarded, to provide that where garbage is not collected on a holiday, it must be taken care of by the contractors the following day; also, that garbage wagons must be covered by either tarpaulin or canvas, and flushed out when so ordered by the Sanitary Inspector.

Connect With Sewers.

The Board also made it quite clear that property owners must connect with sewers where such are available, when they instructed M. O. H. Dr. Young to take legal proceedings against a resident on Gilmour Street, who is maintaining a dry earth closet in an outhouse, unless he makes sewer connection before the expiration of his two months' notice to provide such sanitary improvement.

Regarding the enforcement of sewer connection, Plumbing Inspector Metheral reported that two houses recently built by Jos. Grey, and now occupied, are not connected with a sewer adjoining them. These houses are situated on Park Street, east side, between the creek and McDonnel Street. This man will be instructed to connect.

Sanitary Inspector Stapleton here pointed out that there seems to be a misconcention in some minds as to the city's power to enforce connection with sewers in the interests of sanitation. "When I spoke to one owner regarding connecting his property with an available sewer, he replied that he had no intention of doing so, and did not think he could be forced to connect." However, that man has since made connection, Mr. Stapleton added.

Discussion here elicited the information that where sewer connection is asked for by the Board of Health, as a health precaution, providing a city sewer is adjacent to the property, such connection can be enforced by by-law. Neglect to comply with such demand may be followed with prosecution of the property's owner, by the Medical Health Officer, for maintaining unsanitary premises.

CANADIAN EXPORTS SHOW BIG INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press). — Canada exported goods valued at $34,000,000 to United States during month of July an increase of $10,000,000 in value over exports in same month of last year according to statistics made public to-day by commerce department. Exports from United States to Canada in same month were valued at $30,000,000 decrease of $2,000,000 over July 1921.

ROTARY CLUB MEETING TODAY

Musical Program Provided—Report on Building Fund.

The weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club had a large attendance to-day. President John Crane occupied the chair.

To-day's affair was musical throughout, with no special speakers.

Mrs. G. C. Carruthers favored the Club with two readings; Miss Elva McIntyre sang, accompanied by Mrs. Harold W. Young, and Mr. Bushen, accompanied by Asa Huycke, gave two songs, in a programme which was thoroughly enjoyed.

J. M. Greene made a report on the birthday fund, showing $200 already paid in this year to the crippled children's fund.

J. M. McHardy, the musical director, was the recipient of a handsome toupee, which he donned in sidelong fashion. Mr. McHardy was assured that the only members eligible for the office of musical director were himself, Claude Rogers and Dr. McPherson.

M.C.R. SHOPMEN DEFER WALK-OUT

OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press.)—The strike of the Michigan Central shop crafts employees, scheduled to start at ten o'clock this morning, has been deferred. Word to this effect was received this morning by Hon. Murdock, Minister of Labor. The Department has received the majority report of the Board of Conciliation which investigated the dispute between the shopmen and company, but it is held pending the receipts of a minority report from the representatives of the employees.

MRS. HARDING BETTER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press.) — When Secretary Wallace called at the White House shortly after eight o'clock this morning to enquire as to condition of Mrs. Harding, he was informed that she had spent a "fairly restful night."

Today's Blunder Corrected

Young people entering college as Freshmen would do well to remember that in college high school honors mean little or nothing. The prominent display of high school pennants, annuals, sweaters and varius insignia is considered poor taste by college upper-classmen. Freshmen should forget about high school days, and devote all their time and thought to modest efforts toward making good in the new environment.

SLIGHT FROST IS FELT IN THE WEST CROPS NOT HURT

Wheat Cutting Is Practically Completed and Threshing Going at Full Swing in All Parts.

A HEAVY YIELD.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press.)— Temperatures are gradually dropping over Northern Saskatchewan and locally two degrees of frost were recorded Friday night with no damage to gardens or crops. Cutting of wheat is practically completed over the whole area and threshing of one of the heaviest yields ever harvested here is well advanced. The country east of Prince Albert to the Manitoba boundary is especially favored and the Carrot river valley has more than maintained its reputation as being one of the most reliable agricultural districts in the west.

Shellbrook, to the west, and its tributary area also report a fine yield of good grade. Threshing has been delayed somewhat by a downpour on Tuesday and rains since then.

SASKATOON, Sask., Sept. 11. — (Canadian Press.) — There was a heavy frost in Saskatoon and district at an early hour Saturday with eight degrees of frost reported four miles west of the city. Potato crops and garden truck were badly nipped.

CELEBRATE THE BATTLE OF MARNE.

MEAUX, Sept. 11. — (Canadian Press).—Anniversary of Battle of Marne was observed yesterday by commemorative services in Cathedral. There was pilgrimage of thousands of mourning relatives who came through driving rain and bitter wind to spot where members of their families fell in battle and also public ceremony that afforded Premier Poincare an opportunity to again express France's determination to obtain her due from Germany.

"On battlefields of Marne," he declared, "let us swear to have justice". He served notice on his hearers that France intended to be paid.

STEAMER HAMMONIA SINKS MANY LIVES BELIEVED LOST

Left Plymouth With 1,200 Passengers Aboard—340 Are Rescued By Steamer Kinfauns Castle—Was Bound for Mexican Ports.

LONDON, Sept. 11.-- Canadian Press)--The German steamer Hammonia has sunk about eighty miles off Vigo, Spain, according to a Lloyds message received here. It is believed that the passengers have been saved.

The Hammonia, owned by the Hamburg Steamship Company and registering 1,710 tons left Plymouth September 7 bound for Mexican ports with 1,200 passengers aboard.

One message from the steamer said she was sinking in latitude 41 degrees, 50 minutes north, longitude 10 degrees, 50 minutes west.

LONDON, Sept. 11.--(Canadian Press)--A radio despatch received by Lloyds from the Steamer Kinfauncastle (British) reports that the steamer rescued 349 persons from the German steamer Hammonia, which sank Saturday evening at 6.26 o'clock in latitude 41.50 north, longituted 10.50 west.

The Kinfauns Castle is due to reach Southampton Tuesday morning.

LABOR MINISTER HAS INTERVENED TO HALT STRIKE

Hon. James Murdock in Communication With Officials of Railway Shopmen and the Roads

PUBLIC INTERESTS.

OTTAWA, Sept. 11.— (Canadian Press.)—Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, has intervened in the threatened nation-wide strike of Canadian railway shop-craft employes. In messages sent both to the railway association, representing the railway companies, and to the executive of the men's unions, he urges direct negotiations on the question of a permanent wage rate.

"Canada," he wrote on Saturday night to Charles Dickie, Montreal, secretary division No. 4, railway employes department, "—— Canada deserves something better from all concerned than a strike at this time."

"Public interest demands, in my view," he wired last night to C. P. Riddell, general secretary of the Canadian Railway Association, Montreal, "that the railway companies should have particular regard to that aspect of the board's findings which contains the recommendation that the question of a permanent wage rate should be taken up for further direct negotiation. The railway should without delay intimate to the employees involved their readiness to take up this important matter and I should be obliged if your association would notify its members accordingly."

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press.) — The proposed strike of Canadian Railway shopmen was temporarily postponed Saturday, until after Monday at least, at the request of B. M. Jewell, President of the Railway Employes Department of the American Federation of Labor, following a conference here with R. L. Fallon, President of Division Number 4 of the Canadian Union. Mr. Jewell urged postponement of the strike action until after the hearing on the Federal injunction Monday.

The Canadian union completed its strike vote some time ago. While it is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, it maintains separate conference committees and acts independently of the Shopcraits Union in this country.

Canadian unions were expected yesterday to prepare for a "strike on short notice." Between 40,000 and 50,000 comprise the Canadian body.

MAKE DEMANDS FOR A GENERAL STRIKE.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Demands for general strike by organizations of American Federation of Labor following granting of injunction against railway organizations will be first on program when executive council of federation resumes conference here to-day. Expressing their individual opinions council members without exception were strongly opposed to general strike although they were unanimous in denouncing injunction as 'blow to rail crafts and threat to all organized labor."

PASSENGER LINER IS RAMMED AMIDSHIPS.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Sept. 11. —(Canadian Press.)—Through some misunderstanding of signals the grain elevating ship Robert L. Fryer, Saturday rammed the Northern Navigation passenger liner Hamonic amidship, shortly before the liner was due to sail for the east. Several plates weer stove in above the water line. A gang from the Port Arthur Shipbuilding Company was summoned to repair the damage which delayed the departure of the Hamonic several hours. The Fryer was also somewhat damaged.

STRIKE IN IRELAND.

BELFAST, Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press).—All the Free State telegraph, postal and telephone facilities ceased at six o'clock yesterday evening. The British military authorities are maintaining communication with Ulster and England by wireless. The Postal Union officers in Dublin said this afternoon that despite the Government prohibition they were determined to picket.

MRS. HARDING VERY ILL.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press).—The condition of Mrs. Harding continues "critical," according to official announcement issued from the White House at 3 o'clock yesterday after a five-hour consultation between the physicians in attendance.

A PLACE FOR EVERYTHING.

"There's never a rose in all the world
But makes some green spray sweeter;
There's never a wind in all the sky
But makes some bird wing fleeter;
There's never a star but brings to heaven,
Some silver radiance tender,
And never a rosy cloud but helps
To crown the sunset splendor;
No robin but may thrill some heart,
His dawn-light gladness voicing,
God gives us all some small, sweet way,
To set the world rejoicing."

SERIES POSTAL CONFERENCES INCLUDE THE UNITED STATES

Post Office Department in a New Role — Heads of Branches and Dominion Officials to Meet—Business Methods and Co-operation.

OTTAWA, September 11 (Special to The Examiner). — Since the advent to office of the present administration a number of important business reforms have been inaugurated in the Post Office Department by the Postmaster-General, Hon. Charles Murphy. In the main these reforms have been modelled on the practice that prevails in large commercial establishments which have several departments and outside branches, and they have afforded Mr. Murphy a new field in which to apply his favourite theory that good business is good politics.

Departmental Conferences.

Beginning in February last regular fortnightly conferences between the heads of all the branches of the Post Office Department were established for the first time in the history of the Department. The purpose of these semi-monthly meetings, as explained in a circular issued to the branch chiefs, was to promote co-operation within the Department itself and to ensure continuous efficiency in all the postal services throughout the Dominion. Attendance at these meetings is not confined to postal officials, as the officials of other Government Department may also attend whenever any matters in which they are interested are under discussion.

At each meeting a synopsis is made of decisions arrived at and of suggested lines of policy, and this synopsis is at once forwarded to the Postmaster-General for such further action as, in his opinion, or in that of the Government, may be deemed necessary or advisable.

A Dominion Conference.

In continuation of the new procedure, and in order to extend its benefits to the outside service, it has now been decided to hold a representative Dominion Conference of postal district officials in Ottawa, beginning on Monday, 2nd October next, and continuing on the two following days. The officials selected to attend this Dominion Conference have been notified of its date and purpose in a circular which deals with the necessity of keeping pace with changed conditions and successful business methods. In part, the circular reads as follows:

"Events of the past few years have had a disturbing effect, generally speaking, upon the postal service, and the policies and methods which obtained some years ago require adjusting to meet the altered conditions of to-day.

"Present industrial and economic conditions necessitate corresponding changes in departmental regulations.

"With these objects in view, and having in mind the benefits to be derived from a full and frank exchange of views, the Postmaster-General desire: that a conference be held in Ottawa, beginning on Monday, 2nd October, and you are invited to attend this meeting, if satisfactory arrangements can be made for the proper continuance of post office work during your absence.

"The exigencies of the service made it impossible to assemble all officials the Department would like at one meeting, and it has, therefore, been necessary to make a more or less arbitrary selection for the first of a series of such conferences. The personnel so elected has been chosen, not with special reference to experience, position held or other reasons exclusively applicable to the officials selected, but solely with a desire to make the gathering as representative of the entire postal service as possible, consistent with the maintenance of effective supervision in the field while the conference is in progress.

"The calling of further conferences will depend altogether upon the success of the initial one and alternating selections for future conferences will be made according to the requirements at the time and the subjects for discussion.

"The main purposes of the approaching conference will be:

"(1) To facilitate an interchange of ideas for the improvement of the service and to increase its efficiency.

"2) To improve the esprit de corps and to encourage the greatest measure of co-operation between the various units of the service.

"(3) To discuss Post Office matters of general public interest.

"(4) To elicit practical opinions on matters that are proposed for discussion at a conference between postal representatives of the United States and Canada."

An International Conference.

As will be observed, it is intended to discuss at the Dominion Conference subjects for inclusion in the agenda paper that will form the basis of the Conference to be held between postal representatives of the United States and Canada, and to which reference was made in the Speech from the Throne at the opening of the last session of Parliament. The date and place of this conference will not be arranged until after the meeting if the Dominion postal representatives. It is confidently expected that the latter meeting will be of immediate benefit to the public in producing many valuable postal suggestions and practical reforms through the interchange of ideas between experienced officials gathered from all the Provinces of the Dominion. In any event, the new experiment will be watched with great interest.

BROTHERS KILLED BY BOLT OF LIGHTNING.

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press.) — Harold and Bert Wood, brothers, 18 and 20 years old, were instantly killed by lightning at Semans, Sask., when a terrific electrical storm swept the district on Monday afternoon, according to word reaching Regina Saturday. Following the storm the telephone lines have been down for many miles.

The Wood brothers came from Westboro, Ont., to work in the harvest. With David Poag they crawled under a wheat stock when the storm broke. Poag was stunned by the bolt that killed the brothers. When he regained consciousness, he was able to summon people.

GERMAN FINANCIAL NEGOTIATIONS FAIL.

BERLIN, Sept .11.— (Canadian Press.)— The negotiations between the German Government and the Belgian financial delegates have fallen through owing to the impossibility of the Belgian Government's acceptance of an extension of the treasury bills to be issued by Germany to eighteen months, instead of six, in accordance with the recent decision of the Reparations Commission. The Belgians feel they would be going beyond that decision in agreeing to the German proposal for a prolongation, although as regards other points, notbly the guarantee of the Reichsbank, an agreement was virtually reached.

The Belgians consider that their mission is concluded and they plan to proceed to Brussels immediately to report to their Government.

A statement issued by the Belgians says that the conversations with the Germans will be resumed later.

DEATH OF JOHN LAWLY.

Efforts Being Made By the Italian Government to Bring About Peace Between Greece and Turkey

LATE REPORTS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press.) — One hundred thousand Greek troops have evacuated Smyrna, and a Turkish civil administration has been established there.

ATHENS, Sept. 11.— (Canadian Press.)— M. Theotokis, the Greek high commissioner, who has returned here from Smyrna, announces that the Greek evacuation of that city is complete.

PARIS, Sept. 11. — (Canadian Press.)—Responding to the invitation of the Italian Government for a conference to be held at Venice for the purpose of deciding preliminaries for peace in the Greek and Turkish conflict, the French foreign office Saturday informed the Italian Charge d'Affaires that France could not give a decision on the invitation before next week and that the allied powers presumably would be represented at the conference.

PARIS, Sept. 11. — (Canadian Press.)—A despatch to the Havas agency from Athens dated Sunday, says that M. Kalogeropoulos has abandoned the task of forming a new Greek cabinet, and that King Constantine has requested former Minister of the Interior Triantafillakos to assume the task.

ATHENS, Sept. 11.— (Canadian Press.) — Nine thousand Greek troops have arrived at Piraes from Smyrna thus far. They are being disarmed as soon as they land and sent to their homes. Comparative calm prevailed here last night.

PARIS, Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press.) —The Greek evacuation of Smyrna has been completed, says a despatch to the Havas agency from Athens. The despatch adds that M. Theotokis, the Greek high commissioner in Smyrna, is momentarily expected to arrive in Athens.

JOHNSON ACCUSED OF IRREGULARITIES.

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press.)— The action to unseat R. M. Johnston, member for the Moose Jaw constituency on the ground of irregularities in returns of election expenses, will likely be proceeded with next Wednesday. Since the decision of Justices Embury and MacKenzie of the Court of King's Bench that that court had no power to hear election appeals, it has been been found that an amendment to the judges' act in Saskatchewan in 1916 gives them the necessary power.

EXHIBITION WEEK.

The merchants of Peterborough, in addition to what they can do in the form of attractive exhibits, can assist in making the Exhibition a success in an indirect way by seeing to it that the business section of the city presents a gala appearance during the last four days of the week. The Exhibition can be advertised in the window displays, and, in addition, the stores should be decorated to some extent at least. In Toronto flags fly everywhere during the two weeks of the Canadian National, and every firm seems glad to show visitors that the whole city is co-operating in support of the big Exhibition. There is no reason why a similar spirit should not be shown here by local merchants, who should be interested in doing everything they can to make Peterborough's Fair a success. Flag-draped stores and the Union Jack snapping in the breeze from every flag-pole will give Exhibition visitors a splendid impression of Peterborough and convince them that Peterborough as a community is solidly behind the Exhibition. This is a feature that has been neglected in the past, and the opportunity this week to make amends should not be overlooked.

RURAL MAIL DELIVERY.

The rural mail carriers, at their convention in Toronto last week, passed a resolution strongly favoring the abolition of the contract system and the establishment of rural mail delivery on a salary basis. There will be a strong measure of public opinion behind the request. The contract system has fallen down. It has been a hardship upon many of those unlucky enough to secure contracts. During the war years, and since the end of hostilities, many of the men who contracted to deliver rural mail found that the increased cost of living and of feed and everything needed in their business compelled them to operate under conditions that made it almost impossible to obtain a living wage out of their work. There is no logical reason why the rural carriers should not be paid a straight salary. Their work, especially in the winter, is hard, and their hours long, and they should receive an adequate remuneration for their services. The contract system should be scrapped — it has been a constant source of trouble for the Government as well as for the carriers.

MR. JACOBS'S STATEMENTS.

Much is being made by some newspapers of statements made by S. W. Jacobs, M.P., of Montreal, in regard to the new board of directors of the Canadian National Railways, to the effect that the Government will see to it that none but faithful supporters of the Government are appointed. "Every one of them will be Liberals," he is reported to have said. "They will be appointed because of the political service they have rendered the Liberal party." Mr. Jacobs, of course, is a supporter of the Government, and were his remarks to be considered only from that viewpoint, there would be reason on the part of those who realize the need of a non-partizan administration of Canada's railways to be alarmed. But Mr. Jacobs is also an opponent of public ownership, and in this case his allegiance to the Government is overshadowed by his hostility to public ownership. That fact should not be forgotten, nor should the assurance of the Premier that public ownership will be given a fair trial be lost sight of. Mr. Jacobs' remarks should not be taken too seriously; if he were known as a friend of Government ownership of railways the situation would be quite different, but under the circumstances there does not appear to be any need for worry.

THE COAL SITUATION.

Inasmuch as the city's fuel committee has succeeded in securing a quantity of coal and wood, the activity of the committee will be welcomed by the citizens as an indication that the fuel organization is at least functioning. But the committee will not have measured up to its full responsibility if it merely brings in and puts on sale for immediate delivery a supply of fuel for those families who are in a position to pay for it off-hand. Unless there is a reserve maintained for the benefit of people who are compelled to buy in small quantities as they need fuel, there is bound to be trouble later on, and the committee should bear that fact in mind in the disposition of the fuel they may happen to secure. Already it is pointed out that in securing a quantity of wood from Stoney Lake, the committee has done nothing to add to the supply, inasmuch as this fuel would in any case have been sold here by the dealers. That may be true, but in any case, unless there is sufficient reserves kept to be able to deal with emergency cases as they crop up during the winter, the city's fuel organization will have failed in its most important duty. This is a point that should be kept in mind by the Council, for when winter comes the situation is liable to be serious for many families who are in no shape to buy much fuel at the present time.

ELECTING A MAYOR.

Guelph is abandoning the English system of electing its Mayor, which it adopted a few years ago, and will return to the method generally used throughout Ontario of having the chief magistrate elected by the votes of the people, instead of being chosen by the Council itself from among the elected Aldermen. Evidently Guelph has not found the Council method satisfactory. There is, of course, the danger that a Mayor chosen in that way would feel under an obligation to the Aldermen who voted for him, and as a result would not have the same control over or the same independence of the Council that he should have. So far as securing a good Mayor is concerned, however, the plan that is now being given up by Guelph should be as successful as the general method. There is just as much chance of the Council chosing a good Mayor as there is of the people electing a poor one. The judgment of the electors is not always infallible. Good men have been left at home and unqualified ones elected time after time by popular vote, so that on the surface there does not seem to be much to choose between the two methods. Guelph has tried the English system, however, and has evidently found it wanting, judging by their anxiety to get back to the old method. They may not get any better Mayors than they have been having in spite of the change.

WHAT'S THE MATTER

A closed door conference is being held at Ottawa to consider the question of unemployment, the gathering taking the form of a Dominion-wide affair.

The trouble with conferences on unemployment is that they do not function.

Premier Drury has been doing some plain talking, according to the rather meagre reports given out of what took place. He made a statement that can hardly be contradicted, when he said that Canada ought to be a place where a person could live cheaply. He also pointed out that there is too much spread between what the consumer pays and the producer receives.

For instance, according to figures used by Premier Drury, live stock prices had advanced only 33 1-3 per cent over those quoted in 1913, while the meat from these animals has advanced 66 per cent in price. Grain has increased in value only 26.5 per cent, while rents advanced 92.6 per cent over those paid in 1913. A farmer would feel the full brunt of this illustration if he were to sell his cattle at the 33 per cent advance, and then, if he needed meat, buy it back again at a 66 per cent advance. There seems to be something out of kilter in the machinery of distribution.

The premier is quite right when he says that the cost of living has a very direct bearing on the matter of employment. It has a greater effect than a slight variation in wages. Industry claims it cannot afford to pay the wages the men want, because business will not stand the pressure, and the men, on the other hand, claim that they cannot work for the wages offered because they will not go far enough when they come to spend them in the market to-day.

If Premier Drury has brought this matter before the conference at Ottawa the chances are that he has dealt with other aspects of the situation, and that others as well have had ideas to bring before the gathering.

But what are they going to do about it? Get together—surely, by all means. Put all the facts on the table, blame this man and that man, and then ask the question plainly Are we getting any place?

What's at the bottom of a whole lot of the trouble that these men run into? One word covers up a whole heap, and that one word is short and ugly, viz., greed.

Greed makes it possible for some coal dealers in isolated places to get a few tons of coal now by paying about $25 per ton.

Greed is causing those who have wood for sale to hold it until people are cold enough to pay double what it is worth.

Greed keeps so so busy wondering where we are going to come out at all the time that we never have a minute to stop and wonder if any other person is going to come out, or be snowed under.

Plain, ordinary, human greed explains a whole lot of the trouble that is holding up the progress of this Dominion.—London Advertiser.

FARMERS AND POLITICS

The acrimonious meeting which resulted in the present directorate of the Farmers' Sun being sustained in office serves to show how seriously disrupted the U.F.O. organization has become through the conflicting policies espoused by the Ontario premier and Secretary Morrison respectively, says the Hamilton Spectator. Similar division of opinion exists throughout practically the whole Dominion in the ranks of the party, and on precisely the same grounds. Both in the federal parliament and in the provincial legislature the question of preserving the political identity of the farmers' organization as at present constituted, or "broadening out," by associating with other political parties, is the burning consideration of the hour. "Shall we go forward or turn back?" asks Mr. H. W. Wood, president of the Canadian council of agriculture, in an article in the U.F.A., the organ of the United Farmers of Alberta. By going forward he means continuing in the way which has brought so large a measure of political success to the agricultural associations of the country. As he puts it: "The vital question we are called on to decide is whether we want to continue to exercise our citizenship rights, and try to fulfil our citizenship obligations through the medium of citizenship organization, or through the medium of the political party system." Later on he says: "To turn from organized political action, in which the people move systematically from the bottom up, is to turn from democracy. To turn to the political party, which is to be guided by an executive committee—guided from the top down—is to turn back to individualism and political autocracy. In fact, it is difficult to understand how those who advocate this backward turning can really believe in democracy."

The farmers are at the parting of the ways. Those of their party who are nearest to the government—the elected members of parliament—are apparently persuaded that there must be some reorganization and readjustment. Self-preservation is the first law of life, although one faction seems to think that the policies suggested in the interests of self-preservation are nothing better than political suicide. Whether the U.F.O. groups become merged in other parliamentary parties or not, the essay which has been made in the realms of government cannot be regarded as unsuccessful or fruitless. The old line parties have received a heavy jolt and been awakened from their complacent lethargy. This storming of the citadel by the farmers, amid the not unsympathetic plaudits of the general electorate, should serve as a timely warning to all governments. Groups, having special private interests, may be undesirable as parliamentary entities, they are not more undesirable than a supine administration

The concessionaire's problem — whether to order "hot dogs" or "cones" for the Exhibition.

These September hot waves have a tendency to take the interest out of the fuel problem.

Now that the Canadian National Exhibition is over, Toronto folks who have been sleeping in the sink or on the dining-room table will be able to get back to their own beds again.

FLYING SAILBOATS

Flying bicycles—motorless airplanes propelled by pedal—may be the next sensation in aviation. This is predicted by Glen Curtiss, who, with the Wright brothers, pioneered the airplane.

Curtiss says that the whole science of flying may be revolutionized by the recent gliding contests in Berlin. A glidre is a flying machine without a motor. Most of the German gliders are monoplanes. In the Berlin contest one glider remained in the air more than three hours.

Curtiss attaches great importance to the Berlin gliding successes because the real goal of aviators is to be able to fly like birds. The pilot of a glider is the closest approach yet to a "bird-man."

Everyone is asking: "What keeps the darned things afloat and what prevents their falling?"

In a general way, a glider is a lot like a box-kite.

The gliding machine, in leaving the ground and soaring into the air, takes off from a high place. A hillside is best, for air currents rising from the ground roll up a hillside like ocean waves up a cliff. Not as powerfully, but sufficient to lift the machine.

The glider travels ahead on air currents. It is like a sail-boat on water.

At first thought, it would seem that a gliding machine would have to flap its wings. Not so. It is like a gull, which glides in the air for hours with its wings practically motionless.

The German glider pilots are really air-sailors, adjusting the wings of their machines like changing the sails of a ship.

The big difficulty in air-gliding is that air currents change and as yet there is no way a flier can detect an air current until he is in it. Before man can fly like the bird he must develop an artificial substitute for the "air sense" that is part of the natural equipment of a bird.

Flying without a motor, however, will always depend more on the skill of the pilot than on the machine itself.

For practical purposes, the gliding principle may be best used in combination with motor airplanes, conserving power at intervals by shutting down the motor and letting the air currents do the work.

Story of Alderville Indian Village

(The following is the story of an Indian girl of Alderville, who won the county prize for Northumberland county

I am an indian girl about Sixteen year of age, but when i think that my forefathers have been civilized only about sixty years, of course, while i try to write for a prize my readers will not expect of me more than they would of a white girl of twelve or fourteen years of age, my villag Viz. Alderville in the township of Alnwick and county of northumberland, and Province of ontario, came to receive its name in the following way.

in the year 1825, when my indian forefathers were brought from darkness to the light of the Gospel by the Rev. Wm. Case and Peter Jones, the two first converts were john sunday and Wm. Beaver who labored Amongst their own people, amongst whom some mighty revivals have taken Place; they immediately formed a settlement below Belleville on Grape island, an island containing about twelve acres, where about twenty-five houses were built, and also a log church 30 x 20 in which school also kept until a new school-house was built. the indians made every effort to encourage their children in acquiring an education. the indians also built a large workshop where mechanics were employed to teach the young men trades, such as carentering, shoemaking and tailoring, Mrs. Case took charge of the girls, howing them the art of house eeping and other useful labors; consequently the indians made great progress in the way of cultivating the land.

Mr. Case called a council of the band to consult the best method of procuring a larger tract of land, it was therefore agreed to send the chief and two others to the commissioner of indian Affairs and from him to the Governor-General through whom they got a grant from the Government of three thousand acres sit uate in the township of alnwick, five young men were sent to view the land. When they returned they reported that the land was good. As a result, in the year 18 a company of forty started with their axes, and, arriving on the Reserve, commenced chopping a space twenty rods wide for about one and a half miles long. A saw mill was built in the same year to saw lumber to build forty houses, the first sawyer that ran the mill was Mr. Thackery the father of the Present John Thackery, now indian Agent of this band. in the year 1834 a final settlement was made in the year 1833 the Rev. Robert Alder from England visited the village and called it after his own name. ever since it has gone by the name of Alderville.

When the indians settled on the reserve they numbered over five hundred, of those only eleven are now living who moved from Grape islands, viz. Rev. Allan Salt, Rev. henry Chase, george Blaker, george comego, Francis Beaver, Mitchell chubb, Thomas Marsden, Peggy James, Sarah Ann. Franklin, Mary Simpson, and eliza Shippegaw. the Present number of indians now living on the Reserve, however, numbers only about two hundred.

Mr. Chase just Before he died expressed a wish to be buried with the indian People. Accordingly his remains today lie in our indian cemetery of our village. The Ministers and indians have together erected a monument which reads:

SACRED TO THE MEMORY OF
REV. WILLIAM CASE
the father of canadian Methodist Missions to the indian tribes
Died at Alderville, October 19th 1855, in the 76th year of his life, and the 56th year of his ministry.

Since the death of Rev. Mr. Case our village has been still making progress, we have had some good missionaries and school teachers. those of the teachers that i can remember and to whom i went to school are as follows; (1) Miss Williams she was about 26 years of age but do not remember much about her.

(2) miss sanderson, She was about 30 years of age, (3) Miss Hyndsman. She was about 30 Years of age. (4) Mr. Wellington Salt. he was a very good teacher he was very kind and good looking, and was well liked by his Pupils. he has since found his way into the ministry as a missionary to the indians at turtle mountain, dakota. (5) miss Cross. She was about 25 years of age. she was only here about five Months, she was the daughter of a Methodist Minister, the missionaries that i can remember are; (1) Rev. William Andrews. of him i have very little remembrance. (2.) the Rev. Robert Brooking. he was here for a long time and was liked by all the indians. (3.— the Rev. george Jacques. he remained with us till he finished his active work in the ministry and was superannuated, (4.) the Rev. Jos. C. Bell. he was missionary to the indians only two years. it was under him our mission was merged with the white work. (5.) the Rev. John Davis. (6.) the Rev. John Lawrence, he is our Present Missionary.

supplementing these remarks, i would like to say that on the appointment of the Rev. Mr Bell five years ago, our Alderville indian mission was put in with the white work and was called to an appointment on the Fenella and Alderville circuit. they wanted their own mission ry as in the days gone by. Accordingly, they made application to the proper head men and their request was granted and our present missionary and teacher, was sent to us. i attend his school. i think he is about the best teacher i ever went to. Under his tuition i am trying to learn all i can. and i want to try for the Prize. of course you will not refuse to give it to me because i am an indian girl, if i write the best essay, which i will try than, though of coirse i may fail in the attempt, we in our village now have a very nice, neat frame church with tower and Bell, in which we have a nice toned pipe Organ, a Beautiful pulpit and matted aisles, we pay our Organist $40 a year, and our sexton $60, our missionary is paid by the Methodist Missionary society which has done so much for our Ontario indians. we have also a beautiful brick building which includes both council hall and school house, the latter on the ground floor and the former in the upper story, in our hall can be seen a large photographic Picture of our indian Council. and also a much larger one of our Canadian Premier, sir John A. Macdonald, both in gilt frames, we have also in it a cabinet Organ for the use of our people at concerts and indian feasts. we have also a beautiful two story brick residence for our Missionary with a nice shady lawn in front and only a few steps from both school house and church, our church and school ground are both enclosed with wire fence in front, we have also a splendid Brass and of 12 instruments all played by indian young men.

our present chief is Mr. mitchel chubb, one of the names formerly mentioned amongst those who came with his people from grape island. he is one of the class teachers in our indian church, and man much respected by his people, the other members of our council are Messrs. Thos. Marsden, Allen salt, hiram Beaver and Wm. Blaker, with Mr. Wm. lukes, secretary.

HOME, LOVE AND CONTENTMENT

The world of men may rage and fret,
For what they never seem to get;
They wander far and fail to find,
The joys which they have left behind.

But in a little cottage fair,
A humble couple kneel in prayer;
Together they the day begin,
Together they will lose or win.

In early years they ledged to each
That to each other they would keep
Let what would come 'Twere all the same,
They'd share each other's loss or gain.

And so we find them after years,
Of toil and pain, and joy and tears,
Plodding along with grateful song,
While others now to them belong.

When evening comes they close the door,
Their all is there, they want no more;
They partake of their humble fare,
And hear the children say their prayer.

Dear wife, says John we'll read the Book;
Perhaps we have our God forsook,
So let us bring the light to play,
Upon the actions of the day.

Oh, blessed if where'er we roamed
We could encounter just such homes
Where home is church, where home is love,
Whose pattern is the Home above.

Old-Fashioned Felicity.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE.

There is a queer custom among the Tasmanians that before a man asks the consent of a girl's parents for her hand in matrimony he must partake of a meal cooked entirely by herself.

Of course this gives him an opportunity to know the worst before he commits himself. And also robs him of one of his best alibis.

THE MYSTERY MIND

He nodded. She had a vague inward feeling she should keep him directly at her side. She realized, however, that no stranger should hear of the theft of the portrait or of its immense value to her, nor could she tell what intimate things might come out in a seance. She rushed up the steps by herself, wondering if she were terribly late.

The room above was unlighted, save for the altar lamp. The smoke of the incense was heavy and bitter, causing her eyes to water, making her choke for just a moment.

"Can you find your way, dearie?" came the whisper from the medium's table. The voice was throaty and pitched lower, as if Mesma suffered still from the brief spell of hysteria a few hour earlier. "Here" she whispered again, to guide Violet.

"I can put on the lights?" Violet suggested.

"No No All the spirit controls are here now. I have been working on your problem, my dear."

Violet, groping blindly, with eyes smarting yet, found the chair she had occupied in the first sitting. She settled back with a gesture of relief, placing her hands on the cover for Mesma to grasp.

Nothing but a labored breathing came from the other side of the little table, mute indication of the nearness of the medium.

Now there was no answer. Very suddenly an all-pervacing sweeping sense of menace came over her. She was in danger But what was it? From what direction was she threatened? Downstairs was a detective to protect her. She had a revolver, ready to use, in her bag. Almost without thought she pushed backward and to one side. As she did so ther was a sharp whizzing sound close to her ear. Her head was carried against the wood immediately behind her. While she felt no pain, she could not move. She raised a hand and found, vibrating still from the force of its impact, a short, sharp-handled knife. She was pinned to the partition and had she not dodged just as she had, instinctively, she would have been killed.

But one person she knew threw knives Even as the realization struck home to her the lights flashed on. There in the middle of the room, another knife in her slender hand, her lithe body poised for the cast, her mocking lips curved in a smile, stood Vera Collins. Mesma was not to be seen.

A GRIM JOKE

Dupont elevated his hands obediently. At the same time, remembering the success he had once had in hypnotizing Kali, so that the black, at his direction, attacked Renard, he attempted once more to catch the eyes of the hunchback. Case previously had succumbed to his will. Perhaps the stratagem would work again. He did not know who had him covered, except that from the voice it was no Renard. Rather than turning to see, he bent all his efforts to force the hunchback to meet his glance.

"Tie him up, Case" came the order from behind.

Whether the little man remembered the power of Dupont's gaze, or whether his mind lacked the sensitiveness to respond to the hypnotist's telepathic commands, he failed to look up, but busied himself with a length of stout hemp rope, tying the prisoner.

That task completed by the hunchback, Dupont's captor revealed himself. Dressed in workingman's denim, with a battered felt hat, his shoes and manicured nails yet betrayed the dandy. Slim, lazy of movement, humorous of expression, he smoked a high-bowled pipe which gave him every appearance of a college boy in masquerade. There was a certain snap in his orders to Case. He still toyed with an automatic in his hand.

"Go down to the end of the car line," was his instruction to his associate. "Meet Renard and show him how to get up here in the dark without stumbling I don't think he'd like a bath in the big hole."

"But, Mr. Noyes—" A very quick half side glance at Dupont revealed the hunchback's thought. The artist should be warned against the prisoner's hypnotic power.

Noyes' gave him no opportunity. "Beat it" he exclaimed. "Your legs are short and I suggest you do not keep him waiting. Besides"—a gesture of depreciation — "I wish to explain ethics to this of our crest here. You see, Case, he might not appreciate the true nature of our hospitality, and that would never do."

The hunchback stormed out in disgust. Between these two members of the gang there was little love lost. As Case left, the other turned to Dupont, settling in a chair facing him, looking up unsuspiciously with cold but wide and light-blue eyes.

"It's this way, Mr. Dupont," he began, evidently intending to while away the time with conversation. "I doubt that my mother ever dreamed I would engage in enterprises of this sort, yet there is a certain fascination in extralegal pursuits which, to a gentleman of my cavalier tendencies, are distinctly intriguing."

Dupont, his face a mask, had the glance of his jailor fixed, yet Noyes was not an easy subject. He must be hummored, kept talking, so that his suspicions would not be aroused.

"I see no fascination in ordinary thuggery, such as this," Dupont suggested.

"Ordinary thuggery" repeated the artist. "Now you have us wrong. To me it was high art when Case lured you out here as neatly as he did. Renard thought of that. And you, no doubt, believed you were very clever in following the little man. You see, it is intriguing because we have to accomplish all these things with the law against us."

Who Pays For Advertising?

THIS is a direct and reasonable question; and in the case of Daily Newspaper advertising, intelligently used, the answer is simple: Nobody. It pays its own way.

Nobody pays for the new carburetor that gives added mileage to your motor car. It pays for itself in the gasoline it saves.

Nobody pays for an improved cash system in a modern department store. It pays for itself in economy of human time.

Nobody pays for well planned and written Daily Newspaper advertising. It pays for itself by reducing the cost of sales and by increasing production. And it often receipts old bills for follies with advertising labels.

The advertisement in your own local Daily Newspaper tells you the best things to buy and where to buy them. Every new purchase helps the whole community to command cheaper and better goods.

CAMPBELLFORD LOST THE FIRST OF SEMI-FINALS

Defeated at Home By Bradford By Score of 8 to 6 in Intermediate Lacrosse Series.

First Half Was Loose.

CAMPBELLFORD. Sept. 11.—Bradford scored seven goals in a row before Campbellford got one in the first of the home and home intermediate lacrosse semi-finals played here on Saturday afternoon, resulting in a win for the visitors by 8 goals to 6. The home team started as if it were a cricket game, and if they didn't make their count today there was lots of time tomorrow. If they had played as well as in the Maitland exhibition match it would have been a different record for the O.A.L.A. archives, but they practically frittered away the first half, and when they threw off their wraps in the second they discovered that they had spotted Tom Bell's Bradford crew three too many.

The first quarter score was 3-0 and half time was 5-0 for Bradford. The last quarter was begun with the board showing 7-3 for the enemy, and the game ended 8-6, Campbellford having the blue shirts on the run and jumpy as their margin melted. They had the best of the battle in most of the second half, although the score doesn't show the good work of Pat Kelly—in a negative sense it does—while his teammates faltered in the last period and seemed to be lapsing back into the style of the disastrous first half.

The explanation of Bradford's victory can be briefly told. They checked back consistently, and just as consistently they tried to work the odd man on the attack. In the first period, for instance, Paul Thomas worked his head off, bumping against the Bradford defense. In fact, his rushes were some time too fast; but he and Heagle, particularly, carried the ball in only to find Kerr closely checked, themselves boxed up by Bradford centre fielders who followed back, and then with no one to pass to they had to attempt shots on goal from the outer defense or attempt to break through themselves.

On the other hand, the Bradford home and centre sections were working together up and down the field. Reeves, Sutherland and Robinson had plenty of support on the attack, and back-checking helped the defense continually.

Campbellford didn't do justice to themselves in the first half. Their rushes often petered out through lack of driving force and numerical strength, and, generally speaking, they gave the visitors many opportunities by a loose system that was really no system at all. Then when they stepped on the speed in the third period and forced the Bradford crowd back on their own ground they quickly realized that the harder the pressure the more Bradford became disorganized and "went up in the air."

Bradford appeared formidable at their own game, but their pace, contrasting the first and second halves, was slower than Campbellford's, and although a team might not be able to maintain the assault the local boys launched after the half-time intermission, still they had subs. to use, and, anyway, they wouldn't have been set back seven goals. Experienced lacrosse men stated after the game that Campbellford could win right in Bradford if they played the game they revealed in that frenzied second half.

The Bradford team played consistently all afternoon, their lapse being explained by the whirlwind rushes when the yellow and black sweaters swarmed around the visitors' goal. Reeves, Robinson, Sutherland and Harvie were particularly good and the defense was generally effective. They were caught napping several times, but unfortunately Campbellford didn't profit by these oversights.

For Campbellford Pat Kelly played a great game. When the sidelines were groaning for goals and the rest of the team seemed to be playing without a semblance of plan, either offensively or defensively, Kelly kept kicking them out, and stood up to the Bradford marksmen even when his teammates let them through unchecked. Charlie Montgomery was perhaps the steadiest of the defense crew. Heagle tried hard all afternoon, but his work was at times spoiled by failing to pass the ball. At others he had no one uncovered to pass it to. Paul Thomas and Harte cannot be blamed for the loss. Charlie Holmes flashed across the play, and must be credited with starting the local scoring, and Bernie Gannon was also at his best in the second half. The team can win at Bradford as they should have won at home, but they've got to play four qarters and not merely two.

The Personnel.

The teams lined up as follows:

Bradford—Goal, Hodgins; point, McKinstry; coverpoint, McHale; 1st defence, Church; 2nd defence, Harvey; centre, Armstrong; 2nd home, Collings; 1st home, Sutherland; outside home, Robinson; inside home, Reeves. Spares—F. Evans, C. Evans, Jr., and Waldruff.

Referee—Art Harrison. Judge of play—Hugh Jack. Timekeepers—T. Bell of Bradford and Don. Robertson of Campbellford. Penalty timekeepers—H. C. Coxwell of Campbellford and T. Harrison of Bradford.

The Play.

Paul Thomas got the ball from the face-off and passed to Jacobs, whose shot was blocked. Sutherland and Reeves carried it to the other end, where Montgomery intercepted, and the game was well away. Heagle's try went wide and Kelly stopped a sizzler from Robinson. From the very start Bradford's attacks usually went in with an odd man and became evident that on that kind of play it was only a question of how many goals they could get before Campbellford began to check back. Reeves scored the first one, a clever back-hand shot on a pass from Sutherland. He was unchecked when he took the pass.

Jacobs tried from the defence line, but was a yard off the net. Kelly turned aside a drive from Reeves. Bradford got their second goal when Robinson passed to Sutherland, who was inside the defence and uncovered. Robinson and Reeves pulled the same stunt a few minutes later, Reeves scoring. Two of these goals were in the nature of gifts. Any kind of back-checking should have prevented them.

Tom Thomas went down with the ball and passed to Kerr, who was clear inside. He bounced a shot that had all the signs of a goal, but Hodgins saved.

Early in the second quarter Sutherland and Reeves raced through the Campbellford defence for the visitors' fourth goal, Robinson scoring. Campbellford had three shots in a row, but failed. Harte tried one from a difficult position while checked, but missed the goal while Hodgins was out of it. Bradford was getting breaks of that kind, and Campbellford was helping them along by letting the odd man through time after time. Sutherland made it 5-0 on a combination with Reeves.

There were rumours on the sidelines that the second half would bring the needed change, but it wasn't immediately apparent. Robinson and Reeves went through again, Reeves taking the pass inside the defence, and with plenty of time to outguess Kelly. The crowd's cup was full shortly afterward when Robinson bumped his way around Charlie Montgomery and flipped the ball into the top corner of the net. That was the last straw, and from that stage the local team began to look like the machine its supporters had placed their confidence in. Jack Nesbitt helped materially, and although his rush with Harte failed, he was in on the next play from Tom Thomas to Nesbitt to Harte behind the goal to Holmes in front, who drove the ball past Hodgins.

Heagle got the next on a raid with Gannon and Paul Thomas; Harte made it three, and big Tom had a chance but whiffed it. Harte tossed one around the goal port, but Harrison did not allow it, asserting that Harte had picked up the ball inside the crease. The crowd swarmed on the field, but Harrison refused to reconsider his decision.

The last period opened like the first. Tom Thomas was benched for a cheque over the shoulder that was mild enough, but is contrary to the rules, and Bradford quickly took advantage of the odd man. Kelly stopped two in a row, both of them from inside the defence. Pat had to do it all on both shots as the Bradford snipers were uncovered. Jacobs was lucky in scoring on a long shot, the first of a score or more from long range to get by Hodgins. Armstrong went around Paul Thomas and whiffed one passed Kelly, making the score 8-4. Big Tom bounded the ball through Bradford's defence line for the fifth, and Abe Jacobs made a brilliant attempt while closely checked, but his shot went wide. Nesbitt scored on a combination with Harte, and just before the whistle the home section rushed through for another that was disallowed on account of a penalty, according to the referee's explanation. Heagle, Harte and Nesbitt manoeuvred a great piece of combination and certainly earned this counter, although it was officially barred.

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 11.—The A.Y.P.A. of St. John's church held a successful corn roast on Strickland's Point on Thursday evening. About forty were present and spent a pleasant evening, which wound up with a "sing song" around a large camp fire. The committee, Mrs. T. Waldon, Miss Watson and T. A. Simpson, were tendered a hearty vote of thanks by those present.

W. M. S. to Meet.

The woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church will hold their regular monthly meeting in the church parlor on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 12th, at 3 o'clock. A full attendance of the members is urgently requested and a cordial invitation extended to all the ladies of the church.

Had Many Friends.

Deep regret is felt in the village over the death of John A. Cameron, who for many years was a frequent visitor to the village in the interests of Perkins Ince Co. Mr. Cameron made many friends, who always had a warm welcome for that genial, kindly gentleman. He was one of a passing generation who combined friendship with business, and the community is a loser by his decease.

Personal Mention.

George Lane of Burleigh, was in the village on Wednesday.

Jack E. T. Langley left on Friday for Kingston, where he will enter his second year in the Royal Military College.

Mrs. Connell and Miss Clara, who have been guests of Mrs. A. B. Davis at Washago, have returned home.

Miss Hazel Windsor ,of Burleigh, was in the village last week.

Mrs. Chas. Grylls and Frank Grylls, who has been summering at 'Sea Breeze,' Stoney Lake, returned home on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Emlsley and family, J. A. Creaser and party of friends are spending a couple of weeks camping at Stoney Lake.

Misses Fern and Goldie Wannamaker, have returned from Toronto, where they spent part of the summer holidays.

Mrs. N. Wannamaker and Misses Kathleen and Patricia are visiting friends in Toronto.

Miss Odell Watson has returned to the village after spending a month in Toronto.

Mrs. C. W. Finnemore of Toronto, was the guest of her sisters, the Misses Griffin last week.

H. Tucker, of Apsley, was in the village on Wednesday.

Miss Metheral has returned to Toronto after a very pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Payne.

W. A. Nixon, of Sudbury, is spending a few weeks with his family in the village.

THREATENING FIRE IN CAVAN WOODS

Excitement Over Small Blaze on Fallis' Property

CAVAN CENTRE, Sept. 11—Quite a little excitement was aroused when a small fire started in Harry Fallis' woods. The woods were dry and the blaze would soon have spread to serious dimensions had it not been extinguished promptly. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Dave White has purchased the farm on which Bert Perrin is residing at present.

Mrs. James Paul has recovered from her recent illness.

Sam Wallace of Toronto has returned home after short visit with James Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. James Keegan have returned home from a visit to Rochester.

Miss Lottie Perrin of South Monaghan is spending a few days in Lifford.

A BAILIEBORO AUTO MET WITH ACCIDENT

Broke Down on Road Near Bewdley—Bailieboro News.

BAILIEBORO, Sept. 11. — The Tuxis Boys and Epworth League will start their weekly meetings this week. The Tuxis Square meeting will be held on Wednesday evening and the League will commence on Tuesday evening under the direction of the second vice president. The meetings will be carried on weekly during the winter months.

While Eldrige White, and friend were out car-driving on Saturday evening near Bewdley, they happened with a serious break-down with the car, compelling them to borrow a horse and buggy from Chas. Hannas, the only resident of the locality and drive back to this village for assistance to get the car home. It took some time to repair the automobile before it was in a fit condition to run under its own power.

Personal Mention

The Joy

Of watching film-coats disappear from teeth

If you don't know these facts as yet, send now for this free test.

All the world over careful people are brushing teeth in a new way. Millions of them in America alone. You see the results in prettier teeth wherever you look today. Now let your own teeth show them.

Combat the film

Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. You can feel it now. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. No ordinary tooth paste can effectively combat it.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. It then forms cloudy coats. Tartar is based on film. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. All of these troubles were constantly increasing under old brushing methods.

Then this came

Dental science then began a search for film combatants. Eventually two were found. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then dentists everywhere began to advise their use.

A new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent. In that modern tooth paste are embodied those two great film combatants.

Two other effects

Pepsodent brings two other effects which research proves essential. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to constantly neutralize the acids which cause decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth which may otherwise ferment and form acids. Thus Pepsodent, twice daily, gives manifold power to Nature's great tooth-protecting agents in the mouth.

What it means to a child

Pepsodent brings a new era in teeth cleaning. It means that children need not suffer what you may have suffered from your teeth. It means that boys and girls, as they grow up, need not have dingy teeth.

Do this

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

One week will bring to you and yours a new idea of what clean teeth mean. Cut out coupon now.

WHY BABIES CRY

It's often hard to find the trouble—It may be teeth—it may be stomach—but oh! so often it is just a chafed irritated skin on which poor Soap has been used.

The remedy for this is so simple! Hours of suffering—night after night of disturbance—have been avoided by mothers, who have insisted on—Baby's Own Soap. Of course it costs a little more, a very little more, however—than what is often bought and used—but four generations of Canadian Mothers are there to vouch for its purity, for the soothing healing effect on Baby's delicate skin, for the lovely pure flower fragrance it leaves when Baby fresh and clean is taken from his bath.

Don't you think, Madam, it's worth paying the 15c. a cake, a little less if you buy a box (3 cakes) which your dealer asks for Baby's Own Soap. Adv.

BISHOP OF BUFFALO FOR FREE STATE.

Says the British Have Been Patient With Ireland.

NEW YORK, September 11 (Canadian Press). — Returning home yesterday after two months' visit to Ireland, the Right Rev. William Turner, Roman Catholic Bishop of Buffalo, advised against giving monetary aid to factions in that country.

"The British have been most patient with Ireland," he declared. "I say advisedly that it is useless and sinful for Americans to send money to Irregulars in Ireland. As for the Free State, it doe not need American money, for it is recognised by the nation, and has credit to draw upon."

MICHIGAN CENTRAL RAILMEN TO STRIKE.

Walk-out to Include Maintenance-of-Way Men.

ST. THOMAS, September 11 (Canadian Press). — While no confirmation could be obtained here last night from either railway officials or officials of the unions, it is understood on good authority that the Michigan Central shopmen will go on strike to-day. The strike will include all maintenance-of-way men.

A meeting of the members of the Shopmen's Federation on Saturday night is reported to have resulted in a big demonstration in favour of a strike.

BLISS CARMAN DOES A MOVIE STUNT

MONTREAL, Sept. 11.— (Canadian Press.)—Bliss Carman, the well known Canadian poet, has just completed an adventurous trip down the rapids of Kootenay river, between crosing of Banff-Windermere Road and Canada Flats. He sent the following message to Montreal: "Wild ride down the Kootenay, a great success. Eighty miles rapids all the way. Magnificent but no place for amateurs."

It's a Fact!

THUNDERSTORMS ARE EARTH-BORN

Cloudbursts and "Twisters" Start Where They End—on Solid Ground

WASHINGTON. — Terrific thunderstorms, hailstorms, cloudbursts, and "twisters" that often sweep paths of death and destruction in the summer months—where do they come from and how are they formed

"They originate where they end—at the surface of the earth," says the scientist.

The sun warms the earth, which in turn heats the lower air. This warm, moist air, because it is lighter than the air above, rises in currents. Ascending it expands as the pressure of the surrounding air diminishes and cools into water vapor that accumulates in clouds and floats in the air like fog, buoyed up by rising air currents ber ath.

In this manner are formed the storm clouds of strange shapes and shades that under certain conditions of temperature and moisture assail us with hailstorms, rain by the bucketful or whirling winds.

Hailstorms are simply vertical thunderstorms in which the vertical air currents within the storm cloud are of unusual magnitude. Hail forms only in connection with thunderstorms. Hailstones are formed when raindrops are carried by the vertical currents up into the region of freezing temperatures.

DROPS FALL BACK

As soon as the frozen drops drift out of the area of strong updraft they fall back into the region of liquid drops where they become coaten with a thin film of water. But they are again caught in the updraft and again carried into the region of snow and ice where the new coating is congealed. This may happen several times, producing hailstones of various sizes and structures. Finally, however they become too large to be sustained by the ascending currents, whereupon they fall to the earth.

Sometimes the hailstones when broken through the centre, show plainly the series of concentric shells about a small nucleus formed in the manner described.

Cloudbursts are simply heat thunderstorms in which the rainfall is unusually great. Heat thunderstorms are those caused by the rising, cooling and condensation of large masses of warm moist air. As condensation continues the cloud becomes larger and larger, finally becoming a thunderstorm. The drops of water within the cloud also grow larger and larger until finally they become too large to be sustained by the upward currents, whereupon precipitation begins.

HALT THUNDERSTORMS.

One interesting but as yet unexplained fact in the movement of thunderstorms is that they are unable to cross large rivers. In some cases this probably accounts for the rainfall reaching cloudburst proportions. The storm, reaching the river is stopped and held stationary for a time so that the unusually heavy rate of rainfall usually present near the front of the storm is continued over the same territory for a much longer time than usual. Sometimes large mountains cause the storm to stand still, thus creating cloudbursts.

The tornado appears to be caused by an unusually vioent development of upward air movements in a cumulo-nimbus or storm cloud. This upward rushing of warm air under certain conditions may become strong enough to form a whirl or eddy within the cloud. This air whirl when once set up within the cloud, readily extends downward.

The centrifugal force of the whirling air creates at the centre a partial vacuum in which some of the moisture in the air condenses, forming a funnel shaped cloud.

TUG-OF-WAR ENTRIES.

The following teams are already entered in the tug-of-war competition for the R. Denne Cup: the South-End Garage with Gene Hurtubise captain, Emily and Cavan Townships, the G.W.V.A., the City Board of Works, Fred. Jopling's Smith team and the Quaker Oats. This makes a promising line-up, and from all the indications the tug-of-war should be a feature this year. All the teams are requested to remember that the "pull" will take place on Saturday afternoon instead of Friday.

THE UNITED FARMERS ENDORSE JOHN BRACKEN

THE PAS, Man., Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press.)— At meeting of local branch of United Farmers of Manitoba Saturday night, Premier Bracken was given unanimous endorsation as Farmer candidate in deferred election for constituency.

Executive of Independent Labor Party withdrew the name of W. D. T. Jones as their candidate and pledged support to Premier Bracken. Nomination day is September 19 and polling Oct. 2.

Girls' Styles

The peasant fashions which have been popular for grown-ups are being shown now in children's frocks.

Peasant sleeves and low-waisted bloused frocks are most noticeable of the innovations and distinguish a great many of the new dresses for little girls. The sleeves are quite full and are gathered in on a cuff at the wrist.

Quaint smocked designs in peasant colorings are shown on children's dresses, too, and peasant embroidery is popular. Another trimming is red kid cut into conventional flowers and appliqued.

Wool crepe, wool jersey, light serge and flannel are the materials shown in the first fall dresses. Many of the models combine two colors of the same material.

The woman who loses her hearing may be thankful that it wasn't her voice.

Smile.

"Smiling" is now included in the list of subjects taught to the waitresses employed by one big catering firm.

It doesn't cost you anything, it is very easy to smile. A mere child can do it, all you have to do is to pull the corners of your mouth outward and upward a trifle.

A smile from a woman will make a man buy a 10c cigar instead of 2 for 5c.

Some churches pay $10,000 a year to their ministers to teach and keep their congregation in good spirits, in good humor, in good friendship, in good order with their smiles.

Strangers who visit this city will never forget to come back for your smile.

Now young ladies—smile—that's the only bait you have to catch a good husband. Don't say Ha! Ha! Ha! Simply smile.

—Miss Up to Date.

Delicious Cream

Use it on Fruits Cereals Desserts Puddings Pie or Coffee

RICH, wholesome cream makes all the difference when used with cereal, fruit, pie, puddings or coffee. Weak cream or milk often spoils them. But try Keepsweet Cream with any of these dishes and you'll declare you never tasted anything more delicious. Keepsweet Cream is so pure, so fresh, so beautifully rich and wholesome. It delights the palate and charms the appetite. Remarkably like "Devonshire Cream".

Guaranteed to Keep Sweet

Another splendid feature of Keepsweet Table Cream is that it will keep sweet and pure and fresh in its container for months on end. Isn't that remarkable? And think of the wonderful convenience of such a product! Nothing is added to it as a preservative and nothing is taken away. It is the whole cream, as separated immediately after the milking.

Of course, once you have opened the can, Keepsweet Cream requires the same care as ordinary cream. But, until opening, Keepsweet is guaranteed to keep sweet without ice or special care.

It is Fresh Cream

Keepsweet Cream is fresh cream and is all ready to use once the can is opened. Simply punch two holes in the top of the can, empty the contents into a cream jug and use. Don't add water or sweetening.

A Great Convenience

Wise housewives keep a supply of Keepsweet Cream always on their pantry shelves. It is always ready for use—breakfast, luncheon, tea, dinner, supper or midnight snack! And, in the event of milkman or iceman failing—or of the cream or milk souring—Keepsweet saves the day. It is a great convenience.

The Secret

The moment the cream is separated after milking it is at once pasteurized to temporarily prevent fermentation or souring. It is then homogenized, which makes the cream easily digestible. It is finally sealed in sanitary cans and then sterilized, container and all. This destroys absolutely every atom of germ life, leaving the cream 100% pure. The beautiful cream flavor is unaffected in any way. Keepsweet Cream keeps for months on end solely because of this marvelous purity.

Order a supply of Keepsweet Cream from your grocer. After tasting it, tell all your friends of its goodness. Keepsweet deserves and is fast attaining a wide popularity and reputation.

Keepsweet Milk A Wonderful Food for Children

Keepsweet Milk, like Keepsweet Cream, is the pure, whole, unadulterated product. It keeps sweet, because of its 100% purity and absolute freedom from germ life.

It is a wonderful food for babies, growing children, invalids or the sick. In fact, it is the safest milk that can be recommended.

Keepsweet Milk is absolutely safe, as it contains not one atom of germ life, being 100% pure. Official analysis shows it as also containing all the food value of rich raw milk.

Keepsweet Milk is delicious in flavor, having none of that smoky, unpleasant taste so often experienced in canned milks.

Do not add water or sweetening. Simply punch two holes in the top of the container, empty all the milk into a jug and use. Keepsweet Cream, mixed with Keepsweet Milk, produces a delicious light table cream of about 11% butter fat—the "top-of-the-bottle" grade—and cheaper than you can buy raw cream.

Hail to the New Autumn Fabrics

How many hundreds of women are just waiting for this word—eager to make up a suit, a coat or one or two new frocks in the latest styles — ready for the first day when an autumn breeze makes it possible to set aside the apparel of summer.

How soft and supple the new silken tissues are. What graceful gowns they will make—and how exquisite the new colors.

An All-Wool Tricotine of Rare Excellence, $4.50

It is one of those fine, firm, well-finished fabrics that is a delight to both the tailor and wearer. The maker's first consideration throughout has been Quality, as you will readily see. The width is 54 inches, and you have choice of Navy or Black.

Botany Serges, Various Weights and Prices, $2.50 to $4.75

Dress weights, Suiting weights, and Coating weights. All are of fine Botany Yarn, that refuses to shine, even after continued service. Choice of pleasing shades of Sand, Taupe, Brown and Navy, also Black.

Radium Lace of Silk and Wool Mixture

There is a decidedly Spanish appearance about Lace of this description, and as the trend of Fashion leads to Spanish and other European influences, it is much in vogue.

Rich, medium-weight patterns can be had in Black or Brown. Thirty-six inches wide, and $4.75 yard.

Knit Canton Crepe a Trustworthy Fabric

This is one of the season's creations, and the maker guarantees it not to pull, and to give general satisfaction. It is decidedly different from Crepe Knit and Velette Crepe. Delightful shades of Navy, Mink Brown, Wood Brown, also Black. Thirty-eight inches wide, and $4.75 yard.

Guaranteed Silk Canton Crepe, $5.50 Yard

There is no other Silken fabric that will give such long and continued service as this same Canton. This may not be true of cheaper grades, but it is certainly true of this one. It possesses a rich sheen, and comes in true tones of Navy and Black. The width is 40 inches.

Gay and Novelty Coloured Crepe de Chine for Trimming

These novelty tones are often difficult to procure, but not so at The Cressman Store. Such shades as Henna, Jade Green, Pumpkin, Whirlpool, Poinsettia, American Beauty, Putty, and Seaside Green. Forty-inch width, and priced from $2.50 to $3.50 yard.

An Authentic Classification of Fabrics and Colors

FABRICS, sumptuously beautiful to meet Autumn style trends are a challenge to needlewomen!

Chatty Notes on What's What

A Pigeon

is known to be an obliging sort of bird, but he was downright generous when he gave his colour to new Fall Hosiery, for Pigeon Grey is a delightful shade. Then there is Otter, Mist, Fog, and Beige, all colours you will want.

By Their Handles

—ye shall know them, the new Umbrellas—for they have very clubby, friendly-seeming handles of bakelite, amber, or lacquer, and the Silk that is in them might be Reseda Green or Navy Blue.

It's a Well-known Fact —that a carefully lost Handkerchief sometimes results in gain. But no one would be so adventurous as to risk losing one of these new Fall Handkerchiefs. They are quite enough in themselves. Madeira, White Linen, and Rose Cotton, with Alpine embroidery, all are attractive.

One Never Stops

—if one be fair and feminine—wanting the very newest and loveliest Lingerie. And why should one when Lingerie has the very latest style features, including drapes, panels, and the most intriguing embroideries that suggest peasant influences, and particularly when the materials appearing oftenest are Crepe de Chine, Crepe Satin, Radium Silk, and Georgette.

If a Wise Monarch

—fell from favour and a throne, he would be careful and kind when he was restored. And Corsets must be wise, too, for they're not as rigid as in other days, but are little more than girdles, sometimes made of Silk Elastic, then again of Batiste, and all have a very low bust and long, slim hips.

The World Is So Full

—of a number of things, and so many important ones must go into a Handbag, it's no more than right to want a very nice one. And tremendously nice are these Bags of very smart leather, in shapes galore, with Marcasite trimmings.

Putting It Over

—Skirts is a favourite habit of the charming new Fall Blouses, for most of them are Overblouses. They have been influenced by a Red Russia, for Red Russian stitching often appears on their borders. All in all, they're apt to be most flamboyant and gay, reflecting bright ideas from Persia and Egypt.

Browns, Browns, Everywhere

—and not a one but pleases. That's the status of the Browns for Autumn. They run a gay gamut from Muffin, Tiffin, and Bobolink, which are Beige and Bisque tones, to bright Golden Pheasant and Copper-Rose, and thence to the dark shades of Seal and Congo.

AUTOMOBILE WRECKED NEAR CAMPBELLFORD ON SATURDAY

Touring Car Tried to Climb a Telephone Pole W.C.T.U. Meeting--Back to School Again--Campbellford News of Interest

CAMPBELLFORD, September 11. —The road leading to the Grand Road from the power house was the scene of another automobile accident on Saturday night about 10.30, when the driver of a touring car lost control and crashed into a telephone pole, breaking the rear right wheel and demolishing the windshield. RAIL SHOPMEN'S STRIKE AVERTED

Canadian Organization Has Postponed Action

MONTREAL, September 11 (Canadian Press). — The menace of an immediate strike among Canadian railway shopmen has been averted by the action of the Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labour, in intervening in the dispute to ask for the reconsideration of a permanent wage reduction.

Members of the committee representing Division No. 4 of the railway employees will meet to-day to discuss the move.

ANNOUNCES KEYNOTE OF IMMIGRATION POLICY

OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Careful selection in the country of their origin and a wise direction after settling in Canada is the keynote of the Government's immigration policy announced by Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of Immigration and Colonization. It is hoped by this means to people Canada's western plains and to prevent a flow from the land to the cities during the winter months.

The first steps under the new policy will be to make a careful survey of the countries from which it is proposed to draw settlers and secondly to hold a conference of representative, immigration officials and field workers, at which the year's program will be mapped out. The closest cooperation will be maintained with provincial governments.

CUT WIFE'S THROAT AND THEN SUICIDED

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 11.—(Canadian Press). — Sending his four children out to play, Dan Meshnik, 32 years old, Springwells, slashed his wife's neck yesterday with a razor, killing her almost instantly, and then cut his own throat He died before the police could remove him to a hospital. Mrs. Meshnik's head was most severed from her body. She was 28 years old. The double killing took place 26 hours after Meshnik had been declared mentally unbalanced by a Detroit doctor.

TURKS ARE MAKING WAR IN CIVILIZED MANNER

SMYRNA Sept. 11.— (Canadian Press).—Strong forces of Turkish Nationalist infantry to-day were holding all strategic points in the city. The troops are under strict orders against indulgence in excesses. IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Opening Meeting of Auxiliary—Personal Mention —News of Interest.

MILLBROOK, Sept. 11.—The opening meeting for the fall and winter months of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of the Methodist church will be held at the home of Mrs. Offa Williamson, 7th Line, Cavan, on Wednesday, September 13th, at 3 p.m. The usual contest between the 'East' and the 'West' to see which side can have the largest number of members present, fees paid, and new members' names secured, is being conducted again this year. Members who cannot attend the meeting but send in their fee count one for the side in whose district they reside. The captains are: Mrs. C. W. Richards and Miss A. Hampton for the East district, and Misses Estelle Hetherington and L. Pendrie for the West. The convention for the Woman's Missionary Auxiliaries of the Peterborough District will meet in the Methodist church, Millbrook, on Tuesday, September 26th; two sessions will be held, morning and afternoon, with Mrs. J. K. Moore, of Peterborough, District Superintendent, in the chair.

Funeral To-morrow.

The sudden death of George B. Locke, who for the past forty-seven years has been a highly respected citizen of Millbrook, came as a great shock not only to his wife and family, but to the entire community as well. Deceased had been known to be in precarious health for some months, but had retired on Wednesday evening in unusually good health and spirits; an hour or two later he was seized with a severe pain in his chest, caused by the form of heart trouble from which he suffered, his death occurring about 4 a.m. The late Mr. Locke was born in England sixty-five years ago, and came to Canada with his parents when twelve years of age, living first at Whitby, but removing to Millbrook six years afterwards, and residing here ever since. Besides his bereaved widow, the surviving members of his family are, one son, Norman, of Hamilton, and four daughters, Mrs. J. Perrin, and Mrs. H. Lang, of Cavan, Mrs. J. McKnight, of Millbrook, and Mrs. W. Williamson, of Leader, Sask. The funeral, which is under the auspices of J. B. Hall Lodge, No. 145, A. F. & A. M., is being delayed until Tuesday, September 12th, to allow Mrs. Williamson time to arrive from the west. There will be a private service at the house at 2 p.m., and a public service at the Methodist church at 2.30 p.m. Deceased had been connected with the latter church during all the years of his residence here, and was a faithful worker and member, his pew never being vacant as long as his health permitted him to attend. Interment will take place in Gardiner's cemetery. The sympathy of the whole community is extended to the sorrowing widow and family in their time of bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Given left on Thursday morning for Toronto, where they will take in the exhibition, and afterwards go on to Drumbo to attend a family re-union of Mr. Given's relatives, which is an annual event, and will be held in Millbrook next year, Mr. and Mrs. Given being the host and hostess for the gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Earle went to Toronto on Thursday to enjoy the exhibition, and a visit with friends while in the city.

Sports Day Returns.

The committee who had charge of the community Sports Day at Ida last Thursday report a clear profit of $50—a fair return for the amount of labor involved in planning the event, and carrying it to a successful conclusion.

Mr. William McIndoo, of Fresno, Cal., was a recent visitor at the home of his brother, Mr. Thos. McIndoo, 12th Line, Cavan.

The Rural School Fair for Millbrook will be held at the Agricultural Park on Tuesday, September 26th, beginning at 1.30 p.m. This annual event is always looked forward to with a great deal of anticipation, and provided the weather is favorable, will doubtless prove as enjoyable as in former years.

For the third successive year Mr. D. A. Heiry, of "Maple Grove" farm, south of the village, has taken first prize with his fall wheat at the Toronto exhibition. This honor has, in other years, been duplicated at the Eastern Ontario exhibition at Ottawa the following week, and should Mr. Henry exhibit, he will likely carry off the red ticket again this year.

Mr. R. H. Kells and his youngest daughter, Miss Dorothy, of Toronto, were recent guests of the Misses Kells. Accompanied by Miss L. Burton, the party of five motored to Omemee, and spent the day as guests of Miss Curry. On his return journey to the city, Mrs. A. J. Mulligan, of Cleveland, and her sister, Mrs. H. Armstrong, of Toronto, with Mr. Kells' uncle, Mr. John Thexton, made up the car load.

Rally Sunday.

Sunday, September 24th has been chosen as Rally Sunday throughout Canada, and will be so observed by the Presbyterian and Methodist Sunday schools here, the special programme prepared by the Department in Toronto being used for the occasion. Rev. Lorne Pierce, who conducts the "Book Steward's Corner" in the Christian Guardian each week, will preach in the Methodist church both morning and evening, and will also address the school in the afternoon.

An interesting game of quoits was played on the bowling-green on Friday evening, the challenging parties being R. B. Edmunds and G. W. Sayles, against C. Robinson and L. C. Russell, the former winning by two games to one.

Much sympathy will be felt for Master Jack Eyam who had the misfortune to break his right arm while cranking a car on Friday afternoon.

Rev. W. B. Tucker, B.A., B.D., was the guest of Rev. S. T. and Mrs. Tucker at the parsonage over the week end, and preached both morning and evening in the Methodist church here, and at Fallis Line in the afternoon, this being the first time he has been heard in Millbrook. his sermons proved thoughtful and inspiring discourses A pleasing feature of the morning service was the singing of the duet, "Hark, the Voice of Jesus Calling," by the two ministers.

The Soverign Grand Lodge of the I.O.O.F., (Rebekah Lodges included), will meet this year at Detroit, September 16th being the opening date. Mrs. R. Howden, 10th Line, Cavan, who is returning with her daughter, Mrs. W. Galbraith, next week, expects to attend some of the sessions, and Mr. E. Morden also intends going from here. Official delegates are appointed from Grand Lodge and Assembly officers only.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sayles and family, and Mrs. E. Kenyon, motored to Peterborough on Thursday and took in one of the local theatres for the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston and Mr. S. E. Eakins were recent visitors to the exhibition, and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dawson Fair while in the city.

Miss Kathleen Sutton has taken a position in the Continuation school at Burk's Falls for the ensuing year, arriving there on Monday evening.

Like several other places in this district, a building programme is an absolute necessity for Millbrook in the near future as a number of pupils have had to be turned away from the Continuation school already this term.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Armstrong, with their children, Alice and Arnold, were guests at the marriage of Mrs. Armstrong's sister, Miss E. M. E. Stewart, to Mr. A. N. Sage, at Peterborough, last week.

Mr. A. Weatherhead, of Westport, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Elson, 7th Line, Cavan, over the week end.

Married.—At the parsonage, Fraserville, by Rev. R. M. Paterson, Gladys, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Sanderson, Millbrook, to Howard Murney, of South Monaghan. The young couple are spending their honeymoon in Toronto.

Mrs. Harold Ingram of Trenton, with her baby boy, are visiting her mother, Mrs. Jas. Handley, Wing street.

Mr. M. Sutton and son, Cecil, spent Wednesday of this week in Toronto, attending the exhibition.

Rev. Canon and Mrs. Allen arrived home on Friday evening after a month's holidays spent at Toronto and other points.

Mr. W. W. Kennedy is enjoying a trip through the western harvest fields at present.

YOUNG WOMEN WHO SUFFER

Letter Points Way Towards Relief—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ontario. — "I suffered from the time I was a school-girl, until I had taken your medicine, with pain in my left side and with cramps, growing worse each year until I was all run down. I was so bad at times that I was unfit for work. I tried several doctors and patent medicines and was only relieved for a short time. Some of the doctors wanted to have an operation but my father objected. Finally I learned through my mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how thankful I am that I tried it. I am relieved from pain and cramps and feel as if it has saved my life. You may use my letter to help other women as I am glad to recommend the medicine."—Mrs. H. A. Goodman, 14 Rockvale Ave., Toronto, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. This book contains valuable information.

BELLEVILLE WON WITH A SHUT OUT

Bowmanville the Victim—Chambers Was Hit Hard and Fanned But One.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 11.—(Special to the Examiner)—Before a large crowd and with ideal baseball weather the Trunks toyed with Bowmanville shutting them out 10 to 0.

Weir, the crack short stop of the locals played a star game, errorless in the field, with one sensational catch, and got two home runs and one two bagger, scoring four of the runs. Ross also got a home run and pitcher Williams got a three bagger in the eighth inning Moise for the visitors went out in the first when he attempted to streteh a three bagger into a home run. Mallen pitched first 5 innings and made the best showing of the season with seven strikeouts and no passes. Williams fanned 4. Each pitcher was touched for 1 hit.

The line is as follows:

Belleville—Ross, cf; Weir, ss; Williams, c; H. Mills 1st; J. K. Williams, 3rd; Meagher, 2nd; Casey, rf; Hagerman, cf; R. Mallen, p; J. Williams, p.

TWEED FELL TO C. G. E. BARRAGE

Koen Weakened in the Sixth and Electricians Sent in Four Runs For a Victory.

The C.G.E. came from behind in the sixth inning Saturda, and staging a great batting rally which netted four runs and a victory over the Tweed aggregation. Koen on the mound for the visitors had not quite recovered from his seventeen inning session with the Electricians on Thursday and his work was not as effective as in the first game. He was greatly handicapped by the fact that Houston, who did the catching for him was wild on his throw to second, a fact which the locals took full advantage of, stealing ten bases in their eight innings at bat. Mc; Crow the only local man to stop at first who did not steal second sacrifice him to the key-stone sack resulted in a double play. Rose led in the matter of thefts with three pilfered bases to his credit in four times at bat while McCarney and Helson were close behind with two apiece.

Tweed started the scoring when they got a run in each of the third and fourth innings, errors figuring prominently in both runs. In the fifth they made a great bid for another tally when Koen, the first man up hit to deep right for three bases but he was caught later in an attempt to steal home.

Rose started the scoring for the C.G.E. in the last half of the fourth when he singled, stole second and scored on Helson's hit. Three hits, two good for two bases, a fielder's choice, four stolen bases and two errors on the part of the visitors netted the locals four runs in the sixth. Koen struck out three men in this inning but there were six batters between the first and last man to fan and five of them reached the basese in safety.

Koen showed up as by far the best moundsman seen in the local diamond this season, aside from some of the Central League hurlers, and shows great promise for the future. In spite of his weakness in the sixth frame if he had a back stop with any idea of catching a man at second the final result would have been entirely different.

Frost took the mound for the locals and relied on a slow deceptive ball on which his opponents swung freely and from which they could only send out slow grounders to the infielders which were scooped up with ease. Frost fielded his position in a manner which left nothing to be desired and had eight assists to his credit. Barrie also turned in some good fielding work handling eight chances with but one slip while Helson handled seven missing but one.

Koen fanned eight men and walked one, while Frost fanned two and had one wild pitch marked against him.

Three double plays helped to enliven the game.

Murray's Homers Win For Leaside on Saturday

Peterborough Boy Nicked Two Circuit Clouts Off Kirn and Heckman, Leaside Winning 7 to 6.

MICKEY Murray's war club was the principal reason why the Petes dropped their last scheduled game of the season to the Peacock crew at Leaside on Saturday, Leaside winning a loose exhibition by 7 runs to 6. The Peterborough boy, who is playing for the Durant outfit, hadn't made a hit all season against the Petes until Saturday, when he came through with a brace of home runs, the first off Kirn in the third and the second, the winning tally, off Heckman in the seventh. His first circuit smash was to deep centre, and he was rounding third before Wolfe reached the ball, while the next Babe Ruther was over Shaughnessy's head in left. In addition to Murray's two mighty wallops, it took some bad umpiring by "Lefty" McDonald to turn the trick.

Outside of the two circuit wallops, it wasn't much of a ball game. The intense humidity took the life out of the players, and in addition, the sun bothered the outfielders considerably. Hines started on the rubber for Leaside and showed nothing. He departed in the second innings with one out, the bases full and three balls on the batter, and before Maguire, Leaside's southpaw ace, could retire the side three more runs had registered. Maguire, however, held the Petes to one more run and five scattered hits for the balance of the game and finished strong.

Kirn pitched the first five innings for the Petes, and in the face of indifferent support held Leaside to six hits. The score was tied at six all when Heckman went into the box to begin the sixth, and Murray's second homer was the only run scored after that, giving Leaside the verdict. Manager Solomon played right field for the last four innings, getting a hit in two trips to the plate and gathering in a long fly.

The Petes were without Swanston, who is just recovering from a week's illness; and Holyman, who is away on his holidays.

The Petes opened the scoring in the first. Wolfe walked and stole second, going on to third on Shaw's high throw. Johnston singled to right, to send the run in. Johnston was forced at second on McCarney's bunt to Murray, and McCarney was forced in turn on Heckman's rap to the same player.

Leaside evened it up in their half. Jones drew a pass and went to second on a wild pitch. Hoose fanned, but Bergoine dropped the third one and had to throw the batter out at first, Jones going to third. Mahoney's bounder over Collins' head scored Jones. Dillon's fast roller to Johnston forced Mahoney at second. Dillon stole second and Murray walked, but Johnston tossed out Shaw.

The Solomon crew chased Hines out of the game in the second. Long walked to start with and scored on Kirn's long double over Jones' head. Kirn went to third on the throw in and was out at the plate on Bergoine's bunt. Bergoine went to second on the play. Shaughnessy singled to left, sending Bergoine to third. Shaughnessy stole second. Wolfe walked, filling the bases. After Hines had thrown three balls to Johnston he was derricked, "Lefty" Maguire going to the rescue. Maguire completed the pass to Johnston, forcing in Bergoine. McCarney fanned, but Heckman rapped a hot single to right, scoring Shaughnessy and Wolfe. Heckman stole second, but Collins was thrown out on a tap in front of the plate.

Leaside got two back in their end of the same frame. After Lennon had popped to Long and Johnston had thrown out Culleton, Maguire got a lucky double on a high one back of second, which Johnston lost in the sun. Jones singled to centre, scoring Maguire. Jones stole second and made home when Hoose singled to left. Mahoney flied to Shaughnessy to end the inning.

The Petes were blanked in the third, but Micky Murray, second man up for Leaside in their half, closed the gap by meeting one of Kirn's hooks for a clean home run to deep centre. That left the score 5-4, with the Petes holding the big end.

They increased their lead in the fourth, when Wolfe led off with a single between short and third. Mahoney dropped the ball on Hoose's throw when Wolfe tried to steal, and the runner was safe. He went to third while Murray was throwing out Johnston. McCarney hit a slow roller to short and was out at first, Wolfe scoring on the play. Heckman tripled to right, but was stranded as Collins fanned for the third out.

Two soft runs enabled Leaside to tie the score in the fifth. Hoose led off with a single to centre and stole second. McCarney fumbled Mahoney's roller and both runners were safe. Hoose going to third. Jones, running for Mahoney, started to steal second and Bergoine's throw was low. Hoose came home on the bad toss, and when Wolfe threw wide to third Jones also registered. Had Jones been allowed to go down without an attempt to catch him Leaside would not have scored as Dillon popped to Kirn, Murray struck out and Wolfe made a nice catch of Shaw's fly to centre.

Heckman was on the rubber for the Petes in the sixth, while Solomon went to right field. Lennon led off for Leaside with a single to centre and reached second when Wolfe fumbled. Culleton rolled to Collins, Lennon being held at second. Maguire got a life when Long dropped his high fly back of first, Lennon going to third. Maguire stole second. Jones bunted to Collins, who threw Lennon out at the plate, and Hoose fanned.

Bad umpiring cost the Petes a run in the seventh with one down. Long reached second on Murray's wide toss at first. Solomon singled through short, going to second on the throw to the plate, Long pulling up at third. Bergoine hit to Dillon, who threw to the plate. Long crossed the rubber as Hoose caught the ball and the Leaside catcher missed him a foot when he swung around to tag the runner, but McDonald called Long out. Then Hoose caught Solomon off third to retire the side.

Then came Murray's second home run in Leaside's half, the wallop putting Leaside in front and winning the game for them.

OSHAWA CURLERS WILL CAPITALIZE AT $40,000

OSHAWA, Sept. 11.—The Oshawa Curlers, Limited with a capitalization of $40,000 was the unanimous decision at a meeting of local curlers held recently and Secretary J. A. McGibbon was instructed to make application for a charter. This is the outcome of the generous offer of Mr. McLaughlin to dnate a site providing the curling fraternity of Oshawa would go ahead with a building suitable for the needs of local curlers. A Toronto architect was present and gave an estimate of $15,000 to cover a building 90 by 175 feet with six sheets of ice. Shares at $25 are to be put on the market and every curler is required to hold at least one share. The following committee were appointed:

Provisional committee--Dr. Kaiser, chairman; J. A. McKibbon, secretary; W. P. Hogg, treasurer.

Construction committee--A. J. Stalter, Athru Lambert, L. R. Luke, L. O. Clifford, M.P., and J. L. Whattam.

Finance committee--A. M. Germond, G. W. Hezzlewood, Dr. Henry F. J. Bailes and H. E. Smith.

A local party whose name is withheld has donated $1,000 and a resolution was unanimously carried that a vote of appreciation to Mr. McLaughlin for the donation of the site and also to donor of the first subscription.

ADANACS TRIM THE LAKEVIEWS

Now Hold Junior City Honors—Shaughnessey Pitched a Good Game For the Winners.

Shaughnessey was at the top of his form Saturday when he pitched the Adanacs to an 8 to 2 victory over the Lakeviews and the City Junior championship. The game was the second of the three-game bargain bill at Riverside Park. Whitehouse who opposed him on the mound showed a slight wildness at times and was hit freely when hits were needed to bring in the runs. Shaughnessey held the Lakeviews scoreless till the closing frame when three hits and two stolen bases accounted for their twor uns. The Adanacs gave their twirler the best support he has received this season for they turned in an errorless game while the Lakeviews had six misplays chalked up against them. The opposing pitchers broke even in the matter of strike outs with six each while Whitehouse walked one and had two wild pitches and Shaughnessey hit one batter.

The three sacrifice hits credited the Adanacs figured in three of their runs and three two base hits also helped to run up the score.

C.G.E. SOCCER MEN FELL TO ST. KITTS

St. Catharines Team Won in the Last Few Minutes of Play — Gatfield Sustains Injury.

McKinnon's undefeated St. Catherines team moved one stage nearer the winning of the Ontario Soccer Cup by defeating the C.G.E., 3 to 1, Saturday afternoon in one of the fastest games seen in the St. Kitts district for some time.

Richards set the ball rolling for McKinnon's, and in the first minute Griffin was beaten by Whitehouse from close range. This put the C.G.E. on their mettle, and twice in as many minutes Donaldson in the home goal had to save, first from Mander, then from Sharmen.

The fast forward line of the St. Kitts team were dangerous opponents, and only the superb defence of the C. G. E. on their mettle and down. Time after time Dyer and Bestard broke up the attack, and any shots that came Griffin's way were cleared in fine style. Near half time the C.G.E.A. assumed the mastery, but the inside forwards fell back to help the defence and the goal was kept clear, half time coming with the score 1 to 0 for McKinnon's.

In the second period the C.G.E. started where they left off in the first and were distinctly dangerous, Donaldson being kept busy clearing shots from both wings. Gatfield sent in the equalizing score after a great run from right, but just as he shot he was tackled by Greenall, who unfortunately got him on the knee, dislodging the kneecap.

The C.G.E. kept at it a man short, and ten minutes from time the score still remained even. Bartley had a fine chance to score, but Sharmen got in an offside position and the opportunity was lost.

In a breakaway following a C. G. E. corner, Richards, the star forward for St. Catherines, got the leading goal, Griffin being helpless to stop the ball, and then when every one was waiting for the final whistle the same player picked up a perfect pass from McSporran to score his team's third goal.

The players:

St. Catherines—Donaldson, Taylor, Greenall, Sloan, Gibson, Swain, Law, Fairbanks, Richards, Whitesides and McSporran.

C.G.E.—Griffin, Dyer, Bestard, Williams, McMillan, Mann, Gatfield, Monk, Mander, Sharmen and Bartley.

Referee—Murchie, of Toronto.

MAPLE LEAFS WIN MIDGET HONORS

Defeated the Lakeview Midgets in Fast Game Saturday — Will Play Lindsay and Toronto.

The Maple Leafs won the Midget City championship when they defeated the Lakeviews 3 to 2 in the opener of the triple header at Riverside Park Saturday afternoon. Bradley again pitched for the champions and turned in a good game. He allowed more hits than Young, who was on the mound for the Lakeviews, but they were too scattered to be effective. Young was touched for one hit and one run in each of the first three innings but after that was air tight. The Lakeviews had a chance to win in the sixth frame when an error, a walk and a hit filled the bases with none out. Bradley tightened up then and but one man scored before the next three men were retired.

The Maple Leafs will now play off with the Lindsay and Toronto City Champions for the O.B.A.A. Midget championship.

Thomas Meighen at The Capitol to-night, in his greatest triumph since The Miracle Man. "If you Believe it, It's So," comedy, "At your Service," Pathe News. No advance in prices.

SMASHED MIRROR IS GOOD LUCK SIGN FOR MEIGHEN.

Paramount Star Says Old Bad Luck Superstition No Longer Endures.

The old superstition about seven years' bad luck resulting from a smashed mirror ,has no meaning for Thomas Meighen, "good luck" Paramount star.

In a fight staged recently for his new picture, "If you Believe It, it's so," the star threw a mallet through a mirror of a back bar in a saloon set and smashed the glass to smithereens. The incident made some shudder but Mr. Meighen regarded it as a sign of good luck.

He also had one of the liveliest fights of his screen career, his opponent being Tom Kennedy, a former boxer and a powerful man. Not only was the scene of the fight divided into three sections but it was rehearsed several times before being "shot." The men were pretty well winded by the time they had finished.

The scene occurs when Mr. Meighen in the role of Chick Harris defends an old man who is being brutally treated by a bartender. This is only one occasion when the star has had to battle big men and experts. In "Cappy Ricks" he was pitted against Ivan Lino , a wrestler in a thriller of a mixup. Mr. Meighen is himself a powerful man, and a clever boxer and wrestler. While he had his hands full in both these combats he was able to make a fine showing.

"If you Believe it, It's So," is a powerful story of underworld life, and tells of the reformation of a city crook who goes to the country and finds love in a new environment.

Pauline Stark, Joseph J. Dowling and Theodore Roberts have the principal supporting roles.

AT THE GRAND.

The popularity of little Jimmie Evans and his splendid Musical Revue Co., is growing stronger every day, and last Saturday capacity audiences at matinee and night were delighted with the clean and amusing entertainment offered.

To-night and Tuesday and Wednesday, the Oriental Revue of "A Night in Chinatown" is billed, and promises to be a laughing treat for the patrons of the Grand. Everything in the way of scenery and costumes are new and elaborate for this production and the entire revue is different to the usual revue offering.

All new dances and song numbers are given, and nothing is repeated in any way.

Mr. Evans guarantees this revue as one of the funniest and most entertaining in his large repertoire of over 60 revues, and has been saving this one for the Fair week. The last three days' offering is known as "Love and Kisses" and is entirely new from any of the others, having many new novelties and features in the production.

Seats are on sale for the entire week, so would advise all to secure them early. Usual prices prevail of 30, 30, 50 and 75c. Gallery 10c.

In order not to conflict with the Exhibition opening on Wednesday afternoon, the management of the Grand will cancel the usual Wednesady matinee, but the special children's matinee will be given on Saturday as usual.

TOWN DESTROYED BY FLOOD PEOPLE FLEE TO HILLS DISASTER DUE TO DAM BREAK

Flood is second only to fire in its power to spread paic and devastation to destroy human life en mass and to wipe out the costliest and the most formidable monuments reared by the hand of man, from the time of Noah to the great Pueblo flood of this year in our own west, the crushing waters forseen or unforseen have served to exemplify tragically the puny power of men when confronted by nature in an angriest mood. The Johnstown flood of 1889 and the Galveston flood of 1900 with their toll of thousands of lives, are but passing incidents in the list of such disasters recorded in history.

All of which is now recalled by a motion picture now on view at the Royal Theatre. It is the William Fox special production "The Last Trail," adapted from the novel of that name by the famous Zane Grey. Toward the close of the story a huge reservoir dam in the mountains is broken by a dynamite explosion—the work of the villain—and the liberated waters sweep down upon a village many miles away.

To create this startling inncident, which consitutes the big climax of the Fox picture, the director, Emmett J. Flynn, undertook a singularly formidable task. He built the village in a California valley. He constructed a big concrete dam high up in the hils. It was a costly enterprise, involving much valuable time and high priced labor. But that the end jutsified the means will not be denied by any one who witnesses the explosion and later views the village inhabitants fleeing to the hills, and the place destroyed.

Hhere is a thrill—or series of thrills—genuinely worth while, in heart-reaching film entertainment. Director Flynn, by the way, has made a goodly number of Fox successes, but achieved special fame with the great Fox production, based on Mark Twain's masterpiece of satire, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" — a picture that jolted New York into unusual enthusiasm and had a prolonged run of many months on Broadway before starting on its triumphant tour of the country.

Theory That Left Handers Are Weak Against Port Side Twirlers May Be All Wrong

(By Billy Evans.)

Is there considerable bunk to the generally accepted theory that a majority of the left-handed batters are weak against southpaw pitching?

I have always believed so, because the really great left-handed batters never experience any great difficulty in hitting southpaws.

However, it is tradition in baseball that left-handed batters are weak against left-handed pitching. Most major league managers work on that theory.

Some managers even go to the extent of having left and right-handed shifts, which they use to meet the selections of the opposing manager.

The use of the shift in baseball is modern It was not practiced to any great extent 20 years ago.

This shift has been a bad feature for the left-handed hitter who is not in the Cobb-Sisler class. It tends to destroy confidence. Knowing that he will probably be taken out when a left-hander is the pitching selection of the opposition, he loses his fight, and succumbs to the generally accepted belief that most left-handers cannot hit southpaws.

During a recent series that I umpired between the Washington and Detroit clubs some very unusual features of the theory that I have been expounding cropped out.

Manager Milan of the Washington club very often uses a shift in his line-up, according to whether the opposing pitcher is a right or left-hander.

Milan, when he saw that Ehmke was to be the opposing pitcher, used all his left-handers in the lineup. At the start of the second inning Manager Cobb sent Cole, his left-hander, to the mound.

If Milan declared to use his right-handers it mean that the left-handers he had injetced into the lineup would have to be withdrawn, and be of no use during the rest of the game.

Possibly Milan was peeved at Cobb's strategy. Anyway he made no change in his lineup. In one inning Washington made six runs off Cole and won the game by a lop-sided score.

The following day Cobb selected Oldman, a left-hander, to work. Manager Milan of Washington, because of the success his left-handers had against Cole, tempted fate and sent in the same lineup.

Oldham was knocked out of the box in the early innings. Dauss, a right-hander, succeeded him and had the Washingtonians at his mercy.

All of which made me think there was considerable bunk to the theory that left-handed hitters are weak against southpaw pitching.

Engines and Cars await Grain Rush

Preparations upon a monumental scale for the marketward movement of Western Canada's 1922 grain crop have been made by the Canadian National Railways. Hundreds of giant locomotives and tens of thousands of freight cars have been put through the Railway's shops at Winnipeg and made fit and ready for the greatest traction effort of the year—and of many years.

This mobilization of equipment has been in progress since the beginning of the year, with the result that Canadian National Railways are now fully prepared, waiting, and even eager to get to the business of hauling grain. If all the engines ready for service were placed end to end, they would stretch out for a distance of more than ten miles; while if all the cars prepared since the first of the year for the movement of grain were placed end to end, they would stretch out approximately 350 miles.

The history of the preparation starts with the desire on the part of the Management to ease the unemployment situation last Winter, and at the same time accomplish some useful purpose. The Management conceived the idea of putting into the maximum of efficiency all of the bad-order equipment on western lines. Full staffs of men were set to work in the two great shops and yards, and ailing locomotives and freight cars headed in for treatment.

The locomotives ready to move the crop have an average length of 65 feet. Some conception of the enormous power represented in these iron steeds may be gleaned from the statement of fact that assuming them to be equal to the Mikado, capable of drawing 4,540 tons; the hauling capacity of these locomotives would be 121,520,330 bushels of wheat if all the engines were hauling capacity trains at the same time. In other words, the motive-power prepared by the Canadian National for moving the crop, is equal to the task of hauling about one-third of the total crop of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba at once.

87.6 per cent. of jurors agree on verdict

A CUSTOMER comes into your store where two similar articles are for sale at the same price. One of them is a nationally advertised article, the other is not. Which does he buy? The National Retailers' Association found the answer to be :

87.6 times he buys the advertised goods.
3.6 times he buys the unadvertised goods.
8.8 times he does not have a preference.

When the unadvertised article is the lower priced of the two, which does the customer buy? On the same authority the answer is:

60.6 times he buys the advertised goods.
24.2 times he buys unadvertised goods.
15.2 times he does not have a preference.

Branded and trade-marked, goods, nationally advertised in the columns of your Daily Newspaper, are most quickly turned over and most profitable. That is because manufacturing prestige has been tied up to local friendship and reputation for honest merchandizing.

OBITUARY

MRS. HANNAH CARVETH.

The death occurred yesterday in Cavan of Hannah Carveth, beloved wife of Ernest Carveth. The deceased is survived by her father, John Powell, two brothers, John Geoffrey Powell and Wesley Allen Powell and three sisters: Mrs. Melville Bowen, the Misses Jean and Laura, at home.

The funeral will take pace, at one o'clock on Tuesday to the Warsaw cemetery.

ORA MARION BYERS.

(Contributed.)

At half past twelve Saturday night Ora Marion Byers passed from her father's home to her eternal rest.

She was just entering her early womanhood, and this is a sore bereavement to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Byers, her sister, Mrs. Arthur Belleghem, her brothers Walter and Roy, and to the many friends who had learned to love her.

She bore with Christian patience the illness of the past nine weeks.

The body will be laid away in the Little Lake Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. The funeral service will be held at her late home at 2 o'clock. Her pastor, Rev. J. A. Mackenzie, will officiate. Her work in the choir and in the Sunday school of Knox Presbyterian Church will bear fruit for many days to come.

"I cannot, and I will not say, that she is dead. She's just away."

SPECIALTIES VERY STRONG.

There was a big rush to buy some of the leading specialties yesterday and new highs for the year resulted in many of them. The specialty list that we have been advocating for many weeks has been very strong, included in it having been Corn Products, American Ice, Famous Players, American Woollen, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse and Endicott Johnson. Of these, we believe that the most attractive for further advances are Endicott Johnson and Westinghouse, which are both in line for higher dividends, but have not advanced so much as yet, and next to them, Allied Chemical and Famous Players. It would be our position to take profits on further advances in American Ice, American Woollen and Corn Products, which we believe to be nearer to the probable highs for this year than many others, although all three still have possibilities for further "fireworks."

CAR LOADING INCREASING.

The latest car loading report shows not only a great gain in coal cars, but other freight is passing constantly in heavier volume and there is every indication that the current month and through the rest of the fall will be a busier time for the roads than they have had in years. The prospects are very good for another extensive advance in the railroad stocks in the next few weeks. In the dividend list, our first selections would be Southern Pacific, Atchison, New York Central and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico, and probably just as good will be Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Chicago & Northwestern, Lehigh Valley and Chesepeake & Ohio. Among the low priced issues, the first choice is Rock Island, second either Wabash A preferred or Baltimore & Ohio and other good ones are Pittsburgh & West Virginia, Southern Railway preferred, New Haven and Texas & Pacific.

GAS STOCKS MOVING AGAIN.

The leading gas stocks were quite strong yesterday, with several of them going to new high levels for the year. We believe that this movement will go somewhat further, but that some of these issues will soon go about as high as there is warrant for the present movement. We are of the opinion that the best selections for further advances in this group are People's Gas and Pacific Gas.

ANTHRACITE OUTPUT NORMAL THIS WEEK

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Maine election today.

Ninety per cent. of Anthacite miners return to work today. Normal coal output expected within a week.

Attorney-General Daugherty appears before Chicago Federal Court today to argue for permanent injunction against striking shopmen.

Meeting of Shopmen's Policy Committee scheduled for to-day at Chicago to consider proposals of separate peace for certain roads likely to be postponed due to Jewell's appearance in Court with Daugherty.

ACTIVE INVESTMENT OPINION.

Expert Comment on the Security Market, Finance, Business, and Politics.

For the present we think that the coppers, steels, equipments, and the dividend-paying rails will afford more attractive opportunities for profit than the oils, which seem to be more or less under suspicion.—A. A. Housman & Co.

The little reactions are not so convincing as the advances. — Clark, Childs & Company.

Tobacco shares give good promise and would buy them even at present high quotations, and after the recent advance.—F. B. Keech & Company.

The speculatively inclined will find it more profitable to follow earnings than actual dividend payments. There is no indication of anything more than the beginning in most stocks of the reaction which we have anticipated.—Livingston & Company.

Coal stocks could have a special celebration with the official ending of the coal strike, and, in fact, there is talk of special strength in Pittsburgh Coal, Burns Bros. A and Burns Bros. B.—Hornblower & Weeks.

Take advantage of setback in Chicago & North-western to add to holdings.—Prince and Whitely.

It is safer to stick to the low and medium priced stocks, and avoid the aristocrats.—J. S. Bache & Company.

We are just have a normal reaction in a bull market. After the selling pressure is over we look for another forward swing, and we would use dips from now on to buy.—Block, Maloney & Company.

We would advise purchases on declines only.—Halle & Stieglitz.

We believe that the present decline is but a natural one to correct a technically weakened condition of the market, and we are quite as confident that stocks will rebound with as great resiliency as has been seen on other similar occasions during the past two months.—Josephthal & Company.

The equipment stocks are relatively the cheapest on the list, and should lead the industrials in the next advance.—Brumley, Chamberlin & Company.

UNITED STATES STEEL GAVE MARKET STRENGTH

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.— Under the lead of an advance in Steel common to new 1922 high at 106 general market strengthened after 1 o'clock. Studebaker, Mexican Petroleum and other issues which had been under pressure during morning scored fair recoveries. R.B.C. moved up to 71 1-2 and Lackawanna to 79 3-4 in response to belief that nothing would come of the agitation against proposed mergers. With exception of Studebaker, motor shares were in active demand, especially Hupp which made new 1922 high at 22 3-8 and which sold near the year's high of 15 1-4. Strength in Motors at this season of year is rather surprising for a seasonal slump in demand usually is expected after summers peak. For first time in several years August auto sales substantially exceeded those of July but according to a survey by a large manufacturer demand is beginning to soften. Those who are now buying motor stocks probably are doing so on strength of third quarter earnings statements. In many instances showings in current quarter will equal or exceed second quarter and in few cases will September quarter profits show any substantial decline from preceding three months.

HALF-BAKED LEADERSHIP.

Isn't it time for the reactionaries of the great transportation and industrial companies to realise that they cannot stop the movement of organised labour any more than the labour radicals can control the unwieldy and unsound class privilege machine they themselves have constructed?

Isn't it time for both sides to drop "politics," fighting and bluffing at the expense of the country at large, and accept the inevitable commonsense idea that the only thing which can control this situation is the Government of the People—whose interests have become not only paramount but dominant?

Establishment of a mandatory judicial tribunal to decide disputes between capital and labour where the public welfare is directly concerned, backed by the full power of the Government, is the real solution of this problem notwithstanding opposition to compulsory arbitration advanced by half-baked leaders on both sides.

Those who cannot visualise the inevitable climax will be swept aside and lose out in the tidal wave of public resentment now in the formative stage. Great investment interests noted for far-seeing vision are preparing accordingly.

SPECULATIVE INVESTMENT COMMENT.

Owing to the fact that the northwestern grain carrying roads are now entering their highest revenue season, special attention is being given during market reactions to the stocks of the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Chicago, North-western, Union Pacific, and St. Paul. Predictions are made that these companies, with the start they have had in earnings recovery during the first half of the year, will be able to make very satisfactory reports for 1922, considering that September, October, and November are usually the best months.

"We can see no unfavourable change in the conditions underlying the stock market," says a private wire from a well-known Stock Exchange institution. "But for the present the technical position of the active list is of major importance, and until improvement is had in this respect reactionary movements in prices will not be surprising." The foregoing is a position being taken by a number of responsible houses, which advise against short selling, and strongly recommend purchases on declines.

"The Cuban-American Sugar Co. is expected to be one of the few Cuban concerns which will profit from this year's crop," says an analysis by a leading house. "This is due to the fact that it had a substantial amount of sugar held over which it has sold at satisfactory prices. Estimates of earnings for the year ending with the current month are over $3.00 a share. The company is one of the lowest cost producers in Cuba."

DECLINE IN EXCHANGE — STEEL AT NEW HIGH.

(By Stuart P. West).

NEW YORK, September 11. — The principal incidents in to-day's markets were a rather pronounced rise in some of the Liberty bond group, a moderate but general decline in the foreign exchanges, and an irregular stock exchange list, with operations, however, still favouring the side of advance.

The fall in exchange rates carried sterling down 2 cents on the pound from its high of a week ago, and francs .30 from the top of the recovery which culminated last Wednesday. German marks sold under .07 again, and were thus only two one-hundredths of a cent away from their extreme low. Ostensibly these declines were a response to the hitch in the negotiations between Germany and Belgium regarding the nature of the security to be given the Belgian Government in lieu of the cash due during the remainder of 1922.

Still, there is no serious idea that these conferences will not go through in the end.

The week-end cables from the European centres struck the most cheerful note of any similar advices for some time. They were uniformly favorable toward the Stinnes plan for paying the indemnity with materials supplied to devastated France, and were equally hopeful regarding its acceptance.

At times during the day on the stock exchange there were symptoms of large and carefully conducted realising. But this selling was not pressed to the extent of checking the rise in individual stocks which went on in the same fashion as it had been going on for the last month or more.

United States Steel Common reached a new high for the year—a clear enough answer on the part of Wall Street as to how it looked upon the question of the fuel supply. Some of the recent favourites like Studebaker, Mexican Petroleum, and Crucible Steel felt the effect of speculative realising. As an offset to this, however, new leaders were taken up, like International Paper, American Steel Foundries, and Hup Motors.

Railway shares were variable, but with more advances than declines. Here, too, there was no indication of any change in the opinion which the market has been expressing right along, that the shopmen's strike has not been interfering and will not interfere with current earnings, and that the problem of handling coal tonnage along with the seasonal movement of grain and a good average merchandise traffic will be successfully solved.

MINE LEADERS FIRM.

TORONTO, Sept. 11.— Conspicuous in the mining market this morning was the firmness in the leaders, Hollinger at 13.50 and Dome 39.35 bid. Offerings of the latter remain very scarce and predictions of an eventual price of $75.00 may not be so very far astray. McIntyre was firm at 19.85 and Lakeshore sold at 3, dollars. In the lower priced issues VNT Cons at 75 is equivalent to 25 for the old shares and was up 16 points since Friday.—F. S. L.

CUCUMBERS.

While cucumbers are in season one has to use them very quickly, either fresh or made into pickles and relishes.

The very young cucumbers are better sliced, with oil and vinegar, but older ones are excellent cooked.

Foreign people know this, and as cucumbers are one of the oldest known vegetables many interesting reccipts have come down in history. In the Orient cucumbers are stuffed and baked.

Cucumbers pared, cut in one-inch pieces crosswise, may be friend in a little oil or butter.

Dip the pieces of cucumber in egg slightly beaten and diluted with two tablespoons water.

Roll in flour or corn meal the pieces thus dipped and cook slowly in the fat. They should be soft all the way through and nicely browned.

VOL. LI., No. 60 PETERBOROUGH, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1922 PRICE THREE CENTS

HOUSING WAS DISCUSSED BY CHAMBER HERE

Executive Council of the Chamber of Commerce Held a Meeting Last Evening.

NEW MEMBERS

At the first meeting for the season of the Executive Council of the Chamber of Commerce convened last evening, a considerable amount of business was transacted, and the following subjects were laid over for the consideration of the general meeting of the Chamber to be held on Monday next, Sept. 18th, at 7.45 p.m.: Ferry for automobiles, Cobourg to Rochester; civic government and elections; organization of the Young Men's Club; utilization of King Edward Park as a camping site for motorists, and the acquiring of Armour's Hill by the city. The general meeting will also consider resolutions on the following subjects, which will be submitted to the annual meeting of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce to be held at Owen Sound on Sept. 21 and 22:

Development of water power, St. Lawrence River; distribution and supply of electric power; reduction of postage and tax on telegrams and cables; stamp tax on cheques; improvement in hotel accommodation and development of tourist trade, encouragement of secondary education in universities; encouragement of British immigration to Ontario; adoption of a national fire insurance system; construction of north and south highways; extension of Canadian Government trade consular service; reduction of number of tax forms; development of inland ports; professional travelling carnivals; Chamber of Commerce dues deductible item from income tax returns; daylight saving; debenture of railways; reforestation in Ontario; removal of head office of Canadian National Railways from Toronto; uniformity of preparing municipal financial reports; uniform traffic regulation signs and notices; law governing transient traders, hawkers, etc.; uniform half holiday for retail stores; revision of Customs tariff; national research institute and bureau of standards; Federal income tax and municipal assessment.

The Executive recommended to the general meeting the appointment of the president, Mr. Jos. J. Duffus, and the Secretary, as delegates to the annual convention.

Fuel Situation.

Mayor W. H. Taylor and Ald. Dr. Holloway, chairman of the Fuel Committee, on invitation, informed the meeting of the action already taken by the Fuel Committee and intimated that a supply of hard coal would likely be authorized at the next meeting of the Fuel Committee. Mr. Duffus, president, representing the Chamber, appreciated the information supplied, and assured the speakers that the Chamber would be at their service to assist in any way possible.

Town Planning and Housing.

Following a suggestion by the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce, a communication has been forwarded to the special committee of the Provincial Legislature on Town Planning and Housing, requesting that this Chamber's City Planning Committee be given an opportunity of consulting with them.

Immigration.

Mr. Duffus reported the proceedings at the meeting of representatives of the Ontario Chambers of Commerce, held in Toronto on Sept. 8th, and advised that a committee of five, of which he was one, was appointed to draft resolutions which would be considered at the annual meeting in Owen Sound and presented by deputations to the Provincial and Federal Governments.

He stated that the whole subject resolved itself into the immigration of farmers with capital, experienced farm help, those willing to learn farm work, and domestic help, and the desire for British immigrants of a selected type.

Light on All Vehicles.

A communication from the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce, advocating the passing of a local by-law requiring lights on all vehicles, was referred to the O. M. L., Peterborough Branch.

He was taken to the hospital and is conscious only at intervals.

Face a Famine in Wake of Conflict

SMYRNA, September 12 (Canadian Press). — According to H. C. Jacques, of Darien, Minn., managing director of the Near East Relief, seven hundred thousand persons here face famine this week unless food supplies arrive.

The food must come by boat, as the sea is the only route now left open.

The last of the foodstuffs left by the Greeks upon evacuating the city has been consumed, and the situation is growing desperate for lack of food.

Already thirty thousand refugees are without a crumb of food.

PEAT FUEL FOR ONTARIO HOMES

Five Thousand Tons Will Be Produced This Season at Alfred, Ontario.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12. — (Canadian Press).—Five thousand tons gross of first-class peat fuel will be produced this season at the Government's experimental peat plant at Alfred, Ontario, it is estimated by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior. At the plant, which is operated jointly by the Dominion and Provincial Governments, high-grade auxiliary fuel is being produced in quantities, which will do much to ameliorate the fuel situation in adjacent territories. The product, which is said to be much superior to that turned out in the first years of experimenting, is being shipped daily from the plant to consignees in Ottawa, Montreal, Peterborough and other points in Eastern Ontario. It is being sold at five dollars a ton, f.o.b. Alfred, to any purchaser in carload lots.

FALL MEETING OF THE A.Y.P.A. WAS HELD LAST NIGHT

The first fall meeting of All Saints' A.Y.P.A. was held last evening in the basement of the church with about twenty members present In response to an appeal from Wilfred Fuller, a former member of the church a sum of $15 was voted toward the purchase of a carpet for the church where he is now stationed,

It was decided to send one delegate to the Dominion convention at St. Catharines and Ralph Turner was elected to fill the position. The convention will be held on October 18, 19 and 20.

A special "Rally" meeting will be held to usher in the coming fall season and H. Sisson was appointed a committee of one to make the necessary arrangements.

It was announced that a meeting of the executive committee would be held on Monday evening at 7 o'clock to draw up the fall program.

OPTION FOR PURCHASE BRITISH COLUMBIA MINE.

INFANT CHILD ABANDONED TO MOTOR DRIVER

Belleville Police Charge Woman With Desertion —An Unusual Case— Woman Arrested.

INFANT WAS ALIVE

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 12.— That she sent an infant in a parcel from the Grand Trunk station at Belleville to a farm on the fourth concession of Sidney on Sunday and in that way did thereby commit the crime of desertion, is the charge that has been preferred against Mrs. Mary Long, of Cooper, who appeared yesterday before Magistrate Masson for abandonment and was given her liberty under $2,000 bail in her own name and $2,000 in the name of her husband.

Mrs. Long was in the city early Saturday afternoon and it is alleged drove in a taxi to the Grand Trunnk station and there met a young motor livery driver named Wilson, driving for the Buckley garage and asked him to take a parcel to the home of a well known resident of the fourth concession of Sidney. The chauffeur took the parcel and set out on his trip. In due time he arrived at his destination and there attempted to deliver the parcel. But the people of the house declared that they had been expecting no parcel and refused to take it.

Police Are Notified.

The young man carried it out to the motor and just as he was placing it in the motor saw a wiggling movement. He tore away a small piece of paper and then and there was revealed the hand of a baby alive. Too bewildered to know what to do, he went to the house and told the people. At once it was thought advisable that he should make his way to the station and try and find the woman who had committed the parcel to his charge and notify the police. When the chauffeur reached the station he could not find the woman and the police were notified by telephone.

Woman is Arrested.

Chief of Police Kidd at once got busy and got into communication. The child was brought to the station and thence taken to the city shelter for care.

A good description of the woman and the fact that her whereabouts had been known, as she was in the city, led the authorities to suspect Mrs. Long of the desertion. They found that her home was in Cooper and in the evening set out for the place. In the party were Chief Kidd, Agent Ruston and Sergeant Harman. The party found the woman at home and arrested her.

Yesterday she was brought into court in the office of Chief Kidd and the case was enlarged for two weeks. She is being represented by Mr. E. J. Butler.

The case has aroused unusual stir in Cooper and in the fourth concession of Sidney.

Child, a Lusty Boy.

The child is a boy born on August 13th of this year. It is doing well in spite of its unusual adventure.

That the woman who gave the child to the motorist was anxious that it be given every care was shown by the fact that the clothing of the infant contained a note, asking the farmer on the fourth of Sidney to take care of it and also twenty-five dollars in bills.

Mrs. Long is about forty years of age. Her home is in the Island Settlement at Cooper.

NORTHCLIFFE WILL LEAVES GROSS ESTATE TWO MILLION POUNDS.

LONDON, Sept. 12. — (Canadian Press).—The will of the late Lord Northcliffe, which was sworn to-day for provisional probate, leaves gross estate valued at two million pounds, with a net personality of the same amount.

CHEAT $90,000,000 A YEAR IN MEASURING GASOLINE

Sellers of the Fluid Work Short Measure on Motorists, According to Investigation Made by National Association—Oil Concerns Cleared

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—"Short measure" selling of gasoline was estimated here by the National Motorists' Association to be costing purchasers $90,000,000 a year. This figure was based on an estimate that each of the 10,000,000 motorists of the United States buys two gallons of gasoline daily, and that the average filching from "short measure artists" amounts to two pints in each five gallons, resulting in a total daily loss to purchasers of 1,000,000 gallons valued at approximately $230,000.

The association announced its intention to combat the "short measure" selling.

Recent tests with "fraud detecting devices, carefully made under official auspices" by representatives of automobile clubs, the statement said, "developed the astounding fact that out of a number of purchases of gas in five-gallon lots, there was a shortage running from one to three pints each in over 50 per cent. of the tests made." These tests were conducted chiefly, it was said, in Cleveland, Louisville and Kansas City, although in one large only one or two cases of filching was reported.

"No evidence has been found," the statement added, "that the fraud is countenanced by the oil companies, and in fact offers of assistance are being received from such companies."

RESURRECTED THE OLD HOSE WAGON

Firemen Are Not Idle—Will Provide Fire Protection for Exhibition Grounds.

Citizens who have been won't to complain that the life of the firemen is this city is a luxury, would get the surprise of their lives if they called into the hall frequently and observed the work being done by each man. There are no idle hands. The building is kept so tidy as to warm the heart of any good house keeper. The apparatus must be kept in running order, the metal polished and the hose properly dried and preserved. There are drills and inspections to be made and at all times the electrical alarm system must be in working order.

In some way however, the men under the direction of Chief George Gimblett have found time to resurrect old No-2 hose wagon that had lain around the yard in delapidated condition for many moons. Whenever it was opportune work was done on the ancient vehicle and it is now practically complete and has made its appearance on the streets One of these days the chief is anticipating a call from members of the Fire, Water and Light committee to see the resplendent piece of apparatus that has been reclaimed at an insignificant expenditure of money and will now be put into active service.

All the work upon the wagon was done by the firemen with the exception of the stripping on the glowing cardinal finish and the letters on the body signifying its purpose. A new footboard was added on the front and rear, handrails, side pieces and a new ladder was built to fit. The wagon will carry 1200 feet of hose which is just 200 feet less than did the other bulky hose wagon which is twice as large. "And the springs didn't go down a bit', remarked the chief as he surveyed with a pardonable pride the smart red outfit. "Twelve hundred feet of hose is sufficient for all ordinary fires. That will give us three lines of four hundred feet each and that is usually ample". If the wagon had been purchased as it now stands the chief stated it would cost over three hundred dollars.

At the Exhibition

Three firemen with 600 feet of hose and hand chemicals will be stationed at the Fair Grounds the four days of the fair, the chief announced to-day and in this way full protection will be given the two main buildings. The hydrant is outside the George street gate but the 600 feet of hose will carry the water to the danger zone.

A letter of appreciation from R. M. Glover, managing director of the Peterboro' Examiner accompanied by a cheque for the Firemen's Fund is gratefully acknowledged by the Fire Chief. Recently a fire destroyed the kitchen of Mr. Glover's home but the loss would have been more serious had the fire department not displayed promptness, initiative and daring.

PETER ROBINSON CHAPTER MEETING

The first meeting for this season of the Peter Robinson Chapter I. O. D. E. was held last evening in the Public Library rooms, with the President, Mrs. F. C. Weber, in the chair.

The Chapter discussed the holding of a masquerade dance some time in October, and also decided to make arrangements for a tea dance on Thanksgiving Day. The sum of $25 was voted for donation to the Navy League.

Attending Physician

DR. JOHN M. T. FINNEY,
Chief surgeon or the Johns Hopkins organisation, who was summoned from Baltimore to Mrs. Harding's bedside.

WASHINGTON, September 12 (Special to The Examiner). — The crisis of the grave illness of Mrs. Harding seems to have passed, the six attending physicians reported at 9.42 a.m. to-day in an official bulletin. The bulletin reads:

"Mrs. Harding's condition at 8 a.m. Temperature, 98.8; pulse, 94; respiration, 32. Early part of the night restless. Latter part comfortable. General appearance improved. Enlargement due to the nephrosis decreasing. Laboratory findings find crisis seems to have passed. Surgical procedure deemed unnecessary for the present."

The bulletin shows Mrs. Harding this morning had near normal temperature.

Exhibition Notes

A steam calliope and 20,000 people on the grandstand singing "Peggy O'Neil" and "Till We Meet Again" were the pleasantest memories of the Toronto Exhibition of a man who has seen the world's greatest Fairs. Have your throat cleared for the community singing.

This is the time to come along and make your suggestions for next year. The man who recommended more shrubbery for the Exhibition Park will be glad to see the two hundred saplings which are shooting up in response to his idea.

People in the surrounding districts are making plans for attending the Fair, and wondering which day will be the best. There ain't any best days. They're all alike—and good.

Boys' and Girls' Races will start at 2.00 p.m. sharp and between the intervals with the platform performances in front of the grand stand.

The tug of war teams are reminded that their competition will be held on Saturday afternoon.

SEMI-ANNUAL FESTIVAL OF TIME JUMBLING DUE TO OPEN NEXT SUNDAY

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—Semi-annual festival of time jumbling as between clocks of cities of Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto and New York opens next week. Sunday morning, Sept. 17th, Toronto will revert to standard time, New York goes back to standard time Sept. 24, while Montreal and Ottawa will continue daylight saving until the end of the month.

STAGE IS SET AT EXHIBITION FOR CHILDREN

Peterboro District's Own Fair Opens on Wednesday Afternoon.

CHILDREN GUESTS

The stage for Peterborough's Exhibition was being set this afternoon in preparation for the opening tomorrow at noon. In the Manufacturers' building the most progress had been made up to press time, most of the display booths being occupied and taking shape for the next four days. In the merchants' building the painters were putting on their finishing touches, and in some of the allotments it is unlikely that the exhibits will be completed for the Children's Day opening. However, everything will be ready for Thursday morning, and in a practical sease the whole Exhibition will be set up and operating at noon tomorrow.

The Midway was filling up and will be greatly extended this afternoon when the main shows which were being unloaded after dinner are in position. The only exhibits in the agricultural section were in the poultry building which, in anticipation of a big entry list, is doubled in capacity by a tent annex. Wednesday morning will bring out the farm stock and other exhibits from the country, which constitute the chief framework of the Fair. The grounds are in excellent condition, with the sapling trees standing out prominently along the avenues. The race rack is dry and fast, and the vaudeville colony has settled down for the week with most of their apparatus ready for Children's Day.

As a final word, the children are admitted free on Wednesday afternoon, not evening, and the grounds will be turned over to them.

OFFICE SPECIALTY WILL SHOW HERE

Large Truck With Three Tons of Equipment Arrived This Morning.

A feature of unexpected advertising in connection with the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, and one that could hardly fail to obtain a great deal of publicity in the towns through which it passed, was the bringing by motor truck from Newmarket of three tons of office equipment, which will form the exhibit of the Office Specialty Mfg. Co. at the Fair this week.

The massive machine, with its towering freight enveloped by a white covering emblazoned on either side with huge black and red letters announcing that "This equipment will be on view at the Peterborough Exhibition, Sept. 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th," came by road nearly 135 miles, passing through Toronto, Oshawa and dozens of smaller places. Mr. A. Costello will be in charge of the exhibit at the Fair.

STRIKE LEADER HAS PLAN PREPARED FOR STRIKING SHOPMEN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press).—B. M. Jewell, leader of the striking shopmen, announced to-day that the basis for settlement of the strike was considered to-day by a general policy committee of shop crafts. His brief statement was the first public acknowledgment that the strike settlement basis had been presented to the policy committee, notwithstanding many rumors and reports concerning the settlement plans. There were indications, union officials stated, that an agreement probably would be reached late to-day.

Lantern Exploded And Fired a Barn

WARKWORTH, Sept. 12.—A fire occurred on the farm of Ernest Sharpe, about two and a half miles from Morganston, when his barn was burned by a lantern exploding. Mr. Sharpe noticed the flickering of the light, but before he could get from the granary to the door the lantern had exploded. The blaze, catching in the loose straw, soon put the building past saving.

There was a small insurance, but not nearly enough to cover heavy loss.

FALL GATHERING LADIES' AUXILIARY

Formation of Committees —The Convention Will Be Held Here.

The first fall meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the G.W.V.A. was held last evening in the rooms at the G.W.V.A. Hall—Mrs. Joseph Mills presiding.

Mrs. Mabel Hardman was appointed corresponding secretary for the remainder of the year, to succeed Mrs. R. Biggs, now living in Toronto.

The formation of committees in charge if various arrangements in connection with the convention of Provincial Auxiliaries, which will be held here on 17th, 18th and 19th October, also took place last night.

Mrs. Joseph Mills is convenor of the Billeting Committee, while refreshments will be in charge of Mesdames Patterson, Black, and Hughes.

The Auxiliary will pay for billeting arrangements for a number of the delegates, and would be glad if citizens willing to do this would telephone Mrs. Joseph Mills, Hunter Street, or Mrs. Joseph Welsh, Simcoe Street.

The quilt recently raffled off by the Auxiliary was won by R. H. Howden, George Street South.

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION MEET

Plans for the Season Discussed — New Principal Welcomed.

The Home and School Association of Queen Alexandra School held their first meeting for this season last evening, the president, Mrs. S. F. Touchbourn, in the chair. Plans for the coming season were discussed, and it was decided to hold a paper collection early in October, to augment funds for winter relief work.

A hearty welcome was extended to the new Principal, Mr. M. H. Park, at last night's meeting; Mrs. Carl Simpson was appointed treasurer on the resignation of Mrs. R. Parnell, and a very intersting report of the annual meeting of the Federation of Home and School Associations, held in Toronto, was read by the secretary, Mrs. W. H. Bolton.

The attendance of the destroyers will enable the Canadian committee to view the races from a Canadian ship.

DOCTORS URGE HAIR NETS ON SODA WATER APOLLOS

Warning Against "Cake-Eater" Who Tosses Locks About at Fountain—All Food Handlers Should Encase Their Heads, Physicians Believe

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Hair nets should be worn by all persons publicly serving food and drink, according to health authorities throughout the country questioned by the "Medical Review of Reviews."

Many questioned were of the opinion that men as well as women should use nets. Special reference was made to soda dispensers. A sample of the opinions received is the answer given by Dr. Milton O. Nyberger, City Physician of Wichita, Kan., who declared:

"The hair net or a suitable cap should be worn by all food handlers, both men and women. Long haired men should confine their hair to their heads; it is just as necessary that they wear a hair net or cap as it is for the women to wear them. It is not an uncommon sight to see the cake eater soda jerkers swinging their heads to toss back their Titian locks or to use their hands as a brush to replace their hair."

A score of officials were outspoken in favor of the suggestion, but seventeen State and city officials opposed compulsory measures, believing a campaign of education would meet requirements and minimize the danger from untidiness of the hair. Dr. Frank J. Monaghan, Deputy Commissioner of Health in this city, was one of the seventeen.

Six city health commissioners reported that their cities had health regulations covering the matter. Dr. L. S. Conwell of the Delaware State Board of Health, expressed the belief that it would be well if all hotel and restaurant keepers required their female help to wear nets "merely from an aesthetic standpoint."

PURCHASE 400 TONS OF HARD COAL FOR CITY

Fuel Committee of City Council Met Last Night and Authorized Purchase of Coal.

WOOD OFFERED

The purchase of 400 tons of Pennsylvania anthracite was authorized last night by the Fuel Committee of the Council, who deputed the details to Mayor Taylor and Ald. Holloway. A number of offers of coal and wood for sale was considered, one of them being a semi-antnracite, called Cardiff dry, at a cost of $12.75 a ton f.o.b. Montreal. Mayor Taylor reported that he had received a quotation on Pennsylvania anthracite that could be laid down in Peterborough at $17 a ton.

"If it's good stuff I'd buy 400 tons of it," said Ald. Stocker, and Ald. Phelan added his approval.

His Worship was inclined to be cautious about the deal, suggesting that 200 tons be bought first, and perhaps another order for a like amount to be given a few weeks later. The committee, however, concluded that 400 tons might not be too much for the municipal fuel ard to dispose of, and also believed that the price would not soon improve.

The first carloads of wood that have been bought have been unloaded and cut and are ready for delivery. Ald. Holloway advised that this supply be sold immediately, and he and Mayor Taylor were instructed to advertise the sale of this wood at once. Other job lots of wood that have been offered the committee were considered, but it was decided not to broaden out on too extensive a purchasing programme for the reason that these supplies would eventually reach the city, although probably not until December. In regard to the factor of time, the committee will have its wood supplies for sale this week and the entire quantity will be marketed as soon as possible.

Some members asked for information as to what the retail fuel dealers were doing, but the committee had no definite news from that source.

"We have no desire to interfere too much with the business of the retailers," remarked Ald. Holloway. "If we buy too much coal or wood and lose money on it the people will prbably blame us, and if we don't buy any and a real scarcity develops and we have nothing to sell them, they will blame us just the same."

"They'll blame you anyway," said Ald. Morrison. "I'll take the blame, I'm use to it," he remarked.

Mayor Taylor's caution seemed to be inspired by the possibility of the retailers getting their supplies to sell about $16 or $17, but Ald. Phelan expressed the opinion that the price would probably be between $18 and $20. For that reason he recommended that some investigation be made into a quotation for Pocohontas coal, which, it was understood, could be bought at a reasonable price. He moved, seconded by Ald. Stocker, that the Provincial Fuel Controller be asked for definite information regarding this kind of coal. If the local situation does not soon improve it is likely that the committee will go into the market again, but their next move will largely depend upon the news from the retailers.

The committee has now 1,000 tons of three-quarter lump on order, of which 750 is for the Board of Education and 60 tons for the Fire Hall, leaving 190 tons for public distribution To this will likely be added the 400 tons of Pennsylvania anthracite which Mayor Taylor and Ald. Holloway are authorized to buy.

FUR AUCTIONS OPENED TODAY

MONTREAL, September 12 (Canadian Press). — The fur auction sales for the fall of 1922 were started this morning in the Rose Room of the Windsor Hotel.

Bidding in some lines was very spirited, and offers were not lacking for anything that was put up for sale.

The attendance was record-breaking.

Buyers from Britain, France, the United States, Sweden, Germany and Russia are on hand.

Raccoon skins were sold this morning at prices averaging $7.80 per skin. Skunk skins were sold for about $5.00 each. American opossum were sold for $1.30, and lynx brought $37.00 each.

SHOPMEN ARE READY TO OBEY STRIKE CALL

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Telegrams from shopmens locals all over Canada expressing a willingness to obey the strike call are reaching the men's committee at the committee headquarters, it was staed this morning by Secrotary Charles Dickie.

From Winnipeg, having a membership of 10,000 shopmen, the message was, "Stick to it to the bitter end and the men are with you."

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

At the wedding of the Princess Marie of Roumania to King Alexander of Jugoslavia many old customs were observed.

On her return from the church the princess stepped over a band of cloth hung between the gateposts. This represented her entry into a new life.

She threw handfuls of sugar and flour, which she carried in a sieve, into the corners of the courtyard, signifying prosperity and happiness for all.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You attend to such details as filing your nails, fixing your hair, powdering your face and administering make-up before you leave your home.

The flapper's habit of attending to such things in the presence of others is a reprehensible one that is never indulged in by discriminating women.

Automobile Chances

There are many of them for the carefully planning, prospective purchaser who takes advantage of the Want Columns in the Examiner.

What makes appeals to you most—would you like to get some particular style or kind of auto at a special price? Would you like to pick up a second-hand or a re-built car at a sacrifice price?

See what the Wants can do for you in accomplishing any of these automobile desires.

You may keep in close touch with automobile owners who will be interested in a chance to trade or sell their cars if you make the fact known through the Want Columns of The Examiner.

SCIENTISTS TO INVESTIGATE DECAY OF CEMENT WORK

Structures in the West Subject to Action of Alkaline Waters Are Slowly Disintegrating.

CHEMICAL TESTS.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.— (Canadian Press.)— Millions of dollars worth of cement construction are involved in an important series of scientific experiments now under way. Examination has shown that cement structures, subject to the action of alkaline waters, particularly in the western provinces, are slowly disintegrating.

A committee of scientific experts, under the chairmanship of Prof. C. J. MacKenzie of the University of Saskatchewan, was appointed to investigate and a fund was created to finance the work. The research council of Canada gives $5,000 while grants from provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Canada Cement Company, the C.P.R. and the city of Winnipeg brought the total funds to $13,200.

It was decided to divide the work into two phases; physical field tests and chemical research. Two hundred and fifty blocks of cement were exposed to the action of alkaline water at different point, this stage of the experiments being conducted under the charge of Prof. Williams of the University of Saskatchewan. The work, according to advices received here, is now about to enter on the second stage, that of chemical research. The test blocks will be taken to the University of Saskatchewan and there chemical research work will be carried on under Prof. Thorold'son, assisted by five chemists. It is not expected, however, that any results will be ready for publication for another year.

Disintegration of cement construction under the influence of alkaline water has, it is said, reached such a point that until more is known it is doubted whether cement can be used where alkaline water is encountered.

Radio News

LANCASTER, Cal., Sept. 12.—Mountains hinder radio broadcasting.

This fact was established recently by Lee Roy Potter, whose station is eight miles east of here, when he tried to receive messages from comparatively near-by transmitting stations.

Potter was at Fullerton for years, he says, where he had trouble hearing stations at Riverside, only 30 miles amay. These stations at times got reports from amateurs as far as 1000 miles north and east of them.

The cause of poor reception, Potter learned, was the mountain range intervening between Fullerton and Riverside. This also was t' cause of the weak signals Potter got from San Diego, 90 miles away, although the San Diego amateurs weer able to reach out to the north and east with ease.

Now at his Antelope Valley station, near here, Potter finds the signas from Riverside and San Diego come in much stronger than other stations he had heard at Fullerton The reason for this, he believes, is the natural passage allowed wireless waves by Cajon Pass.

"This," he says "allows an ethereal air strata on a level to this elevation, while high mountains rise in continuity between here and Fullerton."

GAVE $10,000 LIBEL AWARD TO CHARITY.

Labor M.P. Went to Law Only to Vindicate Honor.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press).—The £2,000 damages awarded to Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, M.P., Parliamentary General Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, in his libel action against the National Labor Press, Limited, of Salford, for charging him, in the weekly journal, the Communist, with treachery to the miners during the coal strike in April, 1921, is being given to charity by Mr. Thomas. "I went to law simply and solely to vindicate my honor," he said in an interview recently. "I had not the slightest intention or inclination to benefit myself financially."

Judgment for the £2,000 was given in February last, but Mr. Thomas did not receive the amount until August 4. A great portion of the money, Mr. Thomas said, would go to charities in his own constituency, Derby, the Royal Derbyshire Infirmary and the Mayor of Derby's Fund for the provision of boots and clothes for poor children during the winter benefitting, he said. It was his intention also to send a substantial donation to the Railwaymen's Orphanage, and perhaps to other charities associated with railwaymen.

CELEBRATED HER 94TH NATAL DAY

Mrs. S. Ames, of Ethel, is Sister of Former Warden Peterborough County.

To Mrs. S. Ames, eldest sister of Joseph Forster, 554 Bolivar stree, this citv. a former Warden of Peterborough County, came the opportunity of celebrating her 94th birthday at her home in Ethel, Ontario, on Tuesday, August 1. At this happy function 17 r latives of this well-known and highly esteemed Ethel hostess tendered her their hearty congragulations and best wishes on having passed a milestone within six years of the century mark.

Mrs. Ames, who is bright and cheery, possessing good eyesight and fair hearing, was able to be about to enjoy the clebration and was photographed in groups of 4 and 5 generations. A social time was enjoyed and a dainty supper served, not forgetting the birthday cake. Gifts of money and flowers were practical reminders of the anniversary occasion.

Mrs. Ames, whose maiden name was Mary Foster, is a native of Alliston, Northumberlandshire, England and when 4 years of age came to Canada with her parents, locating at Peterboro. Here 74 years ago, she joined hand and heart with her late husband, Samuel Ames, who passed to his reward, December, 1905. They went West to Grey township, Huron Co., 68 years ago, where they followed farming on Lot 17, Con. 4 until they retired and located at Ethel 27 years past.

Twelve children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ames, 10 of whom are living. There are 50 grandchildren living and 22 dead; 33 great great grand children and one great grand child, Harold Draper, of Flint, Mich., who is 3 years old.

Mrs. Ames is an old time Methodist whose home sheltered many a parson in the days now long past. In her long life she has been a ministering angel to many a home, welcoming the new born, visiting and caring for the sick and closing the eyes of those who departed. Blessed with good health, hardly ever requiring a doctor, the fact that she broke one of her arms at 90 years of age, while going to church, and made a good recovery, gives an idea of her indomitable spirit and marvellous bodily vigor.

INDIAN REVENUES MAY FALL SHORT OF EXPENDITURES

Acting Minister of Finance Estimated Shortage at Between Ten and Twenty Million Rupees.

THE TAXES.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Replying to a question in the Indian council of state yesterday regarding the progress of revenue and expenditure for the current year as compared with the budget estimates, the acting minister of finance said thiat assuming trade generally would not be materially worse than during last year he hoped the customs revenue would not fall short by more than ten or twenty million rupees.

Any shortage, added the acting minister, would likely be due to a drop in revenue from the so-called luxuries and miscellaneous articles such as hides, skins and from the cotton excise duty.

On the other hand imports of of tobacco had been unexpectedly large and the piece goods trade at last showed signs of a distinct revival. Railway receipts would probably fall short by twenty or thirty million rupees of the budget estimate and revenue from posts, telegraphs and income tax would likely be reduced. Revenues from opium and salt would possibly exceed the budget estimates.

In reference to expenditure the acting minister said no important variations were noticeable up to the present, but military expenditure in Wazirisan would be exceeded by about fifteen million rupees while an additional ten million rupees might be necesary in connection with gratlities to surplus officers who were being discharged.

American Beauty Confesses to Seven Proposals This Summer

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 12.—"Miss Columbus," otherwise knowu as Miss Mary Katherine Campbell, who was crowned America's beauty queen last night in the national beauty tournament of the Atlantic City pageant, blushingly admits seven proposals this summer.

She likes the resort in which she is visiting for the first time and says she is coming back to Atlantic City for her honeymoon, when she is twenty, but— she hasn't seen the man yet. Miss Campbell was sixteen on May 9.

Miss Campbell admits she is a good cook. She's not one of these fancy cooks, either. She can get right down to old fashioned ham and cabbage if she's a mind to. And she has another distinction—just because she herself is a beauty is no reason why she should expect her ideal man to be handsome.

"If he's tall, if he's fairly athletic and good humored," she said, "he doesn't have to be handsome—really handsome. And I don't care at all whether he's rich or poor, so long as I like him."

Miss Columbus is described as the cameo style of beauty. She was graduated last February from the East High School, Columbus, and will enter the Ohio State University this fall, taking the course in arts.

Miss Campbell retired last night with a wealth of roses at her head and a cup in each arm. Her mother, Mrs. Herman R. Campbell, who is chaperoning her, however, declares there was no sleep for her "baby."

Coles Philips, whose beautiful girls have been appearing on the covers of leading magazines for years, a member of the board of judges, declared to-day that the selection of Miss Campbell by six of the eight experts is the inauguration of a new type of American girls.

"Years ago there was the "Gibson girl," he asserted. "The last two years the American ideal has been of two types, either the Flo Ziegfeld beauty type, bobbed hair and so on, and the other, the Mary Pickford type. Neither of these girls typifies the American girls. Their type is the rather tall girl, with rather straight lines, fairly athletic, broad shouldered, free swinging, a clear eye and clear intelligent face. Measurements really mean nothing. This type is seen to the last word in Miss Campbell."

The artists believe that this type of girl is seen in greater numbers in the West.

One Flag and One School For Canada

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press.)— In an appeal for the abandonment of the antagonistic feeling which is creating calamity and hindering national progress, Right, Rev. Jos H. Prudhomme, Catholic bishop of Prince Albert and Saskatoon yesterday in an address at Leask, Sask., decried the slogans used by public speakers and a section of the press. He said it was absurd to talk of two schools or two flags. The public or separate schools, the bishop declared, were one and there was only one flag.

MANY SCOTCHMEN COMING TO CANADA

A Large Influx of Immigrants, Expected Next Year.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—Sir Arthur Guest, a prominent land owner in Scotland, recently arrived here from Liverpool on the C.P. liner "Victorian." In an interview he said he had come to Canada to do some shooting in the Rockies, and will remain in this country three months. Speaking of conditions in Scotland, Sir Arthur said that agriculture was back to normal and business in general looking good. He said it was the landed proprietors who were suffering the most from taxation to meet war demands, and he knew twenty-four out of twenty-six estates in his home vicinity up for sale on account of excessive taxation, which the owners were unable to meet.

Speaking of Scotch emmigration to Canada, Sir Arthur said he expected to see a large number of the Scottish people come out to Canada next year. This was due to over population in Scotland and the people of his country preferred to emigrate to Canada rather than to any other country. But the worst feature in this connection, said Sir Arthur, as far as Scotland is concerned, Canada is getting the best of our people and leaving the bulk of the others at home. However, there was no help for the exodus; Scotland is too crowded and Canada is the goal they all aim to emigrate to.

FREIGHT CHARGES ON EGGS REDUCED

Steamship Companies Announce a Cut in Ocean Freight Rates Between Canada and England.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.— (Canadian Press.)—A reduction in ocean freight on eggs from 35 to 25 cents a cubic foot is announced by the steamship companies in Montreal, as a result of direct representations made by exporters and officers of the dominion department of agriculture to the various steamship companies operating lines between Canada and Great Britain.

In requesting the 25 cent rate, attention was called to the heavy stock of storage eggs in Canada bought and stored at prices equal to these of 1921 and to the 100 per cent. drop in prices on the British market, the two fatcors making export practically impossible without serious loss. The exporters were represented by J. D. Moore, St. Mary's; J. B. Jackson, Simcoe; H. S. Johnson, of Flavelles, Ltd., Lindsay, and H. B. Clemes of the United Farmers Co-operative, Toronto. The department of agriculture representative was L. L. Cooke, transportation specialist of the dominion live stock branch.

This is the second reduction in a few weeks, the previous rate of 40 cents having been reduced to 35 at the request of the transportation committee of the Canadian Produce Association. The charge now amounts to 62 1-2 cents per thirty dozen case, or a little more than two cents a dozen. At the previous rate of forty cents the cost was 3 1-3 cents per dozen.

BRAN NECESSARY FOR DAILY TABLE

Contains the Cellulose So Necessary to Proper Diet.

Medical science has found a substitute for the cathartic in the humble outer coating of wheat. The substitue is bran, a substance known for generations, but never fully appreciated until intensive study of the relation of food to human efficiency showed that the cellulose so necessary to a proper diet was contained in large percentage in it.

Dietitians have been studying nutritive food values extensively within the past few years and with startling unanimity have settled upon bran as one of a few necessary ingredients which should go upon the table daily. They have found it invaluable for its beneficial effects, and desirable because of its cheapness and simplicity of preparation.

The digestion, medical science has found, is given a false and artificial stimulus by the cathcartic drug, and its use is generally regarded as an important factor in the alarming ath rate Physicians are prescribing diet lists of laxatives and bran is always included in these lists.

Chemical analysis of bran has shown it to contain about eight per cent. of mineral salts, and also small percentages of phosporous and calcium. Of these, mineral salts is a particularly valuable ingredient, and physicians state that there is no danger of there being too great a supply of the latter elements in the diet.

Medical consideration of the prescription of bran has followed not only the subsitution for cathartics, but has reasoned also that the human system is a finely wrought mechanism which functions with greater efficiency when not requiring laxatives and that a regular diet, including bran, fruits and other cellulose containing food does away with the necessity of artificial stimulation for catharsis.

Some people save money buying a flivver, but the surplus is spent trying to make it look like a regular automobile.

FLYING OFFICER IS DROWNED IN CRASH IN SHALLOW WATER

Two Passengers Injured When Major C. MacLaurin's Plane Fell at Vancouver.

PINNED UNDERNEATH

VANCOVER, B.C., Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Major C. MacLaurin, officer in charge of the Dominion Government air station here was drowned when a seaplane which he was piloting plunged into shallow water on the Point Grey shore of English Bay yesterday afternoon. John R. Duncan, of the Vulcan Iron Works here, a passenger, suffered a broken leg, broken ribs and other injuries, while A. L. Hartridge, mechanician was injured about the back.

Major MacLaurin's body has not yet been recovered. It is under the seaplane which is reported wrecked. The plane had left the Jericho station bound for Sumas, where Mr. Duncan intended to inspect the progress being made in the reclamation work there. It had not risen to any great height when something appeared to go wrong with the engine. The craft ran into the beach where there was about four feet of water and turned over. The two injured men were extricated but the body of Major MacLaurin cannot be released until the machine is righted or hauled ashore.

Five Million Decrease In The Net Debt of Canada

CHANGES MADE IN THE GRAND TRUNK

R. S. Logan and A. B. Atwater to Retire on Superannuation on Sept. 30.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12 — R. S. Logan, vice-president in charge of land tax and claims and A. B. Atwater, assistant to the president on lines west of the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers have retired from active service with the Grand Trunk System. At a meeting of the board of directors of the system, held here yesterday, and at which Sir Joseph Flavelle presided, both the president and W. D. Robb, vice president and general manager, announced receipts of the resignations. Both will retire on September 30th on superannuation.

Mr. Logan who has a railway service of 37 years has been in the employ of the Grand Trunk System for the past 26.. years and has been a vice president of the company since 1911. He has seen service with the Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific Railway and was later vice president and general manager of the Central Vermont.

Mr. Atwater has had a lengthy and varied career, particularly on American lines, where he entered as a railway clerk. After serving in a number of high official positions on smaller Canadian lines he became chief engineer of the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway, being later promoted to superintendent of Grand Trunk lines west of Detroit and St. Clair Rivers. In July 1898 he became asistant general superintendent of the Michigan Central Railroad, resigning in 1902 to assume the post he now vacates.

Revenues of the Dominion Have Shown a Satisfactory Increase During the Fiscal Year.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.— (Canadian Press.) —A further decrease in the net debt of Canada amounting to almost five million dollars, is shown in the statement for August issued yesterday by the finance department. The net debt on August 31 was $2,387,675,265 as compared with $2,392,542,628 at the end of July, a decrease of $4,866,362 during the month. The debt on August 31 this year was approximately forty-three millions greater than on the same date a year ago, when it amounted to $2,344,949,083.

Revenues of the dominion shows a satisfactory increase, not only to the month of August, but during the whole five months of the fiscal year which have elapsed. On the other hand expenditures are on the decline. Total revenues for the five months which closed with August 31 are shown in the statement as $171,276,472 which is $3,136,614 greater than for the same period a year ago. Expenditures stand at $115,340,551, a decrease of $7,739,080 from last year when expenditures were $123,079,631. Revenue for the month of August alone was $29,768,818 as against $26,831,337 last year, while expenditures total $19,517,858 as compared with $24,634,093 in August 1921.

Total revenues from customs for the five month period which has just closed amount to $48,890,878, an increase of $5,657,265 over last year when they amounted to $43,833,613. Excise yielded $14,959,775 or $1,458,028 less than in 1921-22. Inland revenue was more than six million dol-

A New Silhonette and Longer Shirts Distinguish

Autumn Frocks

Now that Fall is here in earnest, that the club has started, and the regular round of bridge parties, luncheons and social occasions is under way; the need of attractive frocks suitable for every affair becomes very real, awaiting your selections though, are very distinctive assortments.

You'll Like These Frocks for Afternoon.

They are of satin-backed crepes and the new cloky weaves, designed to the fashionable draped silhouette. Skirts are longer, of course, but you'll admire their gracefulness and be intrigued by the cabochon style of beading. Upwards from..... $35.00

Very Smart Street Frocks

If they are fashionable in Paris, surely you want to know about them. Indeed, the Frocks in this group, including Coat Dresses, are direct versions of the Frocks Parisians wear so enthusiastically. Upwards from..... $25.00

Latest Fur Trimmed Wraps

Wraps that are designed to meet any emergency of climate and costume. Big snugly fur collars and wide cuffs successfully repel any attack of winter's cold, and grace any social occasion. To obtain these qualities with a small investment is good fortune, indeed.

Indispensable Separate Skirt

Really more indispensable than ever! It couldn't be otherwise when it furnishes the foundation of so many costume variations with sweaters, blouses and sport jackets. Though you will find prices very reasonable in these displays, the workmanship and finish is of high standard. The fabrics are such choice weaves as prunellas, eponge stripes and plaid homespuns in pleated and straight styles. Upwards from..... $9.95

Trimly Tailored Blouses With Business Charm

For the business woman who wants her Blouses fresh and tailored, there are smartly efficient little affairs of wool taffeta, tub silk and crepe de chine. They will stand any amount of hard wear and tubbing, and the price is such that you will probably want several, upwards from..... $5.95

Costume Blouses are Beautifully Embroidered

The tale of the Costume Blouse discloses charming variations of just one theme—embroidery. Be it peasant, metal or bead it's always embroidery. Crepe de chine and crepe satin foundations provide beautiful backgrounds in varied bright colors. If you haven't an Embroidered Blouse, you'll surely want one at these prices, upwards from $7.95

Special Invitation is extended Exhibition Visitors to inspect our Autumn Showing of Coats, Dresses, Blouses and Skirts.

A FEDERAL DUTY.

Centralization in connection with the unemployment problem should be departed from, Premier MacKenzie King informed the unemployment conference.

Too much government was not of benefit to the country, the Prime Minister declared, and he asked the conference to consider carefully where a line should be drawn between matters properly Federal and those Provincial in their scope and application.

That sounds like business.

The war policy of centralization is not necessary at this time.

Nevertheless, the Premier might have facilitated matters to some extent if he had made a declaration in regard to assistance for war veterans.

It is the feeling of municipalities everywhere that returned soldiers who are in distress and out of employment should be taken care of by the Federal Government.

They fought for the State and the State should recognize its responsibility towards them.

So far as is possible, municipalities should solve their own unemployment problems without depending upon the Federal Government.

But war veterans are in a special category. It is only logical to expect that their case should be looked after by the Ottawa administration.

A declaration to that effect would clear the air.

THE CANADIAN NATIONAL.

Toronto, Ontario, yes Canada, are all to be congratulated upon the record-breaking success of this year's Canadian National Exhibition.

It is not merely a triumph for Toronto; it is a record of accomplishment in which every Canadian should take pride.

Not very long ago an attendance of one million people was hailed as the ultimate goal.

That mark has been left far behind.

The day is not far off when two million will see the Canadian National Exhibiton.

It is the greatest annual Fair in the world, and there seems no limits to its possibilities.

Its success has been made possible by the vision of the men who have directed its affairs, supplemented by the faith of the people in the future of the Exhibition. Every Torontonian is a booster for the Exhibition, and rightly so. The people of Ontario have come to regard an annual pilgrimage to the Toronto Exhibition as not only a pleasure but a duty. They are proud of it as a triumph of Canadian enterprise and brains and vision, and they do their part in enabling new levels of excellence to be reached.

Hail to the Canadian National Exhibition, already the greatest institution of its kind on earth, and destined to achieve even greater triumphs in the future.

Its success is an effective advertisement for the whole Dominion.

GET THE MOST OUT OF IT.

Peterborough's Exhibition opens to-morrow with a programme unequalled in merit.

There will be more to see than at any other Exhibition in Peterborough's history.

The entries are thirty per cent. higher than the record, the special exhibits will surpass anything hitherto shown here, and the grand stand programme promises to reach a new level.

The Exhibition is for the benefit of the people of Peterborough and this district.

They should see to it that they get the most out of it.

In the old days it was possible to see everything in connection with the Peterborough Exhibition on one visit. Not so to-day. The Exhibition has grown to such proportions that one visit is not enough to do justice to the exhibits and the programme.

Peterborough people are asked to bear that fact in mind. They have a four-day Exhibition now—soon to blossom out into a week's Fair.

The era of the one big day Exhibition has passed so far as Peterborough is concerned.

It is time we dropped the old impressions and appreciate the fact that the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition is one of the biggest events of the year.

Once that has been realized the Exhibition will immediately become bigger.

Let us make 1922 the birth-year of a new conception of Peterborough's big Fair.

FIRE WASTE IN CANADA.

Fire prevention day will soon be here again, when the public's attention will be vividly called to the ravages of fire waste, says The Monetary Times.

The record of this country in the matter of fire loss is so appalling that it is well that the public should have its attention aroused to the seriousness of this great economic loss which is allowed to go on from year to year.

What are the causes of the great fire waste on this continent? Negligent and unscientific house building is one. From the paper covered shack to the brick nobbed imitation of a solid building, all notion is left out of sight that such structures will burn just as surely as the wood and paper materials with which they are built.

We let rubbish gather in our attics and cellars, floor sweepings in our dwellings, and old rags in our factories, all of which will light into disastrous flame at the touch of a match. Village and town authorities too are very lax in permitting rubbish to collect, hot ashes in streets and lanes are surely a menace to the public safety from fire, as rotting vegetables and festering pools of water in the streets of a village are to the health of the villagers.

A curious circumstance is that the average man does not think that his house is ever going to burn down. His neighbor's factory or store may burn, his neighbor's dwelling may go some night, but the average man seems to have a notion that a special Providence watches over his property so doesn't bother over matters of fire prevention around about him. Before a permanent lessening of the fire waste is reached in this country, these things must be changed and it is the duty of everyone to help in forming a public opinion that will result in public economy in this vital matter of fire waste.

It is the individual citizen who is responsible for the prevalence of fire and he will continue to be so until he has been definitely trained. You could build a county full of so-called fireproof buildings and a careless people would find a way to burn them up. The remedy lies in educating our citizens to the seriousness of this problem. The child who has been taught to regard fire as something that should be handled with the same care as explosives or deadly weapons is not likely to forget it when he reaches manhood or womanhood. The necessity for proper carefulness will always remain with such a man or woman. Only when this is true of all our people will our fire losses cease to shame us before the civilized world.

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER.

Upon agriculture the effect of the industrial revolution is very serious. Prices of wheat go steadily downward to pre-war figures. Other farm products are selling far below war prices. In prices alone there is perhaps still a balance of advantage in favor of the farmers, but it seems certain that the advantage is more than offset by the greater cost of labor and higher freight charges. So there are millions of clerks and clerical workers and the multitudes who constitute the professional classes whose incomes have not been increased in proportion to the increase in the cost of living. They are struck also by higher taxation as well as by heavier rentals and higher charges for both the necessaries and the pleasures of existence. Again, the rich and all those who have incomes above the average are taxed so heavily that many have been forced to reduce their contributions for benevolent and public objects and to refuse to risk their capital in speculative enterprises.

All the old balances of our civilization have been disturbed and apparently with gains to the few and losses to the many. Every great strike involves an immense waste of capital and hardship for all classes. Unfortunately the losses fall almost as directly upon those who are not engaged in the conflict as upon those who wage it. The supreme need of the world is industrial stability, settled wages and prices and continuous and efficient production. But strike follows strike, production is halted, and capital is reluctant to expand old industries or embark in new enterprises. Apparently we must all think more deeply into the industrial problem. How can the community organize for its own defence against restless and destructive elements? To accept the domination of minorities is to confess the failure of democracy. No organization with power to coerce the State itself can be tolerated. Neither capital nor labor may be permitted to exercise an independent sovereignty under a free government.

In too many cases Governments have encouraged industrial conflict. They have intervened to compel adjustments against the protests of employers, but have divested themselves of power when awards against workers require to be enforced. Either Governments must enforce their decrees or they must stand aside and allow the combatants to settle the issue. The truth is that we have too much Government, too much meddling with private business, too many tribunals which are political in origin and mischievous in effect. It is right that Governments should provide courts for conciliation and arbitration. Employers who understand the temper of the age will co-operate and confer with their workmen and as far as revenue permit, will avoid all ground for conflict over wages or working conditions. But co-operation cannot be achieved through coercion, nor may the State intervene unless it is ready and able to give effect to its authority. No general strike in any country has ever succeeded or can succeed. As has been proved again and again, the community has powers for self-defence of which it is not ordinarily conscious and conditions arise when the community can have peace only by showing that it has power to compel peace. Live and let live was an injunction of the fathers and there is neither peace nor prosperity for any nation which will not or cannot incorporate the spirit which the phrase expresses in its institutions and in all its social and industrial relations. —Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The entries are 30 per cent. higher than last year. Send the attendance up in similar proportions.

Give George Street a gala appearance for the four days of the Exhibition. Every flag should be snapping in the autumn breeze.

Those people who predict an early, long and cold winter should be restrained by an injunction. But then they may be wrong.

The hard coal miners are back to work. But Canadians should remember that anthracite is likely to be hard coal to get, for the early part of the winter at least.

Canada's exports to the United States are growing, while American exports to Canada are showing a decrease. The balance of trade is being rapidly readjusted.

A stretch of timber three miles square has been destroyed by fire in Quebec. Canada's annual fire loss is reaching an appalling total.

THE MYSTERY MIND

Arthur B. Reeve and John W. Grey

Dupont nearly forgot to hold the eyes of the other. For an instant his mind almost slipped away from its purpose. "I was lured here deliberately?" he asked, aghast.

"Most certainly" Noyes chuckled. He polished the nails of one hand in the palm of the other. He ried to look down, but in his joy of worrying his prisoner he failed to realize that he was slipping, slowly, into a hypnotic state; that he could not move his eyes if he wished. "'t would never do to have you at hand to protect that very charming Miss Bronson, you know. It is her company which our chief desires most earnestly. Now that th provisions of her father's will are known to us definitely——"

"What are you going to do with her?" There was a hiss in Dupont's voice which should have been a warning to the artist, but now the mind of the hypnotist was supreme. With the spur of the thought of Violet's danger the will of Dupont was almos omnipotent. "What are you going to do with her?"

"My dear Dupont"—Noyes's head began to nod. He was succumbing fast —"th re is a resort near here—the Portola on Jamaica Bay—run by a man they call the Strangler——"

"Noyes!" Dupont's command was sharp, crisp. "Untie me, quickly"

The artist, moving like an automaton, obeyed; then he dropped back into the chair a lifeless, breathing form. The hypnotist trussed him speedily. Glancing about, spying an empty barrel, Dupont lifted and deposited him therein with a certain grim promptness. It was the work of an additional moment only to find and force down the cover with a blunt axe hanging upon the wall, after which the man who had been a prisoner two minutes before rushed over to the door with elation, free. Noyes was hidden effectually, and owuld not be injured, since the barrel contained crevices sufficient to admit the air. When Case and Renard arrived they would waste valuable time in the search for the artist.

But in the door Dupont checked himself just in time, darting back into the shelter of the shack. The two other gangsters were immediately upon him, Case in the lead. It was too late Unarmed, he would e unable to elude them even in the darkness. He was not sure then had no seen him.

The hunchback entered. In desperation Dupont faced him.

"Case" he commanded, in a hoarse whisper. He knew it was occasionally possible, after a first time, to bring a subject under control almost instantaneously. "Case I am Noyes, and not Dupont You recognize me as Noyes Quick I am Noyes I am Noyes"

Smiling, the hunchback came toward him. A scowl succeeded the smile. "A fine job you wished on me, Mr. Noyes", he complained. "I'm—I'm all out of breath."

With his heart beating wildly in his excitement, Dupont turned to the door again. Renard had been under his control. Was it conceivable—

Renard entered. It was barely a moment after the entrance of Case. Dupont, summoning all his power, caught the eye of the fox. Upon that man's face came first tan expression of amazement, then a slow comprehension not speedy enough to save him.

"I am Noyes," Dupont repeated, boring into the glance of Renard. "I am Noyes" He did not dare make the assertion audibly, because of Case, who already believed him to be the artist. "You recognize me as Noyes"

"Where's the prisoner, Noyes?" asked Renard, suddenly.

The battle was won. Dupont indicated the barrel.

Renard stalked over, hefted it, and examined the cover. After a moment he turned to the other two with a spreading sardonic grin which sent chills up and down the spine of the hypnotist. "Just the thing" he muttered. "We'll give him a roll. Come on you two"

Dupont dared not intervene to save the life of the artist. He had cast two men into the spell of an unusual hallucination. The safety of Violet and himself would not permit him to attempt anything which might break it.

In the eagerness of the others he did not have to assist, actually, in getting the barrel out of the door. He watched as they started it, as it rolled down the steep incline, as it plunged out and fell, with a fearful, horrible, distant splash, in the water of the quarry below. When they broke into loud exulting laughter he stole away, his blood cold. As soon as it was safe he ran. He arrived at the end of the surface line just in time to grasp the rail of a car starting cityward.

MORE DISCUSSION ON STRIKE SITUATION.

Canadian Shopmen Ordered to Remain at Work.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press.)—After an all-day session the policy committee of ninety and international presidents of the striking railway shop crafts adjourned late yesterday to re-convene this morning to continue discussions of the strike situation, according to Bert M. Jewell, leader of the strikers. "A proposition has been offered or consideration", he said, but he declined to state what it was. One of the official actions of the committee was to order Canadian shopmen who had threatened to strike to remain a work until after the conferences here.

To Holders of Five Year 5½ per cent Canada's Victory Bonds

Issued in 1917 and Maturing 1st December, 1922.

CONVERSION PROPOSALS

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE offers to holders of these bonds who desire to continue their investment in Dominion of Canada securities the privilege of exchanging the maturing bonds for new bonds bearing 5½ per cent interest, payable half yearly, of either of the following classes:—

(a) Five year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1927.

(b) Ten year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1932.

While the maturing bonds will carry interest to 1st December, 1922, the new bonds will commence to earn interest from 1st November, 1922, GIVING A BONUS OF A FULL MONTH'S INTEREST TO THOSE AVAILING THEMSELVES OF THE CONVERSION PRIVILEGE.

This offer is made to holders of the maturing bonds and is not open to other investors. The bonds to be issued under this proposal will be substantially of the same character as those which are maturing, except that the exemption from taxation does not apply to the new issue.

Holders of the maturing bonds who wish to avail themselves of this conversion privilege should take their bonds AS EARLY AS POSSIBLE, BUT NOT LATER THAN SEPTEMBER 30th, to a Branch of any Chartered Bank in Canada and receive in exchange an official receipt for the bonds surrendered, containing an undertaking to deliver the corresponding bonds of the new issue.

Holders of maturing fully registered bonds, interest payable by cheque from Ottawa, will receive their December 1 interest cheque as usual. Holders of coupon bonds will detach and retain the last unmatured coupon before surrendering the bond itself for conversion purposes.

The surrendered bonds will be forwarded by banks to the Minister of Finance at Ottawa, where they will be exchanged for bonds of the new issue, in fully registered, or coupon registered or coupon bearer form carrying interest payable 1st May and 1st November of each year of the duration of the loan, the first interest payment accruing and payable 1st May, 1923. Bonds of the new issue will be sent to the banks for delivery immediately after the receipt of the surrendered bonds.

The bonds of the maturing issue which are not converted under this proposal will be paid off in cash on the 1st December, 1922.

Syrup Pepsin Loved By Hosts of Babies

Half a teaspoonful will make a fretful youngster happy and playful

THE mother has her choice of many remedies for her baby's minor ills, but she should be careful which remedy she selects lest she do the child harm. What might be safe for herself may do injury to an infant. You will find that if the little one cries and doesn't want to play that its bowels are constipated. First look carefully to the diet and give the child one-half teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. You will then see results in a few hours. You will not have to force it on babies or children: they actually ask for it, it is so pleasant-tasting and free from griping.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. The ingredients are stated on the package. It is a mild, gentle vegetable laxative that everyone finds effective and pleasant. It is better for you and yours than purgatives, coal-tar drugs, or salt waters and powders, which may concentrate the blood and dry up the skin; or mercurial calomel, which may salivate and loosen the teeth.

Use a safe laxative like Syrup Pepsin, and especially for the children, for invalids, growing girls, nursing mothers, elderly people, and persons recently operated upon who need bowel action with the least strain. Mrs. H. Lefever of Medicine Hat, Alberta, always gives her little girl Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, and Mrs. May Stephen Sharpe of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., is never without it in her home. Your druggist will supply you, and it costs only a cent a dose. Try it in constipation, colic, biliousness, flatulency, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try my Laxative Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 23 Caldwell Building, Toronto, Ont. Do it now!

CAMPBELLFORD PULP MILL HAS RESUMED OPERATIONS AGAIN

Started to Work Yesterday With a Full Staff--A Lacrosse Meeting — A Presentation--Campbellford News of Interest.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 12. — The pulp mill, controlled by the Hydro-Electric, resumed operations Monday morning with a full staff, after having been closed since March, 1921.

Lacrosse News.

At meeting of the Campbellford Lacrosse Club, held in the Library Monday evening, it was decided to motor to Bradford, leaving town at about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and going right through. The lineup will be practically the same as on Saturday, but the boys know what they are up against. Pat Kelly will be in goal.

Death of Mrs. Humphries.

There passed away in Campbellford, at her residence, Booth Street, on Saturday, September 9th, Mrs. Israel Humphries, relict of Israel Humphries, of Warkworth. The late Mrs. Humphries has made many friends since coming to town, about two years ago, after the death of her husband. Surviving is a family of five daughters and one son, Mr. I. A. Humphries, barrister, of town. Deceased was a woman of kindly disposition, and was a faithful member of the Anglican Church. The remains will be laid to rest in the family plot at Warkworth Cemetery.

Dispose of Business.

Mr. John Waters, of Trent River, was a recent visitor in town. Mr. Waters is disposing of all his horses, rigs and implements on Saturday, Sept. 16th, and will devote his time to the big swing bridge on the Trent.

Disturbed the Peace.

The peace and serenity of George Street, Ward Three, was broken on Saturday evening, about 10 o'clock, by what later proved to be a family squabble. The hubby, who did not reside quite in that locality, was being persuaded by his better half to accompany her home, to which request he most strenuously objected, preferring to wait for some of his friends. Moral suasion failing, the persevering wife resorted to more forceful measures, which proved successful, as last accounts report him to have suddenly changed his mind, meekly beating a hasty forward march before the all - besetting terrors of his better half's tongue.

A Presentation.

Miss Mary Stephens was most pleasantly surprised at her home in Seymour East on Friday evening, when a large number of her young friends assembled and presented her with a miscellaneous shower previous to her marriage, which takes place on Friday. Miss Stephens received many valuable gifts, testifying to her popularity.

LIVELY POLITICAL FIGHT IN BOSTON

Political Candidates Wind Up Their Campaigns in Old - Time Style With Red Lights and Bands.

BOSTON, Sept. 12. — (Canadian Press).—Red fire blazed and bands blared throughout the State last night as political candidates in the most intense primary campaign Massachusetts had ever known concluded their appeals to the electorate.

Chief interest in the decisions at the polls to-day centred in the fight between Governor Channing H. Cox and Attorney-General J. Weston Allan for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, the contest among Joseph B. Ely, of Westfield, John F. Fitzgerald, former Mayor of Boston, former Governor Eugene N. Foss, and Mayor Peter T. Sullivan of Worcester, as Democratic aspirants for the same office, and the fight among the four Democrats who seek the nomination for United States Senator. The latter are Col. William A. Gaston, Professor Dallas Loree Sharp, John Jackson Walsh and Sherman L. Whipple.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, who is opposed by Jos. Walker, former Speaker of the Masachusetts House of Representatives, has made few speeches. Mr. Walker's campaign has been vigorous.

Secretary of State Frederick W. Cook announced yesterday that the names of 11,370 candidates would appear on the 1,500,000 ballots which have been distributed, breaking all records.

A further announcement last night from the office of the Secretary of State was that 23 independent candidates for various offices to be voted for at the November election had filed a sufficient number of signatures to their papers at the last hour for filing, to places their names on the ballot.

Of the 23, three are candidates for United States Senator — William E. Weeks, Everett, Progressive; Washington Cook, Sharon, Independent; and John A. Nicholls, Boston, Prohibition - Progressive. John B. Lewis, Reading, is a candidate for Governor on the prohibition ticket, while Leon S. Oliver, Brimfield, will run for Congressman in the third district with the designation of "Consumers' non-partisan."

SAYS THAT STATES SAVED THE BRITISH.

British Journalist Defends America's Attitude in the War.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press).—Harold Spender, famous British Journalist speaking at the Lawyers' Club yesterday, challenged the arraignment of America by Rudyard Kipling, who charged that the United States went into the war more than two years too late, that it came in for gold and that although "America has our gold, England has saved our soul."

"Contrary to Mr. Kipling's charge you saved us in the war," said Mr. Spender. "We saved France, we saved Belgium, then you saved us. I am sorry to see that Mr. Kipling has exploded a thunderstorm, but in England we all know Kipling, we hope you know him over here."

"America did not come into war for gold, regardless of Kipling's statement, although your Ambassador told us you did. We have learned not to believe Ambassadors."

SEARCH IS BEING MADE FOR McLAURIN'S BODY

Fell From Plane Into the Outer Harbor at Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press.) — Search was being made last night in English Bay for the body of Major Claire McLaurin, Superintendent of Air Board Station at Jericho Bay, who was drowned when his plane fell from a low altitude into the outer harbor here yesterday.

DIED IN THE FLAMES.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press).—James Taylor, 255 Roseberry Street, St. James, lost his life in the fire which practically destroyed the Kennedy building on Portage Avenue early yesterday morning. The body was found late yesterday afternoon.

When the fire broke out Taylor, who was assistant caretaker in the building, attempted to make his escape through the light well, which was a mass of flames. His body was badly burned. He leaves a wife and one child.

DID NOT OBJECT TO SURE BET ON PRINCE'S HORSES.

But English Clergyman Kicked When Crook Decamped With His Stake Cheque.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press).—How a clergyman who said he had never in his life made a bet on a horse race was inveigled into giving an unknown turf agent a cheque for £100 without receiving anything in return and how Scotland Yard was shown to have been a poor prophet in the case, came out in a story told by Rev. Ralph Doyle, of Bayswater, at the trial before the magistrate at the Marylebone Police Court recently of John Hawtin, 61 years of age, on a charge of theft of £100 from Mr. Doyle. When the clergyman realized he had been victimized he reported the matter to Scotland Yard, and was told that his chance of seeing the man again was "a million to one."

This looked like a pretty good guess. Rev. Mr. Doyle, however, had occasion to pay a visit to Southampton a few days later, and there by chance he came across the accused and had him arrested.

At the Police Court, Mr. Doyle stated that Hawtin introduced himself to him in a Pullman car on the way from Brighton to London as the trainer of the Prince of Wales' stud of horses in Alberta, Canada, and obtained the clergyman's address. Later Hawtin called on him and said he had backed four horses for Mr. Doyle and had won over £400. Mr. Doyle was to receive the £400, less £100, representing the amount Hawtin had staked. He gave his newfound friend a cheque for £100.

Together the two went to a club in Covent Garden, where Hawtin was to collect the winnings. Not being a member of the club, the clergyman was left outside and Hawtin went in alone. He came out in a few minutes and said the secretary of the club was not in, and Mr. Doyle would have to return the next day. Mr. Doyle did so. Then he made the rueful discovery that his cheque had been cashed and his betting acquaintance was nowhere to be found.

In cross-examination the clergyman said he had never made a bet in his life, and when told the money was staked for him and he had won he was greatly surprised. He had many good causes to use the money for, he said. The prisoner had a bad record, according to police evidence. He was ordered to hand back the £100 found on him when he was arrested, and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment with hard labor.

YOUNG GIRLS NEED CARE

Mothers, Watch Your Daughters' Health

Health is Happiness

From the time a girl reaches the age of twelve until womanhood is established, she needs all the care a thoughtful mother can give.

The condition that the girl is then passing through is so critical, and may have such far-reaching effects upon her future happiness and health, that it is almost criminal for a mother or guardian to withhold counsel or advice.

Many a woman has suffered years of prolonged pain and misery through having been the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance on the part of those who should have guided her through the dangers and difficulties that beset this period.

Mothers should teach their girls what danger comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, and from overworking. Do not let them over-study. If they complain of headache, pains in the back and lower limbs, they need a mother's thoughtful care and sympathy.

"We Both Recommend"

Writes Mrs. Clause about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"When my daughter was thirteen and until she was fifteen, she suffered every month so that she could hardly move around the house and when she would have these pains in school, she would have to be carried home. She also had headache, dizzy and faint spells, and soreness in her back. I saw your advertisement in the 'Hamilton Spectator' and got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for her. She does not have the least bit of trouble now, and we both recommend your medicine. She works in a candy-shop now, and seems well and strong." Mrs. I. P. Clause, 83 Oxford St., Hamilton, Ontario.

A Little Book Helped Her to Decide

Milwaukee, Wis.—"My daughter took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she was so weak and did not feel like going to school. She was like that for a whole year before taking your Vegetable Compound. I found a little book of yours in our mail-box and decided to give her your medicine. She is now strong and well and attends school every day. We recommend your medicine to all mothers with weak daughters." Mrs. E. Kluczny, 917 20th Ave., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Learned Through Her Mother

Toronto, Ontario—"I suffered from the time I was a school-girl until I had taken your medicine, with pain in my left side and with cramps, growing worse each year, until I was all run-down. Finally I learned through my mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and how thankful I am that I have taken it, as I am relieved from pain and cramps." Mrs. H. A. Goodman, 14 Rockvale Ave.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

The Radio Wedding and Other Very Modern Kinds

The Season's Zest for "Thrill" Marriages Instead of the Orthodox Kind Has Resulted in a Variety of Freak Ceremonies Held Under Most Unusual Circumstances Below and Above Earth, in the Water and on Horseback.

The Honeymoon of the Hamilton-Standen Wedding at Chorley Wood, Near Chesham, England, Was Begun in an Airplane. The Picture Shows Mrs. Hamilton Climbing Into the Limousine Plane, Her Bridal Veil Still On.

Miss Sara Cockefair Became Mrs. Albert Schlafke in an Airplane 1500 Feet Above New York City. The Rev. F. W. Maynard, the Famous Flying Parson, Married Her. Thousands "Attended" by Radiophone.

When Vivian M. Kidd and Leland H. Hodgson, Californians, Said "I Will," Their Nuptial Vows Were Broadcasted Up and Down the Pacific Coast.

Lady Joan Capell of London, Who Defied All Old Superstitions by Having a Jade Green Wedding When She Became the Wife of Osbert Peake.

Mary McCaffrey Became Mrs. Frederick Whelan in the "Better Ole," a Washington (D. C.) Coffee House. Spookey Corners, Weird Lights and the Whining Notes of a Ukulele Helped Supply Bohemian Atmosphere.

Mrs. Thornton Whitney, Formerly Elsie Guy, an English Girl, Met Her American Husband on Horseback, Was Wooed on Horseback and Wed on Horseback.

WEDDINGS by radio! Weddings in the air! Weddings on water! Weddings in taxicabs! Weddings on horseback! Weddings in prison! Weddings, weddings, weddings everywhere except in a standard church at a standard altar with a standard organ paeaning standard Wagnerian allelujahs.

The time will soon come—if present indications are to be trusted—when a girl's wedding will be as peculiarly individual as her going away suit or her hat. For an increasing number of young women are saying to themselves that if their weddings are to be the major events of their lives, they should be, if not spectacular, at least characteristic and original.

The marriage of Miss Vivian M. Kidd of Santa, California, to Leland M. Hodgson of Sausalito, California, was all of that. These two took their vows in the presence of a radio transmitter in the private broadcasting station of H. M. Shaw at Rockridge, Cal. And their whispered words together with the ritual as read by the minister and the music of the wedding march were heard up and down the coast and at sea.

Miss Kidd said it was much better than having a "big wedding" in the old-fashioned sense. That would have entailed laborious preparations, a gaping multitude in a stuffy church, tearful scenes from members of her family, and what not. As it was, everything was cosy and exclusive—and yet everybody they ever knew could hear their words and know when they were married.

This marriage was one of the first in the world in which a radio was used.

At almost the same time New York was witnessing another unique wedding. This one was in the air—1500 feet above Times Square to be exact—and it is not exaggerating the case to say that tens of thousands witnessed it. True enough, what they saw was very little, for at that distance the principals in the case could hardly be seen.

But in that airplane, which to the observers looked like a huge, circling dragon fly, Miss Sara Cockefair was being married to Albert P. Schlafke. The Rev. W. F. Maynard, the "Flying Parson," performed the ceremony and drove the machine at the same time.

Besides the multitude on the ground watching the plane, many others got in on the wedding through their radio receiving sets. For a radiophone recorded the ceremony and thousands of New Yorkers within the radius of the wave length thus sent forth, heard the words of the ceremony.

Two more New York couples threw a defi at fate by getting married under circumstances that were thick with ill omens. They were Miss Lillian Shaefer and William J. Wagner of the New York City fire department, and Miss Betty Spencer and Robert Bernstein, and they were married on board the Australian convict ship Success, then moored at the Battery in New York. This ship is famous the world over for the horrors that were enacted on its decks when it served as a prison.

But the wedding celebrants were not satisfied with challenging ill luck. They insisted that the wedding should take place in the condemned cell and on Friday. Their wishes were gratified. Mr. Wagner explained that ill omens had always gone by opposites with him and for that reason he was eager to pile on the bad luck signs. He was born on Friday the 13th, he said, and became engaged on that day, and both events, he considered, were very fortunate ones for him. None of the other members of the marital quartet had any feeling whatever about bad omens.

Two couples in Knoxville, Tenn., married in a mighty big hurry. In fact, they had a race to see which could get the knot tied faster. Ernest Messer and Ruby Ferguson were made one by the Rev. A. R. Pedigo in just fifteen seconds. Call L. Jones and Ruth E. Smith were wed in just one more second's time. The weddings were at midnight and flashlight pictures were taken.

In London the craving for originality on the part of certain prospective brides, who happened also to be feminists, has originated the one-man wedding. Several of these one-man ceremonies have taken place and the officiating minister in each case has been the Rev. Constance Coltman.

At the first of these the Rev. Miss Coltman smashed a precedent. It was the first time a woman had ever officiated at a marriage in England. On this occasion a woman organist played, a woman choir sang and women made up the whole wedding body. The one male, with whom it was impossible to dispense, was the bridegroom.

The Rev. Miss Coltman introduced a new marriage ritual which she said was not an "insult to women." This ritual, of course, omitted the word "obey." Instead, both bride and groom vowed to "love, comfort, honor and keep," and each fixed a ring on the other's finger, saying:

"As this ring now encircles this finger, so let my love surround thee all the days of my life."

Miss Celestial Elizabeth Strine also wanted an original ritual. She objected, not so much to the substance of the standard ritual as she did to its prosaic quality. She wanted something poetic. So when she was finally married to Raymond M. Crum in Chicago, the minister, Dr. A. I. Young of Pittsburgh, read the fateful lines as follows:

"Do you now, each other taking,
Make your vows henceforth for life,
To be ever true and trusting,
Loving husband? Loving wife?"

So it goes. A couple in England were married tamely enough at the altar, but at the conclusion of the ceremony sprang out of the window and hied themselves away in an areal limousine. Two couples at Atlantic City waded out beyond the steel piers and were married in the ocean. In Florida they marry in the orange groves. In Montana they climb up to snowy peaks.

The brides—and take no word but theirs for this—want something more than husbands when they marry in these high-powered times.

The wedding on horseback of Thornton Whitney Allen of New York and Miss Elsie Guy, a Manchester, England, girl, was a thoroughly equine romance. The groom is an enthusiastic horseman and a member of the Rye (N. Y.) Country Riding School. While galloping along a Westchester bridle path one afternoon he met Miss Guy. Later they were formally introduced. They rode often together. He proposed and she nodded as she cantered by his side. Their love having been nurtured by the horseback riding, they decided to make their wedding a horseback affair. So they were married on their mounts.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORIES

(Copyright, 1921 by the Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate)

"Frank, there's something phoney going on in San Francisco. Somehow or other the Chinks are managing to run through large quantities of opium, and all the efforts of our men out there haven't bothered them in the slightest. The stuff continues to come in, apparently on every boat. Get out there as fast as you can. Work in plain clothes and see what you can discover. But be careful. The opium ring is a powerful organization. So it might be well to keep your hand on your autmoatic while you're wandering around Chinatown."

James R. Brooks, Chief of the United States Secre Service, paused for a moment and then looked expectantly at the young man who faced him across the big desk in the Treasury Department in Washington. He had not the slightest idea that his operative could be frightened, but he was interested in his reaction. To be shipped across the Continent on a job that spells deadly peril is not a daily occurrence even in the life of a Secret Sercive agent.

"Any idea of the way they're getting the stuff past the men on the dock?" asked Francis J. Kelly, the man to whom Chief Brooks had been speaking.

"Not the least in the world. More than a dozen men have been working on the case for several months. But the dope continues to come in just as freely as if it weren't contraband. The only hint I can give you is to keep your eyes open and your gun handy. Go to it."

About a week later one might have noticed an entirely inconspicuous young man loitering about the docks in San Francisco. Apparently he was nothing more than a sight-seer, for he paid no attention whatever to the customs officials who were swarming around on the lookout for smuggled opium, nor did he seem to be interested in anything beyond the constantly shifting colors in the commercial panorama. For several days this young man visited the docks, but the lack of distinction about his attire and the fact that he wandered about as if he were a novelist looking for "local color" was sufficient to disarm any possible suspicion. As events proved, however, the "opium ring," was so thoroughly convinced of the safety of its methods, that it had grown callous to any casual investigation.

Try as he might, Kelly could find only one occurrence which seemed to be at all out of the ordinary, and it was only the fact that this took place upon the arrival of each large steamer from the Orient that impressed this upon his mind.

As soon as the ship would start to unload, a large and very portly Chinaman would come down to the dock, converse a few moments with one of the men in charge of the removal cargo, and then waddle off, his errand completed. But, as one of the customs officials informed Kelly, there was nothing suspicious about this. The Oriental in question was Wah Sing Lee, head of a large importing firm which received frequent shipments from abroad—shipments which have always passed through the customs house before being delivered.

"Ever discover anything irregular about his consignments?" asked Kelly, though he knew in advance what the answer would be.

"They're all as straight as a string," was the reply. "Declarations made out in perfect order and not a sign of anything crooked. No, Lee comes down here to make certain that his stuff arrives safely—and that's all. No use suspecting him."

But principally because he had no other line to follow, Kelly determined to look into Lee's business from the outside, before he went any further. The headquarters of the importing firm, he found, were located in the center of the city, only half a block from the post-office, and when he made the rounds of streets in that neighborhood, Kelly's lips tightened ominously and his hand strayed towards the blue-steel automatic which rested in a convenient pocket.

"I wonder," he muttered. "It seems impossible, but the very obviousness of the scheme would insure its success."

The following day Wah Sing again visited the docks and Kelly paid particular attention to what went on immediately after his departure. That night the man in charge of the San Francisco bureau of the secret service received word to have a dozen of his best operatives posted near the docks next morning.

"I'll point out a certain vehicle to them," added Kelly, "and they're to follow it no matter where it goes. When it unloads, they are to surround the house and await a signal from me."

But when Kelly indicated the wagon which the secret service men were to trail, their faces reflected blank amazement. He had pointed to a truck which bore the words "U.S. Mail" in large letters and which was piled high with nothing but mail sacks.

Back into the alley behind the post-office drove the wagon, Kelly and the other operatives close behind it. The sacks were dumped off in a dark passageway and then—a heavy teakwood door of the other side of the alley opened and the two sacks nearest at hand were hauled silently inside.

But before the door could be closed Kelly threw himself against it, his gun ready for instant action.

"There's no sense in putting up a fight, Wah Sing," he warned the proprietor of the importing establishment as the latter's hand slipped toward one of the openings in his voluminous clothing. "There are a dozen men outside, ready and waiting for the word to break in. The place is guarded front and back—up with you hands, quick."

"I'll admit that it was a clever trick," continued the operative as the Chaniman obeyed orders. "But you tried it once too often. Even a small truck becomes a matter of suspicion when a Chinese importing house has a rear entrance opening on the alley where the mail sacks are delivered."

NOW, ISN'T IT A PERFECT CRIME, IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME

By Margaret Rohe

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—In the good old summer time, really isn't it a crime, what's considered having fun by most every mother's son?

Going to a crowded beach most folks think is just a peach of a fine and dandy way to spend their holiday. Down to Coney by the sea then they start no happily.

Quite a little family band, children hanging to each hand. Bundles under every arm. Lunches guarded from all harm. Satchels with the baby's things, bathing suits and water wings.

How they push with might and main, jamming on the crowded train. Babies squall and women scream, strong men curse but still the stream of persistent tourists teem over seats into the cars till they start with many jars, hurling folks and bundles far.

Still their pleasure naught can mar. Bursting into merry song, thus they wile the miles along.

Soon they reach their destiny. Carnival beside the sea, seething with humanity, having fun so frenzedly.

And Then—

When they've donned the proper gear, down toward the sea they steer treading on banana peels sardine tiss along the strand. There is not an inch of sand unrelieved by scraps of lunch or ex-bathers in a hunch, basking in the golden sun. How they'll peel ere day is done!

When they reach the crested wave hoping for a chance to lave, far as they can look the sea is as full as it can be. Nothing daunted in they lunge and enjoy a clubby plunge. Tangling toes and arms and feet, bumping forehead and retreat. Soon they stagger on the stand, worn, but still a dauntless band.

On the Devil's Gorge they ride, then they gorge on hot dogs, fried crabs, steamer clams and corn on cob, popcorn, peanuts and a gob each of gum. The children think, then, it's time to have a drink. Pop and sarsaparilla, too, while the big folks drink home brew, brought from town the long, long way just to celebrate the day.

Besides—

While the hurdy gurdys play soon the dancing couples sway. Loop the loop is just their meat. Tight they cling to every seat. Risking life and purse and limb, they do Coney with a vim.

On the Ferris wheel they soar. Still they crave excitement mode. Down they slither on the chutes while the last train loudly toots. Scrambling, battling, shrieking wild, minus satchels and one child. Quick they grab it, "all aboard!" Limping wilted, worn-out hoard, home they jog along their way. This they call a perfect day.

But For Me—

Not exactly in this way would I spend my holiday. I would never care to roam far from comforts of the home. I prefer my bath and rub in my little porc'lain tub.

Bathing in a mussy sea cluttered with humanity never would appeal to me. Crowds and I do not agree Well-cooked viands for my lunch off china I would munch. Then to get my fun and thrill I'd read books by Mr. Brill. Of the mob psychology I would rather read than be.

Yet I bet those other folk think my holiday a joke, think it just a perfect crime thus to waste the summer time.

UNDERTAKEN FLIGHT ACROSS NORTH POLE.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press).—It is generally believed here that Captain Roald-amundston, Norwegian explorer has already undertaken his daring flight across the North Pole from Northern Alaska. This belief is further strengthened by fact that the Norwegian Government has asked, a well-known Danish explorer, Captain Gottfried Hansen, to undertake a relief expedition.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD BOY TRAMPLED TO DEATH

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Victor Capitano, the seven-year old son of E. Capitano, of 202 Simcoe street, was instantly killed at the Western Fair grounds yesterday afternoon when he was trampled to death by a horse attached to a delivery wagon.

The boy and two sisters were crossing a roadway in the grounds when, according to spectators, young Capitano turned around to run back and dashed directly under the hoofs of the horse. His head was crushed and when picked up by bystanders a few seconds later, he was dead.

LOOK ON THE NORTH AS CANADIAN ASSET

SUDBURY, September 12. Canadian Press. — "Let me assure you men of Northern Ontario that we in Southern Ontario, look upon the northern portion of this province as the brightest spot in Canada," declared W. F. Cockshutt, ex-M.P., of Brantford, during the course of his address here last eevning, at the luncheon given by the Board of Trade to a number of Ontario business men.

He expressed the opinion that western Canada had been nursed too long and that the time had arrived when more attention should be given by the Canadian people to the development of the resources of New Ontario. He made a strong plea for an increased investment of capital in development of the mineral wealth of northern Ontario.

PETERBORO FAIR.

'Pon my word, if this just isn't
The week of our great Show;
Blest if one would dream it was so near,
Time flies so fast, you know;
We've got to get a hustle on,
Or else we won't be there;
When they stage the big attractions
At the Peterboro Fair.

Now, the children are a-waiting
For their special day to break,
When they'll hie them to the Fair Grounds,
Free pleasures to partake.
And the women are a-stitching
On their fancy work like mad.
Some making old-style comfort quilts
Some at the latest fad.

The men watch how the apples
Grow, and redden in the sun,
And dig up all the 'taters,
Just to find the biggest one;
Carrots, cabbage, turnips.
They are sorting out with care,
For they want to win a first-class prize
At Peterboro Fair.

There'll be oxen yoked and goaded
From Dummer's grassy glens
Sheep, pigs, cows, calves and horses,
Geese, turkeys ducks and hens.
There'll be guinea pigs, rats, rabbits,
Ponies, cats, cannines, goats,
And a plentiful exhibit
Of wheat, barley, peas and oats.

There'll be ctirons, squash and melons,
Pickles, preserves, jam, jell
How to run our houses well,
And if those don't catch your fancy
Theres lots more, from which to choose.
Races, games and wheels of fortune,
(Where some win) and some lose.

There'll be fruit in all varieties,
And flowers of every hue.
Rare foliage plants, and fine arts,
Good bread and butter, too;
So it's up to each and everyone,
Without fail to be there,
With his best girl, or shine, or shower,
At Peterboro Fair.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor of Examiner:

Sir:—Your editorial of Thursday's issue re non-resident pupils, to my mind is a tame apology for such a deplorable condition as exists at our Collegiate Institute in being unable to accommodate any other than pupils who reside within the City limits. If your remarks had been directed more at those responsible for the regrettable state of affairs rather than attempting to arrive at snap conclusions as to why the parents of these rejected pupils live outside the City. It might have served a more useful purpose. Whether the parents of these children are trying or are guided by a sense of honesty and are living where their means are most suited is no reason why those responsible for providing adequate accommodation to give the aspirant young Canadian a collegiate education should be allowed to shirk their duty.

If our City wishes to grow through the annexation of its suburbs it can only be done by having favourable inducement to offer not by the backwash of conditions in which they have had no control over In future in writing upon such vital matter as the training and educating of Canada's future premiers, scientists, productive geniuses, etc., as you state in the next paragraph it would be wise as the representative of the press to give a tangible suggestion rather than a paltry excuse.

DEMANDS TRIAL OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press). — Demand for impeachment of Attorney - General Daugherty for "high crimes and misdemeanors" was made in the House yesterday by Representative Kelly, Republican, Minnesota, who sought immediate action on a resolution for an investigation. By an overwhelming vote, the House, however, referred the question to the Judiciary Committee, thus, in the opinion of leaders, disposinsg of it finally.

TEN MILLION ACRES UNDER CULTIVATION

This is the Scheme of the Canada Colonization Association.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 12. — (Canadian Press.)— "I believe that if the plan is worked out successfully and determinedly, it will prove the greatest movement that has been effected in Canada since the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway," declared Sir John Willison, Toronto, yesterday, commenting on project of Canada Colonization Association for getting ten million acres of land in Dominion placed under cultivation. Sir John, who is now chairman of the Association, emohasized the fact that "this is land settlement movement." Its sole aim was to bring in men who would purchase land on which they would settle.

90 per cent of all diseases can be traced directly to constipation!

And, you can permanently rid yourself of this dangerous condition by the daily use of a delicious, appetizing cereal—Kellogg's BRAN, cooked and krumbled! Don't let constipation "get away" with you or any of your family! Don't neglect such danger signals as bad breath, coated tongue, brain fag, feverish headaches, bad taste! No matter how slight the symptoms, FIGHT CONSTIPATION! It is deadly, once it gets its grip on your system!

Physicians indorse Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, for constipation because it is nature's food and because it relieves constipation permanently. The only caution is to eat Bran regularly and then the severest case can be combated successfully! Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily; in chronic cases, eat Bran with each meal! Results will astonish you! Bran causes no irritation or discomfort. It sweeps and cleans and purifies, leaving the eliminative tract in healthy, active condition that throws off the poisons and keeps you free from dangerous toxic conditions!

You should know that Bran not only permanently relieves constipation, but is one of the most wonderful of foods. It is rich in all elements upon which the body thrives—mineral salts, proteins, fats, carbo-hydrates. Bran does wonderful work for children, making them strong and robust!

Eat Kellogg's Bran as a cereal or sprinkled over your favorite cereal; its nut-like flavor is delicious. Or, use it in countless palate-appealing ways for baking and cooking. Buy Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, from all grocers. It's wrapped "WAXTITE."

Eventually You Will Own a Ford Car, A Ford Truck and a Fordson Tractor---Why Not Now?

It's easy to forget—

These glorious September days that three months hence we will be shivering in the grip of winter. But you need not dread the snow and sleet.

A Ford Coupe or Sedan will give you a new conception of winter motoring—will transform what you have hitherto regarded as an endurance test into a real pleasure.

Buy your closed car now. Easy payments if you wish.

Let the Ford Truck earn and save you money.

Ford Trucks are doing much to boost business in the territory which we serve, by providing rapid transportation at lowest cost for the produce of the farm and the products of the factory.

Ford Trucks are filling a place peculiarly their own—giving service that only Ford Trucks can give—a service that is earning and saving money for every man who owns one.

If hauling or delivering enter into your business you need a Ford Truck. We have facts and figures on hauling costs that we would like you to see.

Service

There's a big difference between merely getting something done and getting SERVICE. SERVICE not only sees that you get what you want, but that you get it as you want it—when you want it—at a fair price.

We carry this theory into practice on every repair job entrusted to our care. Our custom of doing a little more than is necessary rather than a little less has lengthened the life of many a Ford in this territory. It will lengthen the life of yours. Run it in and let us look it over.

Now that Harvest Is Assured

buy your new Ford.

It's not necessary to wait till you have the cash.

Take advantage of our Thrift Plan. Pay one-third down and and agree to take care of the balance in twelve payments—and any model you like is yours

"At Your Door"

As good on the belt as it is on the drawbar

The usefulness of the Fordson is limited only by the amount of belt work you have to do. In the Fall it will fill your silo, and thresh your grain. In Winter you can keep it busy grinding feed, pumping water, baling hay, cleaning seed grain, or running the churn or washing machine.

If you regard the Fordson as a field tractor only, let us show you right on your own farm that it is as far ahead of competition on the belt as it is on the drawbar.

Easy terms if desired.

BOARD HELD MEETING

The September board meeting of the Y.W.C.A. was held at the Association rooms at ten o'clock yesterday morning, in order to hear the report on camp activities made by Miss Helen Carthy, B.A., camp directress for this year, who was passing through the city on her way to Belleville. Miss Carthy's report showed an excellent attendance at the 'Y' camp this summer, nearly one hundred girls having taken advantage of its attractions.

Special thanks were extended to Mrs. McKenzie and Miss Carthy, in charge of one of the most successful camps in the history of the 'Y.' Discussion took puace on the advisability of securing permanent quarters for the camp, a decision which was reserved for a later meeting.

Reports weer also received from Mrs. E. Morrison, superintendent of the boarding home, on summer work, and on swimming and general activities from the general secretary, Miss D. Carlisle.

Modern apartments are having radio receiving sets installed as one of the fixtures. This looks like another scheme for the landlord to tell his tenants about an increase in rents.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, September 12. Canadian Press. — With a limited demand the local oat market was quiet and slightly weaker. An unsettled condition prevailed generally, particularly in the flour market, although prices remained unchanged. Rolled oats, bran and shorts depite the same sentiment still held the same quotations. On the potato market conditions were quiet with a steady falling off in small quantities.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA September 12. Canadian Press. — Ontario country markets are firmer. The rail shipping movement continues light. Export movement more hopeful. It is reported three cars of fresh graded receipts rolling seaboard for export. A further reduction of 10c per cubic foot has been granted in ocean rates.

Toronto unchanged. Country firmer, track shippers paying 26c to 28c, making sales graded firsts 34c f.o.b. cases free, straight gathered 28c to 29c f.o.b. cases returned.

Montreal firm, specials 40c, extras 35c; firsts 30c. More export enquiry but no business reported.

Winnipeg steady, dealers quoting country shippers 21c for straight receipts, reported some paying 26c direct to farmers, jobbing extras 32c to 33c; cartons 34c to 35c; firsts 28c to 29c; straight candled 25c. Poultry receipts increasing, market easy.

Regina firmer, jobbers quoting 30c loss off.

Edmonton market firm, receipts light; jobbers quoting extras 24c; first 18c; seconds 13c; jobbing extras 30c; firsts 25c; seconds 20c.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, September 12. Canadian Press. — Receipts 5300 cattle and calves, 800 hogs and 420 lambs and sheep.

The cattle market opened with heavy offerings and early trading was slow and inactive. Biddings for the better kinds of offerings continued steady while plain cattle were on the decline.

The sheep and lamb market quiet. Good lambs sold around $8 and light mutton sheep from $4.50 to $5.

Hog market unsettled. A few selects up to $11, but packers bid $10, indicating a drop of $3 in a week.

REV. DR. CHOWN TO LEAD CONFERENCE.

An Outstanding Figure in Methodism For Years.

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press).—Rev. Dr. Samuel Dwight Chown, of Toronto, General Superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, who will preside at the opening of the Methodist General Conference in this city on September 27, has been General Superintendent of the church for twelve years, being associated with the late Rev. Dr. Carman for four years of that time, and being the sole occupant of the position for the last eight years.

Dr. Chown has been an outstanding figure in Canadian Methodism for many years. His activities in religious, social and moral reform movements have extended out far beyond the borders of the Dominion, and he has an international reputation. The General Conference of the Methodist Church is one of the great religious organizations of this country and this parliament of delegates is representative of every section of Canada, Newfoundland and Bermuda, and the great mission work in China and Japan. During its coming two weeks' session in this city it will plan for the general progress of the church.

Dr. Chown received his education at the Kingston Grammar School, and at Victoria University, Cobourg. The honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him by Victoria University in 1898, and he holds the same degree from Knox College; also the Ll. D. degree from Mount Allison and Ohio Wesleyan Universities. He was ordained a minister in 1879, and for twenty years was in the active pastorate, during which he held important charges in the Toronto and Montreal conferences.

Among the official positions Dr. Chown has held in the Methodist denomination are the following: Chairman of the Toronto West District, 1897-9; Chairman of the Toronto Central District, 1900-02; President of the Toronto Conference in 1900, and Secretary of the Social Service Department, 1902-10.

Dr. Chown has been a member of the Joint Committee on the question of church union since the beginning of negotiations. He has been an ardent advocate of the union of Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational Churches of this country, and has frequently spoken in public in support of that proposal.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

The Real Cause of Indigestion

Acids in the stomach irritate and inflame the delicate stomach lining, sour and ferment the food, prevent proper digestion and lead to nine-tenths of all dyspepsia and Indigestion. Pepsin and other artificial digestents give only temporary relief and do not correct the cause.

Stomach acids should be neutralized daily, and the stomach kept sweet and clean after eating by drinking a glass of pure Magnesia water made from teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia, obtainable at any reliable drug store. This prevents food fermentation and your meals digest naturally and without pain. By following this plan you may eat almost anything without fear of Indigestion.

NEGROES DROWN IN TRUCK ACCIDENT.

HOMERSVILLE, Ga., Sept. 12. —(Canadian Press.)— Eighteen negroes are believed to have been drowned yesterday when a motor truck filled with fans from a baseball game plunged through a bridge in to theriver. Fourteen bodies have been recovered.

HEROIC BELGIAN HAS PASSED AWAY

Private Coggle, Single-Handed, Kept the German Hordes From the Calais Road.

The heroic lock-keeper of Ypres, Cogghe, who as a mere private in the Belgian army, established under heavy enemy fire a water barrage between Nieuport and Dixmude, thereby preventing the Germans reaching the road to Calais at the end of November, 1914, died at Furnes, aged 33, says the Daily Chronicle.

Doctors say his death was the result of a complication of diseases contracted during the war. Only last week he received intimation that the Belgian Government, in recognition of his valuable services, had granted him an annual pension of 3,000 francs, the first instalment of which was to have been paid on June 30.

Cogghe's profound knowledge of the tides and of the nature of the country astonished the most eminent experts. When he suggested establishing a "water line" between the Germans and the allies his plan was at first rejected.

Later, when told he could go ahead, he compelled 150,000 Germans to choose being drowned or flying for their lives. As it was, a large number met death by drowning in Cogghe's inland sea.

IMPROVE THE MOTION PICTURE FILMS HERE

HAMILTON, September 12. Canadian Press. — The purification of motion picture films, a general acceptance of the standardized version of "O Canada," formation of young men's and young women's Canadian clubs where ever possible, and the endorsement of Western Canada Colonization Association's project of immigration, were recommended yesterday afternoon at the tenth annual conference of association of Canadian clubs.

FINE SKATING FLOOR AT BROCK ST. RINK

Ten - Piece Band Every Night — Many Skating This Season.

The Brock street rink, which opened the roller skating season a week ago, has been drawing good crowds, although the weather has been very warm. With cool fall weather coming, just the season of the year for roller skating, it is expected there will be just as many skating as last fall, when it was very popular.

The floor is in better condition than ever, the rink very prettily decorated and a band of ten pieces on hand every evening.

The rink is conducted under very careful management and the public is invited to hear the band concerts and see the skating without any charge.

SUZANNE LENGLEN WILL FORFEIT TENNIS TITLE.

Has Experienced a Recurrence of Heart Trouble to Which She is Subjected.

PARIS, Sept. 12. — (Canadian Press).—Suzanne Lenglen has played her last singles tennis in tournament matches, she told friends today on her return from Le Touquet, where she experienced a recurrence of the heart trouble to which she has been subjected lately.

Her decision means that she will not defend her world's title at Wimbledon in 1923.

Greatest Radio Trade Belongs to U. S. Navy

WASHINGTON, D.C., September 12. — The world's greatest radio business is being conducted by the United States Navy.

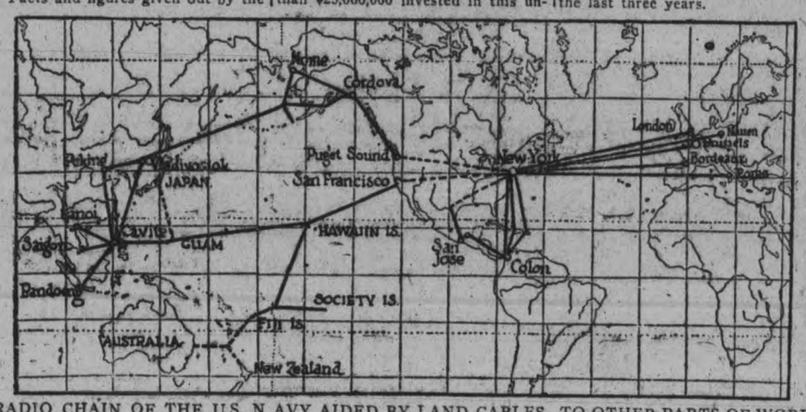
Facts and figures given out by the naval officials here show an increased volume of messages among the department's radio stations, which they say surpasses the business of any other country or corporation on earth. That does not exclude the world-wide Imperial Radio Chain, which is being contemplated by Great Britain.

The immensity of the naval radio service may be imagined from the fact that the department has more than $25,000,000 invested in this undertaking. More than 8,000,000 words are transmitted monthly. Besides its own official business, the Navy does $10,000,000 worth of commercial radio business annually.

Covers Globe.

This naval radio business extends to all parts of the earth, over land and sea—and into the air! For each naval airplane also has a complete transmitting and receiving set by which it can communicate with its ship or land station or with other airplanes.

Along both our coasts and at points on our island possessions are naval radio compass stations which form a chain of safety for ships at sea. There are more than 50 of these stations, all built up within the last three years.



RADIO CHAIN OF THE U.S. N AVY AIDED BY LAND CABLES TO OTHER PARTS OF WORLD

By furnishing bearings to ships approaching the coast, these stations have helped considerably in saving lives, time and property. It is during foggy weather, or stormy periods that these radio-fitted sections of the navy are of untold value to each other.

EIGHT LIVES LOST WHEN BOAT SUNK.

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 12.— (Canadian Press).—When the British steamer Kifauns Castle docked here yesterday with 285 of the rescued passengers and members of the crew of the German steamer Hammonia which foundered off the coast of Spain, Saturday, Captain Day declared that the loss of life would probably reach eight. Others estimated the dead at 150. The majority were said to be Spaniards. The loss of the Hammonia is ascribed to shipping water during violent gale.

HONOURABLE HISTORY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press). — Exception was taken by Secretary Weeks in a formal statement yesterday of the criticism of America's war record made recently by Rudyard Kipling. "No good purpose can be served by the recent statement by Mr. Kipling if he has been correctly quoted, even if it were justified by 'acts.' The history of America's participation in the war was honorable in every respect declared Mr. Weeks. That could not be denied.

RECIPES

COLD CABINET PUDDING

By Bertha E. Shapleigh
Cooking Authority for Columbia University

This recipe gives an opportunity to use stale cake. Any cake except molasses or spice cake may be used, as well as any kind of preserved or dried fruits, as raisins or currants.

1 pint milk, 1-2 cup sugar, 2 whole eggs or yolks 3 eggs, 1 cup fruit, 1-4 teaspoon salt, stale cake, 1 tablespoon gelatine soaked in 1-4 cup cold water, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Make a custard using milk, eggs sugar and salt. Add gelatine soaked in the cold water. Have ready a mold or bread pan and in it pour enough of the custard to cover the bottom.

Place the mold in ice and when mixture sets cover with a part of the fruit and pieces of cake. Add some more of the custard and again allow it to set before putting another layer of fruit and cake.

Repeat until all the material has been used. Let stand in a cold place until the mold is firm enough to turn out. It may be served with whipped cream or some preserved fruit, or just as it is.

STUFFED CUCUMBERS

3 large cucumbers, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon chopped onion 1-2 cup chopped cooked meat—any kind except beef, 1 cup soft, stale bread crumbs, salt, and pepper to taste, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, speck of thyme.

Cook the onion in the butter, add the meat and cook two or three minutes, then add crumbs and seasonings.

Pare cucumbers and cut in halves lengthwise. Remove seeds. Divide stuffing in six portions, and stuff each cucumber. Place in a baking dish, add one cup water, and bake until cucumbers are soft.

WIDE COLLARS.

Collars are attaining such width that one fears for their ultimate destiny. Many of them reach to the waistline already. Finely plaited or ruffled georgette is the favorite material for them.

Special to Examiner.
By Stuart P. West.

NEW YORK, September 12. — Again to-day the only movement of importance in the markets was that on the stock exchange. Everywhere else the changes were very slight. Both in grain and cotton markets there was an increasing tendency to settle down and await developments.

Speculative wheat quotations have had ample time to measure the effect of the new harvest with its indicated yield of over eight hundred million bushels. What the grain trade has now to figure upon is the probable size of the season's export demand, and this will not be known until later in the autumn.

The cotton market is in much the same position. The rise No. 23 cents a pound has evidently "discounted" the reduction in crop estimates; not only the 500,000 bales during August but such further shrinkage as has occurred since then. The market is now awaiting to get a better line upon the future trade conditions and the requirements of the spinning industry at home and abroad.

The foreign exchanges assumed the same waiting attitude and for a reason equally well defined. They cannot do much in the way of recovery, or in the way of further decline until two matters are settled. The first is whether the proposal of the German industrial ists to substitute materials for cash in the payment of German reparations, is to be approved of; the second is whether the relief thus afforded will enable Germany and also France to stop inflation of paper currency.

Rates on continental exchange yielded a gain but not to an important extent. Sterling got below $4.45, the decline of 4c within the last fortnight reflecting the completion of arrangements for interest payment of Britain's war debt, which has been an important supporting factor in the market for some time.

It was an interesting day in the security dealings—a day of much mixed price changes and conflicting operations. Another weak spot in the railroad situation was exposed in the shape of sudden collapse of the Chicago Great Western 4 per cent. bonds and a proportionately violent drop in the preferred and common stocks. This however was purely a special case, a case of a road which has not been earning fixed charges during a period when the transportation industry in general has had a very satisfactory recovery. The episode did not therefore have much effect upon the rest of the market. Railway shares were rather disposed to sag off, but there was no open weakness anywhere.

The industrial stocks were very irregular. On the other hand there was another series of demonstrations in the shares of the specialty type where there was reason to suspect the activity of speculative pools. Realizing sal brought about a moderate reaction in some of the recent leaders, and a few points of weakness cropped out, notably in the mercantile marines, and in one or two of the rubber stocks where there were special indications of an uncertain sort at work.

ACTIVE INVESTMENT OPINION

While we maintain a bullish attitude for the pull, profits should not be ignored on further rallies in issues that have had tremendous advances with a view to repurchasing around middle of month.—W. E. Hutton & Co.

There can be no doubt as to the trend of the market. It is upward and should continue so for a considerable period, subject to more frequent reactions than we have experienced in the past.—Thomson & McKinnon.

On strength we would continue to take profits in stocks which have had extraordinary rallies. Ultimately, we are going to see very much higher prices for the main body of stocks whatever develops now and we are nowhere near the final end of this bull market — Hornblower & Weeks.

The masket is in a delicate technical position where a moderate volume either way has a strong influence on prices.—E. F. Hutton & Company.

We thought the large speculative interests would pay more attention to the coal and railroad strikes, as well as the foreign situation, but it now develops that they were only too anxious to discourage an outside following, in order to attract this element at higher prices. — J. S. Bache & Co.

It is much easier to sell stocks than it is to get them back. The flood of bearish talk which one heard about the financial district a week ago has come to naught in so far as it has gone towards depressing prices and seems to have proven a decided boomerang to the professionals who sold stocks. The short interest has been increased. The technical condition of the market appears good and conditions point to better prices.—Clark, Childs & Co.

The general trend of the stock market seems upward, barring, of course, spasmodic reactions which are apt to occur whenever the market becomes over-bought. — A. A. Housman & Co.

We are advised that the earnings of the Central Leather Company for the third quarter of 1922 are very satisfactory.—Ward, Gruver & Co.

We believe there is a possibility of a great future for H. R. Mallinson & Co. now working at 90 per cent. of its capacity. This indicates the probability of a very substantial surplus at the end of the year applicable to common stock dividends.—McClave & Co.

The copper stocks should become active and higher. The improvement in the foreign outlook for the metal continues.—Brumley, Chamberlin & Co.

MARKET NEWS AND ITEMS.

Conservative Stock Exchange interests are found to be exceptionally friendly to the copper stocks.

A great deal of bullish emphasis is being laid on the increasing car loadings now reported weekly.

A large number of well-known brokerage houses are displaying considerable caution in advices about climbing for active issues.

The private borrowing demand for active industrials is showing an increase in the short account.

These specialties are being well recommended: Cosden, National Enameling, California Petroleum, Mack Truck, and Phillips Petroleum.

CANADA'S WHEAT CROP.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Grain—Wheat, after opening up 3-4 to 1-2, sold from highs under commission house selling and liquidation on continued poor export demand and official statement on Canadian crop of 389,000,000 bushels against 300,000,000 last year.

Corn—Lower.

TO-DAY'S MORNING REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Some of recent speculative favorites showed effects of profit taking, but many issues continue to display marked buoyancy. Steel common was active around year's high, while special strength was shown in equipments. Recent activity in Mack Trucks and White Motor is explained by existence of railroad embargo and will add materially to use of motor trucks for transportation purposes. Tobacco Products on heavy turn over rose to 60 1-2 a new top on move and highest since rights came off. Class A seven per cent. non cumulative shares sold above 88. If plans are now under consideration for retiring $8,000,000 pfd. mature there will be nothing ahead of class A 9hares except $4,000,000 seven per cent. notes which will be retired gradually under sinking fund. Net in August was more than 75 per cent. above August, 1921.—D. F.

Penna Railroad clerks again threaten to strike.

Western Union Telegraph directors meet at 2.30 to act on dividends.

Pan Pete for seven months ended July 31, 1922, earned $13.1 a share on common stock against $6.07 in six months ended June 30, 1921.

Average price of 20 industrials, 102.05, up .37.

Average price of 20 rails 93.99, up .11.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER.

International Paper, a specialty which is slated for a good upturn, broke into new high ground yesterday, says Bryant Brothers' news letter to-day. Present production is running at 1,600 tons per day, 1,100 of which is newspaper print. New contract price for netx year is almost certain to be either $80 or higher per ton. Constant reaching of new high records in this stock market without exceptional volume lends encouragement to bullish operations.

MINES GOSSIP.

TORONTO, September 12. — Hollinger continues to move into new high ground daily, the shares selling at 14.10 to-day. Davidson after selling down to 28 yesterday, sold up to 31 1-2 to-day. Arrangements have been completed for aggressive development of these properties and higher prices are looked for in the near future. McIntyre sold at $19.90 on what looked like accumulation.

PREMIER KING WILL VISIT IN KITCHENER

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.— (Canadian Press.)—Premier King leaves Ottawa this evening for Kitchener, where he will spend Wednesday and Thursday and where banquet has has been arranged in his honor. On Friday he attends a celebration at Stouffville and in Saturday he will be present at the annual meeting of York County pioneers at Sharon.

STRAPHANGERS BUMPED INTO AN OLD ROMANCE

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.— (Canadian Press.)—A man and a woman, straphangers in a crowded subway train, chanced to bump, and, turning to apologize to one another, discovered themselves to be husband and wife, who had not seen each other in seventeen years, according to the story told Supreme Court Justice Gannon in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Helen Courtney of 324 Broadway, Brooklyn, the woman in the case, married George Beck in March, 1905, she said. They lived together only eleven days. Years passed and she believed Beck had died. In 1914 she married again. Mrs. Courtney asked the annulment of her marriage to Courtney on the ground that she was still the wife of Beck. Courtney had no opposition. Neither he nor Beck was in the court. Jutsice Gannon granted the annulment.

KIDNEY TROUBLE
Is quite common, gradually becoming more severe, and if prompt action is not taken, serious results will follow. The symptoms are headache and pain in the back, sleeplessness, ashen complexion, white coated tongue and frequent urination. If a puffy swelling is noted in the feet or ankles the disease is well established and you must give the kidneys all the help possible by stirring the liver and bowels into action. Take Henderson's Herb Tablets every night according to directions, watch the digestion carefully, drink plenty of cold water between meals.
Mrs. T. Bevington, 303 Wilton ave., Toronto, Ont., says:
"I wish to express my gratitude for the great benefit I have received through Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment. I suffered for a number of years with kidney and liver trouble and at times could scarcely do my work with the pain in my back, and cramps in my muscles. I am now 67 years of age and after using one box of Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment I feel like a new person.

NEW TARIFF BILL UP IN THE HOUSE

Measure Will Be Disposed of Not Later Than Thursday.

WASHINGTON, September 12. — Canadian Press. — The administration tariff bill as finally perfected in conference, was presented to-day in the house and a conference report on it will be called up to-morrow with the expectation that it will be disposed of not later than Thursday. The measure will then go to the Senate. As now framed the bill is estimated to raise aproximately four hundred million dollars in revenue on the basis of the present volume of import trade. The level of rates is considerably above that of the Democratic Underwood law now in force. More important rates in administration tariff as finally agreed upon in conference in many cases run as high as 50 per cent. on value of article. Agricultural and dairy products with the exception of hogs, pork, lard and bacon are placed at 25 per cent of value, while vegetables, barley, corn rye and wheat are listed at about 30 per cent. Sugar and candy is 40 per cent; reed and rattan furniture 60 per cent.; manufactured woollen goods, sweaters, hose, underwear, suitings, and dress goods, 50 per cent; cotton articles are listed at from 35 to 50 per cent.

ious villages and towns through which they were passing, a resolution was adopted petitioning the Postmaster-General to have the names of all villages and towns designated at the various post offices, particularly those located on the highway systems.

Trade Commissioner.

Advice was received from the Department of Trade and Commerce that Major G. B Johnson, Canadian Trade Commissioner to Scotland and Ireland, would arrive in the city on Thursday, October 5th, to interview all exporters and importers to Great Britain.

So as to take advantage of Major Johnson's visit, the Executive will try to arrange to have him give an address on the general conditions in Great Britain at a general meeting of the Chamber on October 5th, convened for that purpose.

Any importers or exporters wishing to have a private interview with Major Johnson on October 5 should communicate their desirse to the secretary.

Illustrated Pamphlet.

Special mention was made of the pamphlet, "Important facts respecting factory location in Canada," recently issued by the City Council, and particularly the work of the City Clerk, Mr. S. R. Armstrong, and the secretary was instructed to communicate to the City Council accordingly.

These pamphlets are available to any person requiring same from the Secretary or City Clerk.

Membership.

The President, Mr. Jos. J. Duffus, on behalf of the Chamber, was pleased to welcome the following new members:

T. L. Edwards, butcher, 421 George Street.

V. Hamilton, traffic manager, Can. Nashua Paper Co.

J. G. Jeffries, merchant, Richard Hall & Son.

Her Two Children Had Diarrhoea Terribly Bad
Anyone suffering from bowel complaints such as diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cholera, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, or any other looseness of the bowels, will find that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry will give quicker and more permanent relief than any other remedy on the market to-day.
Mrs. Roy Keith, Charlton, Ont., writes:—"I am writing to tell you what Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry did for me. Last summer my children had diarrhoea, terribly bad, and they would vomit and pass a great deal of blood. I tried every remedy we could think of, but finally bought a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and about one half of it stopped the diarrhoea altogether. I have told several others about it, and I would not be without it in the house, as I can truthfully say it saved the lives of my two children."

AUTOMATIC RELAY

By PAUL F. GODLEY.

It has been known for many years that it is much easier to receive radio signals coming from the north and south than those from east and west. No great difficulty was therefore expected in connecting New York and London with Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Ayres.

But radio's ever-present enemy—static—broke in and necessitated a change in the original plans.

American engineers interested in establishing a South African radio service began making some preliminary surveys in 1916 and 1917. They found that signals were unreadable during the greater part of the 24 hours on account of static.

After the war a second group of engineers went down and continued the experiments. Their findings confirmed those of the first expedition.

But the demands for a radio communication service to South America had to be met. So the American, British, French and German radio interests pooled their efforts during the past year and selected H. H. Beverage, an American engineer, to make final determinations concerning the practicability of such a service.

Impracticable.

He has just returned report that direct communication between Rio de Janeiro and London or New York is still impracticable. Nevertheless direct communication is to be had if Beverage's scheme of operation is put into effect.

Establishing an experimental station on Capo Frio, 75 miles east of Rio de Janeiro, he found conditions exceptionally favorable. Using the most modern directive receivers he found it possible to record reliable signals from both America and Europe during the greater part of the day and night.

REACHING SOUTH AMERICAN POINTS FROM LONDON OR NEW YORK BY WAY OF CAPO FRIO.

To get direct communication with the great cities in the southern part of the continent, Beverage proposes the establishment of two groups of stations on Capo Frio. One group will be the high-power combination for communication with Europe and America, operating on wave lengths of the order of 15,000 meters. The second group of comparatively low power will operate on wave lengths of 5,000 meters, giving connection with cities to the south.

Automatic Relay.

The plan now is to have this relay an automatic one. The signal coming into Cape Frio from London or New York will operate a relay which in turn will effect the re-transmission of the signal to Rio or Buenos Ayres. A northbound signal will operate in the reverse manner.

This is the first comprehensive attempt to utilize automatic relays in commercial radio work. If successful, it may mean that radio connections are to be "plugged through" in the same way that land line telephone connections are now handled.

Who Pays For Advertising?
THIS is a direct and reasonable question; and in the case of Daily Newspaper advertising, intelligently used, the answer is simple: Nobody. It pays its own way.
Nobody pays for the new carburetor that gives added mileage to your motor car. It pays for itself in the gasoline it saves.
Nobody pays for an improved cash system in a modern department store. It pays for itself in economy of human time.
Nobody pays for well planned and written Daily Newspaper advertising. It pays for itself by reducing the cost of sales and by increasing production. And it often receipts old bills for follies with advertising labels.
The advertisement in your own local Daily Newspaper tells you the best things to buy and where to buy them. Every new purchase helps the whole community to command cheaper and better goods.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE COAL SHORTAGE

It's Easy to Keep Warm with Majestic Electric Heaters

The problem of the coal shortage shrinks considerably for the person whose house is equipped with Majestic Sun Heat Electric Heaters. They radiate a surprising amount of heat at a trifling cost, sufficient for the fall months and to augment your other fuel supply during the winter.

Think of the convenience and comfort of being able to improve the temperature of any room whenever desirable—of carrying heat from place to place.

Because it does not sap the oxygen or charge the air of a room in any way, the Majestic Heater never makes a room stuffy. The heater is CLEAN, no ashes, no dirt; ODORLESS, making no smoke; CONVENIENT, just switch on the power; QUICK, it radiates heat in one minute. Cost of operation is negligible.

Electric Grates will also help solve your fuel problem. The cost of their operation is less than one-third that of a coal grate, and they are fully as efficient.

ELECTRIC HEATERS FILL THE BREACH

Clean, Econonmical and Efficient and Costing Less Than a Ton of Coal, They Will Solve Your Fuel Problem Easily

Although the coal strike is settled, a shortage of coal is certain to exist this winter, mine production being approximately 40,000,000 tons below normal as a result of the long strike just terminated. Coal will be obtainable, but the demand will exceed the supply, and the price will probably go high as a result.

But with electric heaters in your home you will be able to reduce your consumption of coal considerably. Until actual winter comes electric heaters will supply sufficient heat for your home, and throughout the winter can be used to economize on coal.

The electric heater is clean, economical to operate, and efficient, and costs less than a ton of coal.

Furthermore, you can eliminate coal and expensive gas in cooking by the installation of an electric range.

The electric range can be operated very cheaply. It is as efficient as the coal or gas range, and it is cleaner in every way.

Electricity offers a solution of your fuel problems this winter. Let the electrical dealers explain its advantages to you. But don't wait too long, for the unusual demand for electric heaters, ranges, and hot water heaters created by the coal shortage will soon cause the demand to exceed the supply, and boost the price accordingly.

ELECTRICITY WILL MAKE YOUR HOUSE-WORK A JOY

Every Household Operation Can Be Done Better, More Quickly and More Easily By The Use of Electric Power, At a Comparatively Trifling Cost.

Let electricity do your work!

Every household operation can be done better, more quickly and more easily by the use of electric power, and at a comparatively trifling cost when you consider the huge dividends in contentment and happiness investment in electric household labor-saving devices pays.

Electricity will cook your food, wash your clothes, sweep your floors, do your ironing, operate your sewing machine, and do numerous other housewifely jobs. Electricity is the maid in many homes which could not afford a maid of flesh and blood, releasing the woman of the house from drudgery and turning her household tasks into joy, thus giving her greater opportunity for recreation and self-improvement.

You will be surprised to learn how small is the cost of operating electrical household appliances. For example, with an electric range your cooking fuel bill should not exceed three dollars a month.

One local electrical dealer has figured out that electric power for this purpose costs one-third the price of gas.

Let the dealers whose advertisements appear on this page demonstrate to you the myriad uses to which electric power can be put in your home.

Let Electricity Do Your Work

You can not only heat your home with Electricity more economically than with any other fuel, but every household operation can be done more efficiently and easily by the use of Electric Power, and the cost of operation is trifling.

We have Electric Heaters at $5.00, $7.50, $9.50
$10.00 $11.50 $12.00
etc.. etc., etc., and Electric Logs and Grates for your fire place, which can be operated at one third the cost of a Coal grate.

Electricity will do your cooking with an ease and cleanliness that will surprise you. We have cooking Appliances priced from $3.00 up.

We will be pleased to demonstrate to you what a joy Electricity can make of your house work by the use of Electric Vacuum Cleaners, Washing Machines, etc.

The History of the Cairo School Which is Located on Gravel Road

Nearly one hundred and twenty-five years ago, a group of immigrants came to Canada from Ireland. Moving inland, they finally reached a location which is now approximately between Springville and Fraserville—along what was later to become known as the "Gravel Road"—and is now called the "Provincial Highway" between Peterboro and Port Hope.

These hardy pioneers cleared the land and multiplied so that the growth of new generations brought the need of education. To meet this need, a log school-house was erected which rested on the roadside just east of the present building. About 1870, the residents of this portion of Cavan and Monaghan began to feel that a more pretentious structure than one of logs, should be constructed if this prosperous community was to keep pace with the progress of other sections of the country. In 1872, the trustees gave a contract for the stone and brick to a Mr. Bennet, and another for the woodwork to Mr. Wm. Lockie. Steadily the gathered material took form and the summer of the same year witnessed the completion of the building which was shortly to become known as "Cairo School."

How this school should receive the name of the capitol city of an Eastern country is traditional. It is said that at one season, people came from various parts of the surrounding country to buy corn. With biblical knowledge in the mind of someone—the district was dubbed "Egypt," and its intellectual centre whose Golden Jubilee is now being celebrated received the appellation "Cairo"—which made so profound an impression that the name still adheres.

The formal opening took place in the autumn of 1872 with upwards of one hundred pupils in attendance. To a Mr. Johnston fell the honor of being the first teacher. He instructed principally in reading, writing and arithmetic. Boys and girls attended classes until well over twenty years of age—and it is said many a matrimonial partnership was germinated behind the subtle cloak of education. A Mr. Scarlet of Cobourg, was the first Inspector.

In periods varying from a few months to one, two, three and four years, a long list of teachers has helped to lay the foundations of education and incidentally of Empire—at Cairo. In approximate succession came the following teachers:—Johnston, Armstrong, Sanderson, Britton, McKague, Troop, Robertson, Strike, Miss Strike, Miss Vance, Miss Howson, Hawkins, Mills, Foley, Breckenridge, Gilmour, Rozel, Miss Fair, Miss Rutherford, Miss Walsh, Miss Weatherill, Miss Waterman, Mr. Barton, Miss Cruickshank, Miss Lawler, Miss Brommell, and the present teacher, Miss Helen Waterman. For many years, the late Dr. Tilley of Bowmanville, served as Inspector. His duties were, however, taken over by the Odell brothers of Cobourg.

Education at Cairo followed lines similar to those of other Canadian schools, functioning from 1872. The principal subjects consisted at first of reading, writing and arithmetic with a smattering of geography and grammar. Later, there were added to the curriculum such studies as drawing, hygiene, history and composition. Recently, nature study has also found a place. Courses have been arranged so as to produce a greater degree of efficiency than was before realized—in the matter of work covered during school hours. Geography and spelling matches served to sharpen the thinking powers of the juveniles, and the flush of triumph over standing to the last in these contests, has sweet memory to the invincibles. Visits to the Inspector were occasions of tense moments. Would that venerable man proclaim a half holiday or would he burst upon the classes with harassing oral examinations? Anxiety reigned supreme for teachers and pupils; but the "storm" always passed, leaving all to breeth freely once more.

The first seating equipment consisted of thick pine benches. These, having been carved with initials and monograms of every description, were replaced in 1904 by modern desks—which remain to the present day. To summon the children to classes a bell was placed in the belfry about 1888. The new porch and concrete side walk were built in 1907 and a new flag and flag-pole gave patriotic distinction a few weeks later. About the same time, the library was secured.

Naturally fifty years have given ample time for multitudinous school-life pranks, which mar to a greater or less degree the sky of every Public School teacher. Stern and lax disciplinarians have held sway, and the memories of swift punishment administered with beech gads,—are not lost from the minds of offenders and witnesses yet alive. With the clearing of the land, the convenient beech trees, were removed—to the delight of the scholars. But in their place came articles of correction in the form of leather and rubber straps. Hot slaps on quivering flesh brought home stern meaning to many a mischevious youngster.

The history of Cairo cannot well be written without mentioning in brief fashion something of the play-life of the school. In the earlier years just west of the present building lay what was called colloquially—a "cedar" swamp. It's area comprised about four acres. It was a paradise for sport, and "Deer and Hound" formed the favorite pastime. The swiftest of foot usually became the "deer"—while to rest—fleet and slow—gave chase. However, the "deer" on many occasions, disclaimed their family characteristics, often compelling the "hounds" to adopt arboreal habits and pursue them into the tops of the trees. With the clearing of the land, this natural playground ceased to exist and the games became restricted to those which could be played within the school-yard. The girls dressed in the winter in long homespuns trimmed with red and black braid, and in the early fall and late spring—wearing cotton gathered into innumerable frills and flounces with a variety of head-gear called "shakers" joined in such games as "Tag" "Drop the Handkerchief" "Sic-a-neil" (Phonetically spelled), "Red Lion" and "Baseball." Later they took part in "Football" when Ed. Pue would line them up with him against the rest of the boys. The "Back Creek" gave excellent fun in swimming and in the winter, Bothwell's Hill and Pond were unsurpassed for sleighriding and "Shinny" while many a snow-ball battle waged between the boys of Monaghan and Cavan. Little change has taken place in this play-life—while girls apparel has suffered complete revolution.

The proximity of the orchard and garden of "Grannie" and "Uncle Johnnie" Smith usually played havoc with the scholars in the fall. They should appetites be so very keen just at the time when watermelons and apples of the "Bankers" variety were luscious? Although "Grannie" and "Uncle Johnnie" were unusually long-suffering, many a hasty exit from garden and orchard on the part of pupils—was compulsory—but usually successfully executed. Any feelings of triumphant exultation usually gave place to different moods, when, the next day, the entire male section of the school, would receive severe trouncings.

In 1904, the first motor cars in this section of the country began to pass the school—one or two each summer. The coming along the road of one of these unusual machines was an event of so great importance that Miss Becca Fair gave permission to the scholats to rush to the windows on the first sight of the noisy roar—that all might gaze in wonder and admiration at the horseless vehicle.

To attempt to write more would perhaps, be venturing into a long list of unnecessary details, which, however, doubtless, carry many personal reminiscences. It may be sufficient, perhaps, to mention that from the doors of Cairo School, have gone forth into the mart of the world, men of distinction who have served or are now serving their country as ministers, lawyers, doctors, taechers and farmers in whom every country must find its prosperity. "In Flanders' Fields" Cairo is represented; and on this day of the celebration of her Golden Jubilee, it is fitting that we pause a moment to revere the memory of Bert Elliott and Bruce Fisher—who "counting not their lives dear unto themselves," paid the supreme sacrifice in the interest of humanity.

It is scarcely boastful to point out that the present and future pupils of Cairo School have rich heritage, and those who have passed from its doors, heartily wish that these will "hold high the torch," to go on to greater achievements, to claim real distinction and serve in helping this world to the Zenith of Righteousness and Prosperity.

No Trouble To Keep Skin Free From Hairs

(The Modern Beauty)

There is no need for any woman to countenance superfluous hairs, because with a paste made by mixing some powdered delatone with water it is easy to get rid of them. The paste is applied for 2 to 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This treatment will rid the skin of hair without leaving a blemish, but care should be taken to see that you get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

Dad, Mother, Ironized Yeast for Rheumatism

Do You Realize What Ironized Yeast-Vitamines Will Do for Rheumatism and Lumbago?

Do you know that vitamines and iron are part of your very life? Do you know that the tissue-and-blood factory in your body needs these two materials, and needs them badly? Do you know that if your body furnace does not get enough of these, that queer poisons, joint poisons, muscle poisons, acid poisons are formed instead of the healthy flesh and the rich blood you used to have in days gone by? If you hobble in your gait, if pains distort your body, if bending over is an unspeakable agony, if dull pains make you breathe heavily and moan, do not grumble at the roughness of the way,—smile sweetly, there is a rainbow ahead. Things are different now than they used to be, in the days of liniments, salves, complicated drugs and all that,—remember first inning. Yeast today is scoreless the rest of the of all the winning, 4 to 3.

"Whoopee! Rheumatism Pains and Agony All Gone. Ironized Yeast Is Surely Wonderful!"

Often a game of that kind is the much needed confidence. prove so in the case of the Yankee star. The failure of Jones to consistently has handicapped American League champs Yankees' dust.

RECIPES

For this Recipe you Need:—
Two tablespoons flour
One cup sugar
One and one-half cups rhubarb, cut up small
Pie dough

Not less appetizing than rhubarb meringue pie, the recipe for which was given a few days ago, is real, plain, old-fashioned rhubarb pie.

Here's the way to make it:

Mix flour and sugar. Cover bottom crust with half the sugar mixture. Add rhubarb and sprinkle over remaining sugar.

Dampen edge of lower crust and fit top crust very carefully and firmly over lower crust.

Pinch edges tightly. The edge of a rhubarb pie must be carefully made, otherwise the pie will boil over and the juice will run away. Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

Rhubarb and strawberries can be combined in a delicious pie.

Use half as much rhubarb as berries. Wash berries and drain. Dry between paper towels.

Mix two tablespoons flour with one cup sugar for one cup berries and one-half cup rhubarb.

Use as in preceding recipe. This pie can be baked only with one crust and covered with meringue or baked with two crusts and served with whipped cream.

While the use of pork during hot months is more or less taboo, sausage is very acceptable, from frankfurters to the delicately seasoned imported sausage These sausages are delicious sandwich fillings or can be served sliced with salad as cold meat or lightly broiled and served with mayonnaise and lettuce on toast as summer just as any smoked meat or fish.

Luncheon Sausage

Put the small link sausage in frying pan. Pour over boiling water to half cover. Cover closely and simmer until water evaporates. Prick each sausage with a fork and fry to a delicate brown on all sides.

Drain on brown paper. To prepare fresh pineapple for slices. The slices should be not more than three-eighths of an inch thick.

Put the pineapple in the pan the sausage was cooked in, sprinkle with sugar and simmer over a slow fire till the fruit is tender. It will take 15 minutes.

If the sausage was not very fat add a little butter. The sugar melts with the butter or sausage fat and caramelizes. Return sausage to the pan for the last five minutes of cooking to insure blending of the juices and perfect hotness.

Arrange sausage and pineapple on a hot platter and garnish with watercress. Allow one piece of pineapple for each sausage. Canned pineapple may be used.

With Sour Cream you can make:—
Salad Dressing
Frosting
Cookies
Cake

Sister Mary gives you a recipe for each:

Of course, it's annoying to find the cream sour for the breakfast coffee, but sour cream means all sorts of good things.

Salad Dressing

One cup sour cream, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 3 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 1-16 teaspoon mustard.

Whip cream till stiff. Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add lemon juice slowly and beat in dry ingredients.

Frosting

One cup sour cream, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup nuts, 1-16 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Cook cream, sugar, nuts and salt in a double boiler till a soft ball is formed when sirup is dropped in cold water. Beat till cool. flavor with vanilla.

Cake

Two cups brown sugar, 2 eggs, ½ cup butter and lard mixed, 1 cup sour cream, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 cups flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon cloves.

Cream shortening and beat in sugar. Mix and sift flour, salt, soda and spices. Add alternately to first mixture with sour cream. Beat till smooth. Add eggs last, well beaten. Bake in a loaf into moderate oven.

Cookies

Three-quarters cup butter, 2 cups sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup flour cream, 4 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg.

Cream butter. Add sugar slowly. Add yolks of eggs, well beaten. Mix well and add cream. Mix and sift flour, soda and nutmeg. Add to first mixture. Mix smooth and add the whites of the eggs, beaten till stiff and dry. Add more flour if necessary to roll, but handle the dough as soft as possible. Roll as thin as possible, cut with a cookie cutter and bake on a buttered and floured baking sheet in a quick oven.

There's no striking by the poor old public; they just have to go out and dig.

TORONTO TAKES LAST OF SEASON FROM THE STARS

Babe Ruth Bangs Out Two More Homers — Giants Take Two Games From Boston.

INTERNATIONAL.

Toronto 6, Syracuse 3.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., September 12 (Canadian Press). — Toronto hit Stuart freely in the first five innings, and took the last game of the series from Syracuse, 6 to 3. Reinhart had the Leafs at his mercy after relieving Stuart, and put his team in the game with three hits. Score:

Toronto	200310000	6	10 3
Syracuse	000010110	3	10 4

Baumgartner and Vincent; Stuart, Reinhart and McCurdy.

Baltimore 3, Newark 2.

BALTIMORE, September 12 (Canadian Press). — With two out in the twelfth, Rube Parnham, who pitched against the Bears yesterday, came to bat and found the bases populated with three of his mates—Bishop, Styles, and McAvoy, the first-mentioned base runner having drawn an honest pass and the last two having been walked by order of Manager Clymer. Rube responded with a ringing blow to right centre, and the Bird second sacker counted the winning run. Score:

St. Louis 5, Detroit 4.

ST. LOUIS, September 12 (Canadian Press). — McManus' single in the ninth, with the bases full and two out, enabled St. Louis to take yesterday's game from Detroit by a score of 5 to 4, thus holding the margin between the Yankees and the locals to one and a half games. McManus' single followed Sisler's triple and passes to Williams and Jacobson, after Sisler had tied the score with his three-base hit to right centre. Sisler got two out of five tries, making 39 consecutive games in which he has hit safely or only one game behind the modern major league record established by Ty Cobb in 1911. He further increased his lead for the season's batting honours over Cobb, who was held to one hit in five trips to the plate. Score:

HOCKEY LEAGUES HAVE AGREEMENT

Arrangements Are Made For World's Championship Series and Territorial Rights on New Players.

CALGARY, Alta., Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press)—A satisfactory working basis has been entered into between the National Hockey League and the Western Canada Hockey League. The new arrangement provides that the world's series games be played alternately in each league in the present order—In the coast league in 1923; N.H.L. in 1924, the western Canada League in 1925, providing that artificial ice is available in the territory of the western Canada League so that ice can be guaranteed.

Considrable discussion took place with regard to the question of territorial rights on new players and it was finally agreed that the N.H.L. should have first claim on certain well-known amateurs in the east and any promising new players in Quebec and in the Maritime provinces. The other two leagues will be able to secure players from the rest of Canada and the United States.

In connection with the post-season series for championship finals, players must have been members of the team previous to February 15.

The new arrangement between the Western Canada and the National Hockey Leagues will necessitate corresponding readjustment in the agreement between the Pacific Coast League and the N. H. L.

Paddock Teaches the Boys How to Sprint in the One Hundred Yds. Dash

CHARLES PADDOCK

Fleetest-footed man in the world, showing two youthful track hopefuls how to crouch for a racing start.

By JACK JUNGMEYER.

PASADENA, Cal., Sept. 12.—Boys, here are some valuable tips on running from Charlie Paddock, fleetest-footed man in the world.

In his home town here he's the hero of all the youngsters.

He's instructing a lot of them how to race, and among them, he says, he expects it won't be long before two or three are starting after his own record of 9 3-5 seconds for the 100 yards.

Charlie began sprinting when he was 14. Now he's 22.

"Three things go to make up a good sprinter," he says.

"1. Natural ability—a combination of energy, balance and rhythm, with which some boys seem to be born.

"2. Development — learning the tricks of the game.

"3. Condition—keeping in good health.

"Of course, any boy, regardless of natural ability, can improve his speed by developing and keeping fit.

"For those who want to excel, it is important to learn—

"1. To start.

"2. To stride.

"3. To finish.

"The best starting position is the crouch, poised on fingers and toes, an attitude which Jack Donaldson, the great Australian runner, learned from watching the kangaroos in his own country.

"Running consists of a succession of arrested falls forward.

"The sprinter's body is poised just at the edge of falling. At the crack of the pistol he lunges forward, catches himself swiftly and is off in his first stride.

"If he has started properly, he comes out of that first jumping stride low, pulling his body upward and swinging his arms, to help his legs.

"Always remember to lift your knees high as you run.

"The higher you lift them, the longer your step and the more power as you shoot your feet forward.

"That's all I think about when sprinting—just to keep my knees coming high. The body automatically does the rest.

"Then the runner nears the finish. He sees the tape ahead. His rival may be just inches ahead or behind. The final few strides count.

"There are three distinct finish strides—

"1. The lunge, introduced by Bernie Wefers, once world's champion, which is accomplished by throwing the arms back smartly and the chest out, thus pitching the runner forward sharply at the last jump toward the tape.

"2. The shrug, introduced by Arthur Duffy, another champion, in 1903, by which the runner throws his side and shoulder at the tape, gaining a few inches at the finish.

"3. The jump, which I introduced myself, by which the runner literally hurls himself from the ground, with his feet low, as in the running broad jump. I cover 15 feet in this fashion on my last stride.

"The runner will adopt whichever of these finishes is best adapted to his style, after lots of practice.

"The boy of 12 to 14 who can run 100 yards in 12 2-5 seconds, or the 50 in from 7 1-5 to 7 2-5, is an exceptional sprinter, with all kinds of possibilities.

"The trouble with most boys is that they don't run naturally. They hold themselves too tightly, too stiffly, they're too conscious of being watched.

"Men are the same way. Watch one as he runs for a street car—seemingly embarrassed and half-hearted—a kind of shame at violent activity.

"Try to feel your real self behind, pushing you forward—not pulling, from ahead. Then you'll fall more easily into a natural, powerful stride.

"And don't feel discouraged if you don't win right away, or even if you never win, for running is a great developer in itself of both body and mind. It's quite enough excuse for itself."

LEASIDE BREAKS EVEN ON PROTEST

Port Hope's Victory Over Leaside Thown Out But Cobourg's Win Is Sustained.

At a meeting of the sub-committee of the Central Ontario League held in Port Hope yesterday afternoon the protest entered by the Leaside team against Port Hope and by Cobourg against Leaside were heard.

Leaside protested a game won in Leaside by Port Hope on the ground that Carter of the Port Hope team did not have a certificate. Port Hope filed no defence, Secretary Nott stated that Carter had no certificate to play and on motion of Sandy Lockington of Port Hope the game was awarded to Leaside.

Cobourg's protest was in connection with the Tyson episode at Leaside, when Leaside beat Cobourg 6 to 5. Cobourg claimed that after Tyson had been ejected from the game by Umpire Rosevear and and when time should have been called a Leaside runner scored. Their contention was backed up by a report from Base Umpire Butler and Umpire Rosevear gave the same version of the play over the telephone. The committee accordingly decided that the game should be replayed if it is necessary to determine the winner of the second section.

Vice President M. J. Dedman of Lindsay presided and the three members of the committee Sandy Lockington of Port Hope, Rev. D. C. Ramsay of Belleville and F. D. Craig of Peterboro were present. Secretary Nott took the minutes while Cobourg were represented by A. C. Kimmell and Leaside by George Peacock.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press)—One million dollars, for three fights against "the most logical opponents" was the prize dangled before Jack Dempsey, world's champion heavyweight boxer by James C. Coffroth of San Deigo, Calif.

Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager and Jack are both in Syracuse. Upon their return "Sunshine Jim" says they will have a chat over the million dollar offer. Whether the bouts would be staged in Mexico City, London, Paris, or New York, is an open question.

FIRST GAME WILL BE AT PETERBOR(

Opening Battle of the Play-Off Will Be Played on Saturday Afternoon.

The first game in the Central Ontario League play off will in all probability be staged at Riverside Park Saturday. Leaside still have a chance to spill the beans but it is a remote possibility that they will be able to beat Belleville twice. They were to have played the first game yesterday but rain once more intervened and accordingly the teams have been ordered to play a double header in Cobourg tomorrow. Belleville has only to win one of the two games to capture the second half honors. On the other hand Leaside would have to beat Belleville twice and win their postponed game with Oshawa and a replay game with Cobourg to tie Grand Trunks.

If Belleville wins one or both of tomorrow's games the race is over and Belleville and Peterboro will commence the play off series here on Saturday. In the event of Leaside winning both games the play off would be delayed another week. But there is little chance of the Leaside crew turning a double victory.

LOCAL CHAMPS IN GOOD SHAPE.

Maple Leafs and Adanacs Well Equipped With Players For Ontario Race.

Maple Leafs having won the local Juvenile series, now enter the race for the Midget championship of Ontario, with Toronto and Lindsay as the opposition. The Queen City winners are Royce Ave. Inter-Church champions. The Leafs will probably get their first game next week with Lindsay.

In taking the plunge into the Midget series the Leafs lose "Red" Elliott, H. Delahaye and Fred Wolff, who are unable to qualify under the age limit of seventeen years on the first of May. Their places will be filled by Johnston, Frans and Sowden. Franks will play second base, Johnston will work at third and Sowden will ch used in right field. The reserves include Osborne Bayton and Gordon Pogue, both catchers, who can also perform with credit in the outfield. With Sowden back in the game, the Leafs will have two batteries available in the regular lineup. Delahaye and Thornhcok being able to take a turn at pitching in case of emergency.

The team as it stands to-day is a product of the Public School Baseball League. Seven of the nine regulars took part in the school games this summer. The oldest player is seventeen and the youngest fourteen. The majority of the players left their original positions on the school nines and quickly adapted themselves to other positions on the Leafs' line-up.

Adanacs will be in much better shape for the jaunt after junior Ontario honors than were the Bankers of last season, who succumbed in a sudden death game here with the Varsity team of Toronto. The winner of the Toronto-Peterborough series will meet the western winner for the Ontario title.

Adanacs are well equipped with pitchers and catchers. Jack Turner, whose absence made a gap in the Bankers' defence last season, will be able to finish the championship games with the Adanacs. An effort will be made to play a home-and-home game series with McCormicks, the Toronto champs.

Little Lessons For the Golfer

(By George O'Neil.)

Some time ago I tried another method. It may fit you, I call it my Knowlton Ames method. Point the left toe parallel with the line to the hole and along an imaginary line to the hole which passes just in front of your right foot. Then shift all the weight of the body to the left foot and putt with the arms over from the body.

Stealing Occupied Base In World Series Game

BASEBALL'S BIGGEST BONERS

When a player steals a base with somebody occupying that particular bag, he is said to have pulled a "John Anderson."

The reason, of course, is that John Anderson is officially credited with being the first player to steal a base with the bag occupied.

Baseball historians have it that Anderson pulled such a "bone" for the first time, back on June 14, 1896, while playing for Washington against Baltimore in the National League.

Anderson's stunt was pulled 25 years ago, but ball players have been doing the same thing ever since in the majors and minors. Hardly a year passes in the majors but what someone pulls a "John Anderson."

Back in the 1917 world series between Chicago and New York, Pitcher 'Red Faber' pulled the trick. It was the first time anyone ever worked a "John Anderson" in the big series.

Faber, who rarely tries to steal a base, for some reason elected to steal third. Noticing the pitcher winding up he got a good lead and slid safely into third. Unfortunately another Chicago player was occupying the base, and Red, much to his surprise and embarrassment, was tagged out.

Since Faber pitched and won three games against the Giants in that series, his "bone" on the bases didn't get much publicity. However, it stands out as the only time a player ever elected to steal a base in a world series with someone occupying the base.

An unusual minor league incident of a like nature was one successfully staged. McKee, of the San Francisco club, stole third with the bases filled and actually got away with it.

How come Well, it so happened that the umpire ruled a balk on the pitcher, which entitled all baserunners to advance. It saved McKee from heading the list of ivory hunters.

ENDORSES WESTERN CANADA'S SCHEME FOR COLONIZATION

A Land Settlement That Will Constitute Economic Regeneration of Empire.

WINNIPEG, September 12. Canadian Press. — Endorsation of the Western Canada Colonization Association's development plans by prominent citizens is announced in a statement issued here.

Hon. Charles Dunning, premier of Saskatchewan, states that the "principle of selling western and on a 32 year payment basis at a low rate of interest is in my judgment sound and should prove very attractive in inducing settlement." P. Burns of Calgary declared that the association "has performed a great service for the whole country." Hon. T. A. Crerar is quoted as saying that "all agencies in Canada having to do with this important question (of immigration) should cooperate with the fullest possible degree," and he points out that a "sound and successful immigration policy depends mainly upon a wise selection of those invited to Canada, and sensible, helpful assistance to the immigrant after he reaches our shores in getting his start to the best advantage in his new home."

"The direct settlement of men on the land will constitute the economic regeneration of the empire," is the opinion of Col. L. S. Amery chairman of the overseas settlement board.

CAPITOL — Thomas Meighan in "If You Believe It, It's So," a Paramount picture. Also Pathe Comedy and Pathe Review.

ROYAL — Fox production, "The Lost Trail," a special Western Drama, "Village Berry," Mutt and Jeff, also Sunshine Comedy and World News.

GRAND. — Jimmie Evans and his big musical revue; the hit of the season. Change of programme for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

There is an echo of "The Miracle Man" in Thomas Meighan's latest vehicle "If You Believe It, It's So," now showing at the Capitol theatre. The story of a New York crook who makes an unexpected turn to the right and follows it up to a final complete regeneration, it shows Meighan at his best, in a real story illustrating his powerful methods of restrained, vital acting. His capacity for conveying impressions by simple means is shown in this strong, forceful picture at its utmost, in a gripping unfolding of a screen masterpiece.

From the moment when the keen-faced crook "lifts" the wallet of the old countrymen on his first visit to the big city, 'Chick" Harris dominates the piece. The old man's motto, "When in the dark, look up," attracts his attention, and finally, he returns the wallet with its eleven hundred dollars intact. Then the good impulse gets in its work. In a country village later, travelling as a soap salesman, Richard Davies (his right name) acts as benefactor for a down-at-heel Colonel and his pretty niece. A bar-room fight that provides plenty of excitement is his contribution to their welfare in this case. Becoming involved as an insurance salesman in a concern with a crooked manager, Davies faces an upheaval of all his plans for redemption and exposure of his previous record. Some of his strongest acting is done in the silent moments when the camera registers his mental struggles in these scenes.

One of the most amusing characters in the piece is old "Sky Blue," the grandly-bewhiskered gentleman who steals a newspaper and peanuts from a street stand and sends the lost little flower girl home in state in a handsome cab. His appearance later in Davies' path as the apostle of the cult of The Beating Heart is humorous in the extreme, but the bland old crook meets his Waterloo with undiminished cheerfulness. All through it is a picture that holds the attention with its life-like realism showing Thomas Meighan at his best, a recommendation that needs no further enlarging on.

Percy and Ferdie in "At Your Service" have a really funny comedy, with plenty of laughs following the adventures of these two frock-coated dandies, in their desert "speedster" that refuses to start without jazz music, and their further adventures in a quick-lunch restaurant.

"THE LAST TRAIL"— WILLIAM FOX SPECIAL PRODUCTION.

At the ROYAL—To-night and To-morrow.

AT THE GRAND.
JIMMY EVANS' REVUE.

Jimmy Evans and his revue company are going stronger than ever at the Grand and a big audience enjoyed every moment of the revue, "A Night in Chinatown," which commenced a three-days' engagement last night. This third bill is better than either of the other two and every number last night proved a success, encores being demanded in nearly every case. The musical numbers were ahead of both the other programmes offered, the comedy skits were irresistibly funny and the whole show went with a snap and "pep" that made the offering notable from every viewpoint. The Ouija skit proved one of the most amusing bits of comedy the Evans company has offered. Mr. Evans himself and his able assistant, Joe Devine, scored heavily in the fun-making. Florence Pippin, a very clever little entertainer, had a double triumph, for she not only executed a difficult violin solo in musical style, but she won much favour in her song numbers, especially in her rendition of "Mon Homme," which she sang in French. Roy Elles and Dolly Jollymore earned a storm of applause with their Apache dance. Burt Ryan and Grace Gould had their usual success in their numbers. Jimmie Evans sang the old ballad, "Sweet Genevieve" in splendid style and with Joe Devine made a big hit in "I Miss the Old Folks Now," and the finale, "Miss Manhattan," written by Joe Devine, was a fitting climax to a splendid programme. The costumes and fittings were all new, and altogether "A Night in Chinatown" is a hit from start to finish. Another new revue will be offered on Thursday night. This week's business should reach a capacity level.

AT THE ROYAL.

There is plenty of interest in the Royal theatre's program for the first three days of this week. The special William Fox production, 'The Last Trail", is a strong picture, adapted from the novel by Zane Grey. Mystery, romance and thrills alternate in the story of the night rider, 'The Hawk', who terrorizes a little western town, and whose identity remains unrevealed until the final reel. A fight in a Mexican cantina, a struggle between the supposed thief and the crooked construction engineer for the heart of the golden-hearted heroine and a massive flood scene, when the blasted dam breaks away and takes everything in its path, all add their quota to a picture of special attraction.

"The Ne'er to Return Road" is the second feature, a gripping heart drama of pathos and thrills, in which convict No. 12896 makes his escape from a life sentence and goes back to prison for the love of the white-haired woman who helps him, and whose son he has killed.

The always-interesting scenic World News pictures, a Mutt and Jeff comedy and a Sunshine comedy entitled "Puppy Love" balance the programme.

A feature of Royal entertainment just now is the playing of Mr. Asa Huycke who has taken over the piano. Mr. Huycke's powers of sympathetic interpretation and of improvisation are a decided asset to the musical accompaniment provided for the pictures.

LEFT FARMER AS HARVEST BEGAN

Fred Knapp Demands Wages From Fred Wilson for Time He Worked

Fred Knapp, a farm labourer, brought an action in Division Court yesterday claiming $118.04 wages from his late employer Fred Wilson of Springville, who counterclaimed in the amount of $120. Judgment was reserved by Judge Huycke. Knapp was engaged on October 28 last at the salary of $500 a year with a house, wood and a quart of milk day provided for him. On July 11th he told the defendant that he could could not keep up his house on the money he was receiving under the arrangement stating that small doles and orders on Tully's store at Springville were inadequate. He declared, that he must have more money. Mr. Wilson offered him $5 but Knapp refused to accept it. Mr. Wilson testified that he considered he was being held up at the beginning of the harvest and that he contended Knapp should abide by the contract he had entered into.

Mr. Wilson complained that as a result of Knapp's departure the farm was undermanned. Some of the hay was not harvested and part of the fall wheat crop remained in the field and began to sprout.

"I tried to get men but the Provincial Highway was employing them and at bigger wages than Knapp was getting," said Mr. Wilson. "I paid $2.5 a day and more than that for several I got. I had another all ready to come but Knapp wouldn't get out of the house, and this other man would not start unless there was a house for him."

The plaintiff vacated Mr. Wilson's house last Thursday. The counterclaim put in by Mr. Wilson included the damages which he alleged he had suffered through his crops not being promptly harvested and various bills for wood, a broken plow and other items which plaintiff contended should not be allowed.

Mr. C. R. Widdifield appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. J. A. O'Brien for the defendant.

"Knapp broke his contract at a time when men were worth $60 to $75 a month and not $40" Mr. O'Brien pointed out. 'It was essential that farmers should have sufficient help during the harvest time, and to that end they engage their help for the year so that they would be on hand for harvesting." Mr. O'Brien said that Knapp had simply held up his employer who refused to pay more than had been agreed upon in the contract.

Mr. Widdifield argued that the law of nature superceded the laws of the nations and municipalities, and that when Knapp realized that he wasn't getting enough money for the proper support of his wife and children he had both a duty and right to sever the contract with Wilson.

Found Snugly Tucked Away in a Basket.

PORT HOPE, Sept. 12.—A bouncing baby boy, ten days old, snugly tucked away in a small basket, was found on the steps at the entrance to the Port Hope Hospital about 11.30 o'clock Saturday night. The clothing of the little one was spotlessly clean and of very superior quality, but there was no note or instruction of any nature left with the babe. After the discovery had been made, nurses recalled seeing an automobile stop in front of the hospital and also on Hope Street at the east side of the hospital. The babe appears quite contented in his new home and is receiving every attention from the nurses.

LURE OF BURIED TREASURE PULLS POWERFULLY ON ALL WHO LOVE DARING VENTURE.

Who has not felt, at one time or another, the lure of treasure seeking —that powerful pull that beckons toward adventure tinged with romance and surrounded with peril?

The story of Captain Kidd and his buried treasure, dear to the juvenile imagination, has still a strong appeal to children of a larger growth. "Treasure Island," that masterpiece of fiction by Robert L. Stevenson, holds every reader in its grip like a vice. Stories handed down by historians, of treasure sunk in American waters during the Revolution; records of fortunes in gold lost in this sea or that by wrecked ships—with latitude and longitude given—long have invited and continue to invite the spirit of adventure and the enterprise of cupidity.

Hidden treasure and its lure constitute an important factor in a big motion picture presented at the Royal Theatre last night. This is the William Fox special production "The Last Trail," based on Zane Grey's celebrated novel. In the story figures a mysterious lone bandit, known as "the Night Hawk," who terrorises the country side by his sudden, swift, and successful raids upon towns and travellers. The discovery of his cave in the mountains, where heaps of treasure are revealed, serves as an incident preliminary to one of the big climaxes.

The picture is as thrilling as the book. "The Last Trail" should enjoy full houses to-night and to-morrow. The staging, directed by the skilful Emmett J. Flynn, is superb—with a final smashing climax consequent upon the bursting of a big reservoir dam in the mountains.

All of which sounds like film entertainment of the livest sort—at the Royal Theatre to-night and to-morrow.

87.6 per cent. of jurors agree on verdict

A CUSTOMER comes into your store where two similar articles are for sale at the same price. One of them is a nationally advertised article, the other is not. Which does he buy? The National Retailers' Association found the answer to be :

87.6 times he buys the advertised goods.
3.6 times he buys the unadvertised goods.
8.8 times he does not have a preference.

When the unadvertised article is the lower priced of the two, which does the customer buy? On the same authority the answer is:

60.6 times he buys the advertised goods.
24.2 times he buys unadvertised goods.
15.2 times he does not have a preference.

SAM'S NERVE, NOT HIS ARM, CRIPPLED

SAM JONES

(By Billy Evans.)

Sam Jones of the New York Yankees is one of the greatest pitchers in either of the major leagues.

That may sound like a rather funny statement when you consider that, since early in the year, Jones has been the least effective member of the New York pitching staff.

Sam has a great fast ball, a corking curve, a tantalizing slow ball and a deceptive change of pace. In addition, he is a smart pitcher and a great fielder.

Despite all this he has not been able to win with any degree of consistency since the season opened. As a matter of fact, it has been a very difficult matter of late for him to finish a game. Something always seems to happen to cause Manager Huggins to remove him from the fine-up.

How come that Sam Jones, with all this stuff, cannot win?

Just another of those peculiar phases of baseball. Merely another case of Old Man Psychology exerting his influence over Sam Jones.

Jones isn't winning because he has lost confidence in himself. Whenever he enters the box he feels certain that at some time during the game the opposition will break lose and drive him to cover. The dread of what he believes is the inevitable is constantly with him.

If he doesn't falter in his pitching to start the trouble some of his teammates start it by making a couple of errors.

I have worked several games back of Jones this year in which he had everything when suddenly the opposition would start hitting him all over the lot.

Recently Bill Dinneen and I umpired a series at New York. The Chicago club was the opposing team. For five or six innings Jones went along beautifully, then the Sox staged a rally, netting a half dozen runs, and Jones went to the showers.

After the game, on the way to the dressing-room, I was thinking about Jones and his inability to win. I wondered at it because he had all his old-time stuff that once made him one of the hardest pitchers in the American League to beat.

Evidently Bill Dinneen was thinking about the same thing. As he came into the umpires' quarters at the Polo Grounds he remarked to me:

"Never saw a pitcher with so much stuff get hit as hard as Jones did today."

He had expressed my sentments exactly.

"He isn't pitching naturally," added Dinneen, himself a great pitcher in his day. "He's working too carefully. He should loosen up and cut 'em loose. He should let the batter do the worrying."

The next day we talked to Jones along the lines of our conversation. He diagnosed his own trouble when he simply said:

"When I start a game I am wondering what inning the blow-off will happen in."

In a recent series at Detroit the Tigers got to Jones for three runs in the first inning. He held Detroit scoreless the rest of the way, finally winning, 4 to 3.

Often a game of that sort restores the much needed confidence. It may prove so in the case of the Yankee star. The failure of Jones to win consistently has handicapped the American League champs greatly. If he gets going look out, watch the Yankees' dust.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE
Among the northern races, particularly among the Finns, long, luxurious hair is regarded as a woman's greatest beauty.
If she cuts her hair a girl signifies that she has no interest in receiving attentions from men and that she will listen to no proposals of marriage.
A frequent cause of separation or divorce is the husband's disillusionment when he finds his wife's hair is not all her own.

WEDDING BELLS

McCLELLAND — DAVIDSON
At one o'clock to-day, at St. Andrew's church, the wedding was solemnized by the Rev. James Rollins of Hazel Stewart, only daughter of Mrs. James Davidson, Gilmour street, and Gerald Dobell McClelland younger son of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. McClelland.
The bride, who entered the church to the strains of the wedding march played by Mr. John Crane, was given away by her uncle, Mr. G. B. Elliott, of Peterboro. She wore a suit of navy Poiret twill, with blouse of rust-colored canton crepe, draped with radium lace, grey shoes and stockings, and large black velvet hat, trimmed with silver metallic cloth and single silver ornament. Her bouquet was of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley, her only ornament a string of pearls worn by her mother on the occasion of her marriage. The bridesmaid, Miss Alethea Davidson, was dressed in canna canton crepe, with hat of black and silver, and carried ophelia roses. Mr. Paul Smellie of Toronto supported the bridegroom. During the signing of the register, Mrs. M. H. Park, in splendid voice sang, "At Dawning."
Mr. and Mrs. McClelland left later by motor for Cleveland, travelling in a car which was a wedding gift to the bride by her mother. They will reside on Engleburn avenue.

SMITH—YELLAND.
A quiet but very pretty wedding took place early this morning at 544 Aylmer Street. The contracting parties were Mr. Louis L. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, and Miss Gladys Marguerite Yelland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yelland, of Harvey Street.
The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Glen. V. Yelland, and the groom by Mr. W. L. Barraclough. The parents of the bride and groom were also present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church.
The bride wore a travelling suit of navy tricotine with blouse of crepe meteor, and a very pretty hat of taupe and flame.
Many beautiful gifts came to the hands of the bride from her large circle of friends. Among these were those from the Choir and Sunday School of Murray Street Church.
The Young Women's Mission Circle of the church paid a very beautiful compliment to the bride, who was one of their number, by preparing the room in which the marriage took place with a profusion of harmonious flowers.
Mr. and Mrs. Smith left to-day for points on the Niagara Peninsula, and will, on their return, reside in Peterborough.

OBITUARY

HATTIE E. WHITE
The many friends of Miss Hattie E. White of Toronto, formerly of Peterboro, second daughter of the late Rev. William White and Mrs. White will regret to learn of her death on the second of this month at Bruce Mines, where she had gone for her health, she having been an invalid for about ten years. She was buried in the family plot in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Toronto. She leaves to mourn her loss her only brother, Mr. W. J. White and two sisters, Misses Annie and Ella all of Toronto.

MRS. ROBERT WILLIAMS.
BUFFALO, September 12 (Special to The Examiner). — Mrs. Ida C. Williams (nee Harris), a former resident of Peterborough, Ontario, died early on Monday, after a brief illness, at her home here, 318 Vermont Street.
She leaves her husband, Robert S. Williams, and one son, Robert H. Williams.
Services were held at her late home here on Monday night at eight o'clock, after which the body was taken to Ivanhoe, Hastings County, Ontario, for interment.

ANDREW HENRY WEBB.
At midnight on Monday after an illness of some months Andrew Henry Webb, aged 55, for many years a resident of this city, passed away at his home, 555 Sherbrooke street. Deceased was known through his sporting and fraternal associations, and by a great circle of friends was held in high respect. Mr. Webb was born in Colchester, England, but had spent the greater part of his life in this city. He was a stone mason and bricklayer and in his craft an expert workman. He took a prominent part in the affairs of the Independent Order of Foresters and was recently elected a High Court officer. The funeral, which takes place Thursday, will be under the auspices of the Foresters, service being held at the family home at two o'clock by Rev. A. J. Langford of Trinity Methodist church. Deceased is survived by his wife, two sons, Harold and Gordon, and two daughters, Mrs. Clarence Perry and Miss Sadie, all of this city.
"Andy" Webb was an ardent curler, and when playing first or second stone had few superiors in the Peterborough Club. He not only curled well, but also seriously, and in many respects he will be greatly missed next winter when George Stevenson brings back the rings again, and Angus McIntosh pebbles the seven sheets, and the ice is crowded with sportsmen who have been many years together, or when Number 8 fills up with experts following a big game on three, four or five. Andy Webb will not answer the president next season when at the annual meeting the prizes are being distributed. He was always a prominent participant in such little ceremonies and assemblies, and invariably was called upon to assist in presenting the trophies, and incidentally to enliven the proceedings with a speech.
The old guard of the Curling Club will report next winter with gaps in their ranks that cannot be soon closed up.

ROBERT CHARLES SMITH.
PORT HOPE, Sept. 12.—Robert Charles Smith, Sr., one of Port Hope's oldest settlers, passed away early Sunday morning at the family residence, Augusta Street. The late Mr. Smith has been in failing health from heart trouble for some time, but was down town on Friday and was around as usual all day Saturday. About midnight on Saturday he took a weak turn, from which he failed to rally, passing away at three o'clock.
The late Mr. Smith was 75 years of age and was born in Consecon, Prince Edward County, coming to Port Hope when a young boy. He attended the Public and High Schools, after which he went into the lumber business with his father. They owned large timber limits in the north and had mills situated at Fenelon Falls and Port Hope.

THE LATE MARGARET SHANAHAN.
In the death at her late residence, South Ops, on August 14, 1922, of Margaret Shanahan, there passed away the last but one of a family whose name is closely linked with the early pioneers of that township.
The deceased, who was aged about 64 years, resided with her brother John, on the old homestead. She was a daughter of the late Daniel Shanahan and Margaret Hogan, both natives of Ireland, and both closely associated with the early history of this section. According to Watson Kirkconnell's Centennial History of Victoria County the second recorded grant of land in the township of Ops was made on March 30, 1826, a clear patent of 283 acres to one Duncan McDonnell, of Glengarry Co. He never resided in Ops, but two of his assistants, Patrick Lee and Daniel Shanahan took up small grants. The late Mr. Shanahan located on lot 3, con. 3. The Hogans were among the first settlers in South Ops, on what is known as Hogan's Island.
Besides her brother the deceased is survived by several nieces in Fenelon Falls, Mrs. Gus White, Misses Margaret and Annie McCabe, of Peterborough, are nieces, and Messrs. Jas. Daniel and John McCabe, of the same city, are nephews, Mrs. E. McGrane of Lindsay, is a cousin, the Misses Bellingham, of Fenelon Falls, are nieces, and there are other relatives in Buffalo and Cleveland.
The funeral took place Aug. 16th to St. Mary's church, where requiem mass was chanted by Rev. Father Guiry, interment taking place in the parish cemetery.—Lindsay Post.

BIRTH.
QUINLAN.—Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Quinlan (nee Geraldine Rudkins), St. Catharines, a daughter.

OPENING DANCE AT BROCK STREET RINK

Paul Gliddon's Orchestra and Management Put on Dance Friday Night

At the request of a number of young people the Brock street rink will be opened for Dancing Friday evening. The rink has the most spacious floor for dancing in the district, and Paul Gliddon's orchestra will furnish an excellent programme. Dancing will begin at 8.30 and the rink will be closed at 11.30 sharp.
As is usual at Brock street every care will be taken to make this opening dance a most successful affair.

MASKED MEN ENTER HOME IN ST. THOMAS

Made Occupants Prisoners While They Ransacked the House and Stole the Car.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press).—Three armed and masked men entered home of Alderman E. Boehmer early this morning and after beating up John Scott, an elderly gardener, held Mrs. Boehmer and nine year old daughter prisoners, while house was ransacked. Search continued for about five hours at end of which burglars left taking with them new Sedan car, a sum of money and revolver. Ald. Boehmer left on a business trip to New York last night and robbers visit followed shortly afterwards.

CANADIAN CLUBS HAD A CONFERENCE TO-DAY

HAMILTON, Sept. 12.—(Canadian Press).—The Association of Canadian Clubs opened the second day of their conference here this morning with an attendance of about a hundred accredited delegates and as many more unofficial delegates. Bishop De Pencier, New Westminster, B.C., Unable to arrive in time for last night's banquet, was the principal speaker this morning. Frederick S. Haines, A.R.C.A., gave an address on Canadian Art, and Hector Charlesworth, Toronto spoke on Canadian drama. The remainder of the morning session was devoted to a discussion of the best methods of commemorating Armistice Day and other anniversaries.
At noon the Assembly adjourned to Stoney Creek battlefield for lunch con there Lieut. Col. C. R. McCullough, founder of the Canadian Club, delivered an address on the history of Stoney Creek.

JUVENILE THIEVES BUSY AT LINDSAY.

LINDSAY, Sept 12. —Thieves thought to be juveniles broke into the back of the Kandy Kitchen, Kent street, at night, and were successful in stealing several packages of gelatine. The labor required for this light haul was great. Protection from the night watchman was secured by backing a piano box up against the back wall. The putty was removed from the pane, and after several unsuccessful attempts entrance was gained. When the thieves left they replaced the pane of glass.

ALLIES WILL ATTEMPT TO SETTLE WITH TURK

An Effort Will Be Made to Avert a War Over the Possession of Constantinople — Disquieting Rumours Afloat.

TURKS ENCOURAGED BY THEIR SUCCESS

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, September 13. — A compromise settlement with the Turks will be attempted by the Allies to avert war over possession of Constantinople, according to the views in diplomatic quarters to-day.

Turkey (long known as the Sick Man of the East) has "come back" and will be granted much of the European territory lost as a result of the Great War.

Driven from Europe by the Treaty of Sevres, the Mo s under the leadership of Mustapha Kemal, have rallied, defeated Greece, and emerged rejuvenated.

The following are the terms of settlement which are being considered by the allies, it is believed

1—Restoration of Adrianople and the largest portion of Thrace.

2—Internationalization of Constantinople and the Dardanelles.

ATHENS, September 13. Canadian Press. — Disquieting rumors are afloat on all sides causing uneasiness, which sang froid displayed in official circles is unable to calm.

It is reported that the Turks in Thrace e..couraged by the successes of Mustapha Kemal Pasha's army in Antolia are engineering an anti-Christian movement.

Encount .s have occurred between Bulgarian irregular bands and Greek detachments along border near Nevrokop and it is stated that the bandits were driven back into Bulgarian territory.

The people of Athens apparently do not yet fully realize the extent of the Greek disast.. in Asia Minor.

Venizelos, who is in Paris, says he is ready to return to Greece.

MINIMUM SALARY $1,800.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.— (Canadian Press.)—All congregations in the Presbytery of Montreal, with the exception of four, are now paying their ministers a minimum stipend of $1,800 a year and a residence and measures are to be taken to bring the exceptions up to the same standard. The announcement to this effect was made yesterday when the presbytery assembled in Knox Crescent church. The annual meeting of the synod of Montreal and Ottawa will be held on October 10 in the Presbyterian College.

GAS AND WATER FOR MOTOR FUEL

Take two-thirds gasoline and one-third water. Mix them in your gasoline tank, press the starter and off you will go!

This surprising combination is the fuel for a new form of automotive device to take the place of the carbouretor. It is the invention of C. F. Degner, of Los Angeles.

Degner calls his invention a fuel generator. Tests of it were made recently at the Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, N.Y., where it was said the device was superior to 32 carburetors of different makes which competed with it.

The generator is constructed on the principle that a current of air passing through the mixture of water and gasoline will cause the formation of a fuel gas. It is installed in the same relative position as the carburetor, but with a larger intake pipe. Another pipe leads to the exhaust from which the air pressure in taken.

Degner says this fuel not only is cheaper, but it will produce more miles on a gallon than pure gasoline will.

OLD-TIME SONGS HAVE GONE, ALONG WITH GOOD BEER

Street Corner Sing-Songs Seldom Heard Now — Popular Ditties Impossible on the Saxophone.

When the "something which could never happen" became a law by popular vote, back in 1916, and the flowing bowl ceased to flow, the dead mourners slowly awoke to the fact that not only had their sole comfort passed out, but that several of the old customs and institutions had gone by the board as well.

Many of these were marked as small losses, but one sorely missed is the dead-and-gone street corner quartet.

When "it" could be had for much less than ten dollars a quart, every Saturday night saw groups of tipsy youths gather beneath the sputtering blue light of the corner arc lamp and warble maudlin sentiments far into the night, in a voice known as the whisky tenor.

Where are those songsters now? Without the spirit which once bound them with a common tie, they remain peacefully at home, listening in on the radio or indulging in some like amusement.

Of course, when the singers passed, their songs went with them. Old favorites that looked as if they would live forever are now buried in the dust of recollection. My Adeline, once sung wherever men gathered is heard no more. Casey Jones, a song that was in popular favor over a score of years, has also departed. Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here! is putting up a game scrap, but it cannot be kept alive on grape juice. It was a song of a stronger age than ours. There's a Hole in the Bottom of the Sea, a fine old post prohibition ditty, has degenerated, and with modifications is used as a setting for a football yell by nearly every fresh water college on the continent.

Other Favorites.

It is only when the real old-timers get together that the almost-forgotten tunes are revived. Then the same spirit and pep that they had. The sweet strains of Oh Where Oh Where Is My Little Dog Gone For It's Always Fair Weather When Good Fellows Get Together. If I Die Don't Bury Me At All, and the Bulldog, are brought back to be sung on these rare occasions.

And what has happened to the instruments that supplied the accompaniment for the street corner choristers? The mouth organ, once heard in every corner of the city, seems to have fallen into disuse. There are plenty of them on the market, but the sale has dropped off. The concertina and accordion, once so popular, are now threatened with extinction. Even the old fiddle that hung in every barber shop has dropped out. The old tunes played by these instruments are still with us in syncopated form, but Way Down in Dixie, Turkey in the Straw, Marching Through Georgie and others composed in B.P. (before prohibition) were not made to be interpreted on the implements of jazz. No saxophone could give them with half the homely feeling imbued by the wheezy accordion.

Will the old songs ever be popular again, and will the street corner quartet ever come back?

As Poe's raven was won to remark, when the occasion demanded, "Nevermore!"

Canada's Crop On the Way to Port Montreal

MONTREAL, September 13. — Within the next few days the first shipments of Canada's 1922 grain crop will arrive in Montreal from the west, inaugurating what is confidently expected to prove the heaviest volume of grain traffic in the history of the port. Nearly ninety million bushels have already been handled here this season to date, and it is believed that by the end of the season last season's total of 183,453,980 bushels will be far exceeded.

Would Exclude News of Divorce Cases From English Newspapers

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Increasing tendency on the part of English newspapers of highest reputation to publish long reports of disagreeable evidence in divorce cases was condemned by President of Institute of Journalists at the annual conference of organization at Bristol.

He declared that he favored cleansing garbage tried in courts before reaching newspapers. Man or woman who outraged decencies of domestic life would in that case be less of a hero or heroine than at present.

He advanced the view that people interviewed by reporters should see proofs of the interview before publictaion and thought English journals had gone too far in copying the style of American journalism.

NEWEST GOWNS LEAVE LITTLE PONDER ABOUT

Latest Creations Discussed at Fashion Meet—What the Models Know —Long Skirts.

ALL ONE PIECE

CHICAGO, Sept. 13. — Gowns "which leave something to the imagination' are the latest in fashions for the coming season, according to the Misses Grace Woody, Edna Clausen, and Louise Ruttle, models at the annual convention of the American Fashion Art League which opened yesterday at the Congress hotel.

Of course the designers and importers of gowns hats, and other creations of fashions, have a good deal more than that, to say about why the styles will be and who makes them; but the models had their 'say' yesterday and that's the way they said it.

Models Not Dumbells

A reporter found the Misses Woody, Clausen and Ruttle posing with the conventional bovine expression of the professional model before a battery of cameras And as the cameras clicked, they chatted of fashions in a manner revealing that contrary to the general impression, there is not exactly a vacuum in the pretty models cranium.

"Let the designers and artists and "madams" claim what they wish," said Miss Woody, "we models know what the fashions will be."

"Yes, you bet!" asserted Miss Clausen, tossing her blonde head back in a graceful pose. "You know, we models really create the fashions."

Debs Get the Credit

"And", added Miss Ruttle staring stonily into the battery of lenses, "the madames give the debutantes and the society matrons credit for it."

"We're the first ones who wear the stuff ain't we " demanded Miss Clausen. 'Then why don't we make the fashions, I'd like to know'.

Miss Woody piroutted gracefully on one foot. "Believe me there isn't going to be a short gown or skirt shown this season; everything will be ankle length."

"Long and narrow, that's the stuff," said Miss Ruttle. "Look at this black lace creation. All one piece and just wrapped around."

Miss Clausen spoke: "I gave the designer a couple of tips on this orchid lace evening gown here, and I see she followed 'em out.'

Style Show To-morrow

"Huh!" said Miss Woody. "I've given a lot of them tips, but we models never get any credit for it. We make the styles and they say they do it.'

Mme Alla Ripley is president of the league. More than thirty exhibitors from all sections of the country will display their wares. Twenty five hundred are expected to attend and the big feature of the convention will be the style show in the gold room of the Congress hotel to-morrow afternoon and evening.

GRAND JURY BROUGHT IN A TRUE BILL IN MERCHANTS' BANK CASE

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.— (Canadian Press.)— The Grand Jury of the Court of King's Bench this afternoon brought in a true bill against Sir Montague Allan, President of the defunct Merchants' Bank, who is charged with negligently signing a false return on the bank's financial conditions to the government for October, 1921.

C. R. GRAY IS NOT THE SELECTION FOR C.N.R.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.— (Canadian Press.)—It was stated last night that although the appointment to chairmanship of new Board of Management of Canadian National Railways had eben made, that C. R. Gray, President of Union Pacific Railway, was not the official chosen. An official announcement it was said, would be made in a few days. Montreal despatch earlier in the day had stated that Mr. Gray had eben appointed.

Mrs. W. Hood Died On Mission Field

Adjutant Arthur Smith has just received word from India of the death there of Mrs. Adjt. Hood an officer of the Salvation Army stationed with her husband in India. Mrs. Hood was a daughter of Mrs. C. A. Burtch 301 King street. Mrs. Hood left Kingston nine years ago to enter the misison fields in India and has been a faithful worker. It was while doing her duty in the foreign land she contracted the illness which caused her death.

Word has also been received of the death of Commissioner Lawley, the secretary of General Booth for many years who travelled with the General and acted as his singing leader in his campaign. Special services for the Commissioner who died in London, England will be held on Sunday evening.

MAY PUT IRELAND IN PEACE LEAGUE

Matter is Up to the Steering Committee at Geneva Conference.

GENEVA, Sept. 13. — (Canadian Press.)— Ireland's chances for admission to the League of Nations now appear to be good. Her application is not on the agenda of the Assembly, but the Steering committee can put it there if it sees fit. Michael MacWhite, Irish Free State delegate to the League, returned to Dublin last night to report on the situation here and learn conditions in Ireland.

It is understood that the British delegations, including the Canadian, will be satisfied with such assurance and will offer no opposition. If Free State Ireland is admitted it would give the Empire group seven votes in the League Assembly, but thus far little significance has been attached to that point, as delegates pointed out that the Irish vote in many instances be expected to counter balance that of the other sections of the Empire.

GERMAN PRICES DOUBLE IN MONTH OF AUGUST.

Increasing Use of Gold Values in Transaction of Ordinary Business.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—The rise in average German prices during August was much the largest of any month on record. The Frankfurter Zeitung's index number, based on 100 for 1914, shows prices to have increased nearly 290 times since the beginning of the war. The Sept. 1 average was 28,919, as against 13,935 at the beginning of August, 4,238 at the beginning of last January, and 2,127 at the beginning of 1921.

In August the average for the foodstuffs group of commodities rose from 18,833 to 32,142, of textiles and leather from 13,961 to 29,175, of minerals from 18,355 to 42,638, the finished articles from 8,459 to 19,352. The calculation is made, on the basis of gold prices as measured by current exchange rates, that, notwithstanding the great advance in finished articles, such goods are now commanding only five-eighths of the prices current in 1914. It is not, therefore, thought that the rise in prices can check Germany's capacity to compete in foreign markets. Nevertheless, the working of paper prices begins to be described as meaning the "slow death of the paper mark."

Minister of Industry Schmidt has proposed to issue Treasury bills on the basis of dollar and pound sterling exchange. The first corporation to be equipped with capital measured in gold marks has just been established at Leipsic, its field being real estate transactions. The dollar continues to be increasingly used, whether for actual home payments or as a basis of calculating mark prices. On the other hand, the Federation of German Industries has just rejected a proposal to introduce gold mark balance sheets.

To enjoy a radio concert, one must have an antennae, amplifier and considerable imagination.

THE CHILDREN FROM SHELTER TAKE IN FAIR

First Fall Meeting of the Children's Aid Society Held Yesterday — Reports Received.

A CRIPPLED BOY

The first meeting after the summer season of the Board of Directors of the Children's Aid Society took place yesterday afternoon in the board-room of the Chamber of Commerce, the president, B. F. Ackerman, in the chair. Three new members were welcomed at this meeting: Rev. Harold W. Young, Adjt. Arthur Smith and Dr. E. H. Wood.

Reports were received from Mrs. W. H. Gibbs, for the Purchasing Committee; from the Agent, G. W. Powell, and from the matron at the Shelter, Mrs. D. Rogers. During the month of July, there were 19 children in the Shelter, with four brought in and three sent out. In August, the Shelter contained 20 inmates, five brought in and three sent out. There was no sickness during either month. In July, Mr. Powell reported four applications for children, with four children brought in (not wards). In August, there were five applications, with children brought in (not wards) 1; children returned (not wards), 1; children sent to the Industrial School, 2; wards placed out, 1; wards returned to Shelter, 4.

Mr. Powell also reported progress in preparations for the annual tag day, which will be held this year on September 30th. Havelock has been visited, and co-operation secured there. Lakefield will hold a meeting in this connection some time this week, and it is proposed to ask Norwood to help also. Mrs. J. S. Fanning is convenor for tag day this year.

Crippled Boy.

Mr. Powell also referred to the case of Everett Carruthers, a little crippled inmate of the Shelter, whose twisted feet require assistance in their daily path to and from school. His cart has been in use for a long time, and is worn out, and his shoes are constantly in need of repair because of his need of using one foot to shove the little vehicle along. Mr. Powell approached Mr. W. G. Ferguson, to ask if a pass on the street railway might be available for this little chap, and negotiations with the Hydro Commission authorities are now in progress regarding same.

Mrs. Gibbs brought up the question of the Shelter children's annual attendance at the Peterborough Exhibition on Children's Day, and Mesdames Welsh and Hill, with the matron, Mrs. Rogers, were deputed to look after them. The ladies were given authority to use their own judgment in drawing on a special fund for the children's entertainment to provide them with treats, etc., at the Fair. The sum of $5.65 received through Mrs. McElhiney, proceeds of the children's bazaar at Chemong Park, has just augmented the funds for this purpose, which were already in the bank.

Expressions of sympathy were extended by the Board to two absent members recently bereaved by death, to Mrs. F. A. Hodgson, on the death of her husband, and to the secretary, John Edgar, whose brother died recently in Parry Sound.

Messrs. J. W. Fraser and H. B. Cowan were re-appointed as auditors for the coming year.

Pigs at Shelter.

A very satisfactory report was made of the condition of the two porkers that comprise the present live stock family at the Shelter. These pigs were of Mr. Walter Stocker's choosing, and his judgment has been thoroughly vindicated in the fine healthy progress made by the two since their introduction to Shelter premises. Their most pressing need at the present moment is for a floor in their pen. One of the new members, Dr. Wood, nobly responded to this appeal by offering boarding from a shed of his which is being torn down.

Those present at yesterday's meeting were: Mesdames Sanderson, Gibbs, Welsh, Hill, Rev. W. H. Young, Adjt. Smith, Messrs. B. F. Ackerman (chairman), W. Stocker, G. W. Powell, Dr. E. H. Wood and Dr. D. C. King, who took Mr. Edgar's place as secretary for this meeting.

The report of the Purchasing Committee was as follows: Sanitary Ice Co., $5; T. L. Edwards, $3.14; R. Neill, $2.65; Crafton, Ltd., $3; L. M. Brooks, $2.55; J. M. Heard, $17; H. B. Taylor & Son, $47.50; J. P. Bond, $25; R. Denne, $4.75; Veteran Bread Co., $10.20; Mrs. J. P. Bickel, $23.08; R. Hall & Son, $7.50; Archie Moore, $4; G. W. Powell, $6.67; telephone (2 'phones) $5.03; Peterborough Utilities, $1.74.

Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Got Away to Good Opening Today

Corps of Workers Put the Finishing Touches on Peterboro's Four-day Fair This Morning—A Survey of the Grounds

LARGE REST ROOM FOR THE WEARY MOTHERS

With the sun shining down on long rows of white tents, with a mild breeze whipping overhead banners and pennants into flying spots of color, with men and women by the dozen working like busy bees in preparation for the Grand Opening, the grounds of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition presented a scene of secrtary's office, F. J. A. Hall with augurs well for the success of this year's four day event. From the flower-filled urn at the entrance to the bright green sweater and cheerful smile of Webber Turner as he made his way in and out of the crowd and answered half-a-dozen people with different inquiries at the one time, every detail bears an aspect of alert, bright efficiency. In the secretard's office, F. J. A. Hall with his corps of helpers was besieged on all sides, and Rolly Denne was the object also of numerous followers.

The Midway Open.

The concessionaries were far ahead with their preparations at 11 o'clock this morning. The large and small white and brown tents along the Midway presented an attractive appearance, one with flags of all colors draped about its sides, the majority topped by waving pennants and adorned with bright flowers. At one counter, two tired-looking workers sampled hot coffee and sandwiches ;at another a dray was delivering a fat hogshead of root beer, and blocks of white ice waited for disposal in the main driveway. Driving in and out were motors and trucks of all descriptions, many of the former going to their places in the numerous tents made ready for them, others holding supplies for the various booths. Red and green lights surrounding bright mirrors proclaimed the merry-go-round, where prancing steeds wait for large and small riders; "Kill the Cat" is ready for all comers; a busy gentleman with cream polish brightened up a nail-studded saddle, and, in a red-draped booth, the negro gentleman with a white tie who serves as target for more or less accurate shots, looked unconcernedly and smilingly out on a sunny world. From the preparations in progress along the Midway, attractoins this year are to be more numerous and better than ever.

"Lest We Forget."

The riderless horse on the grey base is surrounded by flowers and fresh green foliage; one goes down the main thoroughfare between rows of light green saplings and polished white-washed stones; and the strains of a gramaphone float out from the brightly-lighted main building, with its colorful overhead emblem of "Progress." Here gay decorations and bright exhibits caught the attentions, the majority already in place. Busy workers were engaged in the final touches and, near the front entrance, Mr. J. R. Brownlee, his wicker work already in place, sat waiting nimble fingers and darkened eyes at rest for the moment. Upstairs, there is plenty of interesting work for women and children, and next door, in the flower tent, masses of foliage and bloom make a living spot of color and light. There is an original setting for the vegetables, calculated to catch the eye on first entrance, and the Manufacturers' Building this year is a revelation in what can be done by local manufacturers. The exhibits here could hardly be surpassed by Fairs of much larger dimensions anywhere in Canada.

Over in the sheds, enquiring noses poked out from stable windows indicated the presence of a number of the horses; cattle were lowing farther down, with sheep and porkers as near neighbors. A herd of small cream-colored Jerseys, the little calves with mild eyes trotting in the rear, came down the back way and fell to munching the grass in the field.

The vaudeville performers are all here, ready for the first performances, the Morocco troupe having come a long way to get here, via motor from Wisconsin, where they played the State Fair.

A pleasant feature for the ladies and weary mothers is the large rest and emergency tent maintained by the Red Cross Society.

MRS. HARDING TAKES CHANGE FOR THE BETTER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(United Press.)— Mrs. Harding's condition appeared early to-day to have undergone a slight change from yesterday, it was stated at the White House. Whatever change there was, it was added, was in general for the better.

CHEESE UP IN PRICE TODAY

Sold on Local Board at 16 3-16c.—Ten Hundred and Twenty-Four Boarded,

A total of 1,024 cheese were boarded at the Peterborough Cheese Board this morning, when the Canadian Packing Co. bid in selections at 16 3-16c. a lb., T. Thompson, of Belleville, taking the remainder from Villiers and Lang factories—147 boxes at 16 1-8c.

The cheese was in prime condition and bidding was keen from start to finish. The buyers were J. S. Cooke of Belleville, T. Thompson of the same city, Canadian Packing Co., and G. A. Gillespie, of Peterborough.

Gillespie started the bidding at 15c. and closed at 16c.; Cook made but one offer that of 14 3-4c.; Thompson's bids were 15 1-4, 15 3-4 and 16 1-8c. The Canadian Packing Co. started with 15 1-8, with intermittent increases of 15 3-8, 15 5-8, 15 15-16, 16 1-7 and their final bid of 16 13-16c. for selections. Gillespie's bids were 15, 15 1-2, 16 11-16 and 16c. Every cheese boarded was sold.

Factories Who Boarded.

Warminster 60, Selwyn 80, Villiers 105, Warsaw 175, Young's Point 90, Lang 42, North Dummer 55, East Emily 75, Cedardale 62, Norwood 194, South Burleigh 26, Killarney 60, making a total of 1,024 boxes.

The board adjourned for two weeks.

STANDARD LOAD PLATES WITH 1923 LICENSES

Mr. J. P. Bickell, Registrar of Motar Vehicles, department of Public Highways, has advised the local issuer that all commercial vehicles shall have printed or painted on both sides of the body of the vehicle in a clearly visible position, the weight of the load for which the permit was issued, such weight to be stated in tons or fraction thereof and to be preceded by the words 'maximum load', the letters and figures to be not less than one and one-half inches in height, according to the amendment to the Load of Vehicles Act which came into effect the 12th of August 1922.

Mr. Bickell states that the Department has under consideration the distribution of standard load plates with the 1923 permits, but in meantime, Act is in force and owners of commercial vehicles should comply with the provision requiring them to paint this information on their vehicles

UNEMPLOYMENT IN ENGLAND

Percentage of Idle Workers Decreases While Cost of Living Falls.

According to the British Labor Bureau estimate, unemployment in England at the end of July has fallen to the lowest figure since March of 1921. The percentage of trades union membership unemployed was 14.6 comparing with 15.7 in June, with 17 in April with 23.1 in May of 1921, which was the high point of the period, but with only 1.4 in July of 1920.

The same bureau's statement of cost of living in England estimated that cost in August as 81 per cent. above July 1914; in August 1921, the average stood 122 per cent above the 1914 figure, and the high level of the recent period of high prices, that of November, 1920 was 176 per cent. above the pre-war year.

The Big Fair Opened To-day With the Largest Entry List on Record—Opened With a Shower of Rain.

PROSPECTS FOR NEW OBJECTIVE

Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition got away to a fair start at noon to-day, and President Roland Denne and his colleagues who have worked all year to make the Fair a success are confident that a new record in attendance will be set up. The entries are the largest on record and are still pouring in. The directors are proud of every section. Last year there were 39,000 paid admissions, but with four full day's this year it is expected that the 50,000 mark will be easily reached. If the weather is good it should be passed.

As usual, the Fair had to be ushered in under unfavorable weather conditions, but the dark clouds this afternoon did not spoil the enthusiasm of the directors, and the support of the people was full of encouragement. The ticket sellers took their places at noon to-day, and between noon and one o'clock a considerable number of people straggled in. At one, however, the crowds began to arrive. The opening day of the Fair was dedicated to the school children, and the youngsters of the city were admitted free of charge. It was expected that 4,000 children would be on the grounds. As the tickets are being returned the count made to-night will enable the Secretary to know just how many children did attend. The push was so great that policemen were stationed at the gates to keep the children in line, and the happy faces of the boys and girls, scrubbed and polished to an unusual degree, were marked with the expectancy of adventures on the merry-go-round.

The Biggest Yet.

"It's the biggest and best lay-out we have ever had," declared President Denne, Tom Brown and other directors who have been associated with the Fair for many years, and whose efforts are largely responsible for its development to the finest Exhibition between Toronto and Ottawa. In every group this year the showing is more than gratifying. The manufacturers, the merchants, wholesalers and farmers have co-operated fully, and the exhibits would do credit to a larger city.

The main building, the manufacturers, and a large tent have all been needed to hold the splendid expositions prepared by business people. The exhibit of art is far ahead of other years, and W. H. Barry, chairman of that committee, is enthusiastic about an art building that will enable the work to be properly displayed. The stock and poultry exhibits far surpass other Fairs. According to one director, there are over 30 per cent. as many entries, and the problem of those in charge is to stable the increased entries of cattle, horses, sheep and swine. There were 250 entries of cattle up to noon to-day, and this is 100 better than the previous record. The poultry is fifty per cent. thead of 1921, and is described as "the best exhibit outside of Toronto." The flower show measures up to its high standard, and will achieve a new interest to horticulturists.

The Concessions.

The number of concessions is at once noticeable to visitors to the Fair, and the people who have taken out these privileges have shown a commendable confidence in the record the Fair will set up. The hot dog tents and Kewpie doll emporiums extend a long way towards the grand stand, and also swing along with the Midway towards the horse barns. The shows on the Midway have been approved by the Board, and a strict supervision is being maintained. Inspector James Reid, P. C. Harry Young and P. C. John Thompson are mounted, and, with High County Constable A. R. Moore, are keeping order on the grounds. Motor cars were being excluded except by the Park Street entrance. This rule caused some grumbling even from exhibitors, but it was made in the interests of safety and in full recognition of the danger of an accident to-day with several thousand children on the ground.

While the gates were thrown open to-day at noon the official opening will not take place until to-morrow afternoon at 1.30, when the Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, will officiate, following a luncheon at the Empress. In the evening he will address the Kiwanis Club.

Just before the races started this afternoon an aeroplane arrived from Lakefield, where it flew yesterday at the Liberal rally. The machine is painted maroon, and attracted much attention as it flew over the city. The flyer will make exhibition flights and take up passengers, and the presence of the machine is an unexpected and interesting attraction.

MONTREAL NEWSPAPERS PRECIPITATE A STRIKE.

More Money and a Reduction of Working Hours Demanded By the Printers.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Notification has been given by the International Typographical Union that a strike will go into effect on all Montreal daily papers on Friday next. A five-year contract which the union had with the papers expires then, and it is understood that the union had made a demand for an increase in wages amounting to $6 a week, and the reduction in working hours from 48 to 44. These requests the papers have been unwilling to grant owing to the reduction in earning power.

PREMIER KING WAS GIVEN ROUSING WELCOME.

KITCHENER, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Right Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, Premier of Canada, had a great reception from thousands of citizens when he reached the place of his birth here to-day. He was greeted at the station by W. D. Euler, M.P., Mayor Grab and members of the Board of Trade, and the first few hours of his stay were spent in visiting old home scenes. He drove to the little cottage where he was born in December, 1874, and was photographed by the doorway. He afterwards visited the former King residence at "Woodside," St. Jerome's Catholic College, and Waterloo Seminary, where the Premier was tendered a reception and welcome by the Mayor.

At St. Jerome's the Premier impressed on the boys that this was the best period of their lives, and urged them to study hard in order to fit themselves for the struggle of life.

The Premier lunched at noon with Mr. Euler. The celebration at Victoria Park commenced at 2.30 this afternoon, after which a motor parade was held from the City Hall.

VICE-PRESIDENT DOES NOT SHARE OPTIMISM.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press). — Optimism expressed by Hon. James Murdock that negotiations between railways and their shopment would result in a complete understanding is not shared by J. A. McClelland, vice-president of the Machinists.

"I would be very glad indeed if I could feel any of this optimism expressed by the Minister," said Mr. McClelland, "in view of the fact that shopmen have not accepted the award of the majority report of the Board of Conciliation, which provides for the direct negotiations he refers to."

PRICE THREE CENTS — PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1922 — PRICE THREE CENTS

The Proposed Tariff Will Injure Canadian Trade

United States Places a Heavy Duty on Many Goods Imported From Canada.

EMERGENCY TARIFF.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press)—The immediate effect of the proposed United States tariff on Canadian exports to the republic will not be apparent until several weeks after the bill has been signed by President Harding, according to opinions expressed here yesterday by tariff experts. The proposed rates presented yesterday to the United States House differ considerably from the rates established by the Fordney tariff and radically from the United States tariff as it stood in 1913.

The new tariff proposes a rate of 30 cents a bushel on wheat as compared with the rate of 35 cents under the existing Fordney tariff and reciprocal free wheat under the tariff of 1913. On cattle the existing tariff sets up a duty of 30 per cent. ad valorem, while under the proposed schedule the rate will be from one and a half to two cents a pound.

Cattle were free of duty under the United States tariff of 1913. Under the proposed tariff sheep are levied on at the rate of $2 a head while the existing tariff discriminates between sheep under one year and sheep over that age, charging $1 per head in the first instance and $2 in the second. Sheep were also free under the 1913 tariff.

Butter, oleomargine and other butter substitutes will pay higher rates under the new tariff than now charged. The existing tariff levies six cents a pound while the proposed tariff levies eight cents. Milk which now pays two cents a gallon will have to pay 2 1-2 cents. This commodity ent into the U.S. free under the tariff of 1913. A reduction of one half cent per pound is made in condensed milk, which pays two cents as compared with the cent and a half as proposed. One of the largest proportionate increases is registered in the duty on cream which, if the bill passes, will be jumped from five cents a gallon to 20 cents a gallon. Cream was on the free list of 1913 tariff. Cheese, which is now charged at the rate of 23 per cent ad valorem, will be charged five cents a pound. The 1913 tariff placed the duty on this commodity at 20 per cent. ad valorem. Apples will pay 25 cents a bushel as compared with the existing 30 cents, and the ten cents per bushel under the 1913 tariff.

The U.S. emergency tariff act as passed by Congress on May 23, 1921 was signed by the president on May 27, becoming effective on May 28 1921. During the twelve months following Canadian exports to United States, affected by this tariff decreased $130,119,283 in value. During the twelve month period ending May 1921 Canada's exports to United States of commodities, subsequently affected by the emergency tariff, amounted to $172,722,247. In the succeeding twelve months, the first year of the operation of the emergency tariff, export of these commodities dropped in value to $42,602,064.

A reflex of the effect of the Fordney tariff has been the respective relationships of the U.S. and the United Kingdom as customers of Canada. Until recently, the United States has been Canada's best customer. But in this regard she has lately been supplanted by the United Kingdom. During the twelve months ending July the United Kingdom bought from Canada goods to the value of $306,792,308, taking a premier position as a customer of the Dominion. The United States came second taking Canada's exports to the value of $304,054,941. How the relative positions of the two countries has been reversed is shown in comparisons with the corresponding twelve months ending July 1921, the United States bought goods from Canada to the value of $477,347,273 while United Kingdom purchases totalled $297,106,257.

The flexible provisions of the new tariff bill it is pointed out here, introduce a new feature and there is much uncertainty as to how they are likely to affect Canadian trade relations with the United States. Under these provisions, the president, acting on the advice of the tariff commission of the United States, is to be given authority either to increase or lower, within defined limits, the rates quoted in the bill. The idea is that the rates will thus better keep pace with differences in the cost of production in the United States and abroad. But the flexible provisions, it is thought are likely to result in considerable uncertainty as to tariff rates in the United States.

CONFIDENCE VOTE FOR GOVERNMENT OF WM. COSGRAVE

President of Dail Eireann Defends Action Taken in Capture of Four Courts Buildings.

AMENDMENT LOST.

DUBLIN, September 13. Canadian Press. — The Irish Parliament yesterday adopted a resolution expressing confidence in the government. The vote pas 54 to 15. The minority vote was cast by the laborites.

Replying to the critics of the government, William Cosgrave, president of the Dail Eireann, in referring to the decision of the Cabinet to attack the Republicans in the Four Courts building, which they seized some time ago and from which they were ejected by the National troops, said: "If I have ever done a wise thing in my life I bank on that as the wisest I have ever done. I wish that all the events of my life were as well justified as that was."

The vote of confidence in the government was given on a resolution moved by William Sears, approving of the policy of the government. Mr Sears said that it wuld be an appalling tragedy if Ireland had rid herself of the throttling influence of England only to commmit national suicide. He declared that a majority on both sides of the House represented the good sense of the nation, and were determined to do their best for their country.

Professor Whelan of Galway, in an amendment declared the government would respect the rights of the minority, but that the civil authority must be supreme, that the army could not be allowed to dictate to parliament.

Darrell Figgis of Dublin, in another amendment to the Sears resolution, regretted that in view of the economic situation the president of the Dail had failed to outline a constructive programme. He deplored the ministerial announcement that reconstruction and relief of the unemployment situation must await the conclusion of the military operations. Both amendments were voted down.

During the debate Richard Mulcahy, Minister of Defence, enumerated the essentials for peace. These included that Parliament should be allowed to work out the treaty with the best constitution attainable under it; that the sword must not again be thrown into the scale against the government; that the working constitution in accordance with the treaty must be on constitutional lines; that the army must be a people's army, responsible absolutely to the National Government, and that the government must control by its regulations all arms held in the country.

There will be more than one speaker in Congress if all the women candidates win in the next general election.

LIBERAL RALLY HELD IN LAKEFIELD YESTERDAY

G. N. Gordon, Captain John Dewart and W. E. N. Sinclair Were the Speakers For the Occasion.

SPORTS DAY.

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 13.—The big Liberal Rally here yesterday was closed by a series of addresses in the town hall by speakers prominent in the political life of this district. Capt. John Dewart, G. N. Gordon, M.P., and W. E. N. Sinclair, M.P.P. of Oshawa were the speakers for the occasion who one and all reaffirmed their faith in the Liberal government and criticized the administration of the U.F.O. party.

Dr. D. Munro, president of the East Peterboro Liberal Association presided and introduced the speakers. In a short introductory address he spoke of the very successful field day just held and in comparing politics with sports said it was up to the older men to help the younger in every way that lay in their power.

Capt. John Dewart made a brief address in which he thanked the people of Lakefield for their support in the last election and reaffirmed his faith in the King Government. He said that the Liberal sympathies were with the needs of the West in the matter of freight rates revision and the wheat board, and that the reason these matters had not been carried to a succesful conclusion was the lack of co-operation with the western representatives.

He said that class government had failed "as Drury himself admits as he goes about to various picnics' and said that this failure was also largely responsible for the split between the Drury and Morrison factions of the farmer government.

G. N. Gordon also advocated younger men taking part in the active politics of the country and said that if there was ever a time when young and vigorous men were needed in parliament it was the present.

In speaking of the tariff he said it was not for protection but for revenue purposes only, but that it had in some instances afforded protection to industries where protection was not needed and quoted prices both in the United States and Canada on several manufactured articles to the great disadvantage of the Canadian The Canadian Farmer he said is suffering from low prices on account of the United States emergency tariff and will have to look about for a better market for his farm produce.

He attributed the fact that the Canadian dollar had reached par on August 30 to the splendid work of the King Government, whose economy program, he said, had reduced the national debt by five million dollars.

The past program of the Liberal Government was described as one of thrift and a big reduction in expenditure could be noted in the railince, but about 97 per cent. of the way, militia and post office departments.

He said he had no quarrel with the Progressive party but rather had a great deal of sympathy for them and said that this party had been granted practically everything they asked for in the last session.

The problem of unemployment for returned soldier was also discussed and cases cited where ex-soldiers had been almost brought to beggary a condition which was uncalled for in this country.

W. E. N. Sinclair said that the best time to discuss politics was at a time when there were no elections on and said that he believed there would be an election in this Province next year. He outlined briefly the quarrel between the Drury and Morrison factions and said that Drury's broadening out program included the absorption of the Liberal party by the U.F.O.

In an attack on the finance methods of the Drury Government he gave figures to show an enormous increase in expenditure since the Farmer Government came in power. The U.F.O., he said, was increasing both the Provincial and the Dominion debt at an alarming rate, and nothing surprised him more than to hear the same Government preaching an economy platform. He spoke of the surplus announced by the Government and said that the method of acquiring it was to collect succession dues long before they were due.

He said the present method of handling the Provincial highways situation was very poor and not in accordance with the election promises and the platform of 1919, and that the Farmer Government had made no greater effort to advance the cause of agriculture than any previous Government.

Previous to the evening program a big sport and field day was held at the Exhibition Grounds, an account of the results of which will be found on the sports page of this edition.

FAVOUR PEOPLE'S BLOC INSTEAD OF MILLIONAIRES'.

MADISON, Wis., September 13 (Canadian Press). — Wisconsin's woman candidate for Congress, Miss Martha Riley, has issued her platform in brief form. Here it is:

"I am opposed to tax revision for the buccaneers and to Senate seats for the auctioneers.

"I favour a people's bloc in Congress instead of a millionaire's bloc."

Kipling Denies That He Gave Interview

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press.)— Rudyard Kipling has sent the following message to The Times, in response to a query from that paper regarding his utterances as quoted by Clare Sheridan in The New York World:

"I did not give the Clare Sheridan interview and did not say the things I have seen ascribed to me."

WILL INVITE THIS COUNTRY TO JOIN

Movement on Foot to Provide Memorial for Columbus.

WASHINGTON Sept. 12. (By Canadian Press).—Canada is to be asked to join in a movement to provide a suitable memorial and final resting place for Christopher Columbus the men who gave "the new world to the old."

A report which has just been received from William E. Pelliam, receiver general of the Dominion Customs, states that this movement has been launched in Santo Domingo and that all American nations, including the Dominion of Canada, will be requested to participate in the work.

The remains of Columbus were brought to Santo Domingo from Spain in 1540, the report states, adding that it has been the practice lately to open the casket and permit high dignitaries or distinguished visitors to the Island Republic to handle personally bone of the bone fragraments.

The report declares there is a strong feeling that it should be the concern of Pan-Americans, the peoples of the 21 nations occupying the territory of North and South America to provide a suitable memorial and final resting place for Columbus in the Cradle of America, as Santo Domingo is called.

"A popular move it should be, and with its palpably popular appeal —its failure would constitute a reflection upon Pan-America", the report continues. "Poor, unfortunate Santo Domingo cannot do it alone. Though 30 years ago, at the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America, a Junta Macional was duly constituted by Dominican government decree, to erect a monument in the Cathedral. That much was accomplished, but at the time it was clearly understood the arrangement was temporary. While the monument at the Cathedral is ornate, it is in no wise commensurate with the greatness of the man, nor does it constitute a fitting or adequate homage for such a world character."

The report concludes with a statement that the project, abandoned on account of the Great War, contemplates the erection of a massive tomb, its interior modeled after that at Les Invalides, Paris, with its exterior patterned after the lines of Grant's Tomb, inn New York. Super-imposed on the tomb itself, will be a beacon tower about 300 feet in height, in the top of which is to be installed a great light, as an aid to navigation.

TEAL FROM SCUGOG IS SHOT IN TRINIDAD.

Bagged Nine Weeks After Release Over 3,000 Miles Away.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(Associated Press).—How far will a migratory bird travel in its fall and spring flights? The biological survey has determined that they make flights of at least 3,000 miles.

An investigation has been conducted by trapping ducks and other strong winged fowl in northern sections, and marking them with numbered bands. The numbers on the fowl are recorded and from time to time, hunters bagging some of those marked, report where and when the bird was brought down.

More than two hundred such birds were loosed with the bands from Lake Scugog, Ontario, and many reports have been received. So far, the record flight is that of a blue-winged teal, banded September 24, 1920, and killed two months and seven days later in a swamp near Port of Spain, on the Island of Trinidad. The shortest possible flight the bird could have taken to reach this point, which is off the coast of Venezuela, is 3,000 miles.

PREMIER DRURY ON WATERFRONT ISSUE

TORONTO, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Validation of Ontario Government of agreement between city and Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission for waterfront entrance of Hydro radials into the city is dependent upon the City Council reaching an understanding with other public bodies opposing the agreement or an affirmative vote of ratepayers for Toronto. Premier Drury makes this point clear in a letter which he has sent to Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission.

BELGIUM DEMANDS GERMAN PAYMENTS BEFORE NEXT WEEK

September 15 Is the Date Set But Further Negotiations Are Expected Before Delivery of Gold.

100,000,000 MARKS.

PARIS, Sept. 13. — (Canadian Press.)—Formal demand was made on Germany last night by the Belgian Government for the deposit of 100,000,000 gold marks in the National Bank of Brussels, but the demand is so worded as to permit a reply by Germany, and further negotiations. Although September 15 is the date fixed for the delivery of the gold it is highly improbable that a definite decision in the new reparations tangle will be reached before next week. In the meantime the members of the commission are working for the inevitable compromise.

France is firmly behind the Brussels government in demanding strict enforcement of the terms of the recent reparations decision and strong representations from the French premier, M. Poincare, are believed to have been largely responsible for the withdrawal of the Belgian delegation from Berlin and last night's request for gold.

Great Britain favors acceptance of the German proposals for the extension of the six months' moratorium to eighteen months. Under this scheme Germany's with the Reichsbank's guarantee, would pay the 270,000,000 gold marks due this year in three installments, in six, twelve and eighteen months. The compromise terms called for the payment of this amount in six months.

The new Belgian action is regarded more as a diplomatic move than anything else, as the Government favors acceptance of the German proposition in a modified form. With Belgium and Great Britain it is believed that Italy is backing the extension of the time limit. The settlement question is now in the hands of M. Poincare.

Karl Bergmann, the special German envoy, conferred with members of reparations commission yesterday afternoon and made several suggestion but failed to obtain any new concessions. He explained that a six months limit was too short and if Germany were required to pay 270,000,000 gold marks in six months, the mark would collapse. He informed the delegates that an 18-months' period would enable Germany to purchase the necessary foreign money to meet the payments, without further injuring the mark.

Much emphasis is placed by reparations circles on the effect the Stinnes-Lubersac agreement will probably have on M. Poincare's decision. Final failure of the commission to carry out the terms of the recent compromise, it is believed by many observers, would be followed by French occupation of the Ruhr. This would mean the breaking up of the Stinnes-Lubersac accord which is generally regarded in France as the first real sign of Germany's willingness to pay for the devastation of the war.

In view of this it is thought that Premier Poincare would hesitate a long time before sacrificing these concrete reparation deliveries. Therefore it was declared last evening by a prominent member of the Reparations Commission that "common sense" would probably once more step in and save the situation.

CANADIAN VETERAN SUES FOR PENSION.

American Red Cross and Its Treasurer at Boston Defendants in an Action For Damages.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press)—The pitiful story of a totally disabled Canadian veteran deprived of his monthly pension and forced to hawk articles from dor to door was related today in a suit brought aginst the American Red Cross.

The suit, filed in Municipal Court by Col. Percy A Guthrie who organized and led overseas the Boston Battalion of McLean Highlanders, is for $461.66.

It was brought in the name of Wm. Breen Kane of No. 3 Waterford street, Boston, former member of the McLean Highlanders against the American Red Cross of No. 73 Newburg street and Mrs. Catherine Gorman, treasurer.

According to the papers in the suit Mrs. Gorman acting as agent for the Canadian Government has received $511 of Kane's pension money since January 1st and has paid him only $50.

FORTY-EIGHT HOURS MORE FOR PRISONERS IN ENTOMBED MINE

JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press.)— "Forty-eight hours more and miners will be released," was the cry in Jackson last night when word was received that the last barrier to the Argonaut mine will be broken through late to-morrow night.

30 Women and Children Death Toll of the Sea

W. H. Judd of Gravesend Took Prominent Part in Rescue of Passengers of the Hammonia.

CAUSE UNKNOWN.

GIBRALTAR, September 13 (Canadian Press). — Thirty women and children, drowned when two small boats capsized, are believed here to represent the total loss of life among the passengers of the ill-fated Hammonia, which sank on Saturday off Vigo, Spain.

The steamship Soldier Prince, which carries some of the survivors of the disaster, reported yesterday that the two boats carrying the thirty women and children and manned by crews from the Hammonia, turned over immediately after leaving the sinking vessel.

All were lost. These are believed to be the only casualties.

More than 300 passengers slid feet first into the sea when the ill-fated steamer reached a 70 per cent. list. This was just half an hour before it took its fatal plunge.

The passengers and crew, who had been waiting since noon for the heavy seas to abate so as to give them the chance to take to the boats, found themselves at this critical moment a wild scrambling heap of humanity, struggling amongst the violent waves, amid pieces of wreckage, boat gear, and deck equipment.

"It was like skidding into eternity," declared Baroness Krumfelder, a merry little passenger, but whose gaiety was darkened since the wreck, especially after she was notified that her husband had not yet reached here. She was comforted, however, when she later learned that he was aboard another vessel which had reached Vigo.

After the listing movement of the vessel, the struggling multitude in the water kept afloat about the ship and its boats until they were picked up by the life craft of the Kinfauns Castle.

A British Hero.

The hero of this scene was W. H. Judd, of Gravesend, England, the only Englishman aboard, who was returning to Mexico. He threw off his outer garments and leaped into the waves, and immediately proceeded to pick up those who were sinking. He personally saved seven women and children, and helped the German officers to enforce the rule of women and children first. He did not leave the scene of the disaster until the German captain and his faithful nineteen volunteers, who stayed behind in a desperate effort to keep the ship aboat by manning the pumps, departed.

Many of those rescued declared that a great outcry arose when the bedraggled passengers finally reached the decks of the Kinfauns Castle.

BAKER'S COCOA

is a most satisfying drink.

Delicious flavor and aroma, beautifully attractive color, purity high quality;—the distinguishing characteristics of high-grade cocoa,—"Baker's."

The heads of the naval and military medical departments in England have been so impressed with the wholesomeness and superior nutriment of cocoa, that they have judiciously directed that it shall be served out twice or thrice a week to regiments of the line, and daily to the seamen on board H. M. ships. Medical men unquestionably admit that cocoa is nutritious.

ROYAL QUALITY SERVICE

The Electric Suction Cleaner that gets both kinds of dirt

How Royal Suction gets all the Dirt

Note the large amount of dirt in bottom of jar. This is the embedded dirt —full of sharp grit that cuts and ruins rugs. It sinks because heavier, the surface litter floats. (From an actual photograph.)

THERE are two kinds of dirt in your rugs,—the powdery dust and litter on the surface, and the gritty, germ-laden dirt embedded in the pile.

The laboratory jar-of-water test, illustrated at left, shows clearly how the Royal removes both kinds of dirt in the only way it can be thoroughly removed,—with powerful suction scientifically applied. For the Royal cleans by air alone! It has no brushes, belts or gears to get out of order or slow up its strong, cleansing air-stream.

Its extra-wide, 14-inch nozzle is specially shaped to go under furniture and into corners readily, and may be quickly adjusted to any floor-surface by means of the patented Royal adjustment screw. Its light weight (barely 11 pounds), large rubberoid wheels, and positive oiling system make it exceptionally easy-running. The Royal is built to give years and years of service. And, because it cleans by air alone, it can never injure even the finest rugs or fabrics.

If you want a cleaner that will clean thoroughly and clean everything, let us give you a free Royal demonstration in your own home. Judge for yourself the merit of the Royal. Ask to-day for this demonstration and the terms of our partial-payment plan.

The Royal Attachments are simply and easily connected. They clean hangings, upholstered furniture, mattresses, pillows, etc., as thoroughly as the Royal itself cleans rugs and hardwood floors. You need them if you wish to get maximum service from your machine.

ARMISTICE DAY.

Are Canadians sacrificing sentiment for expediency in the matter of public holidays?

The question is suggested by the recent annual meeting of the Canadian Clubs, in which various speakers deprecated the celebration of Armistice Day on Thanksgiving Day.

They thought that Armistice Day was a sufficiently important anniversary to stand by itself, and a good many people will agree with them.

The end of the world war was surely an event of sufficient historic interest to be commemorated each year.

The wild rejoicing of November 11, 1918, should not give way to indifference and forgetfulness in 1922.

The anniversary should be set apart as a day of grateful remembrance, not merely as a holiday. And the actual date, November 11th, should be celebrated, not the nearest Monday simply because the selection of Monday provides a good week-end holiday.

If Armistisce Day means anything to Canadians—and it should mean much—by all means let it be observed in a manner befitting the occasion it commemorates, not just as an excuse for a day off from work.

NO NEGLECT HERE.

The importance of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition is emphasized by the fact that the Federal Minister of Agriculture, the Hon. W. R. Motherwell, has consented to formally declare the Exhibition open to-morrow.

The Minister will doubtless be impressed by the remarkable showing in live stock and agricultural products.

Objections have been made that Fall Fairs, especially in the larger centres, have been growing away from the old idea of agricultural shows, that the agricultural end has been lost sight of, and that the modern exhibition is little more than a combination of a circus, a carnival show and a race meet.

This is certainly not true of the Peterborough Industrial. While the amusement features have been increased year by year, there has been no neglect of the exhibits. The prize money offered has grown by leaps and bounds, and each Exhibition sees a larger entry list than its predecessor. The present Exhibition shows a thirty per cent. increase in this respect.

As fine a showing of live stock and agricultural products as one would care to look at is being made this year.

THE REAL SUFFERERS.

A municipal fuel policy that does not provide for a reserve supply of fuel for those who, because of their financial circumstances, are compelled to buy in small quantities, will fail to meet the situation.

The chief sufferers from a fuel famine are the families who are in this category.

The man with sufficient means can at least secure enough wood or soft coal to meet the emergency.

But his unfortunate fellow-citizen who has been accustomed to buy his fuel in half or quarter ton lots, and who would find it almost impossible to pay out $18 or $20 at one time for coal, will be facing a critical situation when winter comes.

The municipal fuel committee should not lose sight of that fact.

They should take care to see that enough fuel is kept in reserve to protect the small householder with limited means.

Their primary object should not be to endeavor to dispose of what fuel they secure as soon as possible to the citizens in comfortable circumstances. Such citizens can protect themselves.

The poorer families whose buying power is small should be the chief concern of the Fuel Committee.

If they are not provided for there is bound to be distress and suffering as soon as cold weather sets in.

GOOD INTEREST AND SECURITY.

A liberal rate of interest with absolute security is the attractive offer made by the Minister of Finance to holders of the Canadian Government loan bonds maturing December 1, 1922. The offer is not made to investors generally, but only to the holders of the bonds soon to mature. The bonds to be retired, bearing interest at five and one-half per cent., will be exchanged for new bonds bearing the same rate of interest.

"Safety first" is a good maxim in most things, but particularly so in relation to the investment of money. The rich may afford to speculate and to take the risks attendant on high rates of interest. Those whose means are moderate must be careful to see that there is absolute security in their investments. For such people there is no other form of investment which takes such a high rank, combining absolute security with liberal interest, as the bonds of the Dominion of Canada. Holders of Dominion bonds bearing five and a half per cent., maturing December 1, 1922, can reinvest their money at the same rate of interest by exchanging the old bonds for new ones running for either five years or ten years, as the bondholder may prefer.

Many a holder of the Canadian Government bonds maturing December 1, 1922, has been asking this question: "What shall I do with the money?" The advertisement of the Minister of Finance supplies an answer. The investor, by giving notice to the manager of any one of the branches of a chartered bank, can arrange to get new bonds bearing the same rate of interest, the highest possible security and a liberal rate of interest.

O CANADA.

The Canadian Clubs, at their annual meeting, have decided upon a standard version of "O Canada."

The announcement will be cheered by every one who has heard a Canadian audience endeavoring to sing this national song.

There are said to be seven or eight versions of "O Canada."

All of them are used at once whenever the song is tackled by a crowd.

And usually there are many people who do not know any complete set of words.

The result is confusion, worst confounded.

The Canadian Clubs have done a good service in selecting a standard version and it is to be hoped that they will succeed in having it adopted by the Canadian people. It is well to have a national song that is known at least to the majority; hitherto that cannot be said of "O Canada."

Incidentally it should be understood that there is no attempt being made to declare "O Canada" as the national anthem of Canada. As Britishers, Canadians have their national anthem in "Good Save the King."

"O Canada" is a national song, one that every Canadian should know and love, just as the Scotch and the Welsh have their own favorite airs, while "God Save the King" is anthem enough for us all.

RIGHTS BUT NO PRIVILEGES.

Some day the labor leader will get his "rights," and the result may well surprise him. Hitherto he has confused the rights any citizen enjoys, or should enjoy, with privileges accorded to his class by legislation like the Clayton Act, the Adamson law, or the Transportation Act of 1920, or by a custom growing out of the cowardice of politicians.

In what makes an admirable editorial, consisting of one brief sentence, F. F. V., "columnist" of the New York Tribune, puts the matter succinctly:

"If the union leader doesn't stop squawking about his constitutional rights somebody is going to come along sooner or later with sufficient courage to give them to him."

By the injunction obtained in the Federal Court at Chicago the labor leaders were startled into the realization of how far, by virtue of real and assumed privilege, they had departed from equality under the law. Without discussing the merits of that injunction, or even suggesting that the courts had granted the Attorney-General more han he needed, the lesson should be plain to Mr. Gompers, Mr. Jewell of the striking shopmen, and to the more conservative leaders of the railroad brotherhoods. They have acquired the idea that it is possible in this country to be something more than an American citizen. Such a condition is purely artificial. It is bound to break down when the rest of the citizenship takes time off to show the claimant of privilege exactly where he stands.

At the bottom of the shopmen's strike is a vicious national condition governing their work, which the strike itself may cure. President Alfred of the Pere Marquette Railroad points out what happens when a locomotive has been sent to the shop for repairs because of a broken stay bolt. Up to the time of the McAdoo administration of the railroads this was a matter which could be put right by a boilermaker and his helper, and in much less time than such a replacement takes now. Here are the stages of the operation as laid down by the various shop crafts:

1. The cab carpenter and his helper remove the running board.
2. The sheet metal worker and his helper take off the jacket.
3. The pipemen remove the pipe.
4. The machinist and helper remove the running board bracket.
5. The ox-welder and helper burn out the stay bolt.
6. The boilermaker and helper take out the stay bolt.
7. The boilermaker and helper put in the stay bolt.
8. The running board bracket is replaced by machinist and helper.
9. The running board is fastened on by a cab carpenter and helper.
10. The jacket is replaced by a sheet metal worker and helper.
11. The pipe work is replaced by a pipefitter and helper.

Twelve men to do the work of two! This is merely one instance of many. Not only is needless work created in this utterly wasteful way, but the shop foremen are continually at a loss lest they offend some particular union in the allotment of work. They never know when a dispute between two of the unions will arise. There is no "right" here involved, but a grievous wrong. If the shopmen think this sort of thing constitutes a "right," moral or legal, they will not find an intelligent man in the United States outside the shops, and unprejudiced by similar privilege, to agree with them.

It was pointed out in these columns a few days ago that with a much reduced shop force some railroads are actually turning out more work than they were before the strike. It means that national conditions of the McAdoo kind have been scrapped and that common sense is eliminating lost motion. In other words, the labor leader is in a fair way to get his "rights" and he doesn't like it.—Wall St. Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Exhibition is open. Do your part in helping to swell the attendance.

Celebrations over the defeat of the Greeks are properly described as Turkish delight.

Detroit is covered with signs marked "A. B. C." The initials mean "Always Be Careful," and the slogan might well be adopted universally in view of the increased motor traffic.

Fire prevention week is coming shortly. The need of such a campaign of education was never more apparent. Canada's annual fire loss is enough to make Canadians blush.

If there is anything that Canada does not want at the present time, it is a railway strike. With a big crop to move and coal supplies to be built up, nothing must be allowed to interfere with the efficiency of our transportation system.

The care of destitute returned soldiers should be a Federal duty. Ordinary unemployment cases can be looked after by the municipalities with Provincial and Federal assistance.

Greece must regret that it drove Venizelos out of power. The present debacle might have been avoided if he had been at the head of the Government.

WOMAN AGAINST WOMAN

Violet screamed. Her only hope was to call the detective to her assistance before Vera could cast the knife. Into Vera's face came an expression of amusement which ye failed to cover the hate beneath.

"Yell your head off," she exlaimed, unconcerned.

From below came a strange momentary scuffling sound, as of a struggle cut short. An instant later it was followed by the frightened exclamation of a man. A cry died in his throat, a single gurgle. Another brief rustling indicated a conflict of some sort. In less than a minute some heavy object dropped, with a faint thud; then silence reigned.

Again Violet screamed.

Vera poised the knife in her hand once more. "Stop it," she muttered. "Try to die like a—like an amazon."

Suddenly there flashed into Violet's mind all the terrors she had suffered at the hands of these mysterious enemies. Clear and sharp there appeared to her the tortured feet of her guardian, which she had seen in spite of the protests of Dupont. And she remembered the hardships her father had suffered, and her own recent new-born determination to carry out his wishes at whatever cost, so as to prevent the fruits of his suffering going to any but those to whom he had wished them to go.

Probably she would meet her death in the space of the throw of a knife. Yet with the lightning speed of thought she lost her fear of Vera Collins. She reached up by her head swiftly. With strength she had never possessed she drew the blade pinning her to the wall, grasping it in her hand. As Vera threw the other she dodged as confidently and easily as though no danger beset her. Then, knife in hand, she advanced upon her enemy.

For a moment Vera gazed at her helplessly, in sheer amazement at the change in the girl. Violet, transformed into a veritable amazon, raised her weapon to strike. Just in time, Vera woke to action, disarming her by a trick, an abrupt blow at the wrist. Infuriated, Violet attacked with bare hands. Together they fell to the floor. Vera, perhaps for the first time in her career, felt a lack of confidence in herself. Violet, filled with her sense of outrage, was more than a match for the other woman's strength. Both descended to the primitive in their struggle, biting, tearing, kicking, scratching, rolling back and forth, pulling the clothes from each other, getting their hair entangled, snarling and grunting like animals. For four or five minutes the conflict continued. All at once, Violet got both hands about the head and body of Vera. With all her might she raised her enemy some eight inches off the floor. Gasping, she plunged her against the marble base of one of Mesma's impossible ornaments.

Vera lay still. Violet, sobbing under the strain now, rushed about the quarters and found Mesma trussed up beneath the bed of her little sleeping chamber. Releasing her, she hurried to the telephone. This she found was dead, the wires cut.

"I'll—I'll go for the police" she gasped, to the medium.

Downstairs, feeling her way hysterically through the gloom, she stumbled over the form of a man. Stooping, she recognized him in the dim reflected glow from above. It was the detective, dead. On his throat were the indentations of the fingers which had throttled him.

In horror she rose. Suddenly all the strength which had come to her slipped away. Her muscles softened, her limbs started to collapse beneath her. Even her great sense of purpose weakened. At that moment strong arms seized her and she felt herself drawn against the rough ill-smelling coat of a man who seemed hugely powerful to her now.

"That'll do for you" he exclaimed. Then he raised his voice. "Hey, Vera" From upstairs came a shrill scream. Mesma Perhaps a minute later Violet heard steps, rather unsteady, on the stairs. She felt, intuitively, the slinking approach of her enemy. She knew the soft tones of the whisper addressed to her captor.

"Have you got her, Strangler?"

XXV.

Under Cover of Revelry

Dupont dropped off the street car at the first drug store, rushing to the telephone. Aunt Julia answered, explaining that Violet had gone to see Mesma without him and that she had not returned. To reassure the old lady he invented some quick explanation, ringing off and calling Mesma's number immediately. After several various unsatisfactory reports from the busy operator he obtained the exchange manager, learning that the phone was out of order.

His worst fears might be confirmed. He could not tell what had happened. To be safe, he phoned the detective agency, directing that two men be sent to Mesma's place; that as many men as could be spared at once be dispatched to meet him at the Portola, a resort of which he had not heard before, but one familiar to the manager at the agency.

Excellent Results In Cobourg With the Pease "Economy" FURNACE

Last December Mr. W. G. Scopis of Cobourg had a 28,000 cubic foot Pease Economy Furnace installed in his store. After giving the outfit a fair trial he made the following report.

"We are pleased to say that the Pease Economy Furnace installed in our store is giving excellent satisfaction. It produces ample heat, and this is done with much less coal than we used in the old furnace. We recommend the Pease Economy."

And many other similar reports all prove that this heating appliance has exceptional merit. May we send our twenty-page booklet, giving full information. Telephone for it

A CORN ROAST FOR HIGH SCHOOL SCHOLARS, OMEMEE

Jolly Time Spent By Large Gathering — Interesting Meeting W. M. S.—Personal News.

OMEMEE, September 13. — The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church was held on Thursady afternoon in the Sunday school room. A very interesting programme was arranged and much enjoyed by the large number present, many of whom answered the Watch Tower. Mrs. D. R. Clare of Marmora, read the leaflet, "The Larger Self," and another leaflet entitled "A Personally Conducted Trip through Canton in China," was given by Mrs. Percy MaGahey, both of these were very much appreciated. A social half hour was spent at the close, Mrs. Bradburn and Mrs. C. Larkin being the hostesses.

Jolly Corn Roast.

Probably the last and most enjoyable corn roast of the season was held on Thursday evening last, in Stephenson's field, by the high school scholars. There was a large gathering and a jolly good time for all. The happy party broke up a little after 11 o'clock, after they had sung many popular songs and given the high school yell.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville Earle have moved into their new home, at the rear of the store, and Mr. and Mrs. Leighton are living in the residence formerly occupied by them on King street.

Mr. Fred Boaden left last week to resume his duties as school teacher in Fenelon Falls.

Rev. W. J. Smyth of Seabright, and her sister, Miss Jennie Smyth of Oakwood, visited friends here on Saturday. Mr. Smyth took charge of the services at Manilla on Sunday.

The many friends of Miss Ida Morton will be pleased to learn that she is recovering after a severe attack of pleurisy and pneumonia.

News of the arrival of a baby girl (Helen) at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Magee, Gull Lake, Sask., has reached town.

Robert Grandy, Percy Parsons, C. Larkins and Walter Stinson, motored to Lindsay on Friady evening.

Distressing Accident.

The many friends of Mrs. Dr. Thompson of Tweed, formerly Miss Annie McCaffrey, and daughter of Mr. Charles McCaffrey of town, will regret to hear of her sad accident last week. Mrs. Thompson has been in poor health for a long time and the family have been shut in with scarlet fever recently, and the fall which she received last week, almost dislocating her neck, is regretted by her many friends in Omemee. Mrs. Charles McCaffrey left on Monady to visit her.

THE CAMPBELLFORD LACROSSE FANS TAKE IN TODAY'S GAME

See To-Morrow's Examiner For a Complete Report of the Game—Campbellford News of Interest—Bowling News.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 13. — A number of lacrosse enthusiasts left for Bradford, some by rail and some by motor on Tuesday, to be ready for the big game on Wednesday. See tomorrow's Examiner for a complete report of the game by a staff reporter.

Monday's showers were welcomed by the farmers in this section as the pasture fields were fairly drying up and a lot of time being wasted drawing water for the cisterns.

While tearing up the old raceway in front of the Weston Shoe Company, workmen found a number of silver coins which had evidently been there many years, one quarter bearing the date of 1882.

Pat Kelly—Goal.
Heagle—Inside Home.
Harte—Outside Home.
Nesbitt—First Home.
Paul Thomas—Second Home.
Jacobs—Centre
Gannon—First Defence.
Holmes—Second Defence.
Tom Thomas—Point.
Montgomery—Cover-point.
Spares — Garrison, Copperwaithe and Aikers.
Dick Cole, manager, Claude Hankinson, secretary.

With the Lawn Bowlers.

Warkworth 20, Campbellford 18.

On Friday evening, Sept. 8th, the Warkworth teams played Campbellford. The line-up was as follows:

Warkworth	Campbellford
Skip, Thompson	Skip, Glover
Vice, Frurer	Vice, Wiggins
2nd Dr., Armstrong	2nd, Carnahan
Led, Condon	Lead, Gillespie
21	17
Skip, Dr. Allan	Skip, A. J. Meyers
Vice, Baker	Vice, Harris
2nd, Small	2nd, Tait
Led, Nelson	Lead, Archer
20	18

The prizes in connection with the tournament 14-15 September, are on display in Glover's window, Front street. Rinks expected from Kingston, Belleville, Deseronto, Cobourg, Port Hope, Napanee, Peterborough, Whitby and Oshawa. The green is keen, fast and true.

Gives Address.

On Tuesday evening, Rev. Malcolm Orchard, M.A., B.D., who has spent several years in India, and who is in charge of the foreign mission work of the Canadian Baptist church in India and in Bolivia, gave an instructive and interesting address in the Baptist church on the work of foreign missions. Mr. Orchard chose as his text, Psalm 2, Verse 8, 'Ask of Me and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession,' laying stress on the certainty of this great promise. Beginning with Bolivia, the central part of which is in charge of the Baptist missions, including a population of 500,000 souls, with at present only three missionaries, with one more about to leave. Ten missionaries at least are required there. In India, the part alloted to the Baptist church is that part of India on the east coast, about 400 miles long and 40 miles wide, embracing Calcutta. This district boasts 5,000,000 people, mostly Hindu. These people, asserted the speaker, who belong to the great arrian race as we do, given an opportunity, are equally as clever, and as persevering. The caste system is one of the difficulties confronting missionaries, there being over 2,300 castes. In India, too, there is great need for workers and funds to support native workers, $4 or $5 being sufficient to support a native worker a month. Mr. Orchard expressed the hope that missionaries would be forthcoming for this great work. Rev Mr. Orchard is a forceful speaker, who speaks from first hand knowledge, and with an enthusiasm well worth our emulation, and those who heard him came away with greater sense of responsibility and interest in foreign missioss.

The new valves for the automatic electric gates at the cement bridge arrived by G.T.R. Tuesday morning and a large gang of men are busily engaged installing same.

Getting Better.

Dr. H. S. Hutchison, of Toronto, who was in consultation with Drs. E. J. and Fred Free during Mr. Wm. Smith's illness, reports Mr. Smith's condition more favorable on Tuesday.

From South Carolina.

Mr. Andrew Peeling has received a box from his son, Mr. Charles Peeling of South Caroline, containing a large branch of a fig tree, bearing its fruit. This fruit was plucked from Mr. Peeling's own garden, and is an excellent specimen of fruit.

Sacred Cantata.

The Methodist church, under the efficient supervision of R. T. Cowell, A.R.C.O., is preparing the sacred cantata, "Rolling Seasons," by Charles Sinnper. Mr. Cowell is anxious that all members meet for practise this week and each week, so that the cantata may be rendered in the near future.

Personal Mention.

Miss Frances E. Smith, formerly connected with Public school staff, Campbellford, is now a permanent teacher with the Chicago Public schools. Miss Smith made many friends during her stay in Campbellford.

Mr. and Mrs. Don W. Douglas, with Eric and Paul, returned home on Saturday after a very pleasant motor trip spent with friends and relatives in Toronto.

Mr. H. O. Walker, of Toronto, son of Rev. Mr. Walker, who was rector of Christ Church here some years ago, was a visitor in town on Tuesday.

ONTARIO MOTHER HELPS DAUGHTER

Mothers—watch your daughter's health. From the time she reaches the age of twelve until womanhood is established she needs your care and advice. Many women have suffered years of ill-health through lack of such care during this time.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for girls and women. For nearly fifty years it has been helping mothers and daughters. Let it help you and your daughter.

Hamilton, Ontario.—"When my daughter was thirteen and until she was fifteen she suffered every month so that she could hardly move around the house and when she would have the pains in school she would have to be carried home. Besides the pains and the irregularity she also had headache, dizzy and faint spells, and soreness in her back. I saw your advertisement in the 'Hamilton Spectator' and got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for her. She does not have the least bit of trouble now, and we both recommend your medicine. She works in a candy-shop now and seems well and strong."—Mrs. I. P. CLAUSE, 76 Walnut St., South, Hamilton, Ontario.

30 WOMEN AND CHILDREN

It was said by some that the first-class passengers, besides saving their their live, had also carried with them their lives, had also carried with them The second and third class passengers lost all their belongings.

Dr. Paul Kleefeld, a German subject, returning to Mexico on business, was especially bitter against the accused first-class passengers.

Dr. Kleefeld led an angry crowd, who hurled epithets at the first cabin passengers, and called them war profiteers, and charged that they had been warned in advance by the ship's officers that the ship would be deserted. This gave them time to collect their valuables and slip off with life preservers to safer craft, the second and third class passengers contended.

It was only by the threat of force that Captain Day prevented a group of despairing widows, who had lost their husbands in the raging seas, from casting the "profiteers" into the maddened, raging ocean.

Captain Hoefer sent out a signal that he was leaving his ship when it began to settle under the waves and his bridge was awash. He and his nineteen passengers pulled away in the last boat with but the margin of a minute before the huge vessel quivered from stem to stern and then went down, stern first, with the roar of explosions heard high above the storm.

He and his gallant men reached the Kinfauns Castle in safety.

The passengers who were rescued by the Kinfauns Castle were loud in their praise of their treatment.

Captain Day received and sent out hundreds of wireless messages to friends and relatives of the passengers concerning their safety.

The death-list is still unknown, due to the loss of the liner's papers. It is believed that there is no exact list at Vigo or any of the other ports at which passengers embarked.

The second and third class passengers are being temporarily cared for at the Passenger Rest House of the Union-Castle Mail Steamship Company.

Messages were received from the Hamburg-American Line offering the payment of lodgings and passage on another shipfifteen days hence, on another ship fifteen days hence, with the alternative of a cash payment of £20 to buy a new passage. The first-class passengers were offered an immediate passage to Hamburg to take the next outgoing ship.

The cause of the sinking of the Hammonia is still the subject of much discussion. Some aboard declared yesterday that it was due to the springing of some of the exterior plates. Others said that some of the doors of the coal bunkers were left open.

COMMUNITY HALL CAVAN TOWNSHIP

Men Are at Work on the Building—Farm Properties Change Hands — Cavan News.

CAVAN, Sept. 13.—The farmers are pleased over the nice rain on Monday and find the ploughing much improved, although another day's rain would be much appreciated.

The Masons are working at the basement of Cavan community hall. The men of the vicinity have been drawing gravel, stones, etc., to help the work along.

School Fair.

The rural school fair for North Cavan will be held at Ida September 28th. Pupils and teachers are preparing for this event, which is of much interest to the children and their parents.

Thos. Madill, Fraserville, has purchased the farm owned by Archie Kennedy and on which Mr. Kennedy lived before he bought the farm of James Kennedy.

Mr. Albert Tinney is able to sit up for a short time each day.

Farms Sold.

The farm which Mr. Dave White, Manvers, has purchased has been rented for a great number of years. It was owned by the late Rev. Robert Johnson and left by him to his wife during her life after which it is to revert to descendants of the Johnson family.

Mr. Bert Perrin has lived on it for twelve or fourteen years and before that Mr. John Clarke, who now lives in Regina, lived on it for thirty years.

The Cavan farmers who are shipping milk at ninety cents a can feel that they are getting very little for their milk and nothing for their time and labour.

Things will soon need to be readjusted or the farmers will be out of business altogether. Tax day is coming and other payments coming due and very little coming in to pay with.

The Misses Howden of Peterborough visited their brother here last week.

Chas. Johnson came down from Toronto last week to see his father, who is seriously ill.

Wild Raspberries.

The wild raspberries are bearing their second crop, a few being picked this week.

Mrs. George Howden has returned home from Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Howden have returned to their home in Detroit after a week's visit with the formers sister, Mrs. Byers.

Amongst those from around here who attended the Exhibition were Mrs. Harold Bigelow, Miss Hunter, Jas. Paul, Fred Hunter, L. McNeil, G. Hooton and Matthew McIndoo.

Miss Myrtle Swain, who is teaching school near Port Hope, spent the week end with her parents here.

SULPHUR CLEARS A PIMPLY SKIN

Aply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out.

Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist.

Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur and use it like cold cream.

OFFICIALS UNDER THEIR MANDATE TAKE OFFICE.

JERUSALEM, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Lord Allenby, British High Commissioner for Egypt; Sir Herbert Samuel, Palestine High Commissioner, and Emir Abdullah, ruler of Transjordinia, took their oaths of office in an imposing ceremony yesterday held in connection with the proclaiming of the British mandate in Palestine. Sir Herbert Samuel declared that there was now hope for a revival of the religious fervor of the Jew, Arab and Christian. When that was accomplished the British would give up the trust that had been placed in their hands.

First-Aid Class.

All the members of the first-aid class that was held here last spring, who sat for their examination in July, were successful in satisfying the examiner of their proficiency in the principles of "first aid to the injured," and the certificates of the St. John Ambulance Association have been received by Rev. C. Spence for distribution. The successful candidates are: Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Spence, Mrs. J. Downing, Mrs. W. Staples, Mrs. F. McFadden, Misses Ruby Windsor, Marjorie Spence, Lulu Knox, Grace Carr, Alma Jones, Rev. C. Spence, Messrs. Arch. Downing, W. Parkes, Malcolm Tucker, Tom Lean.

An effort will be made this fall to continue the class, and the success attained by the students should be an incentive to increased interest in this valuable organization.

BONUS BILL IN AMERICAN SENATE

References to Treatment of Canadian Soldiers Used as a Comparison.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—(Canadian Press—In the course of recent discussion of the soldiers' bonus bill in the Senate, there have been a number of references to the treatment of the Canadian great war veterans by the Canadian Government and it has been pointed out that the government of the Dominion has been more generous than the government of the United States.

Senator Ransdell of Louisana, declared the course of the U.S. Government "shameful" and pointed out that Canada, Austria and Great Britain, as well as France and Belgium, had done more for their veterans than had the U.S. He put Canada at the head of the list in liberality to the former service men. Senator Ransdell said:

"The shameful conduct of this government toward its soldiers since the end of the war stands out in

"Other smaller nations with much less wealth have long since adjusted the compensation of their ex-service men. Canada, with a national wealth estimated at $11.119.-953,000 and an indebtedness of 70 compensation to soldiers since the bold contrast when compared with the treatment of other soldiers at the hands of their countries.

war averaging $540 each. France with a wealth of $158,398,000,000 and an indebtedness of more than 94 per cent thereof has paid an average of $95.25 each. Great Britain, with a national wealth of $70564,250,000 and an indebtedness of more than 52 per cent of her wealth has paid an adjusted compensation which averaged $105.50 each. Belguim, with a wealth of $14,307,510,000 and indebtedness of 26 per cent other wealth, has paid an average of $287 each; and Australia, with a wealth of $7,445,745.000 and an indebtness of 25 per cent thereof, has paid an average of $409.50 as adjusted compensation to its ex-service men. Yet this great nation, with an estimated wealth of $204,393,000,000 and an indebtness of only 11.7 per cent has thus far paid a bonus of only $60 each.

"Under the terms of the pending bill the compensation to a soldier could not exceed $625 in the case of overseas service, and $580 in the case of home service. I am unable to ascertain what the average compensation would be, but a fair assumption is that it would be not to exceed $400 each, or less than the mount paid either by Australia or Canada. In other words, our mighty Republic with a national wealth nearly twenty times as great as Canada and a debt of only 11.7 per cent as compared with Canada's debt of 20 per cent would, in the event this bill is passed, pay to the men a sum smaller by at least $140 per capita than Canada paid to its soldiers in the way of adjusted compensation. Is not that a humiliating position for the United States to occupy?"

Make your Tires Prove their mileage

Your tires represent a considerable investment. Even on the 30 x 3½ size, four tires run from $48 to $74; while on 35 x 5's, you are riding on $200 worth of tires.

What are tires costing you? What is your mileage per dollar? Do you know?

You probably keep a repair book—a gasoline book—and can tell to the cent just what these items amount to, per mile.

Why not do the same with tires?

Check them up on performance and find out what each tire gives you in service for your money.

Experienced motorists who have done this for years say

LAFOLLETTE HAD RECORD MAJORITY

West Supported the Wisconsin Senator in Primary Contests.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press)—The fact that Senator Robert M. La Follette has been renominated for the senatorship in Wisconsin by a record-breaking majority for primary contests in his state is commanding more than passing notice in Washington.

As interpreted here the great victory of Senator La Follette, though there were a number of factors in it its due primarily to the same causes which have resulted in a number of states in the defeat of the republican Old Guard. The La Follette victory is not at all to the liking of the Harding administration, though it does not appear there was any strict drawing of administration and anti-administration lines in the voting.

Some effort is made to interpret the La Follette victory as due to the fact the wets supported him. Some attribute it to the fact he was not friendly to the war policy and had the support of the German-Americans in the state to a large extent. Neither of these ting, however, afford the real explanation of the triumph of a La Follette and the fact his whole ticket in the state was victorious.

Senator La Follette in season and out has fought against high railroad rates under existing Cummins-Esch transportation act. He has fought the high rates of the new tariff measure, now about to be enacted. He has fought ship subsidy, which the farmers of the U.S. do not want to be compelled to pay for. He has fought against extravagance of campaign expenditures, which is now described by the Newberryism.

In other word, Senator La Follette has taken a position which is squarely opposed to the position of the Old Guard republican leaders in Congress, in the executive departments, and elsewhere. He has taken substantially the same position as Col. Brookhart, who some weeks won a big victory in getting the senatorial nomination in Iowa; about the same position as R. B. Howell, who won the nomination for senator on the Republican ticket in Nebraska; much the same position, too, as Beveridge of Indiana who defeated Senator Harry S. New for the senatorial nomination.

What has really happened, in other words, is that another enormous vote has been rolled up by the progressive elements in the republican party as against the Old Guards elements. In La Follette's case, the large progressive vote was reenforced by other elements, but the lesson for the Iowa, Nebraska, Indiana, North Dakota and a number of other states. It is not to be overlooked that in these states the agricultural vote is trending profoundly away from the Old Guard republicans, as well as away from the conservative democratic cause, to progressive republicanism, and, to a less degree, to the progressive democratic view of things.

WARKWORTH AND DISTRICT

Many Visitors to the Village — A Pretty Wedding.

WARKWORTH, September 13. — Mr. C. J. Boyce has purchased a new car.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Buchan and son, Angus, with Mr. and Mrs. C. Mangold of Rochester, N. Y., spent a few days at the home of Mr. and rs. Beswetherick.

Miss Ella Irish is visiting her sister in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Brown and daughter, also Mr. W. Smith, Miss B. Ferguson and Mr. R. McCracken of Colborne, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Peswetherick.

Miss Maude Owen of the General Hospital, Toronto, spent Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Owen.

Miss Kathleen Mencilly of Toronto, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Meneilly.

Mr. H. L. Walker and Mrs. H. J. Walker are spending a few days at Demorestville, at the home of W. C. Wright.

Hazelton—Owen.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the presence of immediate relatives and friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Owen, at Warkworth, Ont., on Monday morning, September 11th, when their third daughter, Gertrude Jane (Jean) was united in marriage to Mr. Robert H. Hazelton, of Toronto, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hazelton, of Renfrew, Ont. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James Belford. The bride looking very charming in a gown of white Canton crepe trimmed with Limerick lace and rosebuds, embroidered veil and orange blossoms, carrying a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lily of the valley, entered the drawing room on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus played by little Opal Hawkey, niece of the bride.

After the wedding breakfast, the happy couple left amid showers of confetti for Atlantic City, the bride travelling in a navy blue tricotine suit, French velvet hat and fox fur gift of the groom.

The many beautiful gifts, also an aluminum kitchen shower, given by the girls of the office of the Northern Electric Co., Toronto, and a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. J. Banks of Toronto, show the high esteem in which the bride was held. Out of town guests were Miss Hazelton, sister of the groom, Miss Pearl Stuart, Miss Maude Owen, sister of the bride, and Mr. William Maddocks, all of Toronto; also Mr. and Mrs. William Hill of Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Hazelton will reside in Toronto on their return.

Asthma sufferers

Hilton W. Parks, Waterdown, Ont., writes: "I can safely bless the day you left a bottle of Asthma Remedy with me. I had relief from the first dose and have been improving ever since; can lie down at night and rest; the cough has already left me; I have gained three pounds since I started the bottle, which is now nearly finished. The good news has spread around this district, and already several want to try it. I feel so good over the new life, as it were, I like to tell others."

Brigg' Asthma Remedy

ALBERTA WILL AID IN IMMIGRATION PLANS.

EDMONTON, ept. 13.—(Canadian Press).—The Alberta Government will stand ready to co-operate with the dominion authorities and any other agency actively taking up the question of immigration, according to Premier Greenfield by way of comment upon the newly announced policy from Ottawa and the program of the Western Canada Colonization Association.

The Premier expressed himself heartily in favor of trying out the boy immigration scheme which he believed would give the results.

ASKED REWARD FOR DEAD BOY'S CLOTHES

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press).—When George Lawton, 10, was drowned in the Lachine Canal on Saturday evening, his nine-year-old playmate gathered the clothing which lay on the edge of the canal and brought them to the dead boy's mother, asking for a reward of some pennies with which to buy candy. He pretended he had found the clothes, and only after he had been threatened by the mother, whose suspicions were aroused, did he tell of the fatality. Two hours had elapsed meanwhile.

"LET AUTOISTS MOVE THE MAILS"

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 13.—Automobiles will keep the mail moving, even if the railroads are stopped altogether.

This is a promise made by Fred H. Caley, secretary of the National Motorists' Association, in offering his organization's aid to Postmaster-General Wok.

"The ten million motor car owners in the United States" wrote Caley "can and will be of material benefit for both transportation of mail and commerce."

It is Caley's idea that every motorist could help deliver mail from one city to another, in connection with any tour he might be making. Since every highway always has its motorists going back and forth he sees no trouble in moving the mails by a relay system across the country.

"We are suggesting to the affiliated clubs that they offer their services to the local postmasters" said Caley.

RHEUMATISM?

If you are a Sufferer, Heed This Advice

Collinwood, Ont.—"It is with pleasure that I write this note of commendation. I suffered with muscular rheumatism for three years and have been completely cured of same by taking a few packages of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery after doctors' medicines failed to do any good. I am now free from all signs of rheumatism for which I most heartily thank Dr. Pierce and his wonderful medicines." Mrs. Kerwood Cook, Box 464.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont., for trial pkg. of any of Dr. Pierce's remedies and write for free confidential medical advice.

HAVE YOU A COUGH?

This is of Vital Interest to You

Woodstock, Ont.—"My husband always speaks a good word for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and we both feel that he owes his present good health to this splendid medicine. Bronchial pneumonia, as a child, left him with chronic bronchial trouble and it just kept getting worse every year even though he doctored and tried every remedy recommended to him. Some nights he would cough so hard I used to be afraid he might die before morning. Last fall his mother advised him to try the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and from the first few doses he improved. It is just a year now and he seems to be entirely cured of all bronchial ailments." Mrs. S. M. Greer, 27 Sydenham St.

Montreal to Receive First Coal Shipped.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Montreal and New York will be the first cities to receive considerable shipments of anthracite coal from the Pennsylvania mines and the first cargoes will reach here on Monday. This information was contained in private advices received here yesterday. The coal will be borne by water from Oswego, N.Y. Car shipments will arrive later. General optimism prevails here as regards the winter's supply being received. Montreal takes 25 per cent of Pennsylvania coal which is imported into Canada

LIEUT.-GOVERNOR OPENS FALL FAIR.

Fort William, Ont., Sept. 13.—Canadian Press).—In opening the fall fair of the West Algoma Agricultural Association here yesterday afternoon, Harry Cockshut, lieut-governor of Ontario, referred to the hazy idea which eastern Ontario has regarding the agricultural resources of the western end of the province and predicted that the time would soon come when a deep water way would make Fort William an ocean port.

The exhibits at the fair this year are more numerous and better than in any previous year and include all kinds of grain and vegetables and various kinds of fruit.

ENGLAND HAS FOUR 'GRAND OLD MEN'

'Back to Methuselah' Vision May Be Realized.

LONDON, Sept. 13. — Bernard Shaw's "Back to Methuselah" vision of men who will live for centuries seems to be one the way to realization. This is an era of "grand old men and the registrar-general's report, just published, shows that the average length of life is growing.

Four "grand old men' now come into the limelight. One is Gen. Sir George Higginson, who remembers seeing the old Houses of Parliament in flames in 1834—three years before Queen Victoria came to the throne.

The general is now 96 years old, and was recently entertained to dinner at the House of Commons by Gen. Sir Archibald Hunter M.P. The Duke of Connaught and Lord Birkenhead, lord chancellor, were among the guests.

Sir George Higginson spoke with the clearness of a young man. He has wonderful power and fluency and his speech was happily phrased. He said that he remembered being patted on the head by George IV and he recalled dining with Field Marshall Grosvenor, who led a detachment against the Gordon rioters in 1780. He must have been a boy at the time.

Close behind Sir George Higginson comes Admiral Sir Algernon de Horsey, who recently celebrated his ninety-fifth birthday. He served in the navy for 52 years, and saw his first fighting off the Syrian coast 82 years. He entered the navy three years after Queen Victoria's ascension. He lives at Cowes and has been deputy governor of the Isle of Wight since 1913.

LONG SEARCH FOR YOUTH IS NOT IN VAIN

Picture Taken When An Infant Is Only Clew in Mysterious Disappearance.

Hunt Covers 15 Years.

BY PHILIP J. SINOTT

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 13.—Seventeen years ago Cecil Britain, 4, left his parents' camp to go to a store at a Washington mountain resort. He never returned.

A paroled convict, familiar with the mountains, offered to return the youth in exchange for a full pardon. He went into the hills alone, and returned—alone.

"It would be impossible for me to get the boy and bring the two of us out alive" he said. Later, he intimated that kidnappers had stolen the boy, believing him to be son of a wealthy Walla Walla, Wash., merchant, from whom they expected to demand a ransom.

Mrs. R. L. Britain, the mother, grieved for her boy, kept up a search for him and hoped against hope for his return through the years that followed.

G. R. Stark, a friend of the family, had a premonition 15 years ago that he might have a part in the unraveling of the mystery, should it ever be unravelled.

"It will require years of observation, of careful deduction," he said.

The premonition was so strong upon Stark that he took a course in detective work, solely with the thought that some day he might bring happiness to the mother of the missing boy.

Stark taught himself to scrutinize faces, to notice minor features and peculiarities that others would not notice, features that probably would never change with the years. And he studied the last picture taken of Cecil Britain until it was indelibly fixed in his mind.

* * * * *

Meantime the mother had kept up her search. News of the kidnapping if such it were, had traveled to all parts of the country and detectives everywhere were upon the lookout. Many times reports came that the boy had been found. But the absence of peculiar scars on lip, head and body proved all these reports wrong.

* * * * *

Stark did not take up detective work as a profession, instead he became an employee of a hotel here. A fellow employee was Cecil Lenighen a porter. Stark studied his features carefully, as he did with everyone hemt who might, from his age, be the missing boy. And the result—Cecil Lenighen is now Cecil Britain, every mark of identification true, and happy in his mother's home.

* * * * *

Cecil cannot remember the early incidents which followed his disappearance, but was able to tell of being passed from family to family in Oregon. How he got to Oregon he does not know.

"The last of the families with whom I lived was the Lenighen family in Portland" he said. "I took their name, and they sent me to school for three or four years. Then I went out to shift for myself, knocked around a bit, joined the army, and finally came to Spokane after having lived in San Francisco Sacramento and other cities of California."

DISPUTED POINTS ON TARIFF ISSUE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press.)— House and Senate conferees on the tariff bill are now working in conference with a vigor which may result in the enactment of this measure before the elections. The statements which some of the members of the conference committee and the Senate and House republican leaders are daily giving out indicate the enactment of the bill before the end of September and by October 1 at the latest.

A considerable change in the situation has occurred since the tariff bil lwas passed by the Senate and was sent to conference. At that time the pressure for delay until after the November elections was so great from influential republican politicians that it was believed by many the new tariff rates would not be allowed to become effective until the middle of November or possibly December.

The pressure for delay has by no means been entirely abandoned, but as the result of a great deal of conferring among the republican political chieftains, including National Chairman John T. Adams, it has been determined that the best thing to do—measured by politics—is to go ahead and put the bill in force. This is based on the idea that to try to dodge the issue of high rates until the elections are over will enable the democrats to say to the country that the tariff bill is so bad the republicans dare not put it into operation at a time when the people can pass judgment by their ballots upon it. Weighing such attacks against the objections that will be aroused by the increased cost of living, it seems a majority of the republican leaders prefer to take their chances with the increased cost of living.

A large number of disputed points are still involved in the bill as between House and Senate. Some of these will be hard snags to get by and may result in much longer delays than the leaders now say they anticipate.

The modern flappers will stay in vogue just so long as the people talk about 'em.

Unusual Folk

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13.—Mrs. E. Bertoniere is, perhaps, not the only, but certainly one of the few woman skippers in the world.

Thrown on her own resources for a living a few years ago she bought a motorboat, hired a sailor to teach her how to run it and began taking excursion parties out through the bayous, along the coast and into Lake Borgne, from the Crescent City to Grand Isle.

The 120-mile voyage is one the larger boats, requiring deeper water cannot make. It is a picturesque run, through alligator-infested channels, overhung by moss-covered liveoaks and amidst islets often visited by the notorious Lafitte and other notorious pirates in generations past. Mrs. Bertoniere knows all this history thoroughly which makes her a most entertaining as well as competent pilot.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN SKIN AND BLEACH FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan bleach, and complexion whitener.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes bleach out and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes.

BETHANY AND THE DISTRICT

Special Services in the Churches on Sunday — Personal Mention.

BETHANY, September 13. — There was no service in the Methodist Church here on Sunday evening owing to the anniversary services being held at the Ebenezer appointment. Rev. S. T. Tucker, of Millbrook, was the preacher, and the Bethany Methodist choir assisted with the service of song. Miss Murray, of Springville, also assisted and her solos added greatly to the success of the services. Splendid congregations were reported.

Rev. J. E. Beckel, pastor of this circuit, took charge of Mr. Tucker's work on the Millbrook appointment.

St. Paul's (English) Church held their annual harvest home services on Sunday when Rev. C. R. Spencer, of Millbrook, preached. The church was prettily and tastefully decorated for the occasion with fruit, flowers and vegetables.

Engaged as Teacher.

Miss Laura Morton has been engaged to take charge of the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Gertrude Dewell on the teaching staff of the Public School here.

School Fair.

Preparations are being made for the Rural School Fair of this district, which is being held this year at Ballyduff, on 15th September.

Personal Items.

KINGSTON FARMER COMMITS SUICIDE.

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 13. — (Canadian Press.)—Edward Denyes, of Odessa, committed suicide Monday night by hanging himself in the barn. No reason can be ascribed for the committing of the deed. Mr. Denyes was living alone for a time, his mother, who lived with him, being on a visit to Toronto. Neighbors became suspicious of some trouble Monday evening and when they found the cows had not been milked, decided to investigate. They entered the house to find a note on the table telling where to find his body. Investigation was made, and the body was found hanging in the barn. Life had been extinct for some time.

CORDIALLY INVITE YOUR ATTENDANCE AT THEIR First Showing of Autumn Modes
THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY
September 14th, 15th and 16th

THESE MODES are selected with a fine understanding of the requirements of type—and it is most satisfactory to note "the Lowered Pricings" in these assortments, which brings "the most exclusive" and desirable of fashions within the reach of women who prefer to limit their dress expenditure to a moderate outlay. The question of "What is New"—all the rumors concerning the length of the skirt, the way of sleeves, or the manner of adornment have taken definite form in the gathering of Coats, Suits, Dresses, Blouses, Skirts, Negligees and Lingerie.

A MILLBROOK MAN WANTS CARE CHILD

Youthful Heiress is the Subject of Litigation in Oxford County.

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 13.—An interesting legal fight for the possession of Annie Marguerite Given a 12-year-old heiress to $15,000 left her by the will of her father and $1,000 by the will of her mother, was begun in the Surrogate Court of Oxford county here. The contestants were William Given of Millbrook, uncle of the girl; Mrs. Sarah Jane Mann of Innerkip, her grandmother, and Albert Yeo of Innerkip, her stepfather, all of whom made application to be appointed as her guardian.

The girl is the daughter of James Henry Given of Blenheim township and Nina Mann. The father died in 1913 leaving about $15,000, which was to be paid over to his daughter in three installments, one-third when she was 21, one-third when she was 25, and one-third when she erached the age of 30. The income is to be paid to the guardians to provide for her maintenance and education.

Had Lived With Stepfather

Since the death of her mother, who had married a second time to Albert Yeo, the girl had been living with her little sister, Jean Yeo, at the home of her stepfather. On the case being opened this morning there application of William Given was refused, on the ground that he was not a resident of Oxford county, and his application had no jurisdiction in the Surrogate Court of the county. Evidence lasting all day was given by both the other parties in the case.

Mrs. Mann charged that Mr. Yeo was not kind to the girl, and asked that she be given her grand-daughter, as she was ready and able to support her. Gertrude Mann, an aunt of the child, also gave similar evidence, and said that the girl's mother had asked on her death that the grandmother take the girl. Other witnesses testified to the good character of Mrs. Mann and her ability to bring up the girl.

Denies Ill-Treatment of Girl

Albert Yeo in the witness box denied that he had ever treated the child badly. He expresed a great love for the girl, and said that he had slept in the same bed with the two children, his own five-year-old daughter, and the twelve-year-old Annie for a short time after his wife's death, because they were nervous and afraid to sleep in their own room. He said he was anxious to keep the two children together, as they were very much attached to each other. Annie Given, in private told Judge Wallace that she wanted to stay with her stepfather and her sister, and pleaded with him not to separate them. She bore out the stepfather's statement that she had asked to be allowed to sleep beside him because she was nervous and afraid to sleep alone.

Argues Priority of Claim

In arguing the case S. G. Mackay, appearing for Mrs. Mann argued that a blood relative had the prior claim on the child unless there was something against the character of the blood relative. The Judge disagreed with him and said that the first consideration was the welfare of the child, and not whether or not the guardian was a blood relative. In arguing the case for Mr. Yeo, R. N. Ball, his attorney showed that the Manns had shown very little love for the girl ,and asked that the family be allowed to remain united, as they had been since their mother died. Judge Wallace reserved decision of the case and will give judgment in a few days.

Pays a Tribute to American Housewife

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Miss Bella Jones of Liverpool, pays a tribute to the American housewife by declaring that she is one of the best housekeepers of many nations. Although, English women often have been declared to be more domestic than American women, Miss Jones believes that this statement is much too broad. For twenty years she has been one of England's foremost educators.

"The American woman is one of the most efficient housekeepers in the world," said Miss Jones at the Hotel Pennsylvania. "Perhaps the idea that she is not at all domestic comes from the fact that the younger generation seems to enjoy going to business rather than keeping house, but in most cases I believe even the young business woman is capable of making an attractive home and running it very efficiently. After all, her knowledge of business methods should be of practical value to her in the management of her home.

"Of course, it would be unfair to judge of the housekeeping talents of American women solely from observation in New oYrk City, for the crowded living conditions do not make for home life, and so many of the women are obliged to support themselves and rush home at night to a small apartment and a kitchenette. But even in New York domesticity has not entirely died out, and if it is on the wane, your newspapers and magazines with their recipes and labor-saving wrinkles and devices are making a brave effort to keep it alive.

"In England, until recent years, the education of the young girl was not such as would fit her for business, but during the war, when so many of our men left the country to fight, the women rose bravely to the occasion and filled positions in offices and factories with marvelous skill, considering that they had not been trained.

"After the war many of our young women found they liked going to business so well that they did not want to return to the quiet life of the home, and we are quite used to the business woman in England today.

"Most English girls now receive training for business in the public schools. The schools are divided into elementary schools, corresponding to your grammar schools, and secondary schools, corresponding to your high schools. The secondary schools, which give a four-year course, are not free. A small tuition fee is charged, but many scholarships are given, and it is possible for pupils of the elementary schools, who pass the required examinations, to win scholarships and attend the secondary schools for the four-year term without charge. Two of the years of the secondary school may be devoted to commercial studies if the pupil wishes to enter business life.

"More an more young women in England are going in for higher education. Many of them attend the teachers' colleges and after graduation go up to Cambridge or Oxford for a degree. After passing through these universities they are well fitted to teach the younger generation, and while it has taken England a long time to evolve a public school system, I believe that before long we shall have schools that, for thorough education, will be the equal of any in the world."

WILL AID GREECE IN EVENT CONFLICT

LONDON, Sept. 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Central News, in a despatch from Athens, says it is reliably informed that the Jugo Slav and Roumanian governments have evidenced their intention of aiding Greece in event of a Balkan conflict. Serbian troops, it adds, are being mobilized and moved in the direction of Uskub.

PORT AUTHORITIES MEET.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Dr. W. L. McDougald and Emilien Daoust, Montreal harbor commissioners, leave to-day to attend the annual convention of the American Association of Port Authorities at Toronto. M. P. Fennell, of Montreal, secretary of the association, who is now in Toronto, has announced that he will resign the secretaryship this year.

THE WORLD SERIES.

BOSTON, Sept. 13. — (Canadian Press).—"If the St. Louis Americans and Giants are pennant winners the first three games of the world series will probably be played in one city and the four succeeding contests, or as many as may be necessary in another," President Heydler of the National League stated today. He believed this plan would be adopted in the event the Brown are League champions.

CANADIAN WHEAT NOT AFFECTED BY U. S. TARIFF.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press).—"The effect of the United States tariff," said R. J. H. Grisdale, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, yesterday, "will not become apparent for some time. It will not have much greater effect than the Emergency Tariff Bill of last year." As far as Canada was concerned, it would have a beneficial effect on the local sale of milk and its products. The Canadian wheat situation would not be affected, but the tariff had practically cut off the live stock trade with the United States. Thoroughbreds were excepted.

FAILED TO REGISTER.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Three local chiropractors, who were convicted for failing to register under the Medical Act, were yesterday sentenced to jail terms of one month each. The trio, who were charged with third offences, were released on bail, pending appeal.

BANK ROBBERY.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 13. — (Canadian Press).—Four bandits yesterday held up the St. Anthony Park Street Bank in the western part of the city and escaped with between $3,000 and $4,000. Several shots were fired at the bandits as they fled, but apparently they were uninjured.

GERMANY TO REFUSE DEMAND OF BELGIANS.

BERLIN, Sept. 13. — (Canadian Press).—Germany will refuse Belgium's demand for 100 million marks.

PRESIDENT'S WIFE IS GETTING BETTER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(Special). — Mrs. Harding's condition continues to show improvement. A bulletin issued shortly after 9 a.m. to-day at the White House said.

"After a comfortable night, during which the symptoms of her illness moderated considerably, her temperature at 8 a.m. was practically normal."

REGAINED HEARING WHILE IN THE AIR.

CHICAGO, September 13 (Canadian Press).—Fifteen thousand feet up in the air, A. S. Harris, a former soldier, pronounced hopelessly deaf by army and other specialists, regained his hearing.

Before the airplane flight he was unable to hear the ticking of a watch held to his ear.

When he came down he had regained about 70 per cent. of his hearing, and was able to converse by telephone with his mother. He also said that when he started up he could not hear the motor, but that at a certain height it was suddenly audible.

This flight was held as a test for curing the deaf by altitude flights. Physicians said if Harris could go up 20,000 feet he would be able to hear perfectly.

CHAIRMANSHIP OF C.N.R. IS STILL OPEN

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Chairman of Canadian National Railways has still to be selected according to Hon. George P. Graham, Acting Minister of Railways to-day.

Mr. Graham was asked if Chairman would be an American, but he declined to commit himself on the matter.

"The only thing I will say," he staed, "is that we are going to get the best man possible for the position."

He pointed out that selection necessarily was a difficult one. Man must not only be an outstanding railway man, but the choice should, if possible, be met with general approval. It is regarded as practically certain that the man chosen will not be a Canadian.

Sisler Injured Shoulder Muscles and Will Be Out of the Game For At Least a Week.

INTERNATIONAL.

Buffalo 3, Rochester 2.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., September 13 (Canadian Press).—Rochester devided a double-header here yesterday with Buffalo, the Bisons winning the first game 3 to 2 in ten innings, while the locals took the second, a seven-inning affair, by 8 to 5. Hughes and Reddy staged a nip and tuck pitchers' battle in the opener until Hughes weakened in the tenth. Rochester had three men on bases in the last half of the tenth, when Gagnon ended the game with a line drive to Dye. The second game was a mixture of wild pitching and loose fielding, in which the locals drew the breaks. Scores:

Buffalo	0101000001—3	8	0
Rochester	0020000000—2	8	2

Reddy and Bengough; Hughes and Sanberg.

Rochester 8, Buffalo 5.

Buffalo	0000050—5	6	3
Rochester	102230x—8	6	2

Llewellyn, Werre and Hill; Wisner, Gordonier and Lake.

Baltimore 12, Newark 1.

BALTIMORE, September 13 (Canadian Press). — The Orioles and Fears divided a twin bill here yesterday afternoon, the Orioles smashing Kneisch's delivery for a dozen counters in the first game to win, 12 to 1, and the Bruins getting the decision in the second encounter, 5 to 2. Scores:

Newark	100000000—	1	5 0
Baltimore	00040053x—12	16	4

Kneisch and Devine; Frank and McAvoy.

Newark 5, Baltimore 2.

Newark	000030110—5	12	3
Baltimore	100010000—2	5	3

Baldwin and Devine; Reid and Barry.

Reading 7, Jersey City 2.

READING, September 13 (Canadian Press). — Eirich, a product of the local sand lots and a wellknown football player, held Jersey City to five scattered hits yesterday, and Reading won by the score of 7 to 2. Carruthers was hit hard in the fourth and fifth when he also received poor support. Score:

Jersey City	010010000—2	5	3
Reading	00025000x—7	10	2

Carruthers and Freitas, Delaney; Eirich and Tragresser, Fitzgerald.

AMERICAN.

St. Louis 8, Detroit 6.

ST. LOUIS, September 13 (Canadian Press). — For the second time in two days St. Louis came from behind in the tail-end of the game to defeat Detroit. The locals took yesterday's game 8 to 6 after trailing the Tigers up to the seventh inning, and by virtue of their victory and New York's idleness, advance to within one game of first place. Sisler was out of the line-up because of a sprained muscle in the right shoulder, suffered in Monday's game. He will be out of the game for at least a week, and probably for the remainder of the season, it was said. He is unable to raise his arm above the shoulder. Score:

Detroit	013100001—6	12	1
St. Louis	01101023x—8	15	4

Dauss and Bassler; Kolp, Vangilder, Pruett and Severeid.

Cleveland 8, Chicago 2.

CHICAGO, September 13 (Canadian Press). — Cleveland closed its Chicago season yesterday with an 8 to 2 victory over the locals. The visitors hit Manager Gleason's young twirlers, Bowles and Duff, and took a commanding lead. Blankenship checked the hitting until the ninth, when the Indians again cut loose. Chicago was unable to do much with the offerings of Uhle, who tightened up in the pinches. The feature of the game was a triple play by Chicago in the first innings. With the bases filled Gardner grounded to Collins, whose toss to Johnson forced McNulty at second. Johnson's throw to Sheely doubled Gardner, and when Wamby tried to score Sheely's throw to Yaryan retired Wamby for the third out. Jamieson, who was on third when Gardner's hit scored. Score:

Cleveland	105000002—8	17	1
Chicago	000110000—2	9	0

Uhle and L. Sewell; Duff, Bowles, Blankenship and Yaryan, Graham, Long.

Three-legged race—1 F. McFadden and H. Stabler; 2 G. Wannamaker and H. Lean; 3 R. Payne and E. Bickell.

BASEBALL MATCH.

The feature of the morning was a baseball match in which Lakefield defeated Keene by the score of 3-2 in seven innings and won the silver cup presented by Captain John Dewart, M.C. The teams were:

Keene — G. O'Dette p, F. Hawkins c; A. Renwick 1b; A. Fletcher 2b; C. Nelson 3b; J. McCarthy ss; J. O'Dette cf; M. Robinson lf; M. Renwick, rf; W. Fletcher sub.

Lakefield — E. Northey p; J. Ridpath c; A. Kelly 1b; E. Grier 2b; J. Hull 3b; D. Fitzgerald ss; C. Murphy rf; C. Ridpath cf; B. Dench lf; F. Webster, sub.

Score by innings—

Keene ..... 0000200—2
Lakefield ..... 0000003—3

LACROSSE MATCH TOO.

After the races the Havelock and Peterboro Junior Lacrosse Teams played for the silver cup donated by the East Peterboro Liberal Association. Havelock winning by the score of 8 goals to 4. Dr. Gibson refereed. This was the first lacrosse match seen here this year and proved an interesting attraction.

Airplane flights by Aviator Hull of Camp Borden furnished thrills for all those who sailed aloft in the passenger's seat, and also for the crowds who watched the later solo stunts. Warden Strickland was the first to take the air, and many others enjoyed the exhilarating experience during the day.

The entire programme was an unqualified success, and every item was run off as advertised, concluding with a dance in the town hall at nigth. The extent of the crowd may be estimated from the gate receipts of $350.

Recently Father Time marked the tenth anniversary of the arrival of Ray Schalk from the Milwaukee American Association club and the famous catcher's thirtieth birthday.

His record in those 10 years includes catching 1,284 major league games and pinch hitting in 27 others.

He has run up a batting average of .254 and a fielding average of 980.

BILL BRENNAN VS. HARRY WILLS

(By Bob Dorman.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—At last the fans are to be given what looks like a treat in the heavyweight division, Bill Brennan against Harry Wills. This has the earmarks of a legitimate battle, and will be the next big fight scheduled, according to the New York promoters.

Both are in somewhat the same position.

Brennan has hard work to find any opponents to meet him among the white hopes, while Wills daily is finding it more difficult to induce any of the colored scrappers to step into the ring with him.

High above them both towers the champion, Jack Dempsey, eager to fight, but unable to find a place that will countenance any of his prospective opponents.

Wills would seem like the most logical contender to meet Dempsey, but—he has come to the front by bowling over a bunch of set-ups, such as the late Tut Jackson.

The colored heavyweight division is in the same condition as the white, nothing but a bunch of second-raters.

Brennan, while he has taken the count from Dempsey twice, must be given credit for having stayed in the ring with the champion longer than any other fighter. Among the white heavies, he figures to give Dempsey the hardest battle.

Dempsey has been tentatively matched with both men, but nothing has come of it, the Dempsey-Brennan match at Michigan City falling through on account of the state governor's opposition, while no promoter has yet been found who is willing to assume the financial burden of putting on a Dempsey-Wills match.

The fight between Brennan and Wills, though, will provide clear sailing for a match between Dempsey and the winner.

Wills, if he defeats the hard hitting and tough Brennan, will have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that he is the man to face Dempsey in a battle for the world's heavyweight championship.

And if Brennan can beat the famed "Black Panther," it surely entitles him to a third chance at the champion.

With the incentive of a match with Dempsey spurring them on, the battle should be one worth seeing.

PUBLIC DEMANDS MUCH OF THE GOLF CHAMPIONS

Par golf is always expected from a champion by followers of the game and in many cases even "super-par" as the moving picture people would call it, is looked for. A champion has been heard to say that if there is one thing worse than not winning a national title, it is winning it, as alibis ehlp out in the first instance, but are of little avail in the second.

When a golfer, man or woman, wins a big event thereafter he or she is expected to capture chief honors wherever they play. Take, for instance, the case of Walter Hagen, the British open champion. No matter what tournament Walter competes in, if he does not lead the procession many of his admirers are disappointed. In that recent exhibition match between Hagen and Abe Mitchell, probably the best of the foreign players, nothing could have been more childlike than the assumption of most of the gallery that Hagen must win from his opponent, because of the fact that the American was the British champion. That Mitchell, despite the fact that he does not hold a title, is in Hagen's own class when it comes to playing, was not taken into consideration. The only thought that the spectators had was that the champion would win, and although for a time it looked as though Hagen would prove disappointing—for instance, when at the twenty-seventh hole of the match he stood 4 down to Mitchell—still the "old fighting face" came to the front and Hagen won, 2 up and 1 to play.

In some cases a golfer who has a reputation is given a wide berth by the medium players; or if the last named class does try conclusions, the champion has them beaten before they start. For instance, a few years ago it was curious to watch Walter Travis' opponents in tournaments at the country club of Atlantic City. He had always been partial to seaside events and generally played fine golf there, as the course seemed to suit his particular style of play. There was a machine-like way in which he went about winning his matches that he terrorized his opponents. As a matter of fact, eighty or even ninety per cent. of them were beaten before they left the first tee.

TORONTO COPS HAD GOOD ANCHOR MAN.

Deputy Chief of Police Langford Geddes pulled a real one Saturday during the tug-of-war at the C.N.E. sports. The Toronto police team had a mighty struggle in the first tug with the Montreal police team led by the famous police athlete Captain Maranda. The guardians of the peace in the Canadian oasis showed unexpected class and though beaten still considered that they had a great chance to down the champions. During the interval between the first and second heats, Deputy Chief Geddes sent Detective Nursey down to the Midway and brought up Johann Aasen, the Danish giant in the side show, slipped him into his police uniform and hid him behind the scenery. When the second pull was announced the huge ninety-oiler strode out along with the rest of the police team and gravely wound the rope around his huge body. The Montreal coppers took one look and then went straight up into the air. "He no pull de first time. He no pull now," they chattered, and even Captain Maranda started around the track like a vagrant cyclone buttonholing everyone. He thought they were trying to run in a ringer. Finally, after the Toronto crowd had all had a good laugh they explained the joke and the big Dane ambled away to the Midway again. Aasen is a duly sworn in special officer on the Toronto force and his number is 999. It was a good joke anyway.

Football

Owls and Woollens will meet at the Oval Saturday afternoon for a Gordon Cup game. The kick-off will be at 3 o'clock and A. McKinlay will be the referee.

—o—

The draw for the semi-finals in the Gordon Cup series resulted as follows: Warsaw vs. C.G.E. or Quakers, Comrades vs. Owls or Woollens. The dates will be announced later.

—o—

Each and every one of the C.G.E. players and officials who were at St. Catherines on Saturday came back with words of praise for the officials in charge of the game. Mr. Murchie commands great respect for the manner in which he handles the games, and is well rated as one of Toronto's foremost referees.

BROWNS BEAT THE YANKEES AT BAT

Have Made 154 More Hits This Season and Scored More Runs.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—With the Yankees and Browns neck and neck in the home stretch of the American League pennant race today, the batting averages of the two contenders reveal the startling fact that the St. Louis batters have connected with 154 more hits than their Yankee rivals, scored 99 more runs, stolen 83 more bases and have been excelled only in sacrifice hitting.

The figures show the Browns have connected with 1,471 hits, as against 1,317 for the Yanks, and have scored 765 runs, as compared with 666 for New York. In home run hitting, the Browns, with Ken Williams in the lead, have belted out 87, while the Yanks, with their mighty Ruth, are trailing with 83.

George Sisler, first base star, is not alone in te hitting drive of the Browns. Johnny Tobin is fifth in the list of league leaders, with an average of .339, while Williams, who has cracked out his thirty-sixth homer of the season, is batting .326.

The batting of Sisler the last week enabled him to boost his average from .413 to .421, which makes it an almost certainty that he will finish the season well above the .400 mark.

On the paths, Sisler romped across the plate 12 times, which gave him the lead as the best run-getter. Sisler has registered 120 times, while Blue, of Detroit, has counted 117.

The averages include games of Wednesday last.

Lawrence "Hack" Miller, the former San Francisco slugger, is giving the National League a surprise with his great stick-work, and is doing his bit keeping the Chicago Cubs among the contenders for the pennant. Miller is in third place among the leaders, with an average of .356, according to figures which include games of Wednesday.

Rogers Hornsby enjoyed a profitable week, increasing his average from .389 to .391 for the leadership.

Max Carey, whose speed has shown no falling off, has stolen 39 bases and is the leading scorer, having counted 118 tallies for the Pirates.

Diamond Dust

The Leaside team still has a chance to take first place in the second half of the Central League race. To do so they must defeat Belleville three times, Cobourg once, and Port Hope once.

In Koen, the Tweed Intermediates have a pitcher whom it would be well to keep an eye on. He is young, has a world of stuff, and apparently knows the game thoroughly. In addition, he is a heavy hitter.

PRIZE FIGHTS ARE BECOMING POPULAR

Regular Bouts Are Now Held in Mexico City With Big Attendance.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 13.—As recently as three years ago a former heavyweight boxing champion attempted to make boxing popular in Mexico City and failed. Today the sport is intensely popular and the bouts which are held regularly every Friday night in Mexico City attract crowds that fill the Fronton, a huge structure in which the Spanish game of pelota is played.

The promoters are so enthused over the prospects of the fight game here, that they are planning a combination gymnasium and arena, and they have already set up a school for boxers in which Mexican youths are given free instruction in fisticuffs. These students, in return for this instruction, furnish all the preliminaries to the main bouts and that they do well is attested by the fact that the popular verdict so far has always been that the youngsters are better than the older principals.

Invitations have been sent to several well-known boxers in the United States inquiring as to terms for a fight here, and the word has evidently been passed around that the game is looking up in Mexico, because during the past few weeks there has been a great invasion of "ham and egg" fighters who are perfectly willing to be mauled around for a few rounds in return for a few regular meals.

Persons who have watched boxing rise and fall in popular fancy here say there is more interest now than ever before. For the first time Mexican boys are being taught to box and their cleverness is undisputed. The Mexican spectators are also commencing to learn the game, and the job of a referee is not the hazardous task it was a few years ago when an unpopular decision usually meant gunplay.

HOCKEY STARS GO WEST.

A Calgary despatch says: "If the Calgary Tigers had to pay out salaries demanded by the amateurs in Ontario, pro-hockey here would go out of existence in two years' time," said Lloyd Turner, business manager of the Calgary club of the Western Canada League, upon his return today from a two months' scouting trip in the east. Turner confirms the report that he had signed Bill Speck of Haileybury; Roy McKay of London, and Al. Fisher of Sault Ste. Marie. Turner, who was in Toronto, Hamilton, Kitchener and other places looking for O.H.A. amateur stars, was turned down by the players demanding exorbitant sums to turn pro. That was their way of putting the western pro. hockey promoter off.

What is a Worth While Battery?

Exide
MADE IN CANADA
BATTERIES

Like the heart in your body, the best battery in a car is the one you are least aware of. The battery you want is the one that will give you care-free service for the longest time.

You will not be disappointed if you expect something more than the ordinary service from an Exide. And why be content with a battery that gives only halting service, when a long-life Exide proves a true economy as well as a constant comfort?

In choosing a new car, the kind of battery in it should be one of the things you consider. If it is Exide equipped, you know that so far as one important part of the car is concerned, the manufacturer has provided the best obtainable.

When you have to replace your battery, don't accept a substitute for the Exide—there is no adequate substitute. If you have any trouble in getting an Exide, write us or our nearest district distributor.

Most of the successful farm lighting plants have Exide Batteries.

An Invitation

To the Citizens of Peterboro City and County and to the Residents in the Central Ontario District

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—

President Denne and Directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition cordially invite you to attend this year's Fair and guarantee that you will be thoroughly satisfied with your visit.

Exhibits in all lines are away ahead of former years. Amusements for young and old are clean and clever.

Horse Races for those who enjoy them will be a feature.

Music all the time—Flowers in profusion — Beautiful Fancy Work — All the Buildings are filled to overflowing with Exhibits.

Fire Works, Grand Stand Performances, Exhibits open for inspection, Brilliant Illumination every night, commencing To-night.

You will be made heartily welcome any time you come.

Hoping to meet you at the Peterboro Exhibition this week and thanking you in anticipation of any effort you might make to help along the Fair, we beg to remain,

Yours Respectfully,
R. DENNE, President,
And DIRECTORS of Peterboro Industrial Exhibition.

SPORT GOSSIP

C. G. E. WIN FROM TWEED

Electricians Came From Behind to Eliminate Trent Valley Leaguers.

Coming from behind after they were apparently hopelessly beaten, the C.G.E. team eliminated Tweed from the O.B.A.A. intermediate series by beating the Trent Valley champions 8 runs to 6 in the third game of their series at Trenton yesterday. For four frames neither team scored. Then Tweed broke loose in the fifth, scoring six runs. C.G.E. got one back in the sixth, and went into the seventh down six runs to one. Three runs for the Electricians in the seventh closed the gap, and they came right back with four in the eighth to win the game.

Koen, Tweed's star right-hander, was in great form for the first seven innings, but blew up in the last two frames, and his team went with him. Ray Rose started for the C.G.E., and was taken out in the fifth with one out, Frost going to the rubber. The relief pitcher finished the game in fine style.

C.G.E. will likely meet Picton in the next round.

The teams:

C.G.E.—Barrie 2b, McCarney m, Corrin 1b, Ross c, Rose o, ss, McElroy rf, Primeau rf, Helson 3b, Frost ss, p, Legon lf.

Tweed—Wager 2b, Morton m, Brown 1b, Houston c, Koen p, Hansford rf, Geraldi rf, Lesage 3b, Blakely ss, Baxter lf.

By innings:	R.	H.	E.
C.G.E.	00000134x—8	9	6
Tweed	00006000—6	7	3

Struck out by Koen 10, by Rose 4, by Frost 1. Bases on balls, Koen 2, Rose 1.

Umpires—R. Butler, M. J. Dedman, Lindsay.

Little Lessons For the Golfer

(By George O'Neill)

The practice swings which nearly all golfers take before beginning the round of the links constitute one of the most deceiving errors the player can fall into if he has never learned just how to go about such practice. A few wrong and hastily made practice swings with a driver can upset the player's game for the whole round. These swings do not serve to "loosen up the muscles" as so many golfers think. They are more likely to tighten up the muscles, and effect the golfer must avoid. A few practice swings, rightly executed, are a nice help in the game. Wrongly done, they constitute the worst thing the player could do before beginning his play.

William E. (Bill) Mehlhorn, is one of the tip-top southern golf stars who has developed a very effective golf style. He was one of the runners-up in this year's National Open championship at Skokie, Chicago. Note how he has stiffened the left leg, in the down stroke, keeping his body in line with the ball.

NO BIG TWIRLERS IN EITHER LEAGUE

Pitching Staffs in Nearly Every Major Team Have Fallen.

"Are National League pitchers better," writes M. L. F., "or does it happen that Sisler and Cobb are better hitters than Hornsby and the rest of the National League batsmen?" Both Sisler and Cobb have been above or around .400 all the year, while Hornsby has been hovering between .75 and .390.

Neither Cobb nor Sisler will hit the ball as hard as Hornsby, but when it comes to the matter of making base hits, both, through past seasons, have shown a slightly better margin. Cobb is the greatest base hit maker that ever lived. Sisler isn't far behind. It is hard to say just how National and American League pitchers compare. There is no great difference, but if the advantage rests either way it belongs to the National League. For that matter neither league has been strong in pitching.

There have never before been as many staff collapses as 1922 has shown. Clubs have been buckling up and taking the big dive nearly all summer through a sudden breakdown among their boxmen. This has accounted in the main for some of the remarkable form shifts that have occurred — for long winning streaks followed by long losing streaks.

Any club that could get good pitching for ten consecutive days had a mop-up until the big detonation took place, with right and left arms cracking after the manner of a barrel of pottery pushed down a cellar stair.

RUGBY STARS

All football seasons are great episodes to those who love the game. Nineteen hundred and twenty-two will lose a long caravan of stars from last fall, but the passing of stars can no longer leave its shadow—there are too many constellations coming on.

In the old days there were only small bodies. Now the woods and plains are replete with young talent who know how to pass, kick, run, block and tackle.

An Aldrich, a Killinger, a Mohardt, and a Devine move on, but by October there will be others to fill the gap—possibly at other strongholds, but part of the autumn scenery just the same.

Nineteen hundred and twenty-two will be another great football year—one of the best of the lot.—Hamilton Spectator.

WINNERS IN THE CAPITOL CONTEST

Prize-Winning Letters Are Announced

Whether Peterborough's amateur essayists are few in number or lack ing in initiative, only six participated in the Paramount contest announced on Saturday, September 2nd.

The two three month's passes to the Capitol were won by Miss Mabel Warden, 25 Dennistoun avenue and Mrs. S. C. Kerneghan, 9 Monaghan Road. Miss Warden won with a letter on Gloria Swanson and Mrs. Kerneghan with one on Wallace Reid.

Four one-performance admissions were won by Mrs. McWilliams, 653 George street, with two letters two by Mrs. W. R. Cowan and two by Miss Warden, who also took first prize.

It will be recalled that on September 2nd pictures of ten Paramount stars were published in advertisements in The Examiner. The entrants chose their favorite stars and wrote the reasons for their choices.

The passes to the theatre won by those named above can be obtained by calling at The Examiner Office.

ZANE GREY'S "LAST TRAIL" HERE AT ROYAL

At the Royal tonight will be shown for the last time here, "The Last Trail" a special production screened by William Fox from the well-known novel by Zane Grey whose stories have made him famous with motion picture followers as in the fiction reading world. This lastest Grey picture, made under the skilful direction of Emmett J. Flynn, is described as most thrilling in incident—as it must be if it follows the book—an unusually elaborate and impressive in its staging.

Readers of the Grey novel will recall that it deals with the mystery surrounding the operations of an outlaw who works alone and terrorizes the country side by his daring and ruthlessness.

The Fox company is a notable one, headed by Maurice Flynn and Eva Novak, including such sterling players as Rosemary Theby, Charles K. French and Harry Dunkinson.

DOROTHY DALTON AT THE CAPITOL.

To-morrow in "The Crimson Challenge," also Larry Semon in his very Latest Comedy "Golf" Matinees Daily 2.30 p.m. No Advance in Prices.

Dorothy Dalton in her latest Paramount picture, "The Crimson Challenge," heads a cast of really popular players. She has for her leading man Jack Mower who played one of the leading parts in Cecil B. De Mille's "Saturday Night."

Frank Campeau, one of the most experienced players in the profession, has the part of a villain so black that he makes soot look like snow. Clarence Burton, who has popularized Mexican bandit roles, also plays a villainous role, and the trio of villains—an unusual feature of a picture—is completed by Geo. Field.

Suspense and Big Moments in Picture.

"The Crimson Challenge" is a picture of strong suspense and big dramatic moments. When Tharon swears in the opening scenes of the picture to "get" Buck Courtrey, who has treacherously killed her father, her avowal makes an objective which holds the suspense at a high pitch until at the finish, she accomplishes her purpose.

Every meeting of Tharon with Courtrey is a big smashing scene—one to make the spectator sit breathless. Throughout the development of the story there isn't a moment that hasn't a thrill of its own. The action never legs for an instant.

LARRY SEMON HAS GOOD LITTLE SKUNK

But Bad Little Animal Takes It's Place and Larry is Put Out.

Larry Semon cast a number of well educated little animals who are inhabitants of the links and the grounds adjacent, Squirrels, field mice,—and a skunk. The latter is a pretty little chap with white stripes down his coat, and he came to the studio with the veterinary a very best recommendation. He was a GOOD li'l skunk. And he "worked like a veteran, until one day last week, when the lure of a bit of good "cover" in the rought at the green got the best of him, and he disappeared.

The entire company spent a good half hour endeavoring to catch the little chap. Finally, Larry, who led the search, emitted a yell of victory from the depths of the brush. The yell atepered however, in a wail and a scramble when that gentleman discovered that there was more than one skunk in the brush pile, and that he had found the other one.

Larry spent the evening in the most exclusive seclusion, in a state of mind best described as "chaotic."

AT THE GRAND.

AT THE GRAND.

Another large audience witnessed the popular Jimmie Evans' Musical Revue at the Grand last evening in the Oriental Melange of "A Night in Chinatown," which proved to be an instantaneous hit from beginning to end, and the general verdict was, "better than ever."

The present offering is just brim full of refined entertainment, and novelty skits that keep you in continual laughter, the "Ouija" skit in particular being extremely funny. Jimmie Evans and Joe Devine are a whole show in themselves. Miss Florence Pippin on her violin is an outstanding number, and her "Mon Homme" which she sings in French is a clever impersonation, and repounded to 3 encores. Miss Gould and Mr. Ryan are real performers, putting their numbers over in finished style, while the little ladies in the chorus are worthy of many $2.00 attractions on the road. One of the outstanding features of the evening being the "Apache Dance," executed by Miss Jollymore and Mr. Roy Ellis," bringing forth rounds of applause.

The Evans' Revue is proving to be by far the best evening's entertainment seen in Peterborough in many a day, and at the exceptionally low scale of admission asked for this class of attraction, should be the means of doing a capacity business during their indefinite engagement in Peterborough.

Mr. Evans announced another complete change of show for the last half of the week beginning on Thursday, which is entitled "Love and Kisses," being a special production for the Exhibition visitors. Every skit, song number and dance, with costumes and scenery being all new in every detail.

THE accompanying illustration shows how a spinal analysis is made. Aprons or kimonas are worn and only the spine is bared. The chiropractor carefully examines the spine to determine if any of the small spinal bones are out of alignment and causing pressure upon nerves. Pinched nerves are an unerring indication of abnormal tissues, for no living tissue can be healthy when its source of life is interfered with, and every tissue cell in the body depends upon nerve force for its activity,

If you do not feel 100% efficient get a spinal analysis and find out if your trouble is the result of nerve impingement, if it is, you will undoubtedly be benefited by chiropractic spinal adjustments.

(Special to The Examiner.)

NEW YORK, N.Y., Sept. 13.—How small a figure the railway shopmen's strike had been in financial circles was brought out again in the markets to-day.

With the prospective partial settlement in the immediate future played up prominently in the morning news, railway shares did not respond at all. They sold off generally in a market where in many directions active buying was in progress.

The two most important aspects of the movement on the stock exchange to-day were the same as they have been right along—a lively speculation, especially in stocks on the pool variety, accompanied, however, by a solid sub-stratum of investment buying showing itself in the sustained high level of bond prices and in the forward tendency in many stocks of the investment or semi-investment class. The pool operations bore witness to confidence in the sufficiency of the autumn money supply; and belief that the next six months will see a further increase in general business activities and satisfactory profits for the great majority of manufacturing and transportation enterprises. The investment operations indicated a searching out for bonds and stocks which still offered a good yield attendant with a reasonable measure of security, and which had not been brought into line with the general market.

The individual price movements as on the previous days, were very much mixed. Realizing sales bore heavily against certain stocks, while new buying went on vigorously in others.

United States Steel Common again touched its high points of the year and a number of new high records were made, notably in Baldwin Locomotive and one or two other members of the equipment group and several of the gas and other public utilities. As the afternoon went on trading in the general list slowed down considerably. Coincidently there were more surface signs of reaction. But nowhere was there any pressure to sell.

The foreign exchanges went lower again, but the declines were too small to be regarded as significant of any shift of banking opinion on the European outlook in consequence of the Belgian ultimatum. Belgian 7 1-2 per cent. bonds fell a point but this was very slight expression of uneasiness over Belgian finances now that the latest settlement plans have been held.

The most logical inference is that the Reparations Commission will effect a compromise, which the Belgian and German conferees were not able to reach, and that the arrangements for holding cash payments and at the same time providing an adequate cash security, will eventually go through. Sterling exchange was off over a cent. The largest loss of any day in some time. It is now nearly six cents in the pound from its high of a month ago. But this scarcely has any direct reference to the uncertainty in European financial situation. Rather it is in withdrawal of the support incidentally furnished the sterling market during the time when Britain was preparing to meet its war interest due in the United States.

WYOMING OIL NEWS

NEW YORK Sept. 13— Producers and Refiners — Absorption of producers and Refiners by a Standard Oil Co., negotiations which are now under way is desired because of the prospective value of producers and refiners undeveloped acreage in Wyoming. The company has large holdings in that state where it has encountered enormous gas fields. In the big sand draw field company has drilled in some of biggest days wells in country and oil men are of opinion that once gas pressure is exhausted so as to permit drilling wells another large field will be developed. It is expected one gallon gasoline will be absorbed from each 1,000 cubic feet natural gas which would give producers and refiners a production of 30,000 gallons gasoline a day on completion of plant.

KEEPING HUBBY IN GOOD FRAME MIND

What American Women Are Accomplishing in This Connection.

DETROIT, Sept. 13.—No longer does friend husband dine on plebeian fare in the best regulated families. His meals are idented with entrees, fancy fish courses and deserts designed by the wife with an eye to a pleasant evening, especially if it must be spent at home.

"For women have at last learned that docility in husbands is the natural response of food that is pleasing to the eye as well as to the inner man," says Miss Eva Canon, in charge of the open shelf room of the main Public Library. "The demand for cook books is proof sufficient. It shows clearly that a clever wife disdains the thought of rushing home from a club meeting to sear the steak.

Solicitous Lady.

"Instead the wise wife will choose the club that has in its program for the year the solution to table problems. If the housewife knows her husband prefers a certain food she now finds how to cook that food in a variety of ways, instead of nagging because the head of the house refuses to accustom his eccentric desires to food of her own choosing.

"One title of a cook book that never can be kept in is actually named 'One Thousand Ways to Hold a Husband.'

"There are more than 100 cook books in the open shelf room if we could keep them there," said Miss Hazel clark, first assistant of circulation. "Persons in all walks of life from brides to butlers patronize that shelf and there is always a long waiting list.

"It looks as if few people invest in cook books nowadays or else the supply at home is insufficient to meet their fastidious demands.

"And cook books are not all that are sought. Doting mothers who have learned through vitamine discoveries that their children will not grown properly unless they eat tomatoes three times a week and oranges once a day are at their wits end to learn new ways to serve them to tempt the youthful connoisseurs. The result is an ever-increasing demand for books on food values and vitamine distribution."

Frantic Phone Calls.

Miss Clark recalled numerous occasions when she has been requested to give emergency recipes over the telephone.

"The woman who was canning fruit demanded to know how long it should cook," she said. "The book in which her particular recipe could be found was not in and I told her we could not assist her. She then accused me of ruining her fruit."

Many times the clerks are requested to read recipes over the phone. They have even been expected to offer suggestions that would add variety to a menu to frantic cooks who have exhausted every source of recipe supply and want to try something new on their friends. A hurried library communication via telephone has crowned many a dinner with success and a new flavor.

HEAT.

Grandpa can remember when only a few rooms of the home were kept heated in winter, Kitchen and dining-room were shut off after mealtime and the family gathered around the base-burnerin the only warm room. Bedrooms were so cold the water in the pitcher froze during the night.

Present generation is soft, not satisfied unless every room in the house is warm enough to fry an egg. It might do the health good to go back to old-fashioned heating methods for a few months. Even a coal shortage can have its good side. It may teach us not to be too extravagant with fuel.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, J. Herbert Cunningham, who died the thirteenth day of September, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, aged 4 years, 2 months:

Our loving Saviour called one day,
A loving bud to find,
And in our home he picked it out
And took it to his home.

We laid his little body in the grave
With tears, Oh, how they did flow,
But his soul is with the Lord we love
Where parting is no more.

And now it's left to us
To prepare the open way
To meet and greet our little dear
In the home not far away.
—From Father, Mother and Family.

The Allied countries don't appear to be in so much of a hurry to "come across" as we did in 1918.

It's confidence that does it.

MANAGER HELD GUILTLESS ON BANK CHARGES

D. C. Macarow's Case Was Disposed of This Morning—One Phase of Famous Case Closed.

ALLAN CASE NEXT

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—D. C. Macarow, general manager of the defunct Merchants' Bank, was this morning found not guilty of the charge of signing a false return on the bank's financial condition in a return to the Federal Government for October, 1921, in the Court of Special Sessions by Chief Justice Decarie.

The decision this morning brings to a close one phase of the Merchants' Bank case in the local courts.

The case against Sir Montague Allan, president of the bank, charged with negligently signing the false report, is now to be heard. Yesterday the grand jury brought in a true bill against Sir Montague, who elected a summary trial in the Court of Special Sessions. The cases arose out of the threatened collapse of the Merchants' Bank when its reserve was reduced from $9,500,000 to $1,500,000 by disastrous loans to the now bankrupt stockbroking firm of Thornton, Davidson and Company and other concerns. The Government's case was that these losses should have been shown in the October, 1921, returns to the Government. They did not appear until negotiations had practically been completed to sell the Merchants' Bank to the Bank of Montreal.

An appeal from judgment may be taken by the Crown.

Trial of Sir Montagu Allan was this morning fixed pro forma for September 21, but that is only temporary date to enable counsel for both sides to consult with Chief Judge of Sessions as to when trial shall proceed. In the meantime Sir Montagu was allowed to go on his personal bail that he would appear when required.

As far as the Federal Department of Justice is concerned, proceedings against D. C. Macarow, general manager of the defunct Merchants' Bank, who was this morning found not guilty, are concluded.

E. L. Newcombe, Deputy Minister of Justice, said this morning that there was no appeal from the judgment of Judge Decarie and that nothing further could be done on the charge of signing a false return. Mr. Newcombe pointed out that he was not speaking for the government. "I cannot say what action the government will take," he said.

WILL HEAD BRITISH DELEGATION IN GENEVA

GENEVA, September 14. — Canadian Press. — It is now taken for granted that Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain will arrive here next week and assume the leadership of the British delegation to the League of Nations. Speculation is rife as to what subjects he will deal with when he addresses the assembly. The situation in the Near East is not regarded as ripe for discussion and it is thought that Austria problem and the economic situation in Central Europe will receive his attention.

Present Prices Likely Prevail During Winter

Toronto milk dealers are prophesying cheaper milk for this winter than that offered last year. Last winter citizens paid $1.00 for 15 tickets, but this year, it is anticipated, the price will be 1.00 for 16 tickets. The present rate in Toronto is 17 tickets for $1.00.

The anticipated low rate will be the lowest winter price since the outbreak of the war.

Last year, it was claimed, was an unprofitable season for milk producers, but according to a local dealer, there promises to be plenty of milk in the country this winter.

Farmers express themselves as well pleased with the feed situation, and think there will be more than sufficient feed on hand for all winter needs.

In Peterborough, the present general rate is 20 tickets for a $1.00.

Last winter's price was 18 for $1.00, and local dealers think the same number of tickets will be sold for the same amount this year, without much possibility of a lower price. They consider this a fairly cheap rate.

A BANQUET TO THE MINISTER

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, Was Guest of the City at a Noon Luncheon.

OPENS THE FAIR

At 1.30 o'clock this afternoon the Peterborough Exhibition was officially opened by Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, who is deeply interested in developing the quality of Canada's agricultural products, and in this connection appreciates the importance of Fall Fairs. He discussed this matter in his address, and it was the subject of his remarks at a complimentary luncheon tendered him by the City Council at the Empress Hotel at noon. Mayor W. H. Taylor was chairman, and there were present: G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P.; G. A. Brethen, M.P.; T. Tooms, M.L.A.; E. N. McDonald, M.L.A.; S. S. Staples, M.L.A.; Roland Denne, president of the Fair Board; City Councillors; Warden J. Strickland, County Councillors, Fair Directors, manufacturers, farmers and prominent citizens.

The Minister arrived in the city from Ottawa on the early morning train, and was met at the station by Mr. Gordon. This morning he was shown various plants in the city, and this afternoon looked forward to seeing others. Mayor W. H. Taylor welcomed the Minister to Peterborough, and, voicing the sentiments of the people, thanked him for the deep interest he had shown in Peterborough's Fair by honoring it with his presence at the opening.

Canada's War Debt.

Hon. Motherwell discussed Canada's agricultural situation, and in view of unsettled world conditions, saw the only bright spot in improving the quality of all produce. If the Dominion is to hold its supremacy in world markets it is necessary to produce grains and live stock of the highest standard. He was impressed with the magnitude of Canada's war debt, he said, and the only way it can be paid, he declared, was by hard work and greater agricultural development, and at the same time by activity in other industries. A large portion of this indebtedness must be paid out of the soil. Upon the extent of the export market depends the capacity of the Dominion to pay its debt, and the time has now come for ceasing to talk about improving quality and to get busy and perform it, he declared.

During the war, he said, "pigs were pigs," but that period is over, and while other countries have got back to pre-war quality in bacon, Canada has been somewhat caught off its guard. Hon. Motherwell outlined the competition Canada has with Denmark and Ireland in the bacon industry, and the only way he said, to keep on the British market is to make Canada's bacon better. The grading of hogs, which he said the Department hoped to start in a month, is expected to improve the quality of the export. The Minister advocated to-day the grading of all agricultural products so that the FEEDS PRISONERS CHICKEN; $150,000 PROFIT IN YEAR!

DETROIT, Sept. 14.—How he can feed 1,835 men at 13.6 cents a day, and give them fresh strawberries and radishes in season, and chicken fricassee for holidays, was told by Warden Harry L. Hulburt, of the Michigan State Prison in Jackson, before the Conopus Club in the Hotel Statler here.

The institution is self-supporting, Mr. Hulburt said, turning over a profit of more than $150,000 last year. He described it as the largest industrial prison, and the largest honor prison in the country. It has 10 industrial plants, and a 4,000-acre farm, all operated by inmates. Of the 500 men who work the farm, he said, 27 are lifers.

The canning plant, Mr. Hulburt asserted, turned out products which were in demand for their excellence, throughout the state. The prison-canned pumpkin, he insisted, was of such succulence as to require only one batch, made into a pie, to heal the bitterest marital feud.

Handling a big prison successfully requires knowledge of the human element, Mr. Hulburt said. He declared that, while discipline was maintained to such an extent that his mere presence in the dining-room brought absolute quiet, every prisoner knew that he could go to him with his troubles, and his mediation had made things easier for families of prisoners, and for discharged men who otherwise would find it hard to get work.

A party of members of the club will visit the prison at a date to be announced later.

JOCKEY CLUB WILL NOW COME ACROSS

Money Collected in Race Track Gambling to Be Paid to Government.

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—The sum of $218,290 collected by Ontario Jockey Club at spring meeting at Woodbine race track and paid into court to abide by decision as to the validity of five per cent. tax on wagering will now be paid out to the Ontario government.

Jockey Club will collect five per cent. at the coming fall meeting and will pay it direct to government who will protect the club from legal actions by bettors who believe the tax to be ultra vires of Provincial Government.

Costs of club to be paid out of the funds of the court. This is the effect of a settlement reached to-day by N. W. Rowell, K.C., for Ontario Government and W. N. Tilley, K.C., representing the Jockey Club.

ISSUED STATEMENT ON IRISH SITUATION

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—De Valera last night issued statement in comment upon Rich ard Mulcahy's speech in southern Irish Parliament Tuesday, says an exchange telegraph despatch from Dublin in which he again declared that treaty party had broken its pact with his party at bidding of Premier Lloyd George and colonial Secretary Churchill. After this breach of faith, he said, Republicans were unable to avert terrible state of things now obtaining.

"Treaty party want to win cheap military Glory', he added, "and then present fait accompli to those who differ with them. I stand by every word I spoke during election campaign."

A SHORT REPREIEVE FOR BENNY SWIM

WOODSTOCK, N.B., Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Benny Swim, condemned to die to-morrow morning for killing Olive Swim Trenholm at Benton Ridge, March 26 will probably not be executed then as arranged owing to the fact that A. M. Holmes, Montreal official hangman, has met with an accident and will not be able to come this week. Sheriff Foster has appealed to Chief Justice McKeown for reprieve until October 6th.

RUM RUNNING SCHOONER ESCORTED INTO PORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Two master schooner H. M. Gardner, from Nova Scotia Port, was brought into harbor today by dry navy boat Taylor and one hundred cases of liquor with fifty-six thousand dollars in gold was taken to Customs House. Gardner was seized last night off Scotland light.

STRIKE SETTLEMENT FELT IN CANADA.

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Asked to-day what effect the settlement of the shop crafts' strike onc one-fourth of the United States railways would have on the Canadian situation, R. J. Tallon, president of Division Four Railway Employees, said to-day the terms reached are good from the point of view of the men, and that the agreement can be expected to spread to other roads. What has taken place in the United States will be considered by the men's committee here and will determine the line of action.

The Pipe Organ Of George Street Being Repaired

The pipe organ at George Street Methodist Church is undergoing extensive repairs and additions at the present time, and it is expected that it will be in splendid shape for the annual church anniversary, which takes place on 8th October.

Four sets of reeds, aggregating 247 pipes, which have been in bad shape for some time past, are being re-voiced, and two new sets of reeds are being installed; the vox humana, with 61 notes, and the vox celeste, with 49 notes.

It is anticipated that these changes will make considerable improvement in the general condition of the organ, which has been in use for a long term of years.

The work, which is in the hands of Leonard Downey, of London, will cost in the neighbourhood of one thousand dollars.

On the occasion of the church anniversary this year, the special preacher will be Rev. Dr. Trevor Davies, of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto.

GERMANY REMOVES THE TAX ON FOOD

Canadian Foodstuffs Can Enter German Markets Free of Duty.

It is evident by the 5th Supplement to No. 25, 4th edition of the tariff of Germany, received by the Chamber of Commerce ,that Germany is in need of food-stuffs.

The new amendment to the tariff class places practically all foodstuffs on the free list, such as rye; wheat and spelt; barley, oats, buckwheat, millet, maize, corn and sheaves; malt (except that roasted or ground) rice not cleaned; beans for fodder; lupines, vetches, potatoes; sugar beetroots; all fruits; bacon. game (furred, dead, even cut up, unprepared), butter (fresh, salted or melted), cheese, eggs, flour, margarine, margarine cheese, condensed milk (with or without the addition of sugar); alimentary and consumable articles of all kinds except beverages in air-tight receptacles,so far as the latter are not subject to higher duty as such, that is milk, in all cases; and in addition to the above food stuffs, horses, regardless of the object of importation. value and height of the horses mules; horned cattle, sheep, pigs; poultry are admitted free.

With the report of favorable crops in Canada this should prove a good opening for the export of Canadian products.

DISASTER MAY FOLLOW AFTER GREEK DEFEAT

International Conference May Be Necessary to Solve the Eastern Situation—Soviet Restless.

AN ALARMIST TONE

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Nothing but a miracle can avert disaster if the powers fail to agree on concerted action in the Near Eastern situation, is the burden of editorial opinion expressed here in this morning's newspapers, some of which adopted a distinctly alarming tone. One sentiment that dominates is the fear lest France, although agreeing to the maintenance of neutrality of Constantinople and the Straits of Dardenelles, may interpret legitimate aspirations of the Turks in such a manner as to prevent the co-operation of Britain. Many fears are acute. Turkish military aggression is feared, military activity in the Balkans is feared. The incursion of the Russian Soviets into the trouble is also feared, while behind all is the restless menace of the immense Moslem population of India and other communities.

The impression is growing here that a Turkish peace can only be arranged in a large international conference in which Russia, Roumania, Bulgaria, and the other Balkan States participate. This impression is based in part upon the renewed expression of Russia's attitude regarding the Straits of the Dardanelles as contained in a note of protest against the Allied action in Constantinople, sent to Great Britain, in which she demands the question be settled primarily by the Powers that use the Black Sea as an outlet to the ocean.

DEVELOPING THE PAPER INDUSTRY

This is a "Paper Age"—Canada Leads in Production.

GROVETON, N.H., September 14 (Canadian Press). — The common interest of Canada and the United States in the paper manufacturing industry was explained by Edward Beck, manager of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, in an address here tonight He made a plea for a mutual understanding of what each country should mean to the other in this respect.

He declared that Canada is destined soon to outstrip all other countries in the production of woodpulp, newsprint, and coarser grades of paper, in which she is fast overtaking the United States, her chief rival, as well as to become an increasingly important factor in the production of fine and miscellaneous papers.

Groveton is a paper mill town, and the site of several mills owned and operated from Canada.

Mr. Beck gave a brief history of the development of the paper making industry in the Dominion, showing that while production in the United States has virtually stood still since 1913, it has tripled in Canada. He said that United States citizens own more than one-fourth of all the stocks and bonds and other securities invested in the industry in Canada. The United States was unable to supply its full requirements of paper, but had to depend on Canada, while Canada recognised the advantage of the United States market and was entirely willing to co-operate in the common interest, he added.

In conclusion, Mr. Beck pointed out the many new uses that were being found for paper and paper products. This, he said, was "paper age," and without paper art, education, and even civilisation itself would find it very difficult to make substantial progress.

PLOT DISCOVERED.

BELFAST, September 14. Canadian Press. — The Ulster government has discovered a plot to blow up or scuttle the steamer Argenta, on which 300 Sinn Feiners are interned at Larne Lough, County Antrim.

THE EXHIBITION BARNS AND PENS OVERFLOW WITH PETERBOROUGH'S BEST LIVESTOCK SHOW

Many Exhibitors Here From a Distance for the First Time—Cattle Classes Swollen With Entries and Accommodation Has Proved Inadequate—Display of Horses a Feature of the Show.

FARMERS HAVE DONE THEIR PART WELL

In all the livestock classes Peterboro's exhibition has now attained with ample measure the progress planned by the directors for this year. The display of cattle and horses is particularly encouraging, and is a matter of congratulation not only to the directors in charge of these classes but to the whole Board, and to the farmers whose interest and co-operation has made this new high record possible.

It has become somewhat trite to say that the Exhibition surpasses all its forerunners, but even a cursory visit to the pens and stalls indicates the extent of the increase over last year's big show. The cattle-breeders are coming to the Peterboro Exhibition in larger number than ever, and also from longer distances. The main barn is full and also the outdoor stall along the east side of the park. Other cattle are shown on the south side and additional outdoor accommodation has been provided on the west side of the cattle barn itself.

President Denne's announcement on Saturday night last that the entries would be at least 30 per cent. more than usual, has been fully realized, and in the cattle class the percentage of increase may be even higher than thirty.

The showing of horses fulfills all the hopes and expectations of the directors who are in the happy position of being able to parade before the Hon. Mr. Motherwell, Federal Minister of Agriculture, an extensive and impressive array of live-stock. The sheep and swine pens, even to the last of the new ones that were built this summer, are occupied, and the entry list reveals the names of exhibitors in those classes who are showing for the first time in Peterboro.

Of the poultry section it is sufficient to say that the number of coops appears to be double last year's, and all of them are in use. The special building for this class has an annex of two tents, and all their available space is crowded two and three tiers high.

As far as exhibits go the directors have a splendid attraction for the public and those who are interested in good horses, cattle, sheep and swine will find a big display in each class. The flowers and vegetables have maintained their usual quality and comprehensiveness, and the other classes are also well filled.

Some of the new exhibitors who were noticed this morning were G. A. M. Davison of Unionville in York County, who has horses; W. J. Trebelco, of Woodville, with sheep; Peterson Brothers, of Warkworth. It is noteworthy that Peterboro's exhibition is bringing more farmers every year from Northumberland County, and there are many others in that district who will eventually show at this Fair. Garnet and Thos. Kerr of Campbellford, who came last fall for the first time, are back again with exhibits of cattle. Some of the others noticed are Frank Andrews of Norwood, poultry, George Hutchinson and Son of Warkworth; John A. Bent and F. C. F. Bent, of Omemee; Mossom Boyd Company, of Bobcaygeon, Hereford cattle; Bowles Brothers, J. W. Balsom, of Hampton; T. Bottrell and Son, Bowmanville.

THE OPENING DAY.

The opening day of the Peterborough Exhibition measured up to the expectations of the directors, and as a result of the success of inaugurating the Fair under Children's Day, it is likely the event will be an annual feature. Yesterday the youngsters of the city combined to set the Exhibition off to a good start, and it remains for the adults to follow their splendid example. The turnstiles show that 4,500 children were on the grounds and the paid attendance was four times as great as on the opening day last year. The children had a monopoly of the grounds and programme yesterday, but that did not stop the grown-ups from crowding in, and the showing made, in spite of the inclement weather, caused President Roland Denne and Treasurer E. B. Fowler to be smiling broadly this morning. The response of the city and country people on the opening day told the Fair workers that the Exhibition has lost none of its appeal, and all that is needed to push the total attendance to a new record is radiant weather. Unfortunately this is hard to get at this season, but some of the workers find assurance in the advent of rain at the opening as removing the dreaded possibility of a wet and desultory close. Those who have worked to bring the Fair to a new pinnacle of importance want to see it close with a bang.

The Children's Races.

The rain hesitated to come down yesterday afternoon, but it was inevitable. The children's races were just nicely under way and had to be postponed. Walter Smaill was in charge, and some of the events were proceeded with, but those unfinished will be held Saturday afternoon, providing an additional feature for that day. The grand stand was packed with children, and, led by Bert. Caldwell, of Toronto, the enthusiastic songster, the crowd of boys and girls enjoyed themselves thoroughly. The song leader was undaunted by the downpour, and made use of a closed car. The children were out of the wet and all were happy. Mr. Caldwell is able to inject plenty of pep into old favorites, and his solo numbers, particularly the popular hit, "Why Should I Cry Over You?" seemed to please everyone.

Webber Turner noticed the musical tendency of the crowd and he offered prizes to the boy or girl who would sing before the others. Master Perks and Miss Waterhouse promptly came forward and won two dollars each for solos that made a hit. At four o'clock the vaudeville programme, held up on account of the rain, was proceedd with. Every act measured up to all the good things Mr. Turner, chairman of the Amusement Committee, had said. The artistic and spectacular feats drew rounds of applause, and the programme is one of the best the committee have ever been able to provide. The acts include the La Salle Trio, circus clowns and comedy acrobats; Lloyd's Animal Circus, the Lorraine Troupe, wire artists; the Tyson Sisters, who hang by their teeth in mid-air, the Morocco Troupe, famous tumblers, Lune Bros., head and hand balancers, and Shorty Campbell, the Western Cowboy.

Speeding in the Ring.

The artists again appeared in the evening at eight o'clock, and the grand stand was again filled. The Peterborough Rangers Band gave a concert in the afternoon and in the evening, and these concerts will be daily features. The pyrotechnical display, which commenced at 9.30 o'clock, was better than in other years, and some new and beautiful effects were shown. There will be another splendid display this evening, but to-morrow night this feature will be replaced by the Peterborough Male Voice Choir, under the direction of Mr. J. Renwick. The choir will sing from the platform in front of the grand stand, and the three numbers announced to-day were: "One Fleeting Hour," "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," and the "Old Brigade."

Speeding in the ring commences this afternoon, and the generous nurses have attracted many horses. Between the heats the vaudeville performance will be held and the Regimental Band will play.

HERMAN SECURES A LONDON PAPER

London Advertiser is Due For a Change in Ownership and Politics.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(Special.)—The sale of the London Advertiser by the Advertiser Publishing Co., to W. F. Herman, of Saskatoon and Windsor, is said to be awaiting ratification to-day. The directors of the Huron and Erie Mortgage Corporation, will have the final say in the matter, as the Advertiser was listed with other Purdom assets, and the merger with the Dominion Savings Company. The paper, which in the past has been a strong Liberal organization, is to be independent, and J. E. Young, of the Border Cities Star, is to be managing editor. Mr. Herman is already publisher of the Saskatoon Star and the Regina Post and the Border Cities Star. The transfer is fixed for October first.

DELORME CASE UP AGAIN IN COURTS

Certificate Produced Declaring Delorme Capable of Managing His Own Affairs.

MONTREAL, Q., Sept. 14. — (Canadian Press.)— Hearing of the petition of Adelard Tetrault to have Adelard Delorme, now in Beaufort asylum, declared incapable of managing his estate, began before Justice Coderre in a crowded court this morning.

During the reading of the certificate made by Dr. Brochu, superintendent of the asylum, on Sept. 7, to the effect that Delorme was lucid and sane, Rosa Delorme, one of the three sisters who are opposing the petition, rose to her feet and cried her approval .At the end of the case, when the hearing was adjourned, she collided with Tetrault when the spectators were leaving court. With an angry exclamation she thrust out her hands and struck at him, who, however, elbowed his way into the room without stopping.

Certificate declaring that Delorme was capable of managing his affairs was presented by counsel opposing petition. Another certificate presented by Counsel Monette, representing the petitioner, and made by Dr. Brochu on July 16, 1922, quoted the superintendent as declaring that Adelard Delorme, who had been admitted to the asylum for cause of insanity, was still in the same condition and incapable of looking after his affairs.

STRIKE SETTLEMENT WILL BE BENEFICIAL

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—"The effect should be stabilizing and beneficial", said Hon James Murdock, Minister of Labor this morning, when discussing the United States railroad strike settlement in its relation to the Canadian Situation. "Railway employees in Canada will be in a position to see what their fellow employees in the United States have been able to do."

The Minister had no further information to give in regard to the ship crafts dispute in Canada. The department, it is understood, is awaiting the result of direct negotiations between the companies and their employees.

RAILWAYS JOIN IN STRIKE SETTLEMENT

Roads Representing Thirty-five Per Cent. of the Mileage Sign Up.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Advices to Labor Department to-day from representatives in Chicago said that railroads representing approximately 35 per cent. of mileage in the United States had signified their intention of ending shopmens strike on basis of agreement accepted yesterday by shop crafts' general policy committee and that roads representing an additional thirty per cent were ready to end strike.

Dust and Disease

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP

If you have ever looked a dust through a microscope you undoubtedly realize its danger as a disease carrier.

In addition to germs, it may contain tiny solids that stretch and tear the lungs and repiratory tract, as well as other substances that may poison and produce disease in the system.

The analysis of dust discloses such things as bits or hair, parts of dead flies grains of sand,, fragments of wood and paper, pieces of string and of finger nails, shreds of leather and rags, horsehair, straw and tufts of fur.

Imagine breathing all this into your lungs!

Dust is held responsible for many cases of tuberculosis. Drying kills many germs but not those of tuberculosis.

Sunlight is a cure for some germs but it cannot be depended upon always.

The shaking of carpets is a great menace to health. The rug is gradually replacing the tacked-down carpet but some people still stick to the latter. In such cases: the carpet is taken up and shaken once or twice a year at house-cleaning time. Nevertheless, they retain quantites or dirt and, incidentally, many germs. Even in homes where the most cleanly habits prevail, sneezing and coughing may infect the carpets or dirt from the street or back yard may be tracked into the house on shoes.

Bacteria in the air are not necessarily harmful, yet great accumulations of them on fruit or foods are liable to prove a serious menace to health, and it is here the danger lies. Care should be taken to guard foods from dust and street filth.

U.S. INTENDS TO USE TARIFF AS A WEAPON

Will Operate New Tariff Regulations to Force Other Nations Not to Discriminate Against U. S.

PRESIDENT'S POWER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—What is to be the effect of the new tariff measure on reciprocal tariff policy hereafter is being closely studied by many members of Congress. It is declared by members of the House Ways and Means Committee who had a large part in shaping the conference report, that the purpose of the bill is not to encourage reciprocity but rather to force other nations not to discriminate against the United Staes in their tariffs.

A prominent authority yesterday declared that under the new bill the president would have power to force changes for the benefit of the United States in the preferential tariffs as between Great Britain and Canada or other dominions if the president should choose under the flexible tariff authority to go that far. It is not believed the president would attempt to interfere with the preferential arrangements, but it is pointed out the flexible provisions afford him a tariff club of tremendous power if he sees fit to use it vigorously. Attempts by other countries to give preference which hurt United States trade in general will be met with retaliation from this country according to the talk in Ways and Means Committee and finance committee circles even though exception be made as to the tariffs between Great Britain and her dominions.

Dutch Settlers Coming to Canada

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—An influx of experienced agriculturists from Holland to Canada is likely, according to Baron J. C. C. Sandberg, who left Ottawa yesterday for Toronto after interviewing Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, and other members of the Government. Baron Sandberg was in Ottawa representing the Government of Holland, which proposes a scheme of assisted emigration of farmers and agricultural laborers and their families.

ASK CREDITORS TO BE LENIENT

Premier Dunning Asks Financiers Not to Use Court Procedure to Collect Farmer Debts.

REGINA, Sask., September 14. — Canadian Press. — A warning to the creditors of the farmers of Saskatchewan that the wholesale use of court procedure for the collection of their debts will react against their own interests in the final analysis, and an appeal to them to extend all possible leniency to their agrarian debtors in the province, was delivered yesterday by Premier Dunning at opening of the conference on the financial situation, called by the government of Saskatchewan.

With upwards of 50 representatives in attendance the session opened at 11 o'clock. The delegates were from farmers' organizations, municipal groups, financial institutions and business houses of all descriptions.

"We are nearer to the necessity of a moratorium in Saskatchewan now than we have ever been before," said Premier Dunning, "and I say that with a full knowledge of the seriousness of the situation."

The premier made the announcement, during his opening address that the system of intervention between pressing creditors and financially weak debtors operated by the Saskatchewan Government in the past, is to be extended.

At the present time the government keeps one man, Edward Oliver debt adjustment commissioner, as mediator between the two classes, and he is being inundated with appeals from debtors for relief from collection agents.

"The government has decided to extend the work which has been done by Mr. Oliver," said the Premier.

"DOLLAR" PRINCESS QUEEN OF GREECE

The Former Mrs. Wm. D. Leeds May Succeed to the Throne If Constantine Abdicates.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—An American woman—the former Mrs. Wm. D. Leeds, widow of the tin plate king—may become the queen of Greece in case King Constantine, whose throne is tottering, because of Turkish victories, abdicates.

In high Greek circles here yesterday it was believed that Constantine, who is blamed for the disastrous war in which the Greeks have been driven from large portions of Asia Minor, will abdicate in favor of his brother, Prince Christopher, husband of Mrs. Leeds.

It was said to be through her influence, in part, that King Constantine was returned to the throne.

The son of the "dollar" princess, Wm. D. Leeds, Jr., married also into Greek royalty, becoming the husband of Princess Zenia nearly a year ago.

Venizelos, veteran statesman of Greece, was in Paris yesterday to confer with French officials. Since the discussion of Constantine's probable abdication, the return to power of the aged statesman has been freely discussed.

FRENCH CABINET WILL DECIDE THE FATE OF GERMANY

Strong Feeling to Have Commission Declare Germany in Voluntary Default of Payments.

BELGIUM'S POSITION.

PARIS, September 14. Canadian Press. — The manner in which the new reparation crisis will be settled depends largely upon the decision of the French cabinet at a meeting to be held at Chamboillet this morning, at which President Millerand will preside. It is generally believed that Belgium, Great Britain and Italy would approve the extension of the treasury notes from 6 to 12 months, providing France consented, but there is a strong feeling a ong the members of the French cabinet that the Reparations Commission should declare Germany in voluntary default of her payments.

It is reliably reported last night that in return for such a decision by the commission, Premier Poincare would be willing to hold up the occupation of the Ruhr until after a consultation with the other Allies.

Efforts for a compromise are held in abeyance until the Cabinet's decision is announced and in the meantime it is not expected that Belgium will formally lay the matter before the commission until every means is exhausted.

The German delegates, Carl Bergmann and Dr. Fischer, are quietly awaiting developments, expressing as little concern over the outcome as they did over the recent crisis. Germany's reply to Belgium's formal demands for the deposit of 100,000,000 gold marks has not yet been received but it is expected to be in effect a refusal.

Belgium, it is explained in reparation circles, finds herself in a difficult position; she desires to support France in every possible way, but at the same time feels that the necessities of the moment and economic facts demand an extension of time.

Should France refuse all compromises and force action by the commission Belgium is expected to vote with the French delegates, declaring, declaring Germany is voluntary default. A motion to this effect would be defeated, it is said, until Italy and Great Britain have been given a definite promise that France will not proceed to enforce penalties without prolonged considerations of the matter with her allies.

END OF RAILWAY STRIKE IN SIGHT

Individual Peace Agreements Will Be Negotiated With the Various Railroads.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—B. M. Jewell, head of the striking railway shop craft, announced last night that the Union's policy committee of ninety had authorized him to negotiate individual peace agreements with the railroads of the country based on the terms of a general settlement plan adopted by the policy committee.

Mr. Jewell said: "We have agreed to the terms of a settlement yielding wherever possible and standing where there was no other avenue open honorably to those we represent."

All men are to return to work in positions of the class originally held on June 30, 1922, at the same point, according to the statement issued by the policy committee.

The basis of the settlement as understood here follows along lines of a tentative agreement recently worked out by B. M. Jewell, leader of the striking shopmen and Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio.

This plan has been understood to involve briefly the return to work of all strikers except those who have been engaged in violence, retention by the carriers of all men now at work, and adjudiciary of disputed questions by committees representing the railways and their employees. What disposition was made of the troublesome seniority was not known here. Officials at the labor department said it was probable that ten or twelve additional roads would adjust their differences and resume normal service. The roads which have already signed the agreement to resume normal relationships with the unions will, it was predicted, be able to utilize the services of practically all the workers who went out when a general strike was called.

WILL RETURN.

WISCASHET, Maine, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press)—Donald B. MacMillan, explorer, plans to return to Arctic in July next year, sailing from this port in Bowdoin.

He declared that most important discovery on his exploration trip to Baffin land was that it is a narrow Peninsula and not great land as mapped.

Biggest and Best First Day in The History of the Exhibition

Entries in All Classes Are Unusually Large and Everything Points to a New Record in the Matter of Attendance—Yesterday Was Children's Day.

The Peterboro Industrial Exhibition started off yesterday with the largest first-day crowd in its history and the prospects are even brighter than ever for a record attendance for the four days of the fair. Slightly unfavorable weather conditions did not daunt the ardor of the afternoon pleasure seekers and the fine cool evening which followed was a distinct invitation to turn out and see the sights.

The afternoon program was devoted entirely to the children and it was estimated that about 4500 were in attendance with a goodly number of grown ups to look after the young charges. A few of them failed to seek shelter in time to dodge the shower of the afternoon, but a little thing like a wetting did not in any way detract from the keen enjoyment with which the youngsters made the rounds. The merry-go-round did a thriving business while the children held sway and the balloon peddlers were kept busy supplying the demands on their trade.

For the more serious minded the exhibits themselves presented an appearance which was in itself a pleasure. In the livestock department, with a greatly increased entry list, could be seen the finest in the district in the way of cattle, horses, sheep, pigs, and poultry, a sight to gladden the heart of any Canadian farmer. The entries for the cattle exhibit alone exceeded that of any previous year by almost 100 entries.

The main building in which was housed the merchants' exhibits was also the mecca of many and is well worth the attention it attracted, presenting as it did the work of practically every industry in the city.

The program for today will include the official opening at 1.30 o'clock, on which occasion an address will be given by Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture in the Dominion house. The afternoon program will include horse racing, vaudeville performances and of course the midway with all its attraction for young and old.

One of the big features of the evening will be the community singing led by Bert Caldwell of Toronto. Moving pictures will also form a special attraction and the day will be closed with a grand display of fireworks at 10 o'clock.

The grand stand performances are also worth of special attention for they are highly spoken of on every side and include the best attraction ever brought here by the Exhibition board.

It is Peterboro's best fair and a great deal will be missed by those who do not attend.

LOST A LEG--WAS MADE A POSTMAN

Another Man Without Hands and Minus a Foot Was Appointed to Load Mail Trucks.

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Without hands and minus one foot—appointed as a loader of mail trucks.

With only one leg—appointed as a letter-carrier.

These are two samples of Dominion Civil Service Commission "efficiency" which have aroused the wrath of members of the Amputation Association, who are still awaiting a reply from Chairman Foran of the Civil Service Commission as to what action will be taken with regard to the mix-up.

The association has from time to time sent lists of men who have been partially disabled, some of them being absolutely unfit for any sort of labor, to the commission at Ottawa. With these lists, which at the present time include altogether from 200 to 300 names, there has also been a statement as to the condition of each man, and naming his disability. If, for instance, the veteran was minus a leg or an arm, that disability was named.

When positions have been available in Toronto Postoffice, these lists are sent to the local authorities from the commission. But the officials of the Amputation Association, after some investigation, have found out that, instead of sending the statement of the man's disability along with his name, they have simply sent the list of names.

The association has written several letters to Chairman Foran, with so far no reply.

"We do not know whether he intends to ignore us, or what, but we are keeping after him," stated Secretary Sutcliffe.

"The fault does not lie with the local postal authorities, but is simply a result of bungles and red tape at Ottawa."

WOMAN MEMBER RETURNS MONEY

Mrs. Irene Parlby Only Member of Alberta Government to Refund $250 Indemnity.

EDMONTON, Sept. 14.— Hon. Mrs. Irene Parlby, minister without portfolio in the farmer government of Alberta, and the only woman member of the present legislature, is showing the way to mere males in the house. She has returned the $250 she received from the province as indemnity for the special session of the house last summer, and so far she is the only member of the house to thus respond to the various resolutions by U.F.O. locals.

Premier Greenfield declines to make any comment on Mrs. Parlby's action beyond stating that he will reserve his remarks for the fall session of the legsliature.

There is little doubt but that this $250 indemnity will take a somewhat prominent part in the debates at the coming session. It now is predicted that the outcome will either be a general refunding of a portion of the indemnity for the 1922-23 session. There is even some talk of a permanent reduction in the sessional indemnity which undoubtedly would prove popular with those locals of the U.F.A. that have been objecting so strenuously to the $250 vote.

N. S. RUM-RUNNERS DESERVE KINDNESS, AS STUFF IS GOOD.

NEW YORK, September 14. — A little kindness toward the Nova Scotia rum-runners was urged here by Governor MacCallum Grant, of Nova Scotia, at a luncheon given at the Lawyers' Club to a delegation from the British Sulgrave Institute.

"We have quite a number of rum-runners who go from Nova Scotia to your country," he said to the 1,000 diners.

"Be kind to them, for they are thinking of you, and they know you need it. The stuff they bring is good."

A man never pushes ahead by just patting himself on the back.

IRISH PARLIAMENT WILL ESTABLISH A CIVIL GOVERNMENT

Civil Guards Will Be Used to Maintain Order and Magistrates Will Be Appointed.

FINANCIAL REPORT.

DUBLIN, Sept. 14.— (Canadian Press.)— Kevin O'Higgins, the Home Minister, announced in Parliament yesterday that certain areas in South Ireland now were ripe for the extension and consolidation of civil government and it was proposed to send a civic guard at an early date to follow up the army in the districts where the army had restored conditions permitting the civic guard to function. After that, stipendiary magistrates would be appointed and a committee established to review the entire system of administering justice, with a view to re-construction.

William Cosgrave as Finance Minister, presented the accounts of the old Dail Eireann, which were adopted, and Richard Mulcahy, Mgr. Fogarty and Dr. Richard Hayes were appointed trustees of the Dail Eireann fund, Mr. Cosgrave said the fund would be wound up and utilized to clear off the liabilities to those who had paid for the bonds, the Government supplementing the amount.

Minister O'Higgins' statement was made in reply to a question by Joseph McBride as to when civil government would be in operation in the southern districts. Mr. O'Higgins admitted that the civic guard had not been a particularly happy force; certain troubles had delayed their training but this had been remedied, and it was hoped the force would become worthy servants of the people. He thought that within two or three weeks it would be possible to have civic guards throughout very large areas and that they would prove efficient machinery for executing the magistrates' decrees.

President Cosgrave's statement for the half year ending June 30, showed the principal items in receipts was the sum of £34,780 from America in connection with the loan of $400,000. The balance on hand amounted to £116,000.

Postmaster Walsh in a statement on the postal strike said that the workers were dribbling back and he hoped to present a favorable report in a few days. The Government was still determined to reunite communications, strike or no strike.

Ernest Blythe, Minister of Local Government, in reply to a question, said that the Government's policy regarding Ulster was still under consideration. He thought the president would soon be able to make a statement.

High Cost of Living Drops in England

LONDON, Sepjt. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—A substantial fall of wholesale prices particularly of many articles of food is shown by official statistics relating to August, average reductions compared with July being 2.5 per cent.

Food prices fell on an average over 5 per cent., industrial materials 1 pe rcent. There were important reductions in cereals.

MAJOR MACLAURIN DEAD BY DROWNING

Doctor Says Injuries Were Not Sufficient to Cause Death — Was Pinned Under His Plane.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Death by drowning due to an accident, was the verdict returned at the inquest yesterday into the death of Major Claire MacLaurin of the Canadian Air Service, one of the victims of Monday's flying boat accident in English Bay. What caused the airplane to fall, the jury was unable to ascertain and attached no blame to any one.

Dr. G. F. Curtis, who performed the post mortem examination, told the jury that the injuries received by Major MacLaurin were only of a superficial nature and death had been caused by drowning. In his opinion Major MacLaurin had been rendered unconscious when the machine fell into the bay and that had he been extricated within a few minutes from the machine, his life would have been saved.

Major MacLaurin's body was sent to Lachine, Que., where his parents reside, for burial, last night.

SAY UNION HEADS GAVE SANCTION TO VIOLENCE BY MEN

Federal Attorneys Make This Charge in Chicago District Court.

AGAINST SHOPMEN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—"Officials of the Railroad Shopmen's Union sanctioned and encouraged violence by striking members," Federal attorneys charged yesterday in United States District Court here.

A. M. McLaughlin, assistant to Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty, in arguing before Judge James H. Wilkerson on making the Government injunction to break the strike permanent, declared:

"We intend to show that the union officials were not acting in good faith when they claimed they did not approve of violence. The evidence will disclose that they actually argued their men to do everything possible to hinder traffic."

When Donald Richberg, attorney for the unions, attempted to demand a classification of the evidence which the Government was presenting, in order to speed up proceedings, Federal counsel said they expected to complete their arguments by Saturday noon.

Judg. Wilkerson said the hearing would have to be completed within the ten days' period over which the temporary injunction was extended, as the writ could not be continued in force for another period.

Richberg said refusal of the Government attorneys to classify their affidavits would force him to make a separate argument on each piece of evidence presented, which would result in continuing the arguments for several weeks.

THE DUTY OF THE PUBLIC.

The weather man has not dealt too kindly with the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

That makes it all the more necessary that the people of the district should lend their fullest support.

The expenditures this year have been perhaps the heaviest in the history of the Exhibition, which means that unless the patronage is correspondingly large there may be a deficit.

The directors are not of the type who whimper at bad luck. They are prepared to square their shoulders and go forward.

There will, however, be nothing to worry about if the Exhibition is patronized for the balance of the week as it should be.

It is agreed that no finer Exhibition has ever been held in Peterborough than the present one. Exhibitors have responded as never before, and the showing in all lines leaves previous records behind.

All that is needed to ensure success now is for a rallying of the people of this section of Ontario tomorrow and Saturday.

"Pack all your troubles in your old kit bag and Smile, Smile, Smile."

THE ALBERTA "GRAB."

The advent of women into public life certainly complicates politics.

Out in Alberta there has been much criticism of the action of the Legislature in voting an indemnity of $250 for a special session held during the summer.

Various United Farmers of Alberta clubs have passed scathing resolutions condemning the legislators for this salary "grab."

Old politicians, hardened to that sort of thing, have pocketed their indemnities and shown no signs of weakening.

Not so with Mrs. Irene Parlby, the only woman member of the Legislature, who has returned her indemnity.

Mrs. Parlby happens to be a Minister without portfolio in the Farmer Government, and her action is a source of embarrassment to her colleagues, to say nothing of the private members of the Legislature.

Premier Greenfield declines to say anything about the matter now, reserving his remarks for the fall session of the Legislature.

Doubtless he and his fellow-Ministers have already said enough in private about the return of Mrs. Parlby's indemnity.

The advent of women into public life certainly complicates politics.

TRAFFIC REGULATIONS.

Improvements to the Motor Vehicles Act are being considered by a special committee of the Ontario Legislature.

The real difficulty seems to be not that the Act as it stands is defective, but that it is not enforced as it should be.

Most of the accidents are due to infractions of the present regulations.

If they could be enforced as they are laid down the roads would be much safer for those who have to travel.

At the same time the committee should consider the question of compelling all vehicles abroad at night to be illuminated.

One of the greatest dangers on Ontario's roads is the horse-driven vehicle that does not carry a light.

Bicycles without lights are another source of trouble.

The City of Toronto, with its splendid lighted streets, has, by a vote of its citizens, adopted a by-law that compels every vehicle to be lighted.

If such a measure is required in Toronto, it is evident that it is much more imperative to call for similar precautions on the dark country roads.

The hostility of farmers to such legislation is difficult to understand. It might reasonably be thought that for their own protection they would not care to venture upon the highways with unilluminated vehicles.

TIME TO BEGIN.

Evidence is not lacking in the memorandum just issued by the Minister of Immigration and Colonization that the Government is awake to the urgency of the immigration problem, says The Montreal Star. There has been a great deal talked and written about this subject, but the announcement of policy from the Hon Charles Stewart's office is the first practical proof the country has had that the present Government is tackling the matter seriously. Mr Stewart lays particular emphasis upon the fact that it is desired to populate the rural districts, and not to swell the population of the cities and towns. In this he speaks wisely, for to add to unemployment by bringing into this country additional artisans and professional men at a time when every effort is being strained to provide work for those already here, would obviously be the height of folly.

The agriculturalist and the young people of both sexes are wanted. There is room and to spare for them; and work and to spare, in settling new areas. Co-operation between the Government, the various private companies interested and the British overseas settlement scheme involves not only the settlement of a large acreage of land annually, adjacent to the railways, but the importation of settlers with means from Great Britain, the United States, Scandinavia and other continental countries, and the migration of people from our cities and towns on to the land.

The Minister very properly lays emphasis upon the need for a most careful selection of boys and girls in Great Britain. This work has been entrusted to Mr. J. Bogue Smart, who is prepared at any time to bring over a large number of desirable children to be placed in rural homes here. Canada has not always been fortunate in such selections in the past, mainly because they have been made haphazard and without due consideration of the adaptability of the children, but there must be no such errors committed in the future, for there is no excuse for them, under existing conditions.

If the expectations of the Minister in regard to the repatriation of a very large number of Canadians from the United States is realized, this will bring us the best kind of settlers possible. But in any case we must get more people on the land, and get them soon. It is in this direction that the Government's memorandum is welcome, if it may be taken to presage action. There should be a definite campaign outlined and set in full swing during the winter, in order that with the coming of next spring the tide of immigration may set in smoothly. The longer we delay, the more difficult it becomes for Canada to maintain her position among the nations. A country as vast as this must inevitably go backwards if her population remains stationary. It is by opening up the land that we shall make progress, and by that way alone. The Government has a big responsibility in this direction, and we hope that responsibility has been fully recognized.

THE FATE OF UNIONISM.

We are being constantly reminded that resistance to strikes is an effort to destroy unionism. But the evidence offered is no convincing. It is exceedingly doubtful if any organized plan to achieve that end has been formed among groups of employers, or on the part of that vague force spoken of as "Capital;" for the sufficient reason that there is not, either in Canada or in the United States, any consolidated opinion hostile to the principle of unionism. If any steps were taken in that direction they would certainly fail. Workers not only have the right to co-operate for the protection and promotion of their interests, but there is a very strong and positive public feeling behind them in so doing. There may be more or less concerted action to combat the blunders committed in the name of unionism; but that is an entirely different thing.

If unionism is ever destroyed the execution will be at the hands of its friends and from the inside. There is where the danger lies, and nowhere else. We catch a glimpse of that danger in passing events. When a group of trainmen on the Sante Fe, several weeks ago, in defiance of their obligations and utterly without authority, left a trainload of helpless passengers stranded in a Nevada desert, they were really striking a deadly blow at the cause they were seeking to help. Every bomb thrower, dynamiter of bridges, wrecker of trains and assailant of law and order, is in precisely the same position. In this enlightened age destruction and slaughter are boomerang weapons.

No one for a moment believes that either the heads of unions or the great body of union men either authorize or sanction such tactics. They are for the most part the deeds of irresponsible parties. That is taken for granted. But one finds himself puzzled when confronted by such a set of facts that have taken shape in the case of the Sherrin massacre in Illinois. It is perhaps worth while to recall the circumstances of that deplorable incident.

On the twenty-second of June last the striking coal miners made an attack on the men who were working in the mine at Marion, Illinois. These non-union workers were under the protection of a guard, headed by the sheriff. After many shots had been fired, and several men had been killed and many wounded, the defenders agreed to surrender on the assurance of safe conduct and adequate protection. They were then handcuffed and taken to the edge of a wood at Herrin. There, in cold blood, nineteen of them were deliberately done to death.

So intense was the terror excited locally by the crime, that for 10 or 12 weeks following no one could be found who would give evidence regarding the perpetrators to the authorities who were sent in to investigate. Finally, however, at the very end of August, a union miner was placed under arrest and brought before the grand jury on a charge of having fired the shot which killed the sheriff. It should be remembered that the massacre took place in broad daylight, with hundreds of people either taking part or looking on. It took all that time, however, to make a single arrest. It is with the proceedings at the preliminary hearing before the Grand Jury that we are immediately concerned.

When this union member was formally indicted, Mr. Frank Farrington, President of the Illinois Miners' Union, made the following statement:

"The Illinois Miners' Union has already pledged every means at its command to the defence of any and all of its members that may be indicted in connection with the trouble at the strip mine of the Southern Illinois Coal Mining Company. We intend to keep closely in touch with the trials of such of our men as may be indicted. We have a popular appreciation of the magnitude of the forces that have combined to convict our members and we shall leave nothing undone that will enable us to combat these forces. The very magnitude of the agitation, which is nation-wide for convictions in connection with this trouble, jeopardizes the lives and freedom of innocent men and makes it necessary that the State organization furnish every possible means of defence for our members, and that we shall do."

The "forces" which are moving to assert justice in this case are the forces of law and order as embodied in the judicial machinery of the State. The "trouble" to which Mr. Farrington alludes was a heinous crime, a butchery in cold blood. The deductions to be drawn from the attitude of the head of the Miners' Union are so obvious as not to call for a word of elaboration. That is the sort of thing which menaces unionism, and that alone. It is, however, a thing which could be at once neutralized by the assertion of the sound and justice-loving judgment of the great body of union men throughout these two countries.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The best Exhibition yet. Make the attendance equal the excellence of the show.

The road that Biggs built should be heavy with Exhibition traffic for the balance of the week.

More than rain would be needed to dampen the children's enthusiasm over the Exhibition, although the little folks had hard luck yesterday.

Thanks are due to the merchants with enterprise enough to hang out flags in honor of the Exhibition. It helps to add a gala air to the occasion.

In restricting auto traffic to the Park Street entrance the Exhibition authorities took a wise precaution yesterday.

So far the hot dog is easily triumphing over the ice cream cone, again proving that every dog has his day.

The Western wheat crop is estimated at three hundred and fifty million dollars. That should mean wonderful things, not only for the West, but for Ontario and the East generally.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Sept. 9th, 1922

Editor, Examiner:—

As a reader who has followed very closely the recent letters of Mr. R. R. Hall, I feel like showing some little appreciation and supporting this impartial undertaking of Mr. Hall. A public meeting should be called as Mr. Hall suggests; the people of this degenerating city are not so indifferent as they seem, but with the right-handed handling of our public affairs, the Hydro especially, most ratepayers are simply letting things drift, as it seems too big a problem for any feeble effort to effect.

This city has been robbed of its birthright by the grasping hands of one, Sir Adam Beck, who thirsts for power. Sir Adam, in order to clear out any big opposition in his plans for Hydro in Ontario was bound to get control of the Eastern Ontario system of which Peterboro was the real centre. We had power in plenty at our doors and could induce industry to locate here; our power then cost us less than half the present rate; Sir Adam, as most people remember, promised everything. It would be interesting to read over to-day in papers in file in your office some of the acts and promises made. The writer would like to see Sir Adam and some hand picked few of his army of officials on a public platform, defining their position against a man of Mr. Hall's ability, with present day facts in his hand. August meeting of City Council donated between six and seven thousand dollars to the local Utilities Commission. How much do we pay for street lighting? Particularly, how much do we pay for the "big white lights" that are dark most of the time, half of them at least and what reduction does the city get for "cutages"? This system of "big white lights" cost the city over $30,000 to install, the miles of underground cable proved useless in a short time and being buried without conduits in a haphazard manner could not be repaired, so we all can observe the wires now feeding the few lights that do burn fastened to the poles, as in days of old. The city paid $394,000 for the P.L. & P. Plant. What has been done to extend this capital cost to almost one million. Can Sir Adam defend this? Can he defend our gas rate of $2.25 per thousand, the highest in Ontario?

The whole deal with the Hydro has been a black era for this city from its inception and we are drifting into worse conditions every day we delay a fight for a "show-down." The light, water and gas services should and would all be reduced if we at this time exert ourselves a little. Let the ratepayers Association take this up at first meeting this autumn, and get behind Mr. Hall. Let the discussion begin. Many people have waited for a reply to Mr. Hall from the local commission but no fear of anything coming; they want it to "blow over" as one of the Hydro officials expressed it.—Yours tru'y,

SIDEBENCHER

Ed.—"Side-bencher's" indignation leads him into a mis-statement when he says, "this city has been robbed of its birthright by the grasping hands of Sir Adam Beck." Peterboro has a grievance against the Hydro-Electric Commission and its chairman, but it should not be forgotten that Sir Adam Beck could not have sewed up the electrical interests of this city without the consent of the people as emphatically pronounced in the result of the referendum which trussed Peterboro hand and foot and tossed it into the Central Ontario Power system. The question Mr. Hall urges is whether the people of this city will continue to tolerate the conditions he has been presenting with a cogency and clearness that have aroused so many rate-payers like "Sidebencher"

THE PRIEST'S WARNING

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

Sir,—The sensational warning given by the Ukrainian priest to the government of the acceptance of Sovietism by the whole foreign element of this country ought, if anything can, to rouse the thinking powers of our people. I have been doing my humble best in The Globe, The Examiner and elsewhere to show that the general adoption by so-called Christian people of a law to force people who are innocent of wrong—doing as Prohibition does) must in the end, react in a serious way. Hitherto, no one dreamed of maintaining that the normal upright sober industrious man or woman was not entitled to full consideration as such, but prohibition introduced the theory that it does not matter what anyone's rights or principles of conduct are when the majority says what it considers is for the welfare of the people. That is pure Red doctrine. That principle is what Lenin and Trotsky base their claims upon and they laugh in their sleeves as they see the simple-minded majority in the U.S. and Ontario falling in with the doctrine which they preach. The principle of Prohibition cannot be stopped at whiskey which is a very small part of the trouble involved. It stops at nothing, not even at God. Who says that He has made all individuals free to do well or ill, good or evil, and to go to Heaven or Hell and therefore the Red, (just as the Prohibitionist does), flouts Him and all religion. Vast numbers of reforms could be brought about if we were at liberty to use force, but the minute we do, down falls the whole theory of moral responsibility and the world is wrecked. It was because man must be free if he is to be held morally responsible that God made him free. We correct children by means of prohibitory measures, because they are not held morally responsible for what they do. The truth is, we have been tempted and have fallen into the greatest of all traps. Unless we realize what God has done, and believe in Him enough to follow and obey Him instead of virtually saying to Him, "Why didn't you do as we are doing and prohibit people from doing evil?" we may give up. Such reforms are ruin. They are what the Red preachers and account for the rapid spread of that doctrine everywhere.

J. H. BURNHAM

P.S.—Some people excuse their folly by affirming that the majority is always right and that any law passed by a majority should be considered so. Others say that they are their brothers' keepers. As this applies to the brother as well, it is easy to see where this substitute for the true source of what ought to be, leads us to.

THE MYSTERY MIND

Arthur B. Reeve and John W. Grey

In a tiny store he outfitted himself completely with cheap clothing, even to shoes and hat; this to serve as a measure of protective disguise. Making his change as quickly as possible, bundling his own things to await his call, he hurried then to Kelso Beach, the nearest point to the Portola. Two operatives were waiting for him on the railroad platform. The three might have passed anywhere as a group of young mechanics or workmen out for an evening's hilarity. Together they made their way to the dance resort.

The Portola was a huge rambling pavilion built over the waters of Jamaica Bay on one of the hundreds of tiny islands between Brooklyn and Rockaway. It was reached by a long wooden pier leading between rows of low summer cottages and roughly paralleling a shallow rowboat channel. In the days before the electric railroad across the bay, when Kelso Beach was reached by stagecoach, the Portola had been an exclusive beer garden known and patronized by a certain select few. Now there was still a trace of its magnificent appointments. The place itself had degenerated, however, to a resort of bootleggers.

Dupont knew no more than that Noyes had mentioned "Portola" and "the Strangler." Inside the large hall was a heterogeneous gathering at the various tables arranged around the dance floor. One of his men immediately demanded liquor of the waiter, to allay suspicion rather than otherwise.

"Tim Carter said we could get all we wanted by mentioning his name," stated the detective, inventing any name to serve the purpose.

"Tim?" rejoined the waiter, pretending to know the mythical person of influence. "Sure. What'll it be, gents?"

The other detective stole out to use the telephone and to reconnoiter. In a very short while he returned, rather serious. "It's bad, I guess," he whispered to Dupont. "Bill and Joe go right down to that medium, Mesma's, joint and found her stuck. Dead as a door nail and the room a wreck. There was every indication of a struggle downstairs, too; blood, and the scratches of feet on the cement near one of the trucks, but no sign of our man nor of Miss Bronson. I said to send Bill and Joe out here."

"What's the lay out here, Jake?" queried the first operative.

"This is a bad neck of the woods. There's water on three sides of the building and under most of it. Back on the Rockaway side are a lot of private rooms and it's all marsh off there—the devil himself couldn't get up in a boat to look in the windows."

"Who is the Strangler?" asked Dupont. His eyes were roving to this, that, and every corner of the room, seeking a glimpse of Violet or of some member of the gang he knew.

"The Strangler?" That's the boss here. Malachi Duggan's his name. Once he was a gunman over in South Brooklyn; before that he was a sailor, I think. When he's mad he uses sea lingo, anyhow, and he's hands big enough to choke an ox, and a bad eye—I'd hate to cross him without a gat in my pocket."

"You know him?"

"I hung around here for weeks on a case once. I was Jake Spengler, a shipwright canned for getting drunk on the job, and sore at the world. You see, there's a strong sweep of tide right under this old shack. The point they call Kelso Beach projects way into the Bay. When the tide goes out over at Rockaway there's a devilish strong current held close to the shore here by the spread of marsh, and lasting a couple hours or more. About that time several bodies were found out in the sea. It looked like they came from the bay with the tide. We had a hunch they might have come from here."

"How's that?" Dupont began to grasp at a possible motive in bringing Violet to this place. Her body cast into the water just before the ebb of the tide

"Why, they all were strangled," Jake explained. "No one knows just why they call Duggan the 'Strangler,' but there must be a reason." He shrugged his shoulders.

Dupont felt his apprehension increasing to a point where it was almost impossible to sit still. Why should he have to wait until some move of the gang betrayed their purpose, or gave a hint to the whereabouts of Violet? The girl he loved was in danger, perhaps desperate danger—

"Sh," warned the first detective.

Approaching the table was a woman in her early thirties, evidently, from her garb, one of the entertainers. Now a little heavy, perhaps, with her dress cut far too low at the neck and her features much too frankly rouged, she yet gave proof of an earlier beauty; there was even in her movements the trace of a gracefulness surviving dissipation. She went straight to the second operative, putting a hand on his shoulder familiarly.

"'Lo Jake," she exclaimed. "When d'ya get back?"

"Yesterday." The detective hooked up a chair with his toe. "Sit down, Lil. Meet my friends, Sam Fuller, worked with me at Hog Island, director, and Herman Fuller, his cousin. This is Lil, boys."

The waiter came up with their drinks. The woman turned to him at once.

"Give these people anything they want," she ordered.

"Yes, m'am, I have. They said—they said"—his face went suddenly blank—"anyhow, somebody said it was all right."

To Holders of Five Year 5½ per cent Canada's Victory Bonds

Issued in 1917 and Maturing 1st December, 1922.

CONVERSION PROPOSALS

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE offers to holders of these bonds who desire to continue their investment in Dominion of Canada securities the privilege of exchanging the maturing bonds for new bonds bearing 5½ per cent interest, payable half yearly, of either of the following classes:—

(a) Five year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1927.

(b) Ten year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1932.

While the maturing bonds will carry interest to 1st December, 1922, the new bonds will commence to earn interest from 1st November, 1922, GIVING A BONUS OF A FULL MONTH'S INTEREST TO THOSE AVAILING THEMSELVES OF THE CONVERSION PRIVILEGE.

This offer is made to holders of the maturing bonds and is not open to other investors. The bonds to be issued under this proposal will be substantially of the same character as those which are maturing, except that the exemption from taxation does not apply to the new issue.

Holders of the maturing bonds who wish to avail themselves of this conversion privilege should take their bonds AS EARLY AS POSSIBLE, BUT NOT LATER THAN SEPTEMBER 30th, to a Branch of any Chartered Bank in Canada and receive in exchange an official receipt for the bonds surrendered, containing an undertaking to deliver the corresponding bonds of the new issue.

Holders of maturing fully registered bonds, interest payable by cheque from Ottawa, will receive their December 1 interest cheque as usual. Holders of coupon bonds will detach and retain the last unmatured coupon before surrendering the bond itself for conversion purposes.

The surrendered bonds will be forwarded by banks to the Minister of Finance at Ottawa, where they will be exchanged for bonds of the new issue, in fully registered, or coupon registered or coupon bearer form carrying interest payable 1st May and 1st November of each year of the duration of the loan, the first interest payment accruing and payable 1st May, 1923. Bonds of the new issue will be sent to the banks for delivery immediately after the receipt of the surrendered bonds.

The bonds of the maturing issue which are not converted under this proposal will be paid off in cash on the 1st December, 1922.

W. S. FIELDING,
Minister of Finance.

Dated at Ottawa, 8th August, 1922.

UNITED FARM YOUNG PEOPLE HELD INTERESTING MEETING

Programme Competition Started — The County Executive Will Meet — Business Transacted.

The Peterborough United Farm Young People's Club held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, Sept. 12th., in the club rooms, Simcoe street.

The early part of the evening was spent in games after which the secretary called the meeting to order, and the regular business began In the absence of the President, Mr. Harry McKee occupied the chair.

All joined heartily in singing "O Canada". The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting, and then outlined briefly, the "Rules of the programme competition" and the "Schedule of Marks". The competition started at this meeting and the enthusiasm shown by the young folk augurs well for all future meetings. Sides were chosen for the duration of the contest ,the captains being Miss Pearl H. Petrie and Mr. Stanley Whitfield. In the absence of the latter, Miss Beatrice Whitfield chose for that side. This competition is being held to stimulate interest in good programmes. Each member will be expected to contribute a song, recitation, joke, on etc., to the programme one member from each side being called on alternately. Marks will be given for each contribution, and at the end of the contest, the side having the highest total will be the winner. The losers will then be expected to banquet the winners.

The "Schedule of Marks", is as follows:—

A new member (present or absent 10 marks; Speech on a current topic 60 marks; Speech on a literary or historical topic 50 marks; song, 50 marks; Joke or story 30 marks; Instrumental 40 marks; Accompaniment 25 marks; recitation (not less than 15 lines) 50 marks; play (each player who actually takes part) 50 per person; pantomine (action) 25 each; prepared debate, 60 each person; Impromptu debate, 10 each.

Last night's programme was as follows:—

Miss Petrie's Side

Miss Petrie, speech and jokes; Carl Wilson, objects of our Young People's Club; Alice Gillespie, joke; Frances Gillespie, joke; Trio, song, "She Told Me So"; Chorus. (f) "When I was a Baby ,etc.; Chorus (whole side) John Brown's body, etc.; Miss Gladys Jay, recitation.

Mr Whitfield's Side

Earl Petrie, joke; Jim Petrie, joke, mouth organ solo; Arthur Simpson, mouth organ; piano solo, Miss Hazeli Whitfield; Chorus (6) Dear Heart; Piano Miss Mary Tully Chorus, K-K-K-Katy.

Miss Petrie's side won, having a total of 1195 marks. Mr. Whitfield's side had 1060 marks. Mr. Fred Crowe, who was a visitor for the evening gave a short speech.

The ladies then retired to the other side of a drawn curtain, and the men were told to bid on the ladies' feet for a partner for supper. Mr. Walter Brown proved an excellent auctioneer and the auctioning process caused much merriment. The Corn was boiled in fine order, and together with other dainty refreshments provided quite a banquet.

The next meeting will be held, in the club rooms, on Tuesday, October 10th. and will be a pop corn social. All the members are requested to be there on time, and to come prepared to uphold their side in its programme.

A county U.F.Y.P.O. Executive meeting will be held in the Simcoe street rooms on Friday morning, Sept. 15th at 9.30 a.m. to plan for a County U.F.Y.P.O. Convention. Arthur Simpson was appointed as a delegate to this meeting in the event of the President of the Peterboro Club being absent.

U.S. FARMERS, LABOR, TO FORM NEW PARTY?

May Follow Ontario's Example and Contest Presidency in 1924.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Sept. 14—With the arrival of James O'Connell chairman of the American Federation of Labor's non-partisan political committee, the executive council of the federation, in annual session yesterday prepared to devise a program of political activity with which it purposes to enter local, state and national politics at forthcoming elections.

The council has not yet decided to what extent it will attempt to place candidates. That it will enter local and state tickets is assured. Such steps already are being taken in numerous states, it was pointed out.

That the federation will attempt by an affiliation with the farmer vote, to become an important factor in the presidential campaign of 1924, is a foregone conclusion among the labor chiefs here. They declare that their selection of a candidate for the presidency will be "a startling surprise to followers of the old parties."

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, September 14. — A very pretty wedding was solemnised at Few-Logan Cottage, Southampton Beach, Ont., on Thursday at noon, 7th September. The happy couple were Mr. Arthur S. Murduff, of the Royal Bank, Hamilton, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Murduff, of Lakefield, and Miss Marjorie H. L. Bridge, daughter of Rev. Austin L. and Mrs. Bridge, Hamilton.

The ceremony took place on the verandah, which had been beautifully decorated with spruce and cedar trees, ferns, and wild flowers, the bride being given away by her brother Donald, and her father, Rev. Austin L. Bridge, M.A., minister of Chalmers Presbyterian Church, Hamilton, assisted by Rev. A. M. Boyde, M.A., Southampton, officiated.

The bride was dressed in white canton crepe, with bridal veil and orange blossoms. The wedding guests included Rev. A. M. and Mrs, Boyle, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Campbell, Chicago (uncle and aunt of the bride), and cousins, Miss Marion and Messrs. Harold and Ronald Campbell, Miss Bonnie Watson, of Creemore, a school friend, and Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hillis, Port Elgin, intimate friends of the bride's family.

After the wedding dinner the bridal party motored to Paisley, where they took the train for the East, the bride's travelling dress being of brown broadcloth, with hat to match.

On their return from their honeymoon, they will reside at 205½ Balsam Avenue, Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Murduff are at presen the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Murduff in the village.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

THE POLICY COMMITTEE REPORTS STRIKE PROGRESS.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—The Policy Committee of the striking railway shop crafts yesterday authorized B. M. Jewell, strike leader, to sign a separate peace agreement with individual roads. This action, it was stated last night, would end the strike on from 30 to 32 of the 202 class one railways of the country which entered into direct negotiations with Mr. Jewell recently at Baltimore and on any others who cared to accept the peace terms. Men returning to work would do so at the prevailing rate of pay which was fixed by the Labor Board, effective the first of last July.

GOVERNMENT MUST RESPECT THE RIGHTS OF MINORITIES

Address By Premier King at Kitchener Last Evening—It Is Not the Girls Who Drink All the Cocktails and Smoke Cigarettes.

KITCHENER, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—"Let us wherever we see it seek to replace ill will by good will," Right Hon. William Mackenzie King told members of Kitchener Board of Trade here last night at dinner given in his honor. Unity could be achieved by a spirit of good will. There must be unity between captial and labor, between different races of the Dominion, between provinces, between all parts of Empire and between nations of the world.

Premier King stressed the necessity of government respecting rights of minorities and of respecting opinions of groups. Liberality of individual was vital necessity in making for progress and development.

Speaking at Victoria Park in the afternoon Premier declared that it "is not the girl who drinks cocktails, smokes cigarettes, spend their evenings between movies and dance halls, any more than it is women who spend their afternoons at bridge, mothers of men who rise up to call them blessed because of equipment wherewith to go forth into world's work."

Words were spoken after the Premier had paid tributes to influence of his mother and father to his home and to church and schools.

"It is not men," he added, "who are striving to subvert old established customs and institutions to break with tradition and provoke reign of anarchy that are making either world or our country better place to live in."

In giving warning he declared that war through which they had just passed had dangreous tendencies in the direction of unrest and anarchy and emphasized that they must return to quieter and gentler and more refined modes of living if people were to ensue nation's future along paths of happiness and peace.

What Peterboro Theatre-Goers Think of Some of the Movie Stars

Extracts From Some of the Letters Received in the Recent Contest—Few Profess a Liking For Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks.

Gloria Swanson and Wallace Reid seem to be the favorites with frequenters of the 'movies' just now, if one may judge by the letters received in answer to the competition just put on by the local Capitol theatre, asking for letters giving reasons for liking the authors' favorites of the silver sheet. A rather peculiar phase was the absence from any of the communications of a professed liking for Mary Pickford or Rudolph Valentino, the latter for long having been considered a real 'hit' with feminine picture goers, on account of his extraordinary capacity for making love in an intense, spectacular manner.

One of the letters which obtained a first prize of a three months' pass to the Capitol theatre dealt with Wallace Reid, whom the writer describes as "The Big Kid of the Movies," who nets his way into everyone's heart. His youthful, vibrant spirits make the old feel young, while he is a kid with the kiddies. His daredevil exploits make one hold his breath in admiration, and almost unconsciously you are saying "bravo" as the tears across your vision in his racing car. Then, too, he can play very admirably the heavier roles, as the stellar part he took in "Forever." But to my mind his usual speedy, light, cheerful characteristics are—Wallace Reid's main appeal to his great audiences."

Another young lady who likes the cheerful Wally says; "Wallace Reid is a perfect dear, and an all-round good sport, and always in trouble with the women. I just love to see the women boss him around, but he always gets out of it somehow. I think every woman should love him, because no matter what picture you see him in he is always a gentleman, he is a good dresser, always slick and clean, also handsome. I do not think he can take the place of Thomas Meighan, when it comes to being a Daddy, but he is alright for that part, but he has Thomas Meighan beaten in many other ways, because he is so boyish, and does not care, the free and easy kind. He is not so serious-minded as Tommy, although I like Thomas just as well, but he is my favorite man on the screen, even if he is not as good a lover as Rudolph Valentino."

Thomas Meighan runs first in another communication: "because of his natural ability to adapt himself to all roles in which he appears, also his appealing manners, in which invariably runs a streak of humor."

Gloria Swanson is the favorite actress of this lady also, "because of her very natural and charming manners, acting the frivolous as well as the emotional parts with equal success," while the young lady who considered Wallace Reid the Paramount King, gives Gloria the place of honor among Paramount feminine stars. She says:

"Gloria Swanson is my idea of a perfect star, because she is an ideal woman, and a sweetheart for every man. She is more than an alluring individual, she is the symbol of love, she is a good sport without being a tomboy, she is the far-away princess of a fairy tale. I myself think she is the dearest, sweetest star that everybody should love, or, in shorr a perfect, feminine beauty."

Concert in Aid of Local Clinic

Mrs. R. F. McWilliams Gave Interesting Address at Meeting.

An item of interest to friends and well-wishers of the Well Babies' Clinic is the promise made to the Board of Management by Mrs. M. H. Park to give a concert some time in October, for the benefit of the Clinic. The reputation of Mrs. Park as a musician of outstanding ability should make this an occasion to be patronized by music-lovers of the city, and the use for which the concert is projected will add to its popularity. The Clinic, which does a quiet work in the community understood and appreciated best by those who come in direct contact with it, that is, the mothers of fractious and ailing infants who are benefitted weekly by advice and practical help and by visits from the Clinic nurse, needs funds, just the same as any other public utility, particularly as its scope of usefulness is widening month by month and year by year. The grant from the Council to the Clinic was cut considerably this year, and means must be taken to augment available funds whenever possible.

There is Much to Interest Local Women at Industrial Exhibition

The Horticultural Society Has Provided a Splendid Exhibit—All Kinds of Fancy Work.

There is much to interest women at the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition. Although the feminine portion of the community is not, as a rule, as much taken up with exhibits of fat cattle and corn-fed stock, they will take just as lively an interest as the men in most of the exhibits on view in the Manufacturers Building and in the Main enclosure, where the latest ideas in everything, from fur wraps to sewing-machines, are on view. There is a special upstair section devoted to all varieties of fancy work, and mothers of school children will be glad to see examples of their handiwork in the splendid exhibit arranged for both boys' and girls' work.

The flowers are lovely this year. Gladioli, asters and zinnias, spotted lilies, foliage and ferns make a colorful showing, and one corner has its collection of weird-looking cactus plants, those hairy desert creatures that should have a background of arid sandy waste to show them to best advantage.

The Peterboro Horticultural Society has a special corner at the Fair, where subscriptions may be made and special Fall options obtained, any one of the following being available:

2 doz. tulips, single bedding-named-all shades; 2 doz. Darwin tulips, select, named varieties; 2 doz. double tulips, named-all shades; 2 doz. Jonquils; 2 doz. Crocus; 2 doz. Poeticus Narcissus; 1 doz. double daffodils; 1 doz. single daffodils-named varieties; 1 doz. paper white Narcissus; 2 peonies.

COATS ARE DRAPED.

So insistent is the fad for side drapes that even the new coats and wraps are showing them. The model sketched uses this long graceful line to good effect in combination with a curved opening from neck to waistline.

The high collar is a matter of individual preference. It is exceedingly smart, but if it doesn't suit one's taste there are a dozen other collars just as modish.

Kasha cloth and all the variations of bolivia and duvetyn are expected to be most popular for fall wraps. There is no question as to the most fashionable color—it is brown in all shades and any shade.

Weigh Snookums At the Big Fair

Mothers Miss the Baby Show at the Exhibition This Year.

There have been numbers of inquiries made this year as to the probability of the local exhibition board holding a Baby Show in connection with the Fall Fair. Evidently there are many mothers who are disappointed over the absence of this item from the programme.

However, at the rest and emergency tent maintained by the Red Cross society, with Miss A. W. Pike, the new public health nurse, in charge, babies will be weighed and in connection with the post war in connection with the past war programme of the Red Cross society which is to act in an auxiliary capacity to organizations already established and working along public health lines. One of the most interesting publications is the book entitled "The Baby" with an attractive cover print from a famous painting, and information covering every phase of its development, feeding and clothing.

Women's World At Ottawa Show

A feature of the Ottawa Exhibition this year is the "Women's World," a section devoted entirely to matters of feminine interest. Opening with a programme of community singing and orchestral numbers, it proceeds to a fashion show; an exposition of the most becoming way in which to arrange one's coiffure; followed by a tableau enacted by sixty children, entitled "The Milk Fairies," and concerning the dream that that befell the little boy who would not drink his milk. All the virtues that lurk in the lacteal fluid are presented in this dream to the little chap, who, on awaking, reaches immediately for his glass of milk.

Another corrective play is "Mrs. Brown's Living Room," in which the lady who has furnished her house with more regard for expense than for color and line, realizes her mistake and goes quietly to work to correct it, the result proving less expensive and much more attractive than the first venture. Fine embroidery, knitting, children's needlework, ceramic displays, patch work, quilts and braided mats form items in the "Woman's World" exhibits; with demonstrations on the way to make a bed so that the most cripples rheumatic will not complain, and on First Aid work.

Mrs. R. F. McWilliams One of the Speakers

At the tenth annual conference of the Association of Canadian Clubs being held at Hamilton this week, one of the most impressive speakers on Tuesday's programme was Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, formerly of Peterborough, now of Winnipeg, and a member of the Women's Canadian Club of that city.

Mrs. McWilliams reviewed the effective progress made by the Good Films Committee in Manitoba in banishing from moving picture theatres all that is salacious and neurotic and the banning of all suggestive bill posters. "The large American producers of moving pictures now know that Manitoba will tolerate no filth or sloppy sex triangles. Consequently they send no such pictures there. If they do, they only fail to exhibit them," said Mrs. McWilliams. "The American producers thought that all the public wanted was filth and viciousness. But the prompt rebuke which the public gave to the low morals of a certain prominent comedian not long ago soon convinced them that they must clean house. The 'sweetheart of the world' too, so even producers says, is no longer the sweetheart of the world, since she went through the divorce court."

Mrs. McWilliams concluded by saying that the problem of the small towns of Manitoba had been solved by the good influence exerted by the large centres, which had been educated to patronize only those films which appeal to the best in one. The Canadianizing of Winnipeg's foreign born had been greatly furthered by the use of educational films. J. E. MacPherson, of Ottawa, confirmed this statement. He said the Federal Department of Trade and Commerce and the Geological Survey were only too keen to loan educational films, and urged that the offer be availed of.

DISTRICT MEETING

On Thursday next, September 21st, a District Meeting of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire will be held at Campbellford. Agents of the various Chapters in Peterboro are anxious that there should be a good attendance at this meeting, and request that members intending to be present should notify secretaries of the different Chapters as soon as possible.

The first meeting for this season of the 57th Regimental Chapter of the I.O.D.E. will take place on the fourth Thursday in September, the 28th instant.

Household Suggestions

MATERIALS.

Gorgeous materials are coming from Paris these days. There is a brocaded velvet almost as light in weight as chiffon, with an all-over Paisley design that is creating a sensation. The coloring is exquisite.

WIDE CUFFS.

Cuffs of fur that extend to the elbow or above are featured on some of the smartest coats. With these are worn very large, wrapped collars.

POIRET TWILL.

Wide checks are marked off with black gros-grain ribbon on a blue Poiret twill frock. Lace collars and cuffs are a softening influence.

AUTUMN COLORS.

Autumnal colors are the vogue now, browns, reds and yellows are combined in the same costumes with excellent effect.

JERSEY FROCK.

Black and yellow braid trim a snappy little frock of gray jersey with very elaborate pockets, and a short cape lined with yellow.

BRASSIERES.

French brassieres are made of very wide satin ribbon, unstayed and fitted with darts, and picoted where the armhole is cut away. They come well below the waist and make practically a fitted lining when finished.

SLENDER WRAPS.

The wraps this season are as slender as the gowns. Though they are lavishly trimmed with fur, this trimming is always manipulated without any suggestion of heaviness or bulk.

FIGURED GEORGETTE.

The graceful frock of figured georgette, with its draperies and irregular hemline, is going to be as popular this winter as it has been this summer.

DESIRABILITY OF INCREASING THE CONSUMPTION OF CANADIAN FRUIT

This year the crop of all kinds of fruit, particularly of apples, peaches and plums is large, and in order to prevent waste every effort is being made to crease their consumption. To materially ass st in this object the Grand Trunk Railway System are printing on their menus used in dining cars and hotels the slogan "EAT MORE CANADIAN FRUIT" and specific items of fruit on the menu will be marked "Canadian."

A PRESENTATION TO MISS WOODGATE.

Miss Viola Woodgate, a member of the L.O.B.A. No. 244, was the guest of honor at an affair arranged in her honor by the Lodge, when she received a number of useful and handsome presents, and was presented with the following address:

Dear Sister Woodgate:—

We, the sisters of the Vimy Ridge L.O.B.A. take the opportunity of expressing our regard for one who has been associated with us, and has shown such loyalty and enthusiasm in the activities of our lodge for so long a time.

This little token we hope will be a constant reminder of the spirit we are trying to create in the work of our lodge. Your work for the Lodge has been so helpful to all of us that we cannot really thank you enough but we hope you will accept our little present with the feeling of appreciation we are trying to show.

We hope that we will always be able to see you among us, [illegible] ive shown such an interest in [illegible]k that we feel we really could [illegible] without you. We wish you all the [illegible]piness in the world and hope you will enjoy your married life even more than you expect.

Again dear Viola, we ask you to accept this little remembrance from your sister-members who join one and all, in the wish for a long life and prosperity.

Signed on behalf of the L.O.B.A. No. 244

MARRIAGE A LA MODE.

Among many of the uncivilized tribe of Africa women have no rights except what the men grant them and are bought and sold and traded among the chief for fancy shells, spears, liquor or any inconsequential trifles.

When a woman has been sold more than three time she has lost even the value and is discarded quite casually.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED.

You know that when an engagement is broken it is customary for the girl to return not only the engagement ring but all the gifts and letters during the courtship.

If a man does not voluntarily do the same a girl may with propriety write him a note asking for them.

Cattle Embargo.

If the British cattle embargo is going to be removed, as press despatches say, he declared it made it imperative to put better beef on the British market. On account of the American embargo, there is no market for poor cattle, he said, and the only salvation for the beef producers is in producing a high-grade animal for the Old Country. "Until recently it was a matter of choice whether you went in for quality or not. Now it is compulsory," he said.

Hon. Motherwell praised the Fairs for encouraging higher grade live stock, and he urged the Fair Board to temper the pleasure side with the practical. The programme should be so balanced that all classes would find the event pleasant and interesting.

INFANTS DELIGHT IT'S WHITE TOILET SOAP

Why don't some women have to pay income tax on three-fourths of what their husbands make?

AS MOTHER SEES IT

By BERTON BRALEY.

My brood is off to school again, beneath the teacher's rule again,
And though I love them dearly I am glad to see them go,
For when they only play around I always have to stay around
To keep them out of mischief; that's a mother's job, I know.
But none the less my attitude is one of heart-felt gratitude
To have the youngsters off my hands a portion of the day,
So I can loaf and rest a bit, recuperate my zest a bit
And have some time for gossip or for housework or for play.

I found the children's books for them (I brought them from strange nooks for them),
I got a suit for Eddie and a brand new dress for Sue;
Their wailings were lamentable while I made them presentable (They'll probably remain so for at least a day or two).
The thought of studies fretted them, them
And sent them on their way at last —and breathed a grateful sigh.
Vacation days are jolly days and children love their holidays
But they're the hardest sort of days for mothers such as I.

How sturdy and how neat they looked, how very lear and sweet they looked
As off they trudged together to the schoolhouse on the hill!
Oh, teacher, take good care of them, for how I love the pair of them
Nobody else can understand, nobody ever will;
Some day, full grown, they'll start away and take my very heart away
And I shall watch them, smiling very much as I do now;
They'll face the great world fearlessly while I wave to them tearlessly,
And I'll get on without them—though I can't imagine how!

HELLO, BILL

By BERTON BRALEY.

Folks, the subject of these stanzas,
William Allen White of Kansas
(Home address, Emporia, Kansas),
Runs a small-town daily journal;
But because his mind is vernal,
Fresh and open, keen and young,
Old Bill White has always swung,
Swings, and in the future will,
What I'd call a trenchant quill.

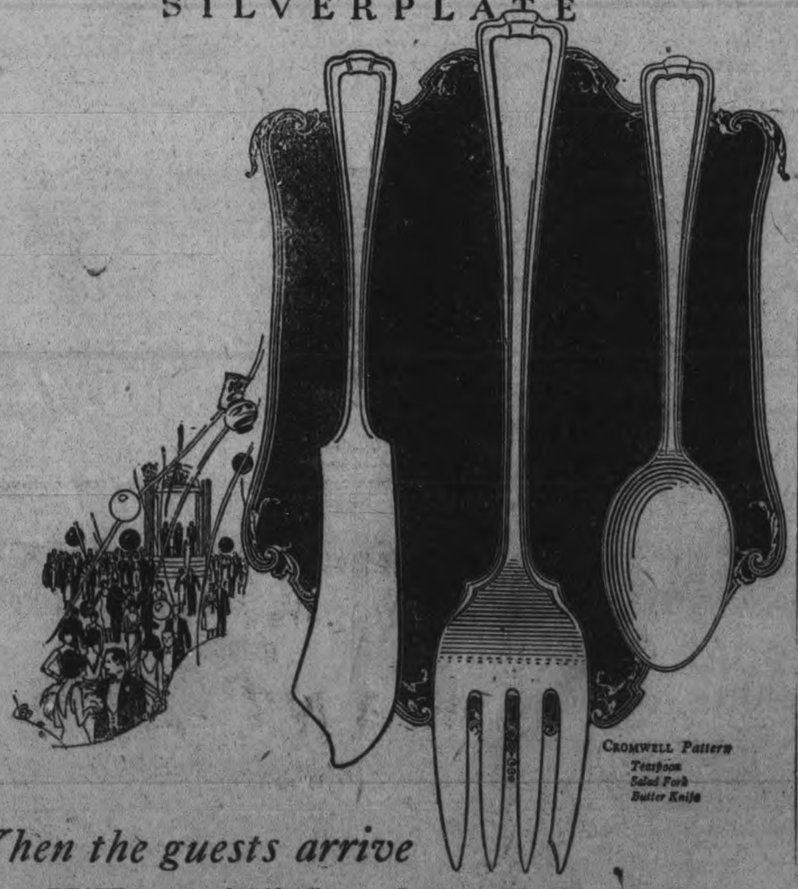
William Allen White of Kansas
Sometimes praises, sometimes pans us.
In his editorial column
Bill is never dull or solemn.
Yet he treats of serious things
In a style that clearly rings
With a simple, honest sanity,
All athrob with true humanity.

William Allen White of Kansas
From his office sanctum scans us,
With a tolerant eye and kindly,
When we go at problems blindly.
Wise he is, yet not a scholar,
Forceful, yet not prone to choler;
Thus he makes his rural paper
Something of an empire-shaper.

William Allen White of Kansas
Loves us, knows us, understands us,
Therefore when he writes a screed
It is something people read.
Unafraid of fake or fraud,
Calm, clear-headed, just and broad,
I salute him in these stanzas,
William Allen White of Kansas!

1847 ROGERS BROS.

SILVERPLATE



CROMWELL Pattern
Teaspoon
Salad Fork
Butter Knife

When the guests arrive

HAVE you enough table silverplate? Your duties as a hostess call for more than spoons, knives and forks. Niceties of table service are quickly noticed and commented upon. We suggest a sugar shell, butter spreaders, individual salad forks, etc.—all in the time-tested 1847 Rogers Bros. Silverplate. Many beautiful patterns make selection easy. To commemorate our Seventy-fifth Anniversary, they are packed at no extra cost in chests and gift boxes.

In selecting "1847 Rogers Bros." you follow wisely the choice of home-makers who want to be sure of quality. Time alone can fully test the goodness of silverplate—and no silverplate can parallel the service record of "1847 Rogers Bros.," which this year celebrates its Seventy-fifth Anniversary. This makes it particularly appropriate for anniversary gifts. To be sure to get what you want, ask for "1847 Rogers Bros." by its FULL name. Emphasize the date, 1847.

Try Doing Next Week's Washing with Rinso

Find out for yourself why hundreds of thousands of women say that they could not face another wash day without it. The two easy steps below will save you hours of back breaking rubbing.

First: For each tub of clothes dissolve a half a package of Rinso into a little cool water until it is like thick cream, then stir in two quarts of boiling water. If the water is hard, or the clothes extra dirty, use more Rinso.

Then, pour into tub—of cool or lukewarm water. Mix well. Keep adding the solution until you get a rich, lasting soapy suds, even after the clothes have been put in. Do not pour the Rinso direct from the package into the tub.

Soak the clothes for one hour, two hours, overnight, or as long as convenient. Then rinse to remove the loosened dirt, until the water runs clear. Hang them out to dry.

There's no rubbing—no boiling. Rinso is not a washing powder, but a scientific combination of pure cleansing materials that loosen and dissolve the dirt from even the heaviest pieces. It soaks clothes clean in a few hours without injury to a single fabric.

IF YOU USE A WASHING MACHINE

Follow the regular directions given here. Soak the clothes. Then, before operating the machine, add fresh Rinso solution using the same amount of Rinso as you used for soaking. No other product is needed when Rinso is used.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS AT FAIR

Under this head there will appear from day to day during the Peterborough Exhibition references to those special exhibits which arrest and hold the attention of a deeply interested public. Buildings, annexes and grounds are replete with displays of this district's natural and manufactured products, excelling, if anything, those of previous years, and featuring a spirit of progress in keeping with that indomitable enterprise by Peterborough's Fair Directors which marks each year another mile-stone passed on the road of exhibition improvement and innovation.

Peterborough City and County enjoys many natural and created advantages, agriculturally and industrially, and the products of this district's urban, pastoral and agrarian resources are displayed this year in a strikingly illuminative manner.

BARRIE'S LIMITED.

In the face of approaching winter when the mercury in thermometers will indulge in a merry dance below the zero mark, perhaps one of the most striking exhibits in the Main Building is that of Barrie's Limited.

The designer of this section, although crowded for space, has struck the keynote of fur-effective display by a skilful arrangement of ladies' winter wear and accessories which arrests the eye and impels the enquiring attention of visitors. A green floor covering finds appropriate embellishment in a huge white polar bear rug with head intact, whose huge spread of furry skin forms a fitting centre for companion, comfy fur cravats and fox and marten chokers, varied in design and coloring. A handsome showcase at one end teems with costly Arctic fox and ermine stoles, which find a harmonizing bedding on green and black pussy willow satin, with a charming intermingling of American Beauty satin in red and silver; and the whole is crowned by beautiful artificial bloom overflowing a uniquely constructed basketi container. For a back centre setting the visitor is faced by a substantial stand elevation, also attractively draped with colorful and exclusive satins fit for royal adornment, in which black and red and green dominated by the national Scotch thistle in gold delight the discriminating beholder. Reflecting mirrors, pendants of dressed skins—marten, fisher, black fox, cross fox, stone marten, opposum, Russian ermine and coon—together with inviting fur coats, complete a picture which quite entrances lady visitors.

The creator of this moderately ornate but timely display section has manifested a marked aptitude for exhibit artistry in that he has produced an atmosphere of out-of-door clothing warmth which bespeak for wearers of such garments bodily comfort and defiance of the rigours of a Canadian winter.

It is unnecessary to add that the styles are up-to-the-minute and the furs par excellence in quality. The coats are 36 to 45 inches in length, and three features are worthy of special notice. One has a striking Hudson seal body with a 14-inch border of opossum, and large collar and ample cuffs likewise of chinchilla opossum, the sleeves being bell in build. Another coat shows a body of the same seal, trimmed with light colored Russian fitch and showing a new feature in a black corded silk girdle finished with tassels of same material. The third is a truly beautiful and attractive grey squirrel coat, all self-trimmed, with very high roll collar, and further embellished with a corded silk girdle of same color, the whole combining to produce a strikingly harmonizing coat, pleasing to the particular eye. Then there are Persian lamb coats, trimmed with seal and some with Alaska sable, and seal coats with various approved trimming, such as lynx, squirrel, beaver and Alaska sable, etc., etc.

Ladies' coon coats with wide borders in striping effect, some two, three to five striped, were on display and are shown as one of this season's leading fashions for the younger set. The same design in our native Rice Lake muskrats produces a garment unexcelled for beauty and utility, as well as being very stylish.

All these garments are produced in Peterborough, where Barries Limited centralize the fur manufacturing for their branch stores at Regina, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw and Toronto. The fur skins are bought from trappers locally and at the several branches, and sent in to Peterborough, where they are dressed and manufactured, giving local employment to 50 persons the year round.

Made in Peterborough, and with a reputtion gained by honorable dealings for the past 22 years, Barries' stand unsurpassed for furs in Canada to-day. This year they have opened a branch in Toronto to take care of their ever-growing Toronto business.

THE WESTERN CLOCK CO., LIMITED.

Manufacturers of the world-famed Westclox—from the small but sturdy pocket watch, retailing at $2, to the dignified Big Ben luminous dial alarm clock, retailing at $6—this enterprising city industry has an exhibit in the Manufacturers' Building which is worth while dipping into. Without being prolix, suffice it to say that their striking display includes every line of their popular products, samples of which the traveller runs across in almost every corner of the globe. However, interest in this exhibit at once centres on the company's two new features. One is a clock with luminous dial produced by treating the face compound with radium, to assure permanent results, an operation never before resorted to till the past few years, and which gives the maximum of satisfaction. The other new feature is a substantial little nickel-plated automobile clock for attaching to the dash-board of a car. This useful little timepiece retails at $4.50, and is one hundred per cent. serviceable.

The Western Clock Co. is one of Peterborough's leading and most promising industries, which has prospered and is prospering from a spirit of indomitable progressiveness which cannot be denied. Establishing a factory here in 1920, they now find that pressure of business demands larger production facilities, and they are in consequence erecting three new modern buildings—one main structure and two annexes—on Armour Hill, East City. These buildings, to be completed by November of this year, will, it is estimated afford a capacity production of 1,500 clocks a day, as against the company's present local output of 640. On January 1, 1920, they employed 20 hands, while their present pay-roll numbers 74 employees.

Such rapid growth reflects both the last word in quality of production and that exemplary management which makes for increasingly successful industrial enterprise, resting on a substantial concrete foundation.

CANADIAN PACKING CO.'S EXHIBIT.

There is a fascination about the exhibit in the Manufacturers' Building so tastefully planned by the Canadian Packing Company, Limited, in that it appeals to the gastronomical nature of the average human. In this section, just within the western entrance, one is at once confronted with every-day viands skilfully displayed with real exhibit art—a tempting variety, indeed, of table food of unexcelled purity and top-notch in quality. As one visitor put it, "Look there at the makings of a veritable feast for twentieth century epicures." But for all that, the edibles are plain, wholesome nature foods, which satisfies and appeals to a discriminating public as body-building, to say nothing of their appetite-seductiveness and super-palatable qualities.

Of course, this firm's far-famed Rose Brand products are here specialized. They include Rose Brand bacon, ham, smoked back (boneless and bone-in), backs in casings, pork sausage, butter, eggs, cooked ham, not forgetting Rose Brand margarine. Then there are Anchor Brand products, such as head-cheese ant bologna, jellied-hock and jellied-tongue.

This exhibit also features a new produce in baked spiced ham, together with roast shoulder and roast ham, especially in demand in hot weather. Meal cheese and macaroni loaf is another feature, while the attendants point with pardonable pride to the exhibit of clarified cheese, for which the Canadian Packing Co. are the exclusive distributors for the American Continent. There is only one other country in the world producing clarified cheese, and that is New Zealand.

The products here displayed are all from Peterborough County resources, prepared for table use and manufactured into the varied food staples above mentioned at the Peterborough City factory. Four Government inspectors on the premises guarantee their absolute purity.

The Canadian Packing Co. have three local retail stores—corner of Park and Sherbrooke streets, corner of George and Brock streets and at 356 George street.

HEINTZMAN PIANOS

A remarkable picture of instrumental elegance and desirability is presented at the Heintzman Hall section in the manufacturers' building, where the last word in premier piano construction is being shown and demonstrated by courteous attendants. There one finds featured in an irresistible manner to lovers of the best in musical instruments, the famous Heintzman drawing room grand piano, such as used by the world's greatest artists, including Madame Melba and Tetrazzini (vocal), and Depachman (instrumental). Also their popular player piano, the interior build of which is durable, an instrument of unexcelled tone and unsurpassed exterior finish.

What might perhaps be classed as a special feature exhibit these days of housing congestion is the Heintzman piano for apartment utility, miniature in construction, but capable of equally as full volume as its larger sisters, and in tone exquisitely sweet and clear. A style Louis piano presents an altogether attractive case design, which would appreciably enhance the decorations of an exclusively furnished room.

Among other illuminating exhibits in this section the visitor is impelled to attention by the sweetly tuneful melodies of an always welcome Victrola, while a bell-toned Sonora and many record playing Brunswick phongraphs find their place in an exhibit section where music charms fastidious music lovers.

Heintzman & Co., also qualifingly known as "Ye Olde Firme — established themselves in Toronto over 74 years ago. They have won an enviable standing in the piano world, with branches to-day in every community of importance in the Dominion. Their local branch, known as Heintzman Hall, is situated in the Royal Bank Building, and stands for equipment and efficiency of service second to none in Canada. There courteousness and painstaking attention to patrons reigns supreme. Visitors to the Fair are cordially invited to call at the up-town hall or at the exhibit section and satisfy for themselves the Heintzman way of welcoming them whether they are intending purchasers or not.

For the past three years Mr. W. Lawson has been the genial manager of Heintzman & Co.'s interests here. And despite business depression generally the last 12 months, he can carry the smile that won't come off at a reminiscence which reflects successful business efforts and a clientel of satisfied users of Heintzman made-in-Canada products—a business showing comparativelp phenomenal growth, and which is still growing on the trade principle of dependability now and always.

QUAKER OATS "QUAKER" BRAND PRODUCTS

Mental visions of health-fostering and health-maintaining breakfasts are impelled by the prodigions display of cereals by the Quaker Oats Co., in the Manufacturers' Building Even the most cursory passer-by is at once arrested by the varied and abundant exhibit of these made-at-home food products, known the world over as superlatively pure and wholesome in every particular. A few of the many lines on exhibition are Quaker Oats, Qualkes and Saxon Flour; Scotch Health Bran (an invigorating food and not a fad), white oats, Tillson's Rolled Oats, Homing Grits, and Puffed Rice, all of which are produced under sanitary conditions in the ideal category.

Then one is irresistibly attracted by Quaker Oats Dry Mash guaranteed to fill the most lazy hen with pep and industry, thereby quickening her dormant egg-producing propensities and incidentally affecting a much needed reduction in the high cost of living.

The Quaker Oats Co., is a stupendous cereal corporation, one of, if not the biggest in the world, and its local branch presents the last word in modern and scientific equipment. Their mammoth business is built up on the practiced slogan so to speak, that "the best is none too good', while the "smiling Quaker" trade mark is a familiar figure on both sides of the Atlantic and Pacific, being recognized as a guarantee that Quaker Oats products measure up to the uttermost possibilities of later-day cereal production appliances.

THE B LABEL DRY INSULATED SAFE

Exhibit by Office Specialty Co. of Special Interest to Business Men.

A remarkable outstanding feature of the Exhibit at the Fair, in the Manufacturers' Building by the Office Specialty Co., Newmarket, Ontario, is a "B" Label Dry Insulated Safe to accommodate any Standard size of this concern's famed office specialties. In this connection it might be as well to explain just exactly what the "B" label caried by this safe means. The National Board of Fire Underwriters of the United States is established and financed by the Insurance Companies of the U. S. and Canada to test fire, electrical and automobile appliances and appliances designed for the elimination of accident hazards. And label "B" indicates that this Office Specialty Co's make of safe has satisfactorily withstood that National Board of Fire Underwriters test of two hours under intense heat, and is thus guaranteed by them to stand up during years of service, ready at any moment to meet and successfully pass through the supreme test of its existence—FIRE. And the secret of its permanent fire-safety qualities is its Bone Dry construction, by which there is no moisture in its insulation.

The nature of this test was as follows: An Office Specialty Safe was placed in the testing furnace and heated under standard test conditions for one hour. The furnace was then opened, the safe drawn out into the yard and hoisted 30 feet above a rip-rap of broken brick and then dropped. Just 2 minutes and 50 seconds elapsed between the removal of the safe from the furnace, and its impact upon the brick, so the safe had not cooled to any appreciable extent. After that drop the safe was again placed in the furnace, bottom up and re-heated under standard fire conditions for one hour Not only did the papers in the safe retain their perfect condition, as at no time during this test did the temperature inside the safe reach 300 degrees Fahrenheit(the danger or singeing point being 440 degrees) but structurally it stood up under a punishment equal to a falling floor or beam that might be precipitated upon such a safe in a burning building. Then it should be borne in mind that the safe came through the test 100 per cent good in structural features and only its enamel finish was affected.

And so, D. A. Costello, in charge of this exhibt, to, other with Leo Marning of the head office staff, have the satisfaction of explaining daily to visitors at the Fair the structural advantages of the Office Specialty Safe which carries the distinction of being absolutely the only safe manufactured in Canada showing the "B" label, a guarantee by the underwriters of its superlative fire and hard usuage resisting qualities. These dry insulated record safes with the underwriters' "B" label are built with door steps that interlock perfectly to form points that have the same degree of resistance to heat as the solid walls of a safe; they are free from moisture and all corrosive properties, and built to give positively permanent protection.

When at the Exhibition just look this exhibit over, it will be found worth while, especially to business men, all of whom are naturally interested in office specialties of absolutely the excelling class.

No loss by fire of valuable documents is possible if protected by a "B" label Office Specialty Safe.

DANCE AT BROCK STREET RINK TOMORROW NIGHT

(By Stuart P. Weed)

NEW YORK, September 14 (Special to The Examiner). — The striking incident in to-day's markets was the sudden wave of buying in the railway shares. To connect this with the collapse of the shopmen's strike, was, of course, the obvious thing to do. As a matter of fact, the strike settlement had little or nothing to do with it.

Wall Street has known for the last month that the carriers were winning and that it has accepted the evidence of the weekly figures on car loadings which has been overwhelmingly in favour of the conclusion that the disaffection of the shop workers was doing the railway business no harm. Consequently, there was no good reason why an intended buying movement in railway stocks should have been postponed until the actual strike settlement.

There were two much more convincing explanations for the demonstration in the rail group. One was that it was a speculative manoeuvre to offset heavy selling on Wednesday afternoon and again this morning in some of the recent industrial favourites. The other was that in part it represented investors raising their bids for the better class of dividend-paying rail shares because the yield on these was still attractive in comparison with those in other quarters of the investment market. Both these reasons counted, and in about equal measure.

The taking up of stocks like Atchison, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, New York Central, and Pennsylvania, cartying them close up to or beyond their previous high points of the year, was a reminder that the investment element is a very important factor in the present market. Whatever doubt there may be concerning the speculative position, especially after some of the recent performances in stocks of the pool variety, there can be no question that the presence of investment capital seeking employment in stocks because most bonds have got out of range, is a powerfully sustaining influence in the Wall Street situation.

TECH HUGHES NOW MARKET LEADER.

Bryant Brothers in their letter to-day says:

Tech Hughes was the outstanding feature of the mines to-day, selling up to 98 cents, which is a new high figure for the shares. It will cross $1.50 on the present move well informed sources state.

Strength in Tech Hughes is due to the wide spread belief that dividends will be very shortly inaugurated.

During the past year $370,000 worth of gold was produced, an increase of 70 p.c. over the previous twelve months. Financial position has been greatly improved by a material reduction in funded debt, reports state.

Tech Hughes is now rated as the largest producer in Kirkland Lake. We consider the shares an attractive speculative at current prices. You can purchase Tech Hughes on open account with us for one-third the market price. Buy any number of shares you wish—following are a few suggestions.

MINES RESTING

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—The mining market seemed inclined to rest to-day although there was a continuation of great activity some good gains were made such as Atlas which sold up to 35 and Porc. Crown 26 1-2 Hollonger at 14.20. Davidson sold around 30 and May rest a few days. Its recent upward move was temporarily interrupted by liquidation from old holders. Teck Hughes held at 95.

GRAINS AT NEW LOWS

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Grain—wheat sold off another 1 1-2 cents making new low for season on general selling liquidation and limited support. Export demand fair. Canadian wheat at Winnipeg also went to new lows.

Use mother nature's jelly maker —for perfect jams and jellies from any fruit you want or care to use.

—Certo—pectin, the natural element in fruits which makes jelly "jell".
Without pectin you cannot make good jelly or jam.
With it you control the jellying point of any fruit.
Make your jams and jellies the Certo way, and boil one minute instead of 20 or 30 minutes; thus saving the delicate fruit flavor and color.
With all that extra flavor in—not boiled out—you will enjoy jams and jellies you never thought it possible to make—the full natural flavor of the fruit and all the color. Perfect jams and jellies without fail.

Hubble of Centre street, who tells us he has lots more. Mr. Hubble is chief engineer with the Peterborough Cereal Co. here.

Recovered His Glasses.

What looked like a very serious misfortune befell a Front street resident on Tuesday morning. The man in question was doing some repair work to a well and when looking down accidentally dropped his spectacles into the water. For a time things looked hopeless, until the arrival of an expert, who suggested using a magnet. This advice was acted upon and with a powerful magnet on a long string the glasses were drawn to the top safely and none the worse for their ducking.

Bitten by Dog.

On Monday Dorothy, the little two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Redden of Stanwood, was severely bitten in the face by their collie dog. Medical aid from Havelock was summoned and twenty stitches had to be put in the wound. The little one is doing as well as can be expected.

DIARRHOEA IS DANGEROUS To Teething Babies DURING HOT WEATHER

Hot weather is a dangerous time for the babies when cutting their teeth, and all mothers should watch very closely for any sign of diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum or any other bowel trouble.

There is no remedy so safe and effectual for diarrhoea as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and all mothers who have used it speak of it with the greatest of confidence.

Mrs. James E. Green, Vermilion, Alta., writes under date of Aug. 18th, 1921, as follows:—"A week ago my baby boy, just one year and four months old, started cutting two stomach teeth, and was so sick he couldn't eat or sleep, and had the diarrhoea most terribly bad; his rectum was raw and bleeding, but after giving him Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry regularly for three days he was as well as any boy could be. I wouldn't be without your grand remedy for untold gold."

"Dr. Fowler's" is for sale at all dealers; price, 50c. a bottle; put up by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

"JAY WALKER" IS RESPONSIBLE FOR MANY ACCIDENTS

Police Magistrate Says Time Will Come When Pedestrian Will Share Blame For Auto Accidents.

RIGHTS OF MOTORIST.

CHATHAM, Ont., Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Declaring that motorists should have the same protection as pedestrians Police Magistrate Arnold yesterday predicted that the time will come in the near future when pedestrians will be held responsible for a number of car accidents.

"From my own observation, I would say that a great many of our minor automobile accidents are due to the carelessness of the pedestrians', he declared in an interview. "In most cases they occur because a motorists, in attempting to evade a jay walker, hits another car. The pedestrian escapes without any criticism but the motorist comes in for a tongue-lashing by witnesses of the accident.

"Automobiles have come to stay and the sooner we recognize that fact the better it will be for all of us. No motorist wants to hit anybody and with the exception of the reckless type all motorists will run personal risks to protect a pedestrian in danger. A motorist should have his rights as well as pedestrians. He should feel, as he drives along a busy street, that there is no danger of persons stepping out from behind parked cars, or attempting to cross the street at any place but an inter-section. Under our present system few pedestrians take the trouble to walk to the intersection to cross the street, with the result that the motorist has to be alert in every sense of the word. A by law, or a statute, making jay walking or carelessness in crossing a street an offense, would have the effect of educating the pedestrian in safety-first measures. If he was hit by a car at any place on a busy street, other thn the intersection, he should be made to feel that it was his own carelessness that was to blame. If, on the other hand, he is struck at the intersection, the motorist would be at fault and the pedestrian would have his remedies in the court. It seems to me that such is a real pub . necessity. Sooner or later this fact will be recognized and protection for both motorist and pedestrian will be welcomed."

PRIZE-WINNERS IN CROP COMPETITION.

Conducted By Dummer and Douro Agricultural Society—Warsaw News.

WARSAW, Sept. 14. — The following are the prize winners in the standing field crop competitions, conducted by the Dummer and Douro Agricultural Society for oats and corn, Oats— 1st, Fred Fitzgerald; 2nd, Fred Morgan; 3rd, Maurice O'Brien; 4th, David Rose; 5th, Archie Tedford; 6th, R. G. Moore; 7th, John Barrie.

Corn— 1st, Arthur Edwards; 2nd, James Hawthorne; 3rd, J. A. Crowe and Son; 4th, Wm. Hayes; 5th, R. G. Moore; 6th, Allan Payne; 7th, David Rose.

Miss L. McCracken, accompanied some friends from the lake to the Exhibition.

Rev. G. F. and Mrs. Weir arrived home on Friday.

Mr. Webster, of Lakefield, is busy building cement walls near Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Miller, Miss Olga Miller and Melville Miller, accompanied by Rev. Girard Graham, motored to Toronto last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Blythe Nelson and Mrs. McKelvie, Campbellford motored to Warsaw on Friday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Payne of Roseneath, spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in Warsaw. Their little daughter was in Nicholls Hospital for a couple of days.

Miss H. Russel was in Roseneath on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carveth, the Misses Ella, Olive and Lily Russel, and Mr. Oliver Douglas motored to Toronto Monday, returning Friday.

George Lonsberry has the contract for painting the school in S. S. No. 5, Douro.

Miss Ora Dunford is visiting Miss Cressa Crowe.

Filling Silos.

Silo filling commenced last week. The corn is maturing rapidly, and much of it is quite tangled. A good deal of buckwheat is beaten quite flat. In some cases all that can be done is to plough it in, and the crop was good, could it have been properly harvested.

The social given by the W.M.S. on Thursday evening was a success. There was a good crowd. Refreshments were served in the basement. There was abundance of sandwiches, cake and tea, also ice cream for everyone. The programme was given in the church. Mr. James Hawthorne was chairman and the following programme was rendered.

Opening hymn, 'All Hail the Power'; short addresse on missionary work by James Hawthorne; solo, Henry Batten; instrumental selection, Messrs. J. Crowe, Kendel and Clarke; solo, Ferena Cooper; solo, Mrs. Rufus Payne; duet, Messrs. Henry and Ernest Batten; solo, Mrs. E. Hamblin solo, Mrs. Chas. Foster; instrumental, Messrs. J. Crowe, Kendel and Clarke; God Save the King.

The ladies of the society are making quilts for the needy; they are also asking for donations and fruit and pickles, which may be left at the church.

The Mission Band will meet in the basement on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. The little girls are asked to try to bring blocks for a quilt. All children are cordially invited.

The Trustees and Teachers' Association of Dummer met on Friday evening to make final arrangements for the school fair, which will be held in Clarence Watt's field on Thursday the 21st.

U. F. O. Meeting.

The U.F.O. held their regular monthly meeting on Wednesday.

The recent rains are much welcomed for roots, etc. and for wells, though the wind is tangling corn still more and late buckwheat is nearly destroyed. Still, so much has been, and is good, we cannot expect everything to be all right. One farmer can neither reap nor plow under his buckwheat.

In the Churches.

Rev. G. F. Weir conducted the Methodist services on Sunday. His subject last evening was taken from the story of Christ and the disciples whom he met on the road to Emmaus.

Rev. G. Graham conducted the Presbyterian services and Rev. Chorley the Baptist. Mr. Chorley's text was "Follow Me and I Will Make You Fishers of Men." There was no service in the Anglican church.

An aeroplane came from Lakefield about 10.30 this morning, dropped notices concerning the day's doings at Lakeefild, turned and flew back.

A good number of people from Warsaw went to Lakefield to-day.

A good number of those especially interested in U.F.O. attended the Douro field day to hear J. J. Morrison.

Obtained Certificate.

Miss Mary A. Leahy has obtained by appeal her certificate for entrance into the Ontario High and Continuation schools. She is the fourth to obtain her certificate of the five candidates from S. S. No. 12, Douro and Dummer, who tried the examination at Warsaw this year. They were prepared for their examination under the instructions of Miss Clara Raddon, of Norwood.

Demand, 4.4258.
Cables, 4.4283.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, September 14. Canadian Press. — Owing to small offerings little grain business was transacted on the local exchange yesterday. Trade in flour was fair, with prices unchanged, and the same sentiment prevailed in millfeed and rolled oats. Butter was off from 1-4 to 1-2 cents and sales were made at 35c. Generally the markets were featureless.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, September 14. Canadian Press. — A firmer feeling is prevailing in the market owing to further cable enquiries received — which it is reported liekly to develop new business. The local markets show very little change. The receipts of fancy stock is not equal to the demand for the high grades.

Toronto local markets firm; specials 42 to 43c; extras 38 to 39; firsts 34c, seconds 28c.

Montreal market firm for fancy stock, specials 42 to 45; extras 36; firsts 30c.

Manitoba steady unchanged. Saskatchewan jobbers quoting country shippers 20c to 23c, loss off; jobbing 30c; retailing 30c to 35c. Alberta unchanged.

British Columbia markets firm and advancing. Jobbers paying country shippers 36c; 38 offered for specials. Jobbing specials 41c; firsts 39c, seconds 30c. Live poultry weak and unchanged.

U. S. markets unchanged but very nervous.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, September 14. Canadian Press. — Receipts 1740 cattle and calves, 300 hogs and 360 sheep and lambs.

Early trading was active in cattle and the prices were steady to stronger. Handyweight killing steers topped at $4.50 to $5.23; top butcher cows $4; good feeder steers $3.75 to $4.50..

Hog market steady, selects $10.50 to $10.75.

Good lambs sold at $8 to $8.50 with common to fair, $5.50 to $7; mutton sheep $5 to $5.50.

CHICAGO CATTLE.

CHICAGO, September 14. Canadian Press. — Cattle 11,000; active on all classes; beef steers strong to 15c higher; better grades mostly 10 to 15 up; top matured steers $11.35; best yearlings $11; bulk beef steers, $9 to $10.60; she stock generally strong to 10c up; bulls, stockers and feeders firm; veal calves largely 25c higher, western grass steers largely $6.75 to $7.50; bulk fat she stock $4.50 to $7.25; bulk canners and cutters $2.85 to $3.50; bulk vealers $12.75 and $13; bulk stockers and feeders $5.25 to $7.

CROP REPORT

Following is a summary of reports made by the Agricultural Representatives of the Ontario Department of Agriculture:—

Considerable fall wheat has been sown, but many farmers are holding back for a week or two in order to avoid the Hessian fly. Lambton is of the opinion that this, with the low price of wheat, will lessen the acreage this season.

Corn is coming along nicely the hot, moist weather of the late summer being very favorable for growth. Fears are expressed in some quarters of injury from the borer. A large number of farmers are now filling their silos.

Oats are not yielding as heavily as was estimated earlier in the season, but the general yield will be ahead of the average. In Brant County the crop has been most disappointing, judging by the following:

"In the vicinity north-west of Paris on quite a number of farms the oats did not fill and many of the fields have been plowed under. In other cases the yield is so small it is scarcely worth threshing. On the heavy land rust apparently has diminished the yield to the extent of 50 per cent. Good looking fields of oats yielded as little as 18 bushels per acre."

A few complaints are coming in of potato rot and late blight, but on the whole this crop is regarded as being in fair condition. South Simcoe quotes potatoes as selling as low as 50 cents a bag.

Halimand says:—

"There is still a small amount of alsike in cock in the fields, this owing to frequent heavy rains and the sod is practically worthless."

South Simcoe reports:—

"Considerable alsike seed is still being marketed. $6. to $6.50 per bushel is the price quoted at present, though the market opened at $8 locally some weeks ago. There has been no alfalfa seed sold, as yet."

North Simcoe has the following to say of fruit:—

"The apple crop is tremendous in so far as the earlier varieties are concerned, but the problem will be to secure markets. Wealthies are about ready to pick now, and it is feared by many that no market will be forthcoming."

Wellington complains that cow thistle was never so bad before in the north part of the County, and asserts that it has almost got beyond control in the Arthur district.

The milk flow has fallen off during the last week or two, but early fall rains are looked for to revive pastures.

Elgin says that sweet clover has helped much as a pasture crop, and is now very popular in dairy districts.

Konora is hopeful of dairy progress in New Ontario:—

"There is still plenty of milk for the local demand with a few people shipping to Winnipeg and Fort William. With more land being cleared and more settlers going into dairying, it would appear that the time is not far distant when a good creamery or cheese factory would be exceptionally well here."

Haldimand says:—

"Demand for stockers is unaccountably small considering the amount of feed in the district. Lambs are moving quite freely at from $9 to $10 per cwt. Local drovers are paying 12c. for hogs. Demand for young pigs continues strong."

Waterloo reports:—

"Quite a number of grass cows have been shipped out within the past month. Drovers are now starting to bring in stockers for winter feeding. During the past week a Galt drover brought in a carload of Western cattle."

A number of farmers in Huron are looking for cattle food during the winter, but holders are rather independent and are asking good prices. Hogs are being marketed in fair numbers in anticipation of the usual autumn drop in prices.

Brant says:—

"At a recent sheep sale market lambs were sold at 11-12c pe lb. Pure bred sheep varied in price, lambs from $20.00 to $50.00, with ewes running from $18.00 to $20.00. Good stuff sold well, but the plainer stuff was a drag."

Middlesex reports:—

"While attending an auction sale in Lobo Township horses were noticed to sell at from $150 to $185 while grade cows of good quality sold at from $40.00 to $55.00. Buyers were timid, being afraid to purchase live stock or equipment without reasonable assurance of a return on their investment."

Kenora says:—

"Sunflowers have again demonstrated the fact that they are the banner roughage crop for this north country, having done exceptionally well, and the yield on an average will run well over twenty tons to the acre. Farmers you have not as yet got silos up are busy at this work. One farmer with 12 acres of sunflowers is building a double-wall silo, sixteen by thirty eight. Eight feet of this is a cement wall under ground."

OIL LIGHT BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

Burns 94% Air

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities, and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps It burns without odour, smoke, or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 % air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, F. S. Johnson, 246 Craig Street W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

MILLBROOK, September 14. — In the junior farmers' judging competition, which is one of the most popular features of the Canadian National Exhibition, the names of three successful contestants from this vicinity are mentioned: H. W. Staples of Orono; Harold A. Dawson, of South Monaghan; and Carmen Seymour of Ida, the two former in the heavy horses class, and the latter in the dairy cattle class. There were 243 contestants from all parts of the province, with a number also from Quebec, and 318 entries; the competition included the judging of horses, beef cattle, dairy cattle, grain roots, sheep, swine, fruits and vegetables. All competitors were the guests of the Exhibition Association at dinner on Wednesday, and also at the performance in front of the grand stand in the evening.

The management of the C.N.E. in cooperation with the Ontario Department of Agriculture, are now arranging for an interesting exchange of junior farmer judges between Great Britain and Canada. It is planned to have four or six of the winners at the exhibition this year try their skill at the Royal Agricultural Fair in England (the biggest thing of the kind in the world) and have English boys compete at the C.N.E. next year. The suggestion of exchange came to late to be acted upon this year. A party of boy judges from the United States attended the last Royal Agricultural Fair in England, and the Department thinks that Canadian boy judges should be represented also. Every year some of the best of our boy judges are sent to Chicago and other American cities, but the question of sending them to the Motherland has not hitherto been raised.

Unusual Folk

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 13.—Mrs. Margaret Elliott was 52 years old and the grandmother of a girl of 15. before she decided to become a business woman.

She has just been graduated from a Wichita commercial college, where she took a course in accountancy.

Her husband, a working man, has brought up a family of four children, but has never been able to get far ahead financially to build a home. Now the children are old enough not to need their mother's constant care, so she decided to lend a hand in accumulating a "stake" for a comfortable old age for herself and her life's partner.

"It was hard work at first" she says, "going to school among girls some of whom were no older than my granddaughter." Nevetheless, she made an excellent student and passed her examinations with much credit.

DECLARE A MORATORIUM TO SAVE WESTERN FARMERS.

REGINA, Sept. 14. — (Canadian Press).—Warning that the Government may have to face questions of exercising its powers to declare a moratorium in Saskatchewan was uttered by Premier Dunning last evening. The Government's decision would be guided by two factors, the continuance or otherwise of a policy of piling up expenses against debtors by the use of court procedure for the enforcement of the collections and price of wheat.

A MEETING OF THE HAVELOCK COUNCIL

Claim Damages For Loss of a Horse in Gravel Pit —Personals.

HAVELOCK, Sept. 14.— The regular September meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday night when Reeve Jones and Councillor Scott and Matheson were present.

A communication from Mr. Wm. Matheson in which the writer claimed damages to the extent of $100 from the corporation for the death of his horse some time ago, by reason of falling into a gravel pit on his farm, from which the corporation had obtained gravel for the sidewalks and stating that he had placed the matter in the hands of his solicitors in Peterboro.

On motion of Councillor Matheson and Scott the matter was laid over until next meeting for further information.

The Marmora G.W.V.A. represented by their President, Mr. H. R. Pearce, addresed the Council asking for a reduced rate for the town hall in consideration of using the building every Friday night for a picture show, and were assured by the Council that pending a report of the inspector of picture shows, that the hall would be reduced for them at a rate of $10 per night.

Address and Presentation

On the evening of Sept. 1st a number of friends and neighbors assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Marcenni Rylott and presented them with a well filled purse and the following address:—

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Rylott:—

We, your friends and neighbors, have assembled here this evening to express our deep regret at your departure from our midst, and also to voice in some degree, our appreciation of your helpfulness and kindness. Many years you have been with us, sharing our sorrows and our joys and whenever trouble or affliction came to any of our homes you were always ready to lend a helping hand to render sympathetic service. As you go from our midst and make a home in Bowmanville, we pray that great comfort, happiness and prosperity may be your lot As a slight token of our appreciation of your splendid fellowship and good work among us, we ask you to accept this purse not for its intrinsic value, but as a slight remembrance of the many friends and well wishers you have left behind.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors:—M. L. Clarke, G. B. Sanders Thos. McQuigge, Jas. Freeman.

HIGH GRADE OF WHEAT.

SASKATOON, Sask., September 14 (Canadian Press). — Seventy-five to ninety per cent. of the crop in the Saskatoon district is grading No. 1. Threshing returns indicate that the farmers are getting five bushels per acre more than was expected, and the average will run about 18 bushels to the acre.

Wheat is 60 per cent threshed, and oats about 25 per cent. Some of the oats remain to be cut.

The grain movement is not so fast as previous years, as the farmers are holding back.

Boston 3, St. Louis 1.

ST. LOUIS, September 14 (Canadian Press).—St. Louis dropped a half game more behind New York yesterday by losing to Boston 3 to 1, while the Yankees were breaking even with Chicago. The Browns are now a game and a half behind the pacemakers. Sisler's absence, due to an injured shoulder, caused a re-arrangement of the Browns' line-up. Burns' home run in the sixth, with Mitchell on base, was responsible for the Red Sox victory. Score:

Boston	001002000—3	5	0
St. Louis	000001000—1	10	3

W. Collins and Ruel; Shocker and Severeid.

Chicago 7, New York 3.

CHICAGO, September 14 (Canadian Press). — New York and Chicago slit a double-header yesterday —the White Sox winning the first game 7 to 3 and the Yankees the second, 6 to 3. Scores:

New York	300000000—3	5	2
Chicago	20000320x—7	12	1

Chicago	10100001O—3	10	1

Hoyt and Schang; Robertson and Schalk.

Washington 4, Cleveland 1.

CLEVELAND, September 14 (Canadian Press). — Washington hit Boone in the pinches here yesterday while Mogridge and Johnson held the Indians to four hits, and Washington won the first game of the series 4 to 1. The Tribe filled the bases in the ninth, but could only get one home run across. Score:

Washington	000201001—4	11	1
Cleveland	000000001—1	4	0

Detroit 6, Philadelhia 5.

DETROIT, September 14 (Canadian Press). — Although outhit ten to five yesterday, Detroit bunched drives to better advantage and defeated Philadelhia 6 to 5 in the opener of the Athletics' final series here this season. Walker, leading off, hit his thirty-sixth home run of the season in the third inning. The ball cleared te left field fence. Score:

Philadelhia	002000003—5	10	2
Detroit	20210010x—6	5	1

New York 8, Chicago 3.

NEW YORK, September 14 (Canadian Press). — The New York Giants hit hard in the latter part of yesterday's game, and defeated Chicago in the first game of the series, 8 to 3. It was the fifth straight victory for the champions. Score:

Chicago	003000000—3	8	2
New York	00300041x—8	9	0

Cheeves and O'Farrell; Nehf, Ryan and Smith, Snyder.

Pittsburgh 8, Boston 1.

BOSTON, September 14 (Canadian Press). — Pittsburgh took both games from Boston yesterday, thanks to the excellent pitching of Cooper and Morrison. The scores were 8 to 1 and 6 to 1. Cooper allowed six hits in the first game and the Braves made five off Morrison. A base on balls, combined with Kopf's bad throw, and four hits, hurt Cooney's chances in the second game, but apart from that, his work was good. Fielding plays by Ford and Grimm were features. Scores:

Pittsburgh	300010002—6	9	1
Boston	010000000—1	6	0

Cooper and Smith; Oeschger, Hnilihan, Gwenich and O'Neill, Gowdy.

McGILL'S OUTLOOK.

Frank Shaughnessy took charge of the McGill football squad yesterday, and acknowledges that he will have trouble in rounding up a team with the material available. The outlook for Varsity is none too good this season, so it looks as though George Awrey's Queen's team will just about win the intercollegiate honors, and with the back division which the Presbyterians claim to have lined up, the Kingston college will be very much in the race for Dominion honors.

RAIN POSTPONES GAME IN COBOURG

Double - Header Between Leaside and Belleville Came to An Early End in Third Inning.

Peterborough fans will have to wait until next week to see the play-off for the championship of the Central League.

The winners of the second section were to have played here Saturday, but rain upset the programme by preventing the Belleville-Leaside double-header at Cobourg yesterday, and the second section winners have not yet been decided.

The two teams will make another attempt to pull off a double-header at Cobourg on Saturday. If Belleville wins one game the race will be over. There will, of course, be no game here Saturday.

The teams only got in three innings yesterday. Belleville scored three runs in the first innings on two passes, two hits and a sacrifice fly, and there was nothing more doing until the third, when Leaside filled the bases on bunts with one out. It had been drizzling rain for an innings, and at this stage Umpire Kay called time for thirty minutes. After that wait he sent the teams away again, and Leaside squeezed a run over before the side was retired.

There was one out in Belleville's half of the fourth when the rain came down in torrents, and the first game was called off. So was the second one when it was still raining at 4 o'clock.

Hines and Shaw were the Leaside battery, with Williams and Mills working for Belleville. The umpires were Alex Kay of Peterborough and C. Boundy of Cobourg.

Campbellford Lacrosse Stars

CHARLIE MONTGOMERY,
The cover-point of Campbellford's intermediate lacrosse team, whose steadiness and close-checking were bright spots in both the games with Bradford. Montgomery isn't a heavy-weight like "Osie" McKinstry, of Bradford, but he doesn't let many get by him.

"BERNIE" GANNON,
Who has played on the defence section of the Campbellford team this season. He obviously missed his team-mate, Sommerville, in the recent series, but he gave all he had in both games, and was especially effective in Bradford on Wednesday.

CAMPBELLFORD WON BY 8-7 BUT LOSE THE ROUND 15-14

Defeated Bradford in a Garrison Finish After Being Down 6-2 at Half-Time—Game Was Clean and Fast, and Campbellford's Entire Team Gave a Great Exhibition of Lacrosse in Last Half.

Big Crowd at Bradford.

BRADFORD, Sept. 13.—Campbellford won today's intermediate lacrosse semi-final by the score of 8 goals to 7, but lose the round by 15 to 14, having been defeated at home last Saturday by 8-6. The two games were alike in their main features. Bradford got away to a big lead with 6-2 at half time, and Campbellford came back strong in the last two periods, outscoring Tom Bell's squad by 6 goals to 1, and almost tieing up the round.

The Bradford crowd became silent and palpably nervous as their margin on the game dwindled and was finally wiped out and their two goals when they had brought home from Campbellford were cut down to one. Only four minutes remained when Dick Cole's team took the lead and they were long minutes to the Bradford crowd that completely fringed the field several layers deep. The local home ragged a little with the ball, although not seriously, and staved off the battling visitors from the Trent. They took their time about combinations when they got the ball, as it were lucky to save that last single point.

Campbellford got the first goal on a straight drive from the face off. It was only a flash however, for Bradford ran in twice in a row. The second period saw this performance repeated, and half time left Bradford sitting tight and comfortable with the score 6-2 in their favour and a lead of six goals on the round. Campbellford struck their stride after the long rest and got three goals in the third while Bradford showed nothing for the period and from 6-5 against them at the third intermission the visitors made it 8-7, scoring 3 to 1 in the last frame. Those who saw the game in Campbellford will recognize the similarity of the two.

The teams were as follows:

Campbellford—Goal, Kelly; points, T. Thomas and Montgomery; defense, Gannon and Holmes; centre, Jacobs; home, P. Thomas and J. Nesbitt; outside home, Heagle; inside home, Harte; subs, Akers, Copperthwaite and Garrison.

Bradford—Goal, Hodgins; points McKinstry and McHale, defense, Church and Harvey; centre, Armstrong; home Collings and Sutherland; outside home, Robinson; inside home, Reeves; subs, F. Evans C. Evans and Waldruff.

Referee—Charlie Querrie.
Judge of play—Len Smith.
Penalty timer—Ernie Doyle.
Timekeepers — Doc Roberston Campbellford, and E. Jackson of Bradford.

The Goal-Getting.

Akers whipped the ball over the top of the net from behind for the first goal, but Bradford responded with three, Reeves scoring two and Robinson one.

In the second period Heagle gave Campbellford another but Reeves came back with two in quick order and Sutherland added another.

Campbellford's turn came in the third. Harte and Heagle carried the ball in and were clear. Hodgins blocked what looked like a sure goal by running out and meeting Heagle's shot. Abe Jacobs bulged the net with a fast one through the defense. The next two were scored on a pretty combination started by Jack Nesbitt to Heagle to Harte, and Charlie Holmes engineered the next rush passing to Heagle who made it 6-5. Jacobs broke through the McKinstry-McHale line twice for shots that Hodgins blocked cleverly. Robinson scored Bradford's last when he made a difficult shot over the shoulder of Gannon who was checking him, the ball bouncing into the net low and just inside the post.

Nesbitt cut Bradford's lead again to a single counter within half a minute on a great combination with Heagle. Nesbitt was heavily checked as he manoeuvred to shoot and somebody knocked his cap off.

Holmes and Paul Thomas romped through on a brilliant play but Hodgins again saved. This try was tagged for a goal but Bradford's net guardian blocked in grand style. Campbellford maintained the pressure and Jacobs scored on a combination from Holmes to Heagle to Holmes to Jacobs.

The home team rallied. Collings let loose a dangerous one, but Montgomery intercepted, and Kelly blocked at short from Reeves. Only a few minutes remained when Paul Thomas put Campbellford in the lead on a pass from Harte. At this stage and all through the second half the visitors furnished the big crowd with a thrilling brand of lacrosse. From Kelly out to Harte the team was working at its best. The passes were like bullets and the ball was handled perfectly. The impression left on the crowd was that since their team beat Campbellford they ought to go the whole route to the championship.

The Campbellford team was accompanied by about fifty loyal supporters including a number of the prominent business men, and especially Mayor Myers, Reeve Davidson, Deputy-reeve J. N. Stone and Councillors Meiklejohn and Dick Cole, the manager of the team. Most of them made the trip in automobiles, but some journeyed by train remaining over in Toronto. They all made a lot of "rooting" noise in the last half especially in the final period, and were begging for just one more goal, although at half time they had regarded their chances as almost hopeless. That last session alone just about repaid them for the long jaunt, and convinced them that they would have won the round if the breaks, the luck or some thing had gone differently in the game at home.

The Central League season is over as far as Oshawa is concerned, but local fans will watch with interest the result of the play-off series between Peterborough and Belleville, should the railroaders be successful in defeating Leaside in one of the two games yet to play. The C.O.B.L. season locally has not been the success of former years in regard to the standing of the team, but supporters of the Oshawa club are discouraged over the showing and are looking forward to putting across a winning team in 1923. Oshawa landed the championship in 1921, and while the fans would have liked to see the Johnson Cup remain in Oshawa, they cannot expect to land it every year.—Oshawa Reformer.

George Sisler is out of the game for at least a week as a result of a strained shoulder muscle. His loss will have a big effect on St. Louis' play for the next few games and may be one of the deciding factors in the pennant race.

C.G.E. GIRLS WIN SECOND HONORS

Defeated Brintons at King Edward Park Last Evening.

By defeating the Brintons, 19 to 5, in a fast game at King Edward Park last evening, the C.G.E. girls won the championship of the Girls' Softball League. The Colonials won the city championship in the early schedule this summer and a game or series of games will be necessary between the C.G.E. and Colonials to decide the final honors.

In yesterday's game, the C.G.E. took the lead from the first inning, holding it to the end, and though the Brintons put up a good battle, they were unable to overcome the handicap of the more experienced players.

Those who took part in the game were:

C.G.E.—C. Stapley, T. Vass, M. Millard, E. White, E. Taylor, B. Adams, J. Reynolds, M. McLaren, E. Greenhalgh and L. Blondin.

Brintons—M. Todd, H. Bartlett, G. Gimblett, F. Bartlett, M. Hill, J. Todd, E. Evans, L. Hattler, M. Middleton, I. Williams and R. Jay.

TENTATIVE PLANS FOR WORLD SERIES

If St. Louis Wins American Only One Jump Will Be Made—Build Stands at St. Louis.

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—If the St. Louis Americans and the Giants are the pennant winners, the first three games of the World Series will probably be played in one city and the four succeeding contests, or as many as may be necessary, in the other, President John A. Heydler, of the National League, said yesterday he believed this plan would be adopted in the event the Browns are league champions. He added that a tentative schedule would be formulated within a week. President Heydler said he thought no team would care to make two long trips between the cities in such an important series.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. Sept. 14.—Carpenters yesterday began adding box seats back of the third base line at Sportsman's Park for handling the crowds in the Yankee-Browns three game series starting next Saturday, and for a possible use in the World Series.

President Johnson of the American League, witnessed yesterday's game and conferred with owners of the Browns. It was understood he was giving them advice on managing the World Series, but he declared no meeting of the league Advisory Committee would be called to make World Series arrangements until the pennant race is decided.

Nearly ten thousand guests for reservations for the World Series have been received by Business Manager Bob Quinn since the announcement that those received after last Sunday would be given conditional consideration.

Giants Sure of Pennant But Yankees Have To Worry About Browns

(By Henry L. Farrell.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—After hitting all the bumps and the low spots of the pennant pike, the Giants are almost in a position where they can't help but get there first.

Nothing but a disaster can keep McGraw's men from winning the National League rag.

Taking one game yesterday from the kindly Cubs, the Giants now have a lead of six games over the running-up Pirates.

The Giants have twenty more games to play around the home lot, while the Pirates have nineteen more on the schedule.

Getting down to mathematics, if the Giants win only nine of the remaining twenty games, the Pirates will have to take fourteen out of their nineteen. Neither rests within the range of probability.

Starting yesterday the Giants have three games with the Cubs, then four games in three days with the Cincinnati Reds. Three games then follow with the Pittsburg Pirates and four with the St. Louis Cards. Philadelphia and Boston are last on the schedule.

True, the Pittsburg Pirates have a chance, but it is so slim that the boys hardly will figure on spending world's series money.

With the New York Yanks it is not so good. The American League champions have a lead of two games over the battling St. Louis Browns, and they have 20 more games to play—all of them on the road. The Browns have 16 more games—all at home. The influence of the home lot may be a big factor in the race.

Mathematics will not work so well in figuring the chances of the Yankees and the Browns, because they are too close to figure.

The American League pennant may be decided in the three-game series starting Saturday in St. Louis between the Yanks and the Browns. Either team can about cinch the pennant with a clean sweep of the series. Otherwise, the agony may be merely prolonged.

One thing sure, the Browns are hanging on and when they get home for a long stay their morale should not be shaken.

On their recent trip to New York the Browns had it figured out if they got back to St. Louis within two games of the Yanks they would win the pennant.

With Ruth, Dugan and Pipp hitting the way they are now, and with that five-star pitching staff showing a few more stars, the Yanks are in a good position for the last drive.

Were it not for the game heart in that St. Louis club, the Yanks could be considered almost sure to win.

RECORDS SHOW COBB IS GREATEST BATTER

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—"Ty" Cobb, manager of the Tigers, and the greatest ball player of all time, has added another great accomplishment to his remarkable record. When he connected for a single off Urban Shocker of the Browns, on September 1, he ran the total number of hits made during his major league career up to 3,037, surpassing by one hit the record of Napoleon Lajoie, former star of the Cleveland Indians. Lajoie took twenty-one years to make more than 3,000 hits, while Cobb has reached the total in eighteen seasons. Only four players in the forty-seven years of major league baseball history have succeeded in making 3,000 hits. They are: Hans Wagner, who leads with 3,430; Cobb, Lajoie and Capt. Anson.

Their lifetime batting records follow:

	Yrs.	G.	A.B.	H.	P.C.
Cobb	18	2,287	8,701	3,240	.372
Wagner	21	2,794	10,417	3,430	.329
Lajoie	21	2,469	9,577	3,236	.338
Anson	22	2,253	9,084	3,081	.329

Football

The C.G.E. players are reminded of a practice at King Edward Park tonight at 6 o'clock. There will also be a meeting of Executive and players in the Chamber of Commerce at 8 o'clock.

Is it not time the P. & D. F. A. got their selected team together for the Plenty Cup series? Well, as last year's eleven played, it could have been bettered by more practice, and now is the time to start and prepare. It is two weeks time until the draw takes place.

Peterborough has material enough to build an eleven which could trim any of the district associations outside of Toronto.

The good showing made by the C.G.E. at St. Catherines and gainst the Brantford eleven here, should be an encouragement to go forward.

TRAINING RULES FOR RUGBY FOOTBALLERS

Billie Hughes, Trainer For Queen's, Lays Down Rules For the Coming Season—No Smokes, No Hooch, No Dancing.

Trainer Billy Hughes, the incomparable trainer of Queen's athletes, has laid down his training rules for the coming season, and they are certainly rules which will help footballers considerably this fall. Billie is determined that Queen's will have a good conditioned team, and, therefore, has issued the following training rules.

"Training will commence on or about Sept. 15, and the following rules must be observed by all players.

"All cigarette smoking must be discontinued at once. Any player who is in the habit of taking intoxicating liquor must discontinue same at once.

"All dancing must be discontinued during training season. When in condition permission will be given upon request for one dance or reception a week, the trainer to take into consideration a player's condition and the nearness of any games.

"Players are requested to retire from 10 to 10.30 each night.

"All players are requested to get out to each practice.

"Players are requested to report to trainer any injury, sickness, stiffness or lack of 'pep' and ambition at practice.

"If muscles are a little stiff be sure to get massage and have any minor injury tended by the trainer at once.

"Players are requested to make sure that they are perfectly dry after showers and workout and not to leave the dressing room overheated.

"If tired after workout take a warm shower first, then gradually turn to cold. Warm water relaxes all tissues and muscles, opens the pores and relieves the tired feeling.

"If not tired, and if muscles are O.K., and if you can stand the shock, a cold shower will not hurt you, but if in doubt use warm water first.

"Players are requested to use moderation in all foods eliminating all pie and pastry and cake, if possible. Diets for decreasing or increasing weight will be given to players upon request.

"Do not drink any water immediately after workout; to do so is injurious.

"Wait until you are cooled off and are ready to leave the building. It is perfectly all right to wash the mouth out when overheated but do not drink.

"Players must cut out tea and coffee during training season, but should drink much milk and water each day.

"Players must cut out candy unless it is a little milk chocolate, which is not injurious if used in moderation.

"Players should not eat between meals and should get plenty of fresh air, both day and night.

"Walk or sprint at all times if possible.

"Breathe through the nose always, taking good deep breaths.

"Ask the trainer for all information on general and all-round condition etc.

"All Rugby football players by abiding by the above training rules to the best of their ability will relieve the trainer of a great deal of worry and work and will also be doing justice to themselves and to the teams.

FINGERNAIL BALL PUZZLES SLUGGERS

Wayne Wright Uses Legal But Peculiar Delivery and Helps the Browns Along.

(By Billy Evans)

Few young pitchers come up from the minors and find a prominent place on a pennant contender staff.

But the St. Louis Browns owe part of their spurt this season to a youth who was pitching last season with the Louisville Colonels in the American Association — Wayne Wright.

A sweeping sidearm delivery, patterned after Grover Alexander's, is Wright's chief stock in trade. Recognized batting stars have been mystified by his stuff. The secret has been explained now, however. It's the fingernail ball.

It conforms to all the pitching regulations. Wright in no way tampers with the ball. He neither rips the stitches nor scratches the leather. He merely places the edge of his fingers against the ball and gets his grip with thumb and small finger.

He's mastered a varied assortment of shoots with his delivery—a slow ball that doesn't revolve, a sharp, jerky curve, and a fast ball that hops approaching the plate.

Like other youths, Wright had to wait on Old Man Opportunity. He sat on the Browns' bench for two full months before he pitched a ball. An injury to Urban Shocker created a vacancy early in June.

Another pitcher was needed. Lee Fohl put Wright through the schooling course and gave him his chance.

Wayne was just a mediocre pitcher last season with the team that achieved the American Association pennant, winning 13 games and losing 15. He ranked thirty-first in the earned-run table, allowing 4.68 earned run per game. Danforth, in the same league, won 25 and lost 16 games, with an earned-run column of 2.66. Yet Wright has been a far more successful pitcher in the American League than Danforth.

W. D. KETCHESON IS RE-APPOINTED

Once More Tax Collector for Thriving Village of Frankford.

William D. Ketcheson, who is well known in Peterborough, has been again appointed tax collector for the village of Frankford for the ensuing year. He also has been appointed bailiff for the division court at Frankford, No. 8. Mr. Ketcheson is a most efficient officer, as his past records in tax collection in Frankford show. He performs his duties without unduly inconveniencing the taxpayers and also acts in the best interests of the municipality.

FLYWEIGHT CAME FROM THE EAST

Little Filipino Scheduled to Fight Buff Next For the Title.

(By Bob Dorman).

For quite a while "new blood" has been the cry in the boxing world.

Well, it's come at last, in the flyweight division, and it came with a vengeance.

From the far-off Philippines we have among us one of Uncle Sam's "little brown brothers" with a yearning to take back the championship title, in his class, to his island home. Pancho Villa he's called.

Like the original Pancho, he's a fighter. In his three performances in New York thus far he has proved himself a whirlwind in the ring. Johnny Hepburn, Sammy Cohen and Frankie Genaro, all tough boys, he has beaten decisively. Genaro, it is true, got the referee's decision, but not a man in the crowd or among the sporting writers agreed with this arbiter.

The promoters are showing that they didn't agree with him either, by arranging immediately for a fight on Sept. 11 between the little Filipino and the flyweight champion, Johnny Buff. And there are plenty of good fight judges who say Buff will have to make his appearance in better shape than he did at his meeting with Joe Lynch, or his title is more than likely to go to the visitor from the far east.

ARE THE UMPIRES PICKING ON RUTH?

Some of the Fans Think the Home Run Boy is Being Discriminated Against.

While the owners of the Yankees and the manager of the club concur in the most recent suspension of Babe Ruth, the customers at large are inclined to think that the umpires are picking on the Babe. Some of them have pointed to the fact that other players have been permitted to squawk more vociferously than Ruth and have not been chased to the showers.

When the Babe squawks it is more noticeable than the squawking of any other player. The troglodyte does everything with his whole soul. When he swings he causes hurricanes, when he busts the ball it bounces against the welkin and when he squawks his squawk is as that of the laughing hyena calling to its mate. To put Ruth off the ball field draws considerable attention to the umpire who does it and the theory of some of the customers is that some of the umpires like to put Ruth off in order to attract attention to themselves. There may be something in this. An umpire is human and likes to creep into the limelight once in a while.

Still the Babe has to learn at his own leisure what every ball player should know—that nobody ever won an argument with an umpire. He may learn this some time and he may not. The oldest inmate of the baseball lot is quite as likely to squawk as the young recruit. It is one of those incurable habits.

Little Lessons For the Golfer

(By George O'Neil.)

Many players feel that in practice swings they accomplish a wonderful rhythm only to see the tee shot terribly foozled a moment later when they swing at the ball. The aimless practice swings, having tightened up the muscles and having been mere swings of the club without a sense of direction over it, cause the disastrous tee shot when fine results are wanted. The man who swings without aim in practice swings fails to note that on one swing his clubhead passes over a spot on the ground perhaps several inches removed from its path the next time down, whereas, in the actual drive, the clubhead must pass through a given line on the ground, on which the ball rests.

The golfer who swings properly finds himself at the finish of his swing in exactly the reverse of the position he was at the top of his down stroke. This may be observed by any player who compares this picture of James Manion, the St. Louis amateur star, with yesterday's picture of Newton Mair. Note that Manion, having finished his drive, could immediately swing back at the ball on a left-hand swing were his club face reversed. Try the back and forth swing of the club and you will get a line on the true pendulum stroke which must be obtained.

All things in golf must be done according to orthodox rules, approximately. No two players can do any given thing precisely alike, but they can both follow general principles—and so it must be with the practice swing. In the golf swing there must be a true sense of aim, and the practice swings indulged in prior to actual hitting of the ball, should serve to sharpen and true up the player's aim, just as a billiardist would true up his touch with a few clickings of the balls prior to a game. Therefore, never swing your club aimlessly in practice swings. Always aim at something on the ground, a blade of grass, a spot on the ground, a dandelion, and shoot your clubhead at the object of your aim with all the care you would use in striking at the ball.

haps a clearer view of the exact This picture gives the golfer perform of the driver swing when the top of the stroke has been reached. The player is Newton C. Mair, of the Shackamaxon Club. He is one of the best "southpaw" golfers in the professional ranks. See the picture to-morrow for the reverse of this swing.

Capitol Entertainment

Special Attraction for Exhibition Week, Dorothy Dalton in Western Film and Larry Semon in a Brand New Comedy, "Golf"—Daily Matinee at 2.30 p.m.—Picture of Great Dramatic Power is Dorothy Dalton's Latest Western Star Vehicle, "The Crimson Challenge."

A picture story of surpassing dramatic interest which will appeal to all picture fans who saw "The Flame of the Yukon" several years ago, is Dorothy Dalton's latest Paramount starring vehicle, "The Crimson Challenge."

In Lost Valley, which is dominated by Buck Courtrey, a cattle rustler and an all-round scoundrel, Tharon Last, daughter of a rancher, is the beloved of all. Buck covets her and one day, in a quarrel, slays her father. Tharon swears vengeance and developing into a "two-gun" woman, she finally gets Buck, and while she slays him, she is in no sense a murderess. In the development of this dramatic story, a love interest in which Tharon and Billy, a cowpuncher, are the central characters, is finely brought into play.

The picture is filled with thrills and they are of that gripping quality which holds the spectator in suspense from start to finish. Frank Campeau, one of the best known heavies of the screen, has the role of Buck, and he vests it with great force and realism. Jack Mower has the role of Billy, and as leading man, he does excellent work. The cast includes Will R. Walling, Clarence Burton, George Field, Irene Hunt and Fred Huntly. In addition, there is Mrs. Dark Cloud, an Indian character actress well known to screen fans. Paul Powell directed. The picture is based on Vingie E. Roe's successful novel, "Tharon of Lost Valley."

Comic Mirror is Cause of Big Laugh.

Most everybody has seen himself in the comic mirrors. It is one of the big laughs at an amusement park to see one's self distorted in the comic mirrors. Larry Semon and Lucille Carlisle had often seen their reflections in these mirrors, but the real humor of these distorted affairs did not appeal to them until the comedy king was directing "Golf." In this comedy the comedian practices the time honored game in his front parlor and flying golf balls do considerable damage. In making one of the scenes Semon accidently hit a mirror in another set. He thought that no damage had been done.

The ball had hit the mirror in such a manner as to make the reflection of the person standing before it take on a laughable form. This added a touch to the opening scenes which Larry had not planned upon.

AT THE GRAND.

Repeated encores and plenty of genuine outbursts of mirth marked the performance of "A Night in Chinatown" by Jimmy Evans' Musical Revue at the Grand Opera House last evening. The choruses in this entertaining little piece were daintier than ever, and the solo work some of the most effective with which this bright aggregation of players has favored Peterboro audiences. Every number was new and entertaining, and met with prolonged encores from a pleased crowd. Grace Gould has a particularly pleasing number in "Little Gray Sweetheart", sung with charming sweetness; Jimmy Evans received his usual double encore with the old favorite, "Sweet Genevieve", and the Odds and Evens Trio had a hilarious medley. The work of Miss Florence Peppin is worthy of special mention. This dainty little lady sings and dances and plays the violin with a gay, bright artistry that makes every number a treat. She played a difficult violin selection that called for a double encore, and sang for the merry pyjama chorus, "Before We Say Good-night." Her imitation of Irene Bordoni in a French rendition of "Mon Homme" was fetching in the extreme.

Roy Elles and Dolly Jollymore have a spectacular dance in "L'Apache", that holds the attention of the audience to the last over head whirl, and there is a decided novelty in the setting of the chorus "When Francis Dances With Me" led by Miss Kitty Fraser."

CHAS. S. GILPIN COMING TO THE GRAND.

An Attraction Extraordinary.

An attraction of unusual merit will come to the Grand Opera House on Thursday next, Sept. 21st, for the one performance only, when Adolph Klauber will present Eugene O'Neill's great drama, "The Emperor Jones," with the noted actor, Charles S. Gilpin. The piece will be staged in this city on the same big scale that characterized its showing for an entire season at the Princess Theatre, New York. The astounding success attained by both play and star is unprecedented. Mr. O'Neill, who is the son of the late James O'Neill, creator of "Monte Cristo," became famous as an author, and Mr. Gilpin, who never before had an opportunity to display his talent, rose from obscurity to stardom after the first performance in New York.

GREAT PROGRAM AT THE ROYAL

A Fox Picture "Thunderclap" That is a Melodrama of Thrills.

"Thunderclap", the remarkable William Fox special scheduled for its premiere showing at the Royal Theatre to-day and balance of the week, is aptly heralded as "a thrilling melodramatic picture with a laugh every minute and a thrill every thirty seconds."

An all-star cast cleverly depicts the absorbing story of love, intrigue romance and, last but not least, a horse race yet unequalled on the silver screen.

The colorful story of "Thunderclap" also brings to mind the more exciting days of yester-year when gambling flourished, when the raucus call of the roulette wheel attendant mingled with the shrill laughter of the bizarre feminine and when fortune changed hands with monotonous regularity.

Into this world of gilt and flushed cheeks there comes the girl of the convent, ignorant of the ways of the wily but strong of character and of purpose. Her experiences in this new world, the discoverey of a true friend beneath the reeking atmosphere of drink and smoke and the result of the track performance of "Thunderclap" combine for a story which charms at the very outset and fascinates until the unwelcome end.

SQUIRREL WHISKEY.

NEW YORK. — A Swede from the north woods walked into a place of refreshment along the levee in what was then the small frontier settlement of St. Paul, looked around and asked for a drink of "squirrel whiskey." The bartender looked wise and intimated that he had none but suggested Old Crow instead. Hesitating a moment, the lumberman answered "Aye don't want to fly; aye only wanted to yump a little."

POWER.

Steinmetz, electrical wizard, says that the energy locked up in one pound of coal is enough to operate a radio receiving station 1000 years without stopping.

Apparently he refers to atomic energy, most of which escapes without being used. The way we burn coal is like eating one potato out of a bushel and throwing the rest away.

When inventors discover, as they will, a method of scientific combustion that will utilize coal without waste of energy, 10 pounds of coal will keep a house warm more than a month.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howland, Sr., tea was served to about thirty people on the lawn in front of the house. It was a family gathering in honour of the visit of two daughters of Mr. Howland from Ontario, and was comprised of four of his children and their children and several great-grand-children. "How the old folks did enjoy it," as the old song says, while the youngsters capered about them. The tables fairly groaned under the good things provided and the floral decorations added to the beauty of the proceedings and to crown it all their was a magnificent sunset. At the close of the proceedings the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howland of Wascana, was christened — Thomas Carneth, by Rev. J. W. Davidson. The visitors on the occasion were Mrs. J. Gawley and child of Toronto, Mrs. Ed-Airriess of Peterborough, and Mrs. Gosling of Mossbank. Misses Kreller and Kathleen Williamson assisted in serving at the table.

WEDDING BELLS

CHRISTIE—ARMSTRONG.

At 7 o'clock of Thursday evening last, in High Park avenue Methodist Church, Toronto, the marriage was solemnized of Mabel Holmes Christie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. William Christie, Toronto, to Mr. Howard Brown Armstrong, son of Mrs. Josephine Armstrong, Cedarlea Farm, Inglewood.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, wore a gown of ivory Canton, with draped veil embroidered with lily-of-the-valley and caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and lily-of-the-valley, and her only ornament was a pearl and amethyst ring, and heirloom from her great great grandmother.

The small twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Sheppard, (Billy and Frank) made pretty flower girls, in white organdy, and carrying baskets of asters.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 210 Glendonwynne Road.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong left for a holiday in Muskoka, the bride going away in a suit of Sand Poiret Twill with hat to match. On their return they will reside on Ellis Park Road, Toronto.

MacMILLAN—PEARSON.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. W. J. Pearson, Buckhorn on September 6th when his daughter Dulcie C. became the bride of John A. MacMillan, son of Mrs. Mac Millan and the late Mr. Mac Millan of Alexandria, Glengarry county.

Rev. Mr. Jull of Lakefield conducted the ceremony which took place beneath an arch of evergreens and white asters. The bride who was given away by her father looked charming in a gown of white meteor crepe with lace and pearl trimmings and touches of orchid. Her veil was worn in coronet style and she carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses. She also wore a string of pearls the gift of the groom.

Little Miss Marjorie Windover, cousin of the bride and Miss Hughmia Fraser, niece of the groom, wearing frocks of white organdie and carrying baskets of flowers made dainty little flower girls.

The wedding march was played by Miss Eva Mc Ilmoyle of Lakefield, and Miss Marie Mac Millan, sister of the groom sang "My World" during the signing of the register.

After a dainty wedding dinner Mr. and Mrs. Mac Millan left amid a shower of good wishes and confetti on a motor trip to Ottawa and other eastern points, the bride travelling in a navy blue velour suit with fur trimmings and hat to match.

The groom's gift to the flowers girls were signet rings, to the pianist a white gold bar pin, and to the soloist a mahogany clock.

Guests from outside points were Mr. and Mrs. A. Fraser, Brighton; Mr. and Mrs. P. Mac Millan and Misses A. and M. Mac Millan, Alexandria Ont.

OBITUARY

ALICE MAYELL WEESE.

After a lengthy illness, which she endured with great patience, Alice Mayell, the wife of Walter Weese, passed away quietly at an early hour this morning. The only surviving relative is the bereaved husband.

The funeral will take place from the residence, 477 McDonnel street, on Saturday at 2 p.m. to Little Lake cemetery.

NEW TYPE FLAPPER.

This demure young thing with skirts just escaping her ankles and a demure Puritan collar encircling her throat—this, ladies and gentlemen, is the successor to the flapper.

This is she—this is it—this is what may be done by the simple changing of a style.

The collar is especially favored on dresses for younger women this fall. It is made of sheer organdie or the material of the frock. The circular side panels shown on the model sketched are also of the model modish.

A NEW FIELD FOR WOMEN.

MISS JESSIE E. KOEWING, ANNOUNCING.

NEWARK, N. J.—The voice with a radio smile has made broadcasting station WOR, atop a department store here, one of the most popular in America.

Radio fans as far away as Nebraska, Nova Scotia and Porto Rico have written in about it. Answering these letters keeps her busy—

And happy.

"It proves that woman can go man one better," she said as she prepared to start the program. "I had never seen a radio set until I came here one afternoon. I was to play a violin solo. While awaiting my turn I listened to the announcer. He was a man who, try as he did, couldn't get his voice to ring right.

"I was sure a woman could do better. I told the management about it—and got a chance to prove it."

Smile Wins.

During the war Miss Koewing worked with a group of Y. M. C. A. entertainers. She watched the boys' faces as she played and recited and soon learned the knack of putting the smile into her voice.

"It was easy when I started broadcasting," she went on. "I just thought of the thousands who were listening—and just smiled."

Her success has opened a new field for women. For other broadcasting stations have replaced their men announcers with girls.

It was time for the program to start. Miss Koewing tiptoed to a cabinet on which stood a little instrument about five inches high, pressed a button and began announcing.

There was no bulky equipment to scare the speaker, no dangling wires to confuse him. The room was just like a simple music studio with piano, music stand, phonograph and heavy drapings.

The Microphone.

Only the little device on the cabinet was exceptional.

That, Miss Koewing explained, is the microphone, the mouthpiece of the broadcasting station. It magnifies sound and transforms it into electrical pulsations which are sent to the transmitting set on the roof.

"It is so delicate," she said, when she finished her talk, "that it even records the sound of footsteps."

She soon had to announce the next number—a violin solo by herself.

A press of a button to signal the operators above, a hasty shift of position, and Miss Koewing was standing before the microphone playing to her unseen audience. No applause greeted her effort. But a signal was flashed that she was wanted on the phone. A fan, many miles away, wanted her to repeat the number.

She acknowledged the request with a smile through the air.

If It's Going to Be Cold Winter Then Squirrels Are Out of Luck

Observers of nature do not agree with prognostications from other parts of the country as to the coming winter's early arrival and undue severity. Superintendent Thomas of the Belleville cemetery telsl that according to Indian traditions which he learned by living in close touch with the aborigines at the Soo, the winter will not be severe. One of the signs by which the Indian lays most stress is the harvest of nuts. Nature seems to take care of the little denizon of the woods, the squirrels, chipmunks and for them there is little store of nuts in the woodlands. That would indicate a mild winter for the little woodlanders have no harvest of hickory or beech nuts. Another sign of a moderate winter is the small amount of fall and winter berries in the woods.

Unless these signs fail, the winter will be open.

Meanwhile summer flourishes and the call of the whip-o'-will is still heard. Heavy rains following two or three weeks of intense heat and drought are very welcome to farmers. Corn is ripening in the fields, there is a heavy second crop of clover, and the autumn orchard is in full swing.

TENNIS NEWS

On another page of this issue appears a tennis draw for Friday. For unavoidable reasons, the draw had to be changed. It will be as follows:

At 4 P.M.

N. Geale vs. F. Case.
Dr. Smith vs. C. Ridpath.
H. Tamplett—bye.

At 4.30 P.M.

Cutmore and Doughty vs. Jackson and Bonness.
Matthews and Case vs. Tamplett and Partridge.

This completes the preliminary round of the men's singles. Any games that have been postponed on account of rain or wet weather should be played as soon as possible. It is hoped that some semi-finals in the mixed doubles and other interesting matches will be arranged for Saturday afternoon.

HON. W. MOTHERWELL ADDRESSES KIWANIANS

An Appeal to Support Home Grown and Home Made Products — Canada's Future.

RAILWAY DEFICITS

An appeal to support home-grown and home-made products was heard at the Kiwanis Club dinner in the Empress Hotel last evening and it came from the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, who in spite of a tiring day consented to address the club. He was introduced by G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., who acted as guide during the day and impressed upon the Minister the industrial aspect of this city and also its position as a centre of a rich agricultural district. In the course of his remarks the Minister referred kindly to the city of Peterborough, and he praised the Peterborough Exhibition, which he opened yesterday afternoon. "I had a most pleasant day," he said. "While Mr. Denne is not of the same political persuasion as I am we are both good Canadians," he remarked jocularly.

In introducing the Minister, Mr. Gordon described him as the hardest working Cabinet Minister, but this he said, was accountable to his study into the agricultural situation and his seeking to bring it into firmer ground. Mr. Gordon remarked that in the reconstruction process agriculture had suffered probably more than any other industry, and the problem of putting it back on its feet was an immense one.

A Greater Faith.

Hon. Motherwell's address inspired a greater faith in the resources and possibilities of the Dominion. He pleaded for a virile Canadianhood and he visualized a greater Canada brought about by increased immigration, greater production and western development. He urged the full application of all resources. He warmed up to his subject by referring to coal. It is time he said, that Canadians were weaned from the use of American anthracite and began to use lignite and peat. He saw the possibilities of greater development of the Maritime mines and an adjustment of freight rates would react favorably in this connection, he said.

To relieve the stagnation in the wool business the Minister favored the manufacture of home-spuns from the farmers' wool and he offered to head a campaign to popularize rough woolen suits by wearing one himself. He praised the Canadian cloths and information offered by J. W. Worth in this connection was interesting. Mr. Worth declared that colth made from northwestern wool measured up in every way with the finest grades of imported goods. A campaign must start however, with the ladies, Mr. Worth said, for he claimed they did 90 per cent. of the buying. "They are the ones to make a success of Made-in-Canada campaigning," he said.

Railway Deficits.

With the people of Canada who are shareholders in the Canadian National Railways lies the alternative of paying a $75,000,000 annual deficit or patronizing the railway, and the Minister favored the latter course. The Minister pointed out that the road was on the hands of the government and they had to make the best of it. The wisest course, as he saw it, was to lend patronage to the road, and endeavor to place it on a paying basis.

Canadians have a duty in encouraging the Canadian fruit industry, he said, and he remarked that while cherries were hanging on British Columbia trees because it didn't pay the grower to market them, American cherries sold in Prince Rupert. The Minister outlined the development of the Canadian tobacco industry and he surmised that while smokers laughed at "home-grown" many of them unknowingly used it, for he said that the McDonald company was using a Canadian leaf. The Minister discussed the possibility of the flax industry growing in the east. "The more we can diversify our industries the more we will satisfy the tastes of our immigrants," he said. "Those responsible for our immigration and our industries should develop every industry to hold those who come to our land. Other things being equal we should patronize Canadian goods by good will rather than arbitrarily by a high tariff wall."

Denmark's System.

In concluding his address the Minister indulged in some moralizing regarding the necessity of hard work and application to achieve success and schools of learning that enable

A Norwood Man Has Hard Coal Supply

The Norwood Register learns from a reliable source that a local party has made a discovery of coal quite close to Norwood, which may prove very valuable. It appears much like anthracite coal, only harder, like the variety discovered at Sudbury, and which is likely to be mined there this winter. It is understood that this form of coal gives off about twice the amount of heat that anthracite does, and leaves little ash, although it will not burn alone.

The party making the discovery has forwarded samples to Montreal for analysis. The location of the discovery and other information is being held a secret pending word as to its value and further investigation as to what quantities of it exist.

day's work before they are 21 were frowned upon. The Hon. Motherwell regarded favorably Denmark's system whereby school children are brought to love the soil through having to work on it at the tender age of 13 or 14.

The Kiwanis Club accorded a distinct ovation to the Minister of Agriculture. A vote of thanks was moved by John Dewart and seconded by J. W. Worth and tendered by John Allen who succeeded Joseph Wearing in the chair. The large attendance and enthusiasm at the dinner was complimentary to the Minister. Among the visitors were Adjutant Arthur Smith, A. Hensley, O. Steer, Dr. W. D. Scott, H. Webber, Kiwanian W. O'Brien, Kingston, J. Turnbull, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Park, A. C. Hawley, Roland Denne, Mayor W. H. Taylor, H. Baptie, A. A. Fowler, J. Virtue, Brantford, R. French, Bert Caldwell, Toronto.

A musical programme, made up of solos by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Park and Mr. Bert Caldwell, was a pleasing feature, Mr. Caldwell introduced the new song hit, "Why Should I Cry Over You." Leslie Unitt accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Park.

NON-UNION LABOR PRODUCES HERALD

Printers Strike is Partly Over in Montreal—Gave Up Fight for 44 Hours.

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 15. — (Canadian Press).—The settlement of differences over wages and hours which threatened to precipitate a general strike of the typographers on the Montreal daily papers to-day has been effected as far as the French journals, La Presse and La Patrie, evening, and Le Canada, morning, are concerned. Following a conference between the leaders of the men and the management of the papers, the latter have agreed to a scale calling for two dollars a week addition to the old scale, without any change in hours.

Le Devoir is not affected as it is manned by National Catholic union labor.

The management of the Star and Gazette are negotiating to-day with union officials, with the men still on the job, but the Herald has refused to negotiate, and was produced today by open shop labor.

At the request of a number of young people of the city who enjoy dancing, the opening event of the season at Brock Street Rink will be held to-night, and a large number have signified their intention to be present.

Paul Gliddon's orchestra will render excellent music, and the management will take every care in the conduct of the dances.

Music starts at 8.30 o'clock and will close promptly at 11.30 o'clock.

A number of Fair Week visitors who have been attending the dances in the vicinity are expected to be present.

HORDES TURKS RUNNING WILD SAYS REPORTS

Turks Threaten to Storm and Capture Constantinople—Officials Murdered in Smyrna.

CABINET MEETING

(Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Sept. 15th. — Smyrna is a roaring inferno, with scores of massacred victims being incinderated behind the walls of fire, despatches from Constantinople, and from the British naval forces anchored off the burning city, reported to-night.

Claiming that they were making reprisals for the attacks on them by the inhabitants of the city bands of soldiers rushed through the streets of the Greek quarters, firing and looting.

Several score of persons are reported to have been butchered in various parts of the town. There was no general massacre, but the slaughter was prevented from becoming general only by the sudden spread of the flames, which drove Turks and their victims alike out of the doomed city.

As the flames leaped from block to block the Turkish troops were withdrawn from Smyrna, and the inhabitants saved from the sword only to be menaced by flames, fled in huge masses to the waterfront, and troops along all roads leading to the suburbs.

Launches and other small boats from the British fleet in the harbor carried hundreds of victims to safety on the war ship. Britons and natives alike were rescued.

The fugitives reported the massacre was still in progress in some districts, whereupon the British admiral sent a warning to the Moslem commanders that they must control their men or he would shell the Turkish quarters of the city, which at that time had not been touched by the fire.

One hundred thousand persons are in danger of death in the conflagration or from starvation following the destruction of all food supplies, according to the advices to the London Daily Mail.

Special despatches wirelessed from the British battleship, Iron Duke, described Smyrna as a furnace.

"There is an unbroken wall of fire two miles long, with twenty distinct volcanoes of jagged tongues of flames leaping up hundreds of feet," said this message.

"Dense mobs of fugitives are huddled on the quays, trapped and forced to choose between death in the advancing flames or death in the deep waters. Their screams of terror can be heard for miles."

Greeks refugees accuse Turks of starting the fires.

The Turks on the other hand allege the torches were put to the city by the Greeks themselves.

The Turkish troops, who had been held in control since the capture of the city only with the utmost difficulty, broke from all restriction on Wednesday.

CHALLENGE OF TURK.

The challenge of the Turk has startled Europe as did the ultimatum of Austria to Serbia in 1914. The British press is agitated foreseeing another Balkan war arising from the present crisis, and a subsequent European war into which the entente nations may be drawn.

All the French troops have been ordered withdrawn from the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles, it was announced to-day.

The gravest danger is feared to lie in the direction of a Russo-Turkish alliance with a million or more "Red" troops aiding Kemal in his fight to restore the Turk in Europe.

In Greek official circles it was believed the Athens government is prepared for a "last ditch" fight to retain Thrace and thwart what Greece calls the "Bulgarian menace." It is believed in Athens the Bulgars are aiding the Turks.

The plans of Mustapha Kemal include replacing the present Sultan by a national assembly, it was reported. The Nationalist commander was quoted as "offering" to see that the Dardanelles remained unfortified and free.

As the date for the Near East conference of the allies at Venice approaches the political aspect of the situation becomes more critical. The conference twice postponed, will be

Allies Will Tell the Turk Leader To Steer Clear of the Dardanelles

LONDON, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press.)—One of the possible results of to-day's Cabinet meeting it is believed, is that Kemal Pasha will be informed that he will be met not only by British troops and British ships, but also by Jugo Slav army, if he attempts to occupy Constantinople and cross the Straits of the Dardanelles.

It is an established impression in military circles that the Turkish leader has sufficient troops to take Constantinople if he so desires. Also that he has sufficient guns to drive the fleet out of the Bosphoros. It is considered unlikely, however, that he would take such desperate measures.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press.)— The French government, in its reply to the British note on the Near East announces that France will join the other Allies in requesting the Turks to respect neutrality zone of the Dardanelles fixed by the Treaty of Sevres. Instructions to this effect have been sent to the French.

MACKENZIE KING IS IN STOUFFVILLE TONIGHT

KITCHENER, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Right Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King left here this morning for Stouffville, where he will address political picnic this afternoon. It is not expected that he will make any announcements of particular importance to-day. This evening he will present athletics prizes at Aurora and to-morrow afternoon at Sharnon where he addresses York pioneers he will conclude his trip to his old constituency of North Waterloo and his present seat of North York. Premier's return to Capital will likely be signal in speeding up the work of completing new board of railways. While statements regarding identity of chairman of board have been regarded as premature, it is understood tht personnel of board has almost been decided upon.

SAYS AMERICA WAS A FACTOR IN WAR.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States, speaking last night at a dinner given to visiting delegates of the National Peace Conference, said America had played a great role in ending the world war, and anyone saying otherwise was one of three things, "ignorant, malicious or just a fool." He warned his audience to be on guard against those who sought to sow seeds of discord.

ELECTRICAL POWER EXPORTED TO STATES

OTTAWA, Ont., Sep. 5.—(Canadian Press).—Total amount of electrical power exported from Canada to United States during fiscal year ending March 31, was 861,567,183 kilowatt hours, being a decrease of 147,906828 kilowatt hours as compared with previous year.

WILL ADMIT HUNGARY TO THE PEACE LEAGUE

GENEVA, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Political committee of league of Nations assembly voted unanimously today to admit Hungary to membership of league.

BEING OF THE SAME SEX

"Is this prima donna temperamental?"

A Postal Service For North Country

G. N. Gordon, M.P., received information from the Postmaster-General to-day that the Post Office Department will invite tenders for a tri-weekly rural mail service in Galway township, from Kinmount, by way of Union Creek and Mount Irwin.

Reeve John Clark, of Galway, with G. N. Gordon, has been urging this upon the Postmaster-General's Department for several months. The Postmaster-General has promised that this route will be established, providing tenders are not so high as to make it impossible. This will be of considerable assistance to the residents of the north part of the County, in the neighborhood of Union Creek and Mount Irwin.

VICE-PRESIDENT OF TRANS-CANADA HERE YESTERDAY

One of the Big Events of the Theatrical Season Scheduled for Next Week

George F. Driscoll, vice-president of the Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., was in the city yesterday in connection with his annual tour of the Trans-Canada houses. Speaking of the coming presentation in Peterboro of "The Emperor Jones," Mr. Driscoll says: "In the visit of Charles S. Gilpin on Thursday, September 21st, Peterboro will get the most outstanding dramatic event in the history of the stage in this city, and in the performance of Mr. Gilpin, the greatest piece of acting since the days of Edwin Booth. I urge appreciation of booking by capacity attendances, because of the above facts, and to make possible the booking of other notable New York original casts in the future."

"The Emperor Jones" with C. H. Gilpin will contain for its Peterboro presentation the original cast which played in New York. Its stay in Canada will be for three weeks only with a week at His Majesty's in Montreal, a week at the Royal Alexandra Toronto, and one-night stands in Kingston, Peterboro, London, Hamilton, and Ottawa. This city will have a unique oportunity of witnessing one of the most spectacular successes of the New York stage.

Boy Accused of A Woman's Death

MONTREAL, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press). — Charged with having caused the death of a woman by striking her with a baseball bat, an eleven-year-old boy, name not given out, was arraigned before Juvenile Court Judge Choquet to-day and remanded to the cells, pending further investigations. The boy felt his position keenly, and cried bitterly. The woman, who was in a delicate condition, remonstrated with the boys for making too much noise at their game, and, it is alleged, the accused boy hit her a blow which resulted in her death twelve days later. There are counter-charges that blackmail was attempted to keep the case out of court.

FORMER PRESIDENT WORKING IN MINES.

SYDNEY, N.S., Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Robt. Baker, former president of the United Mine Workers, who was recently defeated in the district elections, has gone back to work in the mines, and is employed at shift working in the Caledonia Pit.

HANGING WILL NOW WAIT FOR THE HANGMAN

Canada Has No Official Executioner at the Present Time—Arthur Ellis Not on the Job.

BENNY SWIM CASE

OTTAWA, Sept. 15. — (Canadian Press).—At the present time Canada has no official executioner especially retained as such. Arthur Ellis has been recognized as conducting executions, but not, it is announced, as an employee of the Department of Justice.

This curious situation is brought to light by the delayed execution of Bennie Swim, who was to have been hanged at Woodstock, N.B., to-day. Swim was granted a reprieve by the Chief Justice of New Brunswick because Sheriff Jones was unable to find an executioner.

It is understood that Arthur Ellis made a request some time ago that he should be appointed official executioner, but the request was refused.

PROGRAMME FOR LAST AFTERNOON

Drawing Competition and Tug o'War Are Two Features For Last Day of the Fair.

The parade of prize-winning horses and cattle is scheduled for 1.30 p.m. on Saturday. The closing day of the Exhibition offers also the drawing match for heavy horses and the tug o' war for the Denne cup. The grand stand performance and the horse races will fill out the bill. The judging of light horses begins at 2 p.m. and will be a feature. The cups to be awarded are the G. N. Gordon cup for the best pair of roadsters or carriage horses owned by farmers and shown in harness. The T. N. D. Kelly cup for champion knee actor in carriages classes. The W. G. Morrow cup for the best pair of carriage horses in harness, and the R. Denne cup for the best carriage horse in harness, any age.

A PRESENTATION TO THE MINISTER

Hon. W. R. Motherwell Commended the Work of the Fall Fairs—Left Last Night.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, who opened the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition yesterday afternoon at 1.30, left Peterborough with a kindly remembrance of the warm welcome given him and the hospitality everywhere accorded him. Even if memory grows dim he will be able to recall many pleasant views of this city, for the Fair Board presented him yesterday afternoon with a handsomely bound set of view of the city. The volume of photographs was suitably inscribed and will doubtless be cherished by the Minister. The presentation was made by Vice-President H. Webber, and was a feature of the opening ceremony.

The Minister was introduced by President Roland Denne, and from the grand stand platform the Minister officially declared the Exhibition open. He spoke briefly, commending the work of Fall Fairs in stimulating a high type of agriculture, and he congratulated the President and directors upon the record of the local exhibition, and regretted the adversity of the weather. Lockie Wilson, who is an executive officer of the Fair Association, delivered an address, and the Exhibition was officially launched on its course.

THANKSGIVING DAY ON NOVEMBER SIXTH

OTTAWA, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press). — Thanksgiving Day this year will be November six date, having been fixed by Parliament at 1921 session and designed to fall on Monday of week containing Armistice Day which is November 11.

ATTENDANCE REDUCED BY RAIN, BUT SUNLIGHT WILL CROWD THE FAIR

Records Show Decrease From Last Year Due to the First Two Days of Rain—Will Even Up on Last Two.

PRAISE ON ALL SIDES

The effect of two days' rain on the attendance at the Exhibition was disclosed this morning by the treasurer, Mr. E. B. Fowler, who reported that the turnstile count of paid admissions for the first two days this year was 5,638 less than the total for the same day last year. The figures are as folows:

	1921	1922
Wednesday	556	1,521
Thursday	12,204	5,601
	12,760	7,122

The people of this city and district understand that the attendance on the first two days suffered from wet, depressive weather, but this morning opened with a flood of sunlight and all the auspices for a big crowd both to-day and on Saturday. President Denne stated last night that he was confident that with ideal weather the crowds would pack the big park before the week was out. The directors have in every respect one of the best agricultural and industrial exhibitions in the province, excluding of course the Toronto Exhibition, and in the poultry section some of the exhibitors affirm that the quality of the birds shown here excels the recent entries at Toronto in nearly all the classes.

No Carnival Show.

The only disappointment has been caused by the Keystone Carnival Show failing to appear as a whole midway in itself. Mr. Webber Turner who is in charge of the attractions, had two choices of carnival shows several months ago, and at that time booked the Keystone people, but two weeks ago they ran into difficulties on a circuit in Maine, and the other company also disbanded. As a result the midway this year is just the average line of attractions and other booths from the George street gate extending west and south. It was hoped that, with the Keystone shows reaching from the Lock street gate, and including ferris wheels, whips and all the usual features, the crowd that seeks amusement of that kind would be fully satisfied. However, the public should appreciate the fact that the arrangements were made well in advance, but unforseen difficulties interfered.

In every other respect the Fair has set a new high mark of accomplishment, and the grand stand performance, horse races and other attractions are exceedingly good.

Exhibition Enconium.

In the exhibits themselves the Fair is a really splendid success. Mr. C. H. Curtis, of Warkworth, a prominent cattle breeder and poultry producer, told the Examiner this morning that Peterborough should be proud of its Exhibition.

"You people have a great show," he said. "Look at the sheep section with 177 animals. In all my thirty years at Exhibitions I have never seen anything better than that. In the aged ram class you had 13 entries and 12 in the aged ewes, and 11 shearling ewes. That is bringing out the sneep of this district in great style. Take the swine section, with 106 entries and look at the quality of those hogs. You've had more sheep and swine than Ottawa."

Mr. Curtis highly praised the poultry directors for the progress their department has made, and the judge, William Carter, of Londesboro, stated to the Examiner that the only exhibition in Ontario that was better than Peterborough in poultry was Toronto.

"And you'd clean up a lot of the classes with the birds you have here," he continued. "Many of them would win anywhere. This is the best show I've judged this year, and I think you are just as good as the big Western Ontario Fair at London. I might say to the directors that the poultry has grown too large to be handled comfortably by one judge. It is too much work for one man. I was here three years ago, and the advance that has been made is most striking."

Judge Extols Show.

George Paxman, one of the directors, is delighted with the poultry exhibit. He was eloquent about all the classes, but some of them made him more voluble than others.

"Take a look at those white turkeys," he said. "The most we used to get was two or three, but there would be quite a number of the bronze kind. We have now 20 white turkeys, twenty-two Indian Runner ducks, a variety that is becoming more and more popular, and I might say that we have never had such a showing of water fowl either at the Fair or the annual winter poultry show. Rouen, Kein and Aylesbury ducks, and Emden geese are here in abundance. We got fifty special bantam coops from the Society this year and all of them are filled, although the directors were very skeptical when we mentioned it."

Mr. Paxman said that there are more than 1,100 birds on exhibition in his section.

In brief the Fair has a large and high class display of the products of the farm and field, and with this as the framework the details of attendance and gate should be forthcoming as a reward to the perseverance of the directors and the high ideal of service they have maintained both in the interests of agriculture in Midland Ontario and also indirectly for the welfare of the country as a whole.

A good card of races was presented to track followers at the Exhibition grounds yesterday afternoon, when the 2.50 and 2.20 classes were decided. The races were closely contested. This afternoon the 2.15 race will provide an interesting show, the purses in this event and in the 2.30 being $250 each. To-morrow there will be the 2.24 and 2.35 classes. The summary of yesterday's races follows:

SHEEP AND HOGS

The chairman of the sheep and hog department at the local Fair, T. W. McIndoo, of Cavanville, reports this year's showing as the largest of any exhibit in this section yet made in Peterboro. Sheep to the number of 177 and 106 hogs are on view this year, a 25 per cent. advance in numbers over the previous largest year. In the bacon line alone, there were 13 entries this number being one in excess of Toronto's total, and two ahead of Ottawa.

Mr. McIndoo is enthusiastic about the "unselfish and gentlemanly" attitude of the various exhibitors without whose co-operation arrangements for accommodation would have been difficult, and about the good work of the judges, Messrs. J. A. Carswell of Beeton and P. O. Vansickle of Alberton. The latter's expert judgment with regard to hogs made it possible for him to make the close decisions which were necessary in order to discriminate amongst the numbers of fine exhibits, and his carefulness in pointing out defects made his judgment satisfactory to all concerned. The judges regard Peterboro's showing in these two lines as indicative of a fine brand of stock in this district.
